One of the most interesting exhibits at the Toronto Industrial Exposition for the scientifically inclined was that of the Royal Electric Company showing the latest achievements in the construction of alternating current apparatus. The exhibit included an S.K.C. two phase generator of 1200 lights capacity, from which were operated two two phase, self starting motors, a number of desk fans, alternating current arc lamps and several hundred incandescent lamps, furnishing light to the different exhibits throughout the fair. Those features forcibly striking one upon first viewing the S.K.C. generator were the perfection of mechanical design and construction and the absence of wire on the moving part of the generator, thus doing away with all collector rings and commutating devices. Upon closer acquaintance of the generator the remarkably fine regulation and low running temperature make themselves apparent. When the motors are running without load the attendants had quite a source of amusement by inquiring of visitors, "if the motors were running," the answer being almost invariably "certainly not."

This gives a good idea of the mechanical perfection of these machines. The motors start under full load perfectly and this feature was frequently demonstrated for the satisfaction of inquiring visitors. This apparatus was controlled by two antique switch boards of white marble lending a finish to the brilliancy of the display reminding us that our Canada is holding her own in the advance of the nations.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

SHOT AT A WEDDING.

BLOODSHED AT A WEDDING FEAST DOWN SOUTH.

Life in the South—A Crank Seeks to Destroy the Liberty Bell in an Illinois Town—Chicago Gives Up the Holmes Case.

Special to The Times.

COLUMBUS, Ky., Sept. 17.—John and Simon Hancock, brothers, were shot and mortally wounded last night at the residence of Lane Hatfield, in Green county. Jacob Hatfield, who is a brother of Lane, had just been married and was giving a reception. After the table was set the two Hancock boys entered the house and got on the table and kicked the refreshments all over the room, whereupon the Hatfields, both of whom were armed, drew their pistols and fired. Simon was shot four times and John was both shot and stabbed. They are not expected to live.

HUNTING FOR EACH OTHER.

SAVANA, Ga., Sept. 17.—Yesterday afternoon the male members of the Brown and Stephen families, living near Midville, Emanuel county, among the most prominent people of that section of the State and all well known throughout Eastern Georgia, began a hunt for each other with Winchesters. News of a bloody encounter and the probable killing of several of them is expected hourly. The trouble grew out of a horse whipping affray between Thomas Brown and Benjamin Stevens, resulting from political matters.

ASSAULTED THE BELL.

ARCOLA, Ill., Sept. 17.—The Liberty Bell train arrived here last night. While Manager Knapp was giving a history of the bell a man named Matthews brushed through the crowd and struck the lower rim three hard blows with a sledge hammer, making three dents in it, and ran back through the crowd. Manager Knapp said he would trust to the people of Arcola to prosecute the man who had so grossly insulted American pride by striking one of its cherished emblems. United States Marshal Brinton is expected here today to take the prisoner to Springfield.

The people of this city are highly incensed over the affair and will doubtless lend a strong hand in the prosecution of Matthews. To the officer who arrested him Matthews explained that he was temporarily insane.

ALEX. WANTS A WIFE.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—King Alexander of Servia has approached the family of the Grand Duke of Hesse upon the subject of arranging for his marriage to the Princess Sibylle of Hesse, and it is understood that his representations have been declined, and that he has applied to the Princess Dolgorouki, the morganatic widow of Czar Alexander II, of Russia, who has two unmarried daughters, the Pincesses Olga and Catharine, aged respectively 21 and 17 years.

CHICAGO GIVES UP THE HOLMES CASE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The Holmes case is at a standstill so far as the Chicago police department is concerned. After the many months of hard, fruitless work the two officers, who have been detailed on the case since its reception here, have been taken off and detailed on regular duty.

A NEW ELECTION.

Harty Says His Agents Were Corrupt—Must Pay All Costs.

Special to The Times

KINGSTON, Sept. 17.—The Harty-Smythe election protest trial was resumed this morning and was finished up in short order occupying only about an hour's time. Hon. S. H. Blake, for the respondent, admitted corrupt practices on the part of agents. The judges were of the opinion that corrupt practices had prevailed extensively in the election and were of such a nature as might reasonably be supposed to effect the result. No witnesses were examined. D'Alton McCarthy for the petitioner admitted that he did not hope to prove the personal charges, but he was ready to offer evidence against the respondent's agents.

The respondent will have to foot all the costs in connection with the trial. The cross petition entered by Mr. Harty was dismissed without costs. The admission of corrupt practices by agents of the respondent is tantamount to the resigning of his seat by Mr. Harty, but does not disqualify him from again contesting the constituency, which he will undoubtedly do.

REBELS BEATEN.

Government Troops in Cuba Slowly Making Headway.

Special to the Times.

HAVANA, Sept. 17.—A despatch from Santa Clara says the insurgent leader Serafin Sanchiz sent a squad of thirteen men with orders to destroy the village of Punta Alegra by fire. The squad attempted to execute the order but were not successful and were driven back. A force of 600 rebels made an attack a day or two ago upon a plantation of Altamire where a force of goverment troops were stationed. The insurgents were forced to retreat after a sharp fight in which many of their number were killed and wounded. The government loss was five killed and three wounded.

FIVE WERE KILLED.

Special to the Times.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 17.—Train No. 34, fast mail from Washington to Atlanta, ran into a waggon containing six people at Lawyers, a small station 150 miles south of this city, this evening. It is said that five persons were killed and it is likely the other one will die. Particulars of the wreck are very meagre. The man killed is supposed to have been Joseph Callahan, living near Bustburg, Campbell county. Two women and two children were in the vehicle with him. All were killed, as was also the horse.

Lucky Escape.

LACHUTE, Sept. 17.—The C.P.R. through express, passing here at 7 o'clock on Friday night had a narrow escape from disaster. There is a crossing in the town close to the bridge on the bridge on the North Qiver, and the engine, just as it left the bridge, struck a team of horses driven by Mr. Carriere, of St. Michel de Wentworth. Both horses were killed—mangled in a terrible manner, but the driver escaped. The derailment of the train would have thrown it into the river.

ELECTRICIANS AT OTTAWA.

The Annual Meeting of the Canadian Association Being Held.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—The annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association met here today. The delegates to the convention were received with an address of welcome from Mayor Borthwick in the railway committee room of the House of Commons. At the conclusion of the address the delegates were shown through the Senate, the House of Commons and the parliamentary library. The business sessions of the board commence this afternoon. Among those present are H. P. Dwight, general manager of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., Toronto; and K. J. Dunstan, of the Bell Telephone Co., Toronto. Mr. Dunstan is president of the association; A. B. Smith, Superintendent G.N.W. Telegraph Co., Toronto, first vice-president; C. Berkeley Powell, Ottawa Electric Co., second vice president; and C. H. Mortimer, publisher Electrical News, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Special to the Times.

ST. THERESE, Que., Sept. 17. — Joseph Laroche and a friend named Duval spent last evening in a social way with Miss Hermine Vanier and Miss Alexina Cadieux at the house of the first-named lady's father. About midnight in saying good-bye Laroche picked up a gun, not knowing it was loaded, and pointed it at Duval and exclaimed, "I will kill you." Duval dodged his head and the gun went off. Miss Cadieux, who was standing behind him, received the contents in the face and dropped dead on the floor.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—It is announced that Max, son of Count De Foras, Grand Marshall of the Bulgarian Court, will marry in November Maria, daughter of General Meredith.

FORTUNATE SPECULATORS.

REPORTED DISASTER.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Daily News will tomorrow publish a despatch from Berlin saying that an unfounded rumor has reached that city that a North German Lloyd steamer has foundered, and that 150 persons were drowned. Neither the name of the steamer nor the locality of the alleged disaster is given.

LOTHAIRE'S MURDERS.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Mr. Green, M. P., publishes a letter from an important English official in Uganda, saying that Major Lothaire, the Belgian officer who ordered the execution of the British trader Stokes, shot 100 of Mr. Stokes' porters, besides seizing all of Mr. Stokes' baggage.

LANGTRY DIVORCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The papers in the Langtry divorce suit arrived today from New York. The papers will be filed at Lakeport, Mrs. Langtry's California residence tomorrow. Mrs. Langtry alleges desertion as the ground on which she seeks divorce.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Sir Frederick Bramwell moved that Toronto be selected as the place of holding the meeting in 1897. Prof. H. Hicks seconded the motion which was also seconded by Treasurer Coady, of Toronto.

ADVANCE IN COAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The price of anthracite coal has been advanced about 25 cents per ton by the wholesale dealers during the last few days, and consequently a general advance has been made by the retailers throughout the city.

NOVEMBER SESSION

Of Parliament is Most Likely—Preparations Being Made

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept 17.—Special expedition has been imparted to the preparations for the coming session of Parliament. Another request has been issued for the immediate completion of the departmental reports. The staff at the printing bureau, which was shortened at the close of the last session, has been reinforced and will be worked to its fullest capacity. This, it is said, was done in accordance with instructions wired from the west by the Premier. Everything points to a session in November, or early in December. A French Canadian Minister states it would be impossible to deal with the school question and transact other necessary business at a session called in January, since Parliament would then have less than four months to run.

Shame Drove Her to Suicide.

BINGHAMTN, Ala., Sept. 17.—Miss Theresa Schenkter took morphine yesterday and died this morning. She ran away from home a few months ago with one Albert Segrist, but soon returned and said he had deserted her. Yesterday her parents discovered for the first time that she had not been married and the shame of it drove her to suicide.

Shot One Hundred Natives.

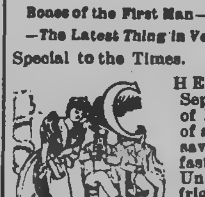
LONDON, Sept. 17.—Mr. Green, M.P. publishes a letter, from an important English official in Uganda, saying that Major Lothaire, the Belgian officer who ordered the execution of the British trader, Stokes, shot 100 of Mr. Stokes' porters besides stealing all of Mr. Stokes' ivory and baggage.

WOMAN SAVED A TRAIN.

A SECTION FOREMAN'S WIFE FOUND A BRIDGE BURNING.

A Denver Professor Who Says he Has the Bones of the First Man—Horseless Carriages—The Latest Thing in Vehicles.

Special to the Times.



CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 17.—The bravery of Mrs. Ostrom, wife of a section foreman, saved the west bound fast mail train on the Union Pacific from a frightful wreck yesterday near Wolcott Station, six miles from Rawlins.

While alone at the section house she discovered that a wooden bridge spanning a small gully was burning. The fast mail, nearly an hour late, was approaching at a high rate of speed, trying to make up for lost time.

Mrs. Ostrom ran down the track and flagged the train, which was stopped within thirty feet of the blazing bridge. The timbers were burned to such an extent that the train would have carried down the bridge. The passengers on the train made up a purse of $50 for the woman.

HAS THE MISSING LINK.

DENVER, Sept. 17.—Professor J. L. Wortman, of Columbia College, has one of the human race, with facts sufficient to establish the authenticity of the Darwin theory of evolution. The mummy encased in the bag is what is commonly known as the white-faced capuchin, about two and a half feet long. Scientists have never been able to establish the presence of the monkey on the American continent and in the opinion of Prof. Wortman the chain extending from mollusk to man is no longer missing. In the professor's room there is another package, said to be the original of the domestic horse.

HORSLESS CARRIAGES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Because of the large number of inquiries received, Consul Chancellor, located at Havre, has supplied the Department of State a supplemental report on horseless carriage. He says that bicycles and trycicles with the petroleum motor added weigh considerably less than 100 pounds. The price is about $250. In order to get the machine motion the rider after mounting turns a tap to admit the petroleum, which at the same time turns on an electric current which ignites the vapor. He then propells the machine with his feet until he finds the motor is working. There is also in course of construction a similar machine to carry two persons. For the propulsion of ordinary carriages a kind of steam horse is used. The front wheels are removed and extra wheels attached to a projecting platform of the steam horse. In these engines coke is used for fuel and there is no noise, smoke or steam. The weight is not greatly increased. Prices range from $1,800 to $2,500. Smoke roads are essential to the use of the carriage.

FIELD WAS MURDERED

By Three Chicago Thugs Who Attempted to Rob Him.

Special to the Times

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The mystery of the killing of Frank Field, an Englishman, 24 years of age, who was found dying in a vacant lot about midnight of September 8, 1894, has been cleared up. The police are in possession of affidavits which declare that Field was attacked by three men, named Thomas Griffin, John McAuliffe and John McCafferty, who attempted to rob him, and when he resisted beat him in such a manner as to cause his death within an hour. The witnesses to the affair who have made the affidavits declare that they have hitherto kept silent because of threats of violence. Field was an engineer employed by the Butler Paper Company of this city and had an excellent reputation. His relatives live at Fishing Lake post-office, Assinaboia, Canada.

TORONTO WATERWORKS

An Outbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, (Special). Sept. 16.—The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is always possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them it is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a perfect state of regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacious in the latest as well as in the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

The schooner Stella, of Lunenburg, N.S., arrived today, bringing 19 men, the crew of the French fishing vessel Basquine, of St. Peirre, which sank on the Grand banks last Thursday. They were adrift for two days without food or water before they were rescued.

Admits That he Libelled Our Cheese.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The prompt denial of the Dominion Government that Canadian filled cheese were placed on the English market has had the desired effect. The editor of the North British Agriculturist admits and regrets the grave error made in using the word Canadian instead of American, and promises an editorial explanation, and the publication of evidence showing the purity of the Canadian product.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt has been elected a trustee of the British Museum. The museum is governed by a board of fifty members, only fifteen of whom are elective. There are also a number of symbols—the she wolf of Rome, the eagle of Savoy, profiles of King Victor and King Humbert, the Italian crown, and the dates 1870-1895.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto,

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well"

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

WATER LEVEL IN THE LAKES.

The probable effect of the opening of the Chicago drainage canal upon the water level of the great lakes has been the subject of discussion ever since that tremendous project took shape, says the Cleveland Leader. A cry of alarm was raised several years ago when it was announced that the diversion of water from Lake Michigan in anything like the quantity required to fill the canal then being constructed across Illinois to the Mississippi valley would seriously interfere with the navigation of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers and render it impossible for heavy draught vessels to enter most of the harbors on the lower lakes. The Chicago engineers have done their best ever since to dispel that belief. They have maintained that the taking from the lakes of all the water that will ever be required for the canal will not lower the lake level more than three inches, and the Chicago newspapers have all indorsed the opinions expressed by the Chicago engineers, as a matter of course.

Prof. G. Frederick Wright, of Oberlin college, who has perhaps made a more careful study of the geology and geography of the lake region than any other man in the United States, does not agree with the Chicago engineers, however. Prof. Wright shows that the quantity of water required to be turned into the drainage canal when it is first opened will be equal to about five per cent. of the quantity that now flows over Niagara. When the population of Chicago reaches two millions, the law under which the canal was constructed provides that the quantity of water passing through it shall be doubled. That means that at least ten per cent. as much water as now passes over Niagara will be diverted from the lakes to the Mississippi. Maj. Ruffner, of the corps of engineers of the United States army, estimates that when the drainage canal is first opened the result will be to lower the level of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie and the connecting rivers at least nine inches, and that when the canal is operated to its full capacity the fall in the water level will be eighteen inches. This, Prof. Wright says, may have but little effect in the rainy season, but during the late summer and autumn he is certain that it will seriously interfere with navigation. He declares that the vessel owners and all who are interested in the commerce of the lakes should realize the danger and do all they can to avert it. As a preventive measure he suggests that a dam be constructed across the lower end of Lake Superior at the "Soo," which will raise the level of that lake two feet and store enough water during the early season to supply the lower lakes during the late summer and fall.

Prof. Wright says that the level of the lakes is such that if the continent were to dip fifty feet to the west all the water which now goes over Niagara would flow over Illinois and into the Mississippi, and if the dip were one hundred feet to the north the water of the lakes would go through Lake Nipissing into the Ottawa river, and the Niagara would become dry.

Certainly his suggestions are worthy the attention of lake men and vessel owners, and an investigation should be started to determine what the actual effect of the opening of the Chicago canal will be. Chicago ought not to be deprived of this means of disposing of its sewage, but if there is any way of preventing such a serious interference with the navigation of the lower lakes, as is threatened, action should be taken at once to avert it.

An Anecdote About Stead.

In a recent article the irrepressible Mr. Stead boasted of enjoying a private conversion with the late Czar, "as frank and full and unreserved as I ever held with any man." It was during a visit to St. Petersburg. As Stead complimented Alexander in the Pall Mall Gazette at a time when other British papers were reviling him, the Czar was induced to favor the journalist with an interview. It was stipulated, however, that it should not last more than fifteen minutes. At the end of that time the emperor looked at his watch and arose to indicate that the interview should cease. "But, your majesty," protested Mr. Stead, 'you have not said a word." "No," said the Czar; you haven't given me a chance."

Why Gold Exists.

Before the Royal Society of New South Wales a member recently presented a summary of the various reasons which have been put forth to account for the existence of alluvial gold other than the old and accepted one, that it had been set free by processes of disintegration. Details are also given of a large number of experiments made with a view to determine whether a nucleus of gold, immersed in a gold solution and in the presence of such substances as would be likely to occur in nature, will increase in weight, the conclusion being that gold is deposited when the nucleus is in contact not only with metalliferous sulphides and arsenides which form strong galvanic couples, but with such substances as iron oxides, [illegible], graphite, sandstone, granite, quartz, clay and marble, which form but weak galvanic couples with the gold nucleus. It is doubtful, he thinks, whether the common assertion as to the greater [illegible] of nugget as compared with [illegible] vein gold has any foundation in [illegible]; with fine alluvial gold there is such a difference, but this is thought to result from the removal of silver and other impurities by solution, owing to the larger relative surfaces exposed. Furthermore, the author assumes that large nuggets could be artificially produced by methods [illegible] in his own experiments, and that [illegible] is probably being so deposited at the [illegible] day.

FINE PEARL IN A CLAM.

Coachman Logan Thinks He Has Found a Fortune.

Special to the Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 14. — Frank Logan, a coachman for Charles Eldlitz, a New York manufacturer, found a big pink pearl in a clam several days ago, but said nothing about it here until tonight. The clams were dug in the black mud at low tide, just off the Held House, where Mr. Eldlitz is spending the summer. The pearl is pear-shaped, about three-quarters of an inch long, fine grained, rich and lustrous.

Logan went to New York with his prize, showed it to Tiffany & Co., and received a substantial offer, but thinking that the gem was worth a fortune, he refused to sell it. He talks of giving up his job and retiring.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A BOGUS DESPATCH.

The Disastrous Earthquake in Honduras Was a Fake Pure and Simple.

Special to The Times.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, via Galveston, Sept. 16.—The statement that an earthquake had occurred on last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a loss of 300 lives and causing the destruction of a church and dwellings, is without foundation so far as is known in Tegucigalpa. No such earthquake has been heard of here, and the statements made in the supposed despatch are false in detail.

The reading public of the United States and Canada was electrified on Friday last by a detailed report in the newspapers served by the United Press of a horrible earthquake disaster which had devastated the little republic of Honduras in Central America, and, it was said, killed 300 of its inhabitants. This alarming intelligence was published under date of Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, to which city it was alleged the news had been brought by courier from the "city" of Yetipan, which, it was said, had been overwhelmed by successive shocks of earthquake, bringing ruin and desolation, while details were constantly arriving in that city of the damage in the surrounding country. All day and night Sunday, it was said, the shocks lasted. "During Monday night sheets of flame appeared at different points in the northwest." Tuesday night the shocks and flames made their re entry in the report, and at midnight "the church tower fell, carrying with it the roofs of three houses." Amidst much "rumbling which sounded like the heaviest cannonading," and "rocks which fell in a perfect shower like a hailstorm," killing multitudes and bursting forth of flames and molten lava, the word picture went on to depict the culmination of the awful catastrophe. There was chronicled the destruction of seventy one houses at Yetapan and 153 bodies were already recovered there and many more missing. Reports from other towns in the interior represented the disaster as spreading over a wide area on a correspondingly destructive scale.

The Associated Press realized the importance of accurate information on so appalling an upheaval of nature's elements, involving such horrifying destruction of human life and property and immediately despatched an inquiry to an absolutely reliable authority on the spot. The harrowing tale had made its passage through Tegucigalpa, leaving no whisper or rumor behind. There were no perishing hundreds no belching flames; no showers of stones; no topling church spire. In short, no earthquake. The history of American journalism does not record another bald fabrication of details with no absolute lack of foundation in fact. Not even the name of the localities given appear in any public gazetteer of Honduras.

A HALF-OPEN SWITCH.

Causes a Smash and Also Death—To Wreck the Train.

Special to the Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 16.—As the westbound Vandalia passenger train was passing through Collinsville, Ills., it struck a half-open switch and the locomotive and baggage car were derailed and flung to one side, letting the three passenger coaches pass on unharmed. Charles Sandifer, the fireman, was killed, and the engineer, H. A. Bauers, was seriously injured. Ed. Canada, the porter, was also slightly hurt. None of the passengers were hurt. No doubt the switch was turned by some malicious person for the purpose of wrecking the train.

MEXICO CATTLE.

Being Brought to Texas—English Capital Invested.

Special to the Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 16.—An immense traffic in Mexican cattle is being built up under the present favorable conditions for their importation into this country. Twelve thousand head of stock cattle were purchased in the State of Coahuila, Mexico, last week and brought into Texas, and the Dolores ranch in Kinney county was stocked with them. Arrangements are being made with English capitalists to purchase several hundred thousand head of Mexican cattle and bring them to Texas, where they will be fattened on cotton seed meal and then shipped alive to England.

Accident at the U.S Soo Canal.

SAULT, STE. MARIE, Sept. 14.—While testing the upper gates of the new locks by filling the pit with water, an upheaval of masonary of the mitre sill occurred, letting water in between the first and second courses of stone. The repairing of it will entail a heavy expense to the Government as the top layer of masonry, timber work and valves will have to be taken up and replaced.

Killed in a Cyclone.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 16.—Yesterday afternoon a cyclone knocked ten cars from the Chicago and Northwestern track, near this city, seriously injuring Conductor Henry Starr and Brakeman Jos. Felts, as well as Tennis Foley, baggageman, all of whom were in the caboose, which went down a thirty foot embankment. Felts may die, being injured internally.

FACTS TERSELY PUT.

Under the laws of Alfred the Great nearly all crimes were punished by fines for freemen and by the whipping-post for thralls.

Under Charlemagne's laws an eye was put out for the first theft, the nose was cut off for the second and the entire head for the third.

England is not generally thought of as a gold-producing country, but Knowledge says that there are perhaps few countries in the world in which the metal is more generally distributed. The principal mines in Wales, now abandoned, were worked as long ago as the Roman occupation.

Prof. Geikie writes in Nature that geologists have been on the whole inclined to acquiesce in Lord Kelvin's theory that the earth is about a hundred million years old, but some biologists have reduced the estimate to only ten million years.

IN AND AROUND ENGLAND.

Lord Randolph Churchill, who was supposed to be bankrupt, left an estate valued at $500,000.

England, according to the navy estimates, intends to build next year ten new first-class battle ships, six first-class, thirteen second and third class cruisers, and from forty-five to fifty torpedo boat destroyers.

Oranges are coming to the London market in great abundance. Pines are not at all expensive, and English grapes continue to be cheap.

They say Patti will receive $12,000 for six performances at Covent Garden, $2,000 a night. She is still quoted at the top of the vocal price list.

Mother-in-Law as She is.

Mr. Newwed (sadly)—Yes; my wife's mother is away.—N. Y. Weekly.

Tom—So your engagement with Miss Flirty is declared off. I suppose she isn't all your fancy painted her.

Dick—Worse than that, she isn't all she paints herself.—Texas Siftings.

Blunt Criticism.

President Kruger evidently has no music in his soul—if a story going the rounds in South Africa be true. At a social gathering gven in his honor some time ago, one of Bloemfontein's sweetest lady singers gave an artistic rendering of a popular song. The lady of the house, turning to "Oom Paul," who was probably pining for a pipe, asked, "How did your Honor like that?" The president bluntly replied, "I go into the veld when I want to hear the she-wolf scream!"—Washington Gazette.

Counterfeit Compliments.

Truth telling people are not so pleasant to spend a quarter of an hour with as flatterers, but they wear better to the end of the 24, writes Mrs. Hamilton Mott in The Ladies' Home Journal. I know a woman who has the art of accidentally saying in conversation the nicest things, things that make you want to put your arm about her or kiss her hand in thanks. You hear her say openly one day that she is fond enough of hearing pretty things not to care whether they are genuine or not, and our folly is not so superlative that you can take much comfort in her [illegible] after that. You come to know the counterfeit, no matter how bright it is.

Tommy's Refreshed Memory.

A number of years ago in the superior court for New London county, Conn., a witness whose first name was Thomas, and who was the son of the plaintiff, testified to a certain important date and on cross-examination, having testified that he refreshed his memory as to the date by a memorandum made at the time, was asked to produce the paper, which he did. The paper was seized by the cross examiner and read aloud. It was as follows: "Tommy, do not forget. It was July 25." The value of Tommy's testimony was destroyed.—Green Bag.

Have the Tables Been Turned?

"I heard one of the waiters say that fossil shells of oysters 6 feet wide had been found in Kansas," remarked the first oyster.

"How we have degenerated!" sighed the other oyster. "By the way, I wonder if they ever served us stuffed with turkeys in those days!"—Cincinnati Tribune.

The lake dwellers of Switzerland, who are believed to be the contemporaries of the Greeks who fought at Troy, had a small grained wheat, apparently much harder than the kind now in use.

Editor Buggin, of the Platteville Echo, is the busiest man we know of. He runs a livery stable, carries the mail to the station, runs a 'bus line, a boarding house, an express office, a newspaper and laundry agency. If any man outside of Arizona can beat this we'd like to hear from him.—Drumbo Record.

Unsisterly Words.

Two little sisters who were very fond of each other, and generally quite happy together, were playing "keep house and go visiting." The elder sister was the housekeeper, and she bustled merrily about, spreading the table and arranging the little tea set upon it, meanwhile chatting with little Anna, who, for the time, was "a very fine lady from the city."

Just as the preparations were completed, and she as about ot summon her guest to the miniature repast, Anna quietly climbed into a large easy chair, and rocking slowly back and forth, she said:

"I don't want to play any more."

"I'll never play with you again as long as I live!"

And she never did. She went to her little bed alone that night and lay with a heavy, aching heart, longing for the morning to come, that she might put her arms around her little sister's neck and tell her she was sorry. The morning came, but Anna was dangerously ill. Her parents had watched over her through the weary night, and were alarmed for her safety. Her sister was allowed just to see her, but she must not speak. The poor child grew worse and worse, and in a few days she died. The last words she ever heard from that loving but petulant sister was that bitter, angry sentence.

The San Francisco Cremation Society has recently completed what it calls a Columbarium, intended for the ashes of the cremated dead. The structure is fireproof, of Romanesque design, and has 1,000 tiny rooms destined to hold urns containing the ashes of incinerated persons.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

Took a Fit.

Pedestrians who passed the corner of Simcoe and Geooge streets last night at 9 o'clock were surprised to see a man suddenly fall to the sidewalk, his head striking the boards with a resounding whack. The man, who was apparently a tramp, was taken in charge by the police, and lodged in the cells.

A Bear's Depredations.

A large bear is terrorizing the farmers on the 7th line Otonabee. It has made its appearance several times, and in the dead of the night has carried off valuable heifers and sheep, besides any quantity of fowl. The abode of the bear is in a large swamp, and although the farmers in the neighborhood have organized hunting parties and gone after it several times, they have failed to come across it. Only when the farmers are unarmed does the monster make its appearance.

THE FIREBUGS

Are Now Operating in the Neighborhood of the Town of Port Hope.

A despatch says: The pretty residence occupied by Mr. Lewis Ross, Pine street, and owned by Mrs. J. B. Trayes, was destroyed by fire at two o'clock this morning. The flames burst suddenly through the roof in immense volumes and the crackling of the fire aroused the neighbors, who were greatly alarmed, fearing that Mrs. Ross' family had not escaped. It was learned, however, that the family were away from home. Mrs. Ross is in Lindsay with Mr. Beverley Ross, and Mr. Louis Ross left for Toronto on the evening train. The fact that there was no stove or lamp burning in the house leaves little doubt that the fire was of an incendiary origin. The furniture, including a valuable piano, was completely destroyed. The residence was insured for $1,000 in the Alliance Insurance Co., and Mrs. Ross carries an insurance of $1,000 in the Royal on her furniture.

HOT AFTER THE TRAMPS.

A POSSE FINDS TRACES OF THE FOUR MEN ON THE 7th LINE OTONABEE.

Times' Representative With the Posse—At Keene the Tramps Bought a File and Near German They Got Drinking Water at a Farm House—The Posse Presses on to Norwood.

Farmers in the peaceful wilds of Otonabee, were surprised yesterday afternoon, as a busload of men, armed with double-barreled shot guns, winchester rifles and revolvers passed their farms. They rested on their forks and gazed in wonder at the sight of this small army of determined men passing, and then as single rigs drove by, also containing more men, armed to the teeth, their wonder grew to large proportion, and they didn't know whether it was a fenian raid, or another rebellion

The armed men were a posse under the leadership of County Constable Archie Moore, and they were after the tramps who had fought so desperately with the police at Curtis' cut the day before.

At 8 o'clock on Monday evening a C. P. R. weigh freight met a party of four tramps a short distance this side of the Indian River. The conductor on the freight reported the occurrence in Peterborough. He said the tramps pointed their revolvers at him, and that one of the men was badly cut about the head, and also that three of the men were handcuffed.

The man with the cuts on his head was undoubtedly the man whom Special Constable Brine had struck with a baton the night before. The police were satisfied that they were the men they were after, and at noon a posse of 13 men under County Constable Moore, left for Indian River. Before starting, a farmer living near German, on the 7th line brought word to the police that the tramps had been seen at the railroad crossing near there, and that a man was watching their movements until the police arrived.

The posse drove to the spot and found that four tramps had passed at 11 o'clock. Two of them called at a farmhouse and asked for a drink of water. The lady of the house described the men, and they answered the description of the four men who gave the police the hard fight on Monday night. The lady indicated the direction to the posse the tramps had taken, and the party immediately separated into three parties and surrounded the territory for about three miles and gradually closed in to a central point. The woods, ravines and empty houses encountered were thoroughly searched, and in a secluded part of the woods a slumbering camp fire was discovered, around which was scattered chicken feathers, scraps of bread, and a few blood-stained rags, showing plainly that the tramps had halted there for lunch and then pressed on.

Shortly after this discovery, a man was observed driving down the road from the direction of Keene. He informed the posse that a party of four men had been in town early that morning and were observed at a distance by several residents. One of them went into the village, bought a file, and then joined his three companions and disappeared.

This startling intelligence convinced the posse that the men who called at the farm house for water were the men they wanted. The file was purchased to sever the handcuffs, and they had succeeded in filing them loose before they called at the farm house.

From farmers along the road, the posse secured further information of the tramps, and all indications pointed that the men had gone on towards Indian River. At 5 o'clock the posse struck off across the country for this point, and from there they intended to press on to Norwood.

Up to this point a TIMES' representative followed the posse, but when the latter went on to Indian River, he left them and came back to Peterborough. At this time the posse considered they were hot on the trail of the tramps, and were sanguine of overtaking them either at Indian River or Norwood.

ON MONDAY AFTERNOON.

On Monday afternoon the tramp who is now in the cells, and two companions were in the C.P.R. restaurant. One of these men was the stranger who supplied the two men with the revolvers later on in the evening at Curtis' cut. While in the restaurant the tramps offered the bartender a lady's gold watch for $2.50, and exhibited fully a dozen other watches and a big bundle of new knives. Mr. Bowman immediately went to the C.P.R. station and telephoned to the police. When he returned to his restaurant the tramps pointed revolvers at him and his bartender.

CHASED BY TWO MEN.

A Young Girl Followed Last Night—A Pistol Shot Scares Them.

About 10.30 last night a domestic in the employ of Mr. T E. Bradburn, was returning from shopping down town to Mr. Bradburn's residence, when she observed a rough looking man following her.

The man followed a short distance behind her, and endeavored to catch up to her. She turned on another street, but still the man followed, and every corner she turned, he followed. When she reached Donovan's grocery the young girl went in and informed Mr. Donovan that she was being followed, and was afraid to proceed any further alone.

Mr. Donovan kindly consented to go the rest of the way with her, and slipping a revolver into his pocket, started for Mr. Bradburn's house. They had not proceeded very far before they found they were being followed by two men, one of whom the girl recognized as the man who had been following her.

The men followed them to Mr. Bradburn's gate, when Mr. Donovan left the girl to go into the house. As he did so the two men hurried up, brushed past him, and started to follow the girl into the yard.

At this Mr. Donovan drew his revolver and fired at the men. They immediately took to their heels. Mr. Donovan then telephoned the incident to the police, and the chief searched for the men, but was unable to locate them.

THE GRAY CASE.

The Fall Assizes will open with Chancellor Boyd presiding, next Tuesday, and the Grays, charged with the murder of old David Scollie, will be placed on trial either on Wednesday or Thursday, as the Grand Jury will have reported on their case by that time.

Mr. B. B. Osler will not conduct the Crown's case, as was generally supposed. Instead, Mr. R. C. Clute, Q. C., will prosecute. Mr. Clute is one of the ablest criminal lawyers of Canada, and his analytical sifting of evidence has won for him a great name. He has conducted several important cases, chief among which was the Dr. Andrews' abortion case in Toronto.

The Crown has a very strong case to present to the jury which will decide the fate of the Grays. THE TIMES is in possession of information, which at this time it cannot publish, that warrants us in stating that the most important part of the Crown's case has not been made public, and that the Crown is in possession of facts of which the reading public, and those who have followed the case, have not the slightest inkling.

A new phase of the case has recently been brought to notice. It is stated that the heirs of David Scollie will be able to gain possession of his property, in the event of the Grays being convicted. The agreement that the Grays had with Scollie was that they were to keep him the length of his natural life, and at his natural death were to come into possession of his property. If Scollie was murdered they did not keep him his natural life, and the agreement would not stand. If the Gray's are convicted Scollie's heirs will sue for the possession of his property on the grounds that the Grays broke the agreement by murdering Scollie.

IN A PREDICAMENT.

The party consisting of ladies and gentlemen from Peterborough went to Toronto last week to attend the Toronto Fair, and had tickets that were good up to and including Monday. At 9 o'clock on Monday night the party assembled at the Don station in east Toronto, intending to take the train there as they did not want to go all the way to the Union station.

The train which leaves the Union station at 9 o'clock and arrives in Peterborough at 11.42, steamed past the Don station a few minutes after 9 o'clock. Thirteen coaches drawn by two engines made up the train but although the agent at the Don flagged the engineer to stop, the train passed on through and left the waiting passengers standing on the platform.

The party was mad, but it didn't do any good to rant around, so they went back to their hotels, and next morning took the first train. Several of them had spent all their money, and had to borrow from the others to pay their hotel bill, so when they boarded the train, there was not much money in the party.

When the conductor came around for tickets, they handed him the return coupons of their excursion tickets, but the conductors stated that they were no good, having expired the day before, and he could not accept them for the fares. They explained the circumstance, and told how the train the night before had passed the Don station without stopping, but the conductor was firm and told them unless they paid again he would be compelled to put them off at the next station.

The next station was Agincourt, and when the train stopped there, the ticket puncher requested the party to either pay their fares or get off. Then pockets were turned inside out, and the disgusted Peterboroughonians found they had just enough money among them to pay their way home. They had more than enough—the conductor left them exactly eight cents.

Arriving home the excursion tickets of of the party were collected and left with the agent here, who will report the matter to headquarters and see if a rebate will not be allowed.

The Royal Canadian Humane Society have forwarded to Mayor Kendry a bronze medal to be presented to Ephriam Godfrey of Young's Point, for his heroic conduct in rescuing two lads from drowning at Young's Point on July 1st last.

He raised his eyes timourously until they were directed to her countenance.

"Now, sir, deny, if you dare, that you married me for my money."

"It must have been your money," he faltered.

Mr. J. W. Miller has been engaged to lead the Charlotte street choir. The body of singers which form the choir of this church are exceptionally excellent. Lately Miss Myrtle Hendren, the popular young soloist, was engaged as leading vocalist, and with this pleasing vocalist and Mr. Miller, who has always given satisfaction, along with other splendid voices, the choir in this church should prosper.

An Old Saying...

Has it that a first impression is a lasting impression.

If there is any truth in the adage, we certainly should feel flattered at our first introduction to the good people of Peterborough—the large crowds that thronged our store from morning until night.

The

that were passed upon our stock and the many kind greetings and tokens of good fellowship that come to us personally compel us to admit that our establishment in Peterborough is already a decided success. DEATH OF MRS. SHORTLY.

She Passed Away on Monday Morning—Timothy Collin's Death.

The death of Mrs. Benjamin Shortly occurred yesterday morning and the suffering which this estimable lady has undergone for several years is at an end. Mrs. Shortly for nearly five years had been afflicted with paralysis of the nerves and for the past two years she has been an invalid as a result of this disease. The best medical men had been consulted and many health resorts visited by Mrs. Shortly in order to regain her health, but they were of no avail and for over a month she has been dying and her death was hourly expected. Yesterday morning she passed away quietly and peacefully.

The deceased lady's maiden name was Hattie Robertson. She was born in Toronto in 1848 and was united in marriage to Mr. Benjamin Shortly in 1869. Since that time Mrs. Shortly had resided in Peterborough. Mrs. Shortly was of a quiet disposition, but her circle of friends was large and during her illness she had many kind friends to visit her. She was a loving mother and affectionate wife and her removal from the family circle will leave a vacancy which cannot be filled. One daughter, Miss Edythe Shortly and a son, Mr. Orville B. Shortly, are left with Mr. Shortly to mourn her demise. The deceased was a member of the George Street Methodist church. The sympathy of the community will go out to Mr. Shortly and family in their loss.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

DEATH OF TIMOTHY COLLINS.

Mr. Timothy Collins, a life long resident of the township of Otonabee, quietly passed away after an illness which had been prolonged during three years at noon on Monday. The deceased gentleman was a son of the late Timothy Collins, one of the early settlers of the township. He was 54 years of age at the time of his death, and leaves a wife, Agnes Buckham, and four sons and one daughter to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father. All the children are residing at home. The deceased was a member of the Church of England, and was respected and esteemed among a wide circle of acquaintances. The funeral takes place on Wednesday afternoon to the St. Mark's church burying ground.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

LIGHTNING CAUSES LOSS.

BARNS STRUCK BY THE ELECTRIC FLUID DURING A STORM.

Several Burned Down—An Evident Incendiary Fire Near Oakville, the Fourth Within a Few Months.

Special to the Times.

OAKVILLE, Sept. 18.—The occurrence yesterday morning of the fourth fire within a short time on property belonging to Mrs. Walker Smith has convinced the residents of this neighborhood that firebugs are getting in their dastardly work. The first fire occurred during the winter, when the drive house and woodshed in the rear of Mrs. Smith's residence in Oakville were destroyed. The second occurred on Mrs. Smith's Middle road farm, four weeks ago, when the large barn on this property was burned.

TWO LARGE BARNS AT ONCE.

It was not, however, until September 4th that suspicions of incendiarism were seriously entertained. Early on that morning the two large barns on Mrs. Smith's farm, two miles west of Oakville, were both discovered on fire at the same time, and could not be saved. The farm is occupied by Mr. John Liston, and the barns ranked among the best in Trafalgar Township. All this year's crops and the farm implements were destroyed, with little or no insurance thereon.

THE HOUSE FOLLOWED.

The most regrettable of the series of fires, however, was that of yesterday morning. About 4 o'clock the Liston family were awakened by their house being on fire, and had to make their escape at once or lose their lives. The house was reduced to a smoking ruin in a few minutes. John Liston, sr., in getting away from the burning building had a narrow escape, being old and enfeebled. Nothing was saved of the household effects. It is believed that some one or a number of persons are responsible for all these fires, and as the last three have been so close together many people are becoming alarmed. Some action should be taken to apprehend the guilty parties before further damage is done.

INDIANAPOLIS SUFFERS FROM A CONFLAGRATION ON A BIG SCALE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 18.—At six o'clock this morning fire broke out in the five storey building an Washington street, between Meridian and Pennsylvania, occupied by the firm of Eastman, Schleicher & Lee. It spread immediately to the stone building on the east, occupied by the Indiana National Bank, thence to the United States and American Express building. The fire then communicated to the five storey Western Union building, fronting on South Meridian street. This building is now burning. Eastman, Schleicher & Lee, the Indiana National Bank and the Express Company's offices have been entirely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The Western Union building may be saved, but has been deserted as the upper floor has been destroyed. The firm of Eastman, Schleicher & Lee carried a stock of carpets, etc., valued at $200,000. The insurance is not known.

LIGHTNING DID IT.

THAMESVILLE, Sept. 18.—At an early hour this morning the fine barn of Edward Brown, who lives on the 13th concession of Cambden township, four miles from this village, was destroyed by lightning, together with the season's crop. Loss $1,000; covered by insurance. F. J. Mayhew, of the firm of Mayhew & Harmer, general, merchants and bankers, had a valuable horse killed by lightning this morning; loss covered by insurance.

FIVE BARNS GONE.

WYOMING, Ont., Sept. 18.—During a terrific tеunderstorm last night five barns in this vicinity were struck by lightning and burned with all their contents. The following are the names of the owners and their localities: John Armstrong, 14th concession Enniskillen; Arch. Smith, 14th concession Enniskillen; Robt. Brownlee, 2nd concession Plympton; Maxwell Houghton, jr., 7th concession Plympton; James Houston, 8th concession Plympton.

MORE BARNS DESTROYED.

BRACEFIELD, Setp. 18.—The worst electrical storm that has struck this section of the country in many years passed about 2 o'clock this morning. At one time there were five fires visible from here, the nearest was the barns of W. Fotheringham, about two miles from here, also Gilbert McDonald's barns about 4 miles south.

MILLS BURNED AT THORNBURY.

THORNBURY, Ont., Sept. 18.—The oatmeal and barley mills, owned by Messrs. T. & J. Andrews, of this place, were completely burned down at five o'clock this morning. Cause of fire unknown. The mills were fully insured.

A $5,000 CHINGACOUSY FIRE.

GEORGETOWN JUNCTION, Ont., Sept. 18.—About four o'clock yesterday afternoon the fine new bank barn of Robt. Mothersill, lot 21, concession 4, Chingacousy, was totally consumed by fire. The fire is supposed to have originated from a threshing engine. Besides Mr. Mothersill's losses, which include the barn, the whole season's crop, five horses and 20 pigs, with all his farming machinery, Mr. Wm. Hoare, thresher, lost his new separator and a team of horses. The total loss is about $5,000, with some insurance.

DODGE, NEB., VISITED BY FIRE.

DODGE, Neb., Sept. 18.—This town has been almost wiped out by fire. Forty business houses were burned with their contents and as many residences. The damage is over $100,000. A fierce wind was blowing at the time. The property was well insured.

Murder Near Quebec.

QUEBEC, Sept. 18.—A strange death has just occurred at St. Raymond, a parish on the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway. Louis Palamondon, a mail carrier, was visited at his house on Saturday night by a party of acquaintances who urged him to drink, but he refused. It appears that he was thrown down stairs by the drunken individuals, sustaining such terrible injuries that he died on Sunday morning. Deputy Coroner and Sergt. Burke of the Provincial police have gone up to enquire into the affair.

A Gale at Sea.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The British steamer Pharos, Captain Dunstin from Quebec, which arrived at Liverpool Sept. 14, and Traveler, Capt. Jackson, from St. John's, N.B., which arrived at Liverpool Sept. 13, report having lost a portion of their deck loads, during a gale on Sept. 8.

DURANT'S TRIAL.

Still Tracing His Movements Prior to the Girl's Awful Death.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Miss Lanigan, a fellow pupil of Blanche Lamont at the Normal school, on Monday testified that on April 3, when school was dismissed, she left with Alice Pleasant, now Mrs. Dorgan. They noticed Blanche Lamont in company with a man whom she identified as Durant, now charged with Miss Lamont's murder. Durant was carrying Blanche's books. They boarded a street car going toward Market street. Mrs. Vogel told that from her parlor window on April 3, she noticed a man who waited about forty-five minutes outside the Normal school. Asked who the man was, she pointed her finger toward Durant, and dramatically exclaimed: "There is him." Fearing he was a burglar, she watched him with a pair of opera glasses. When school was dismissed she saw two girls emerge from the building. Accompanied by Durant they boarded a Powell street car. One went inside and the other sat with Durant on the doorway. When Durant was arrested she recognized him from the picture in the newspapers.

The defence was evidently much worried over Mrs. Vogel's testimony. She was very positive in her indentification, and stood the cross examination remarkably well.

Mrs. James Crossett, the last witness of the day, had known Durant well for the last four years. The day Blanche Lamont was murdered she said she was riding on a Valencia street car, when she saw Durant sitting on the dummy with a young woman whom she did not know. She identified Durant with great positiveness. Shown the clothes worn by Blanche Lamont at the time of her murder, she said the woman she saw with Durant wore garments of similar cut and material. The pair rode on the dummy as far as Twenty second street, where they left the car, proceeding toward Bartlett street. Emanuel church is on Bartlett street, between Twenty second and Twenty third streets. Mrs. Crossett's testimony was not shaken by cross examination.

CHOLERA'S SCOURGE.

White People Succumb in Honolulu—Business Suspended for a Week.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 18.—The Hawaiian mail has been landed from the steamer Rio Janeiro, bringing the following:

HONOLULU, Sept. 13.—There have been 59 cases of cholera up to date with 46 deaths since the scourge broke out. Two white people were attacked yesterday and have since died. D. L. Dodge, business manager of the Hawaiian Star and formerly of San Diego, Cal., was one of the victims. The city is in a state of alarm and business will be suspended for one week, while a house-to-house inspection will be made. Radical measures will be adopted to stamp out the disease. In nearly every case the cause of death has been traced to poisonous fish. The scourge is not believed to be Asiatic cholera. No Chinese or Japanese have been attacked, although there are thousands in Honolulu. The steamship Rio Saneiro was prohibited from landing her Japan freight and will take it on to San Francisco. The Bennington and Olympic have gone to La Haina, one of the neighboring islands, as the captains of the vessels are afraid to remain in port. Residents of the island positively refuse to allow passengers or freight from Honolulu to the island.

AND IN RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 18.—In the Province of Volhynia, between August 19 and August 24, inclusive, 5,849 cases of cholera were reported and 2,134 deaths from that disease. In the Province of Podolia from the 21st to the 31st of August 101 cases of cholera and 45 deaths were reported.

BUT IT'S PRIVATE.

The Central Prison Investigation Resumed Before the Inspector.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—The investigations of the charges against Walter Scott, foreman of the wood working department at the Central Prison, was resumed this morning at ten o'clock before Inspectors Noxon and Christie. The proceedings, for reasons best understood by those who are running the show, are hedged about with as much secrecy as a meeting of the supreme lodge of the High Mickmucks. Application for admission was made by press representatives, but the request was denied and the evidence was taken privately.

A FORT ERIE SUICIDE.

An Unknown Young Man Shoots Himself in the Breast.

Special to the Times.

FORT ERIE, Ont. 18.—A young man committed suicide at the Cottage Hotel here some time during last night by shooting himself through the left breast. He came to the cottage on Monday, hailing from Pittsburg, and said he had been employed at the Western House in that city. He was about 26 years of age, about five feet nine inches. He wore a dark Christy hat dark coat, light gray pants. A young lady was with him yesterday. In his pocket was found a portrait of a young lady and forty-five cents in change. On his collar was marked the name of Fessenden and that is the only clue to his identity. The coroner was here and examined the remains and decided not to hold an inquest So far the matter is wrapped in mystery. No one in the house heard the shooting and the remains were not discovered until nine o'clock.

Executions in China.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Times tomorrow will print a despatch from Shanghai saying that seven of the prisoners convicted of complicity in the recent massacres were executed at Kucheng today in the presence of the foreign consuls. The British gunboat Linet had arrived.

Humbert Squares Himself.

ROME, Sept. 18.—In connection with the celebrations commemorative of the entry of the Italians into Rome, King Humbert has issued a decree liberating all political prisoners except four of the leaders of the Sicilian riots.

Across the Continent on His Wheel.

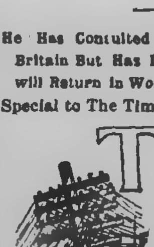
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 18.—Merton Duxbury, who started from the City Hall, Providence, April 2, to ride to San Francisco, returned at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having reduced the trans-continental record from 59 days, 11 hours to 46 days 18 hours. Duxbury is the first wheelman to make the journey from coast to coast and return, and the only one to cross the great American desert, a feat attempted by Thomas Stevens several years ago.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT ILL.

THE PROVINCIAL PREMIER IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

He Has Consulted Eminent Specialists in Britain But Has Derived Little Relief—He will Return in Worse Health than he Went.

Special to The Times



TORONTO, Sept. 18.—The condition of Sir Oliver Mowat's health is a cause of serious apprehension to his friends, and of anxious speculation among his colleagues. It has been known for some time that the Little Premier was not in the best of health—in fact was a very sick man and suffering from a form of kidney disease. For the past few summers Sir Oliver has been in the habit of taking the waters at the Clifton Springs Sanitarium, in New York State. But lately these waters seemed to have lost their virtue in the Premier's case.

It was in pursuance of the urgent advice both of his physicians and friends that Sir Oliver crossed the water to consult an eminent specialist in London, England. Sir Oliver has been for several months under the treatment of the best physicians in the metropolis none of whom has succeeded in alleviating his disorder.

It is understood that the eminent specialist gave Sir Oliver but little hope of anything more than temporary relief. This verdict was endorsed by other specialists whom Sir Oliver consulted.

Sir Oliver will return to Toronto shortly. His closest friends admit that so far from being benefited by his sojourn abroad his health is actually worse and his complaint aggravated.

It is hinted that Sir Oliver will before long retire from active politics, and that he will be succeeded by Hon. Mr. Hardy or Hon. Mr. Ross, with the chances in favor of the latter.

THE LILY'S DIVORCE.

Having Secured it Mrs. Langtry Will Live in California.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Papers containing Mrs. Langtry's application for divorce will be filed in Lakeport, Cal., tomorrow, by her lawyers, Messrs. Dunne & McPike. Separation will be asked for on two grounds—desertion and failure to provide support.

Mrs. Langtry's lawyers do not believe her husband will file a cross complaint.

The divorce papers are brief and formal in nature, with no sensational statements, and are signed in a clear hand, "Emelie Charlotte Langtry." In her complaint, Mrs. Langtry recites that she and Edward Langtry intermarried on the Island of Jersey in 1867, and are still husband and wife; that there is no community property; that there is one child, a daughter, of whom the wife has had the care.

Mrs. Langtry asks that the court will award the child to her.

CAUGHT BY A WINDOW SASH.

The Strange Death of Mrs. Alfred Butler, of London, Ont.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A strange fatality occurred on Peter street, London West, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Alfred Butler, wife of an employee at Carling's brewery, was found by her husband hanging out of a window with her head held securely beneath the window sash. The supposition is that Mrs. Butler returning from making a call had forgotten the door key and resorted to climbing through a window. The woman evidently was in the act of going through the window when the sash fell striking her on the back of the head. Her feet were still on the ladder and she had died of strangulation. Mrs. Butler was about sixty years of age and leaves a son and two daughters.

TORONTO WATERWORKS

An Outbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, (Special). Sept. 16.—The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is always possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them it is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a perfect state of regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacious in the latest as well as in the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Insurgents Suffer Losses in Engagements With the Troops.

Special to the Times.

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—The column of Colonel Kuiz, operating in the Province of Puerto Principe, has, according to official despatches received here, had several brisk skirmishes with insurgents. In one of these seven insurgents were killed and twelve wounded, while of the troops seven were wounded. An official report states that Captain Mora, with 50 infantry men and 20 cavalry men, engaged insurgents to the number of 250 and after a hard fight forced them to retire. The insurgents lost four killed and three wounded. One soldier was killed and five were wounded.

The steamer Santa Barbara has arrived here with 1,090 soldiers and 87 officers from Tetuan, Morocco. The troops were given a splendid reception. The newspaper proprietors of the city distributed among the newcomers 15,000 cigars and 20,000 packages of cigarettes.

Theft On the Canada.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—Lieut. Lutterell, of H. M. S. Canada, reports to the police that on Sunday there was taken from the cabin a gold watch, gold chain, compass, a bunch of seals and a number of heirlooms of much value both in historic associations and intrinsical. The men on the ship are believed to be innocent and they are requesting an investigation in order that all suspicion of stigma may be removed.

China will Have Trouble.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Times publishes dispatches from Shanghia saying that the Chinese regard the enquiry into the massacre of Christians at Kucheng as a mockery and have begun to release the prisoners without consulting the British consul.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895,

AUTOMATIC CARRIAGES.

The horseless carriage is being discussed in the American newspapers. There is no doubt of its being able to run with considerable speed on smooth roads for long distances, but it is still questionable whether it can be adapted to the rough pavements of cities and uneven roads of the rural districts. A delivery wagon of this kind has been started in New York, but whether it is to be a success or not is still uncertain.

It is completely under the control of the driver. It stops, goes slow or fast and backs as he directs. It does not shy and there is no fear of its running away. The only danger seems to be of its shaking to pieces on rough roads. But then the driver of the horseless wagon must regulate his pace, as the driver of the horse and wagon does, to the kind of road over which he drives. No sane driver dreams of going over a rough road at the same pace that he drives over a smooth one. The horseless wagon when the motive power is gasoline can face a pretty stiff grade with the certainty of getting to the top of it without stopping. This, it appears, is not the care when the motive power is electricity.

Gasoline is the best motive power yet discovered for the horseless wagon. Four quarts of petroleum are sufficient for a run of twenty miles, and carriages are furnished with reservoirs which contain fuel enough for a twenty-four hours' run at fifteen miles an hour. There can be no doubt that the automatic wagon is a success. Its being brought into general use seems to us to be only a question of time.

About two thousand persons in France are marked as anarchists, and are constantly watched by the police of the various European countries, according to Le Figaro, of whom 500 are French and 1,500 foreigners, Italy leading with 549, followed by Switzerland with 300, Germany and Russia with 240 each, Austria and Belgium with 60 each. As regards occupation, shoemakers, carpenters, and day laborers of all nations furnish large proportions of the Anarchists, while the educated professions hardly appear. German tailors and printers, Swiss watchmakers and farmers, Italian clerks and bakers, and French waiters and persons without avowed business tend more to anarchy than those of other nationalities. The Russians differ from all the others in that 30 per cent. of the persons under surveillance are students, another 30 per cent. professional men, and hardly one per cent. have occupations requiring no education.

The jewels which it is reported Mrs. Standford is about to sell in order to procure the funds to carry on the Leland Standford Junior University are said to range from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 in value. The late Senator Standford presented his wife with a collection of gems equal to those owned by almost any royal family in Europe and many of the most superb have been rarely worn by Mrs. Standford, who kept her treasures in a bank vault. Among the complete sets of jewels, each comprising a tiara or necklace, pendant earrings, bracelet, brooch and finger rings, is one set of yellow diamonds, another of pink and another of blue diamonds, while there are some genuine black diamonds in the collection and a number of beautiful rubies, sapphires and emeralds. Some of the jewels once belonged to the Duke of Brunswick's famous collection. There are over sixty diamond finger rings in Mrs. Standford's jewel box.

HETEROPHEMY.

An Awkward Trick For Which the Tongue or Nerves Are Responsible.

Heterophemy, the curious disease which consists in using one word when meaning to use an entirely different one, gives rise to many amusing combinations. An old lady living in a town on the Hudson river is thus afflicted. She is tall and stately in appearance, courtly and gracious in manner, and this makes her incongruous sentences all the more ridiculous. Strange to say, she herself is totally unconscious of her infirmity, for the family, friends and even the servants endeavor to save her from the mortification she would feel.

Not long ago when she was recovering from a serious illness the bishop of the diocese chanced to make his annual visitation, and at the suggestion of the rector they went together to call upon Mrs. Drew.

She was delighted to see them and entertained them with her usual grace and cordiality. The conversation naturally touched upon her illness and her thankfulness at her recovery, which for a time had been despaired of.

Presently she turned to the bishop, saying earnestly, "My dear bishop, let us have a little drop."

"Certainly, Mrs. Drew," interposed the rector, waiting for her to make some move which might disclose her meaning. But Mrs. Drew waited expectantly also.

"If you have not your Vade Mecum with you, there is a prayer book," she said after a moment.

The rector, with a sigh of relief, turned to the bishop. "Mrs. Drew will be glad to have you read prayers with her," he said quietly.

Prayers were read, and then the gentlemen prepared to take leave.

"Your visit has been a pleasure," Mrs. Drew said warmly. "Now, Mr. Belknap, won't you take this little boy home to your dear wife with my best love?"

For a moment Mr. Belknap wondered if she could mean the bishop, but she relieved his mind by lifting a magnificent bunch of roses from a vase on the table.

Allied to this is another form of misspeech, to which most of us are occasionally subject—the exchange of syllables. A certain young lady who, to her intense mortification, often reverses her vowels thus, says she is entirely unconscious of it even after speaking.

One summer evening she was sauntering with a friend toward the village postoffice of the little town where they were staying. On the way they encountered an acquaintance with a handful of letters.

"Ah, good evening," she said in her peculiarly gracious, suave manner. "Are you strailing out for your mole?"

The mystified young woman made some inarticulate reply and passed on. As soon as the friend could recover her gravity she gasped, "I suppose you intended to ask Miss May if she was strolling out for her mail?"

The same young lady was relating a sad story of various misfortunes which had overwhelmed a dear friend.

Carbolic Acid Suicides.

"It is a strange fact," said my friend, the Franklin street physician, "that six out of ten would be suicides now resort to that most horrible of all deadly doses, carbolic acid. It causes more pain, more genuine, lingering agony than any deadly dose I can mention. Yet its popularity continues to increase, especially among the unfortunate members of the half world who have become weary of life and seek the comforts of the grave. The antidote? Oh, an antidote after the acid has been swallowed is of little avail. A mixture of flour and water should be given; also mucilaginous drinks. I once had a patient recover after taking a small quantity of the acid, and she said she thought she was swallowing molten lead. It is a horrible life destroyer."—Buffalo Courier.

Which Is the Cheaper?

When you are willing to pay for brains in your kitchens, the servant girl question will solve itself. Which is cheaper—to employ a girl at $3 per week, who will probably waste, spoil or throw away $10 worth of food, or to pay a competent cook $6 or $8 per week and have all the left overs saved and served up into the most palatable of dishes? One you can trust with your purse and the care of your refrigerator; one who will not only cook, but relieve you of marketing and the worry of each day contriving a new bill of fare.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

WATER LEVEL IN THE LAKES.

The probable effect of the opening of the Chicago drainage canal upon the water level of the great lakes has been the subject of discussion ever since that tremendous project took shape, says the Cleveland Leader. A cry of alarm was raised several years ago when it was announced that the diversion of water from Lake Michigan in anything like the quantity required to fill the canal then being constructed across Illinois to the Mississippi valley would seriously interfere with the navigation of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers and render it impossible for heavy draught vessels to enter most of the harbors on the lower lakes. The Chicago engineers have done their best ever since to dispel that belief. They have maintained that the taking from the lakes of all the water that will ever be required for the canal will not lower the lake level more than three inches, and the Chicago newspapers have all indorsed the opinions expressed by the Chicago engineers, as a matter of course.

Prof. G. Frederick Wright, of Oberlin college, who has perhaps made a more careful study of the geology and geography of the lake region than any other man in the United States, does not agree with the Chicago engineers, however. Prof. Wright shows that the quantity of water required to be turned into the drainage canal when it is first opened will be equal to about five per cent. of the quantity that now flows over Niagara. When the population of Chicago reaches two millions, the law under which the canal was constructed provides that the quantity of water passing through it shall be doubled. That means that at least ten per cent. as much water as now passes over Niagara will be diverted from the lakes to the Mississippi. Maj. Ruffner, of the corps of engineers of the United States army, estimates that when the drainage canal is first opened the result will be to lower the level of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie and the connecting rivers at least nine inches, and that when the canal is operated to its full capacity the fall in the water level will be eighteen inches. This, Prof. Wright says, may have but little effect in the rainy season, but during the late summer and autumn he is certain that it will seriously interfere with navigation. He declares that the vessel owners and all who are interested in the commerce of the lakes should realize the danger and do all they can to avert it. As a preventive measure he suggests that a dam be constructed across the lower end of Lake Superior at the "Soo," which will raise the level of that lake two feet and store enough water during the early season to supply the lower lakes during the late summer and fall.

Prof. Wright says that the level of the lakes is such that if the continent were to dip fifty feet to the west all the water which now goes over Niagara would flow over Illinois and into the Mississippi, and if the dip were one hundred feet to the north the water of the lakes would go through Lake Nipissing into the Ottawa river, and the Niagara would become dry.

Certainly his suggestions are worthy the attention of lake men and vessel owners, and an investigation should be started to determine what the actual effect of the opening of the Chicago canal will be. Chicago ought not to be deprived of this means of disposing of its sewage, but if there is any way of preventing such a serious interference with the navigation of the lower lakes, as is threatened, action should be taken at once to avert it.

An Anecdote About Stead.

In a recent article the irrepressible Mr. Stead boasted of enjoying a private conversion with the late Czar, "as frank and full and unreserved as I ever held with any man." It was during a visit to St. Petersburg. As Stead complimented Alexander in the Pall Mall Gazette at a time when other British papers were reviling him, the Czar was induced to favor the journalist with an interview. It was stipulated, however, that it should not last more than fifteen minutes. At the end of that time the emperor looked at his watch and arose to indicate that the interview should cease. "But, your majesty," protested Mr. Stead, 'you have not said a word." "No," said the Czar; you haven't given me a chance."

Why He Swam Out.

The Professor swims from the sinking boat and climbs up on the bank. Then, dashing in again he returns to the wreck and rescues his wife.

"Ah, my dear sir," was the learned man's reply, "I was bound to save myself first. Self-preservation is the highest law of nature."—Boston Post.

Doesn't Get Around in Time.

Tommy—Do you say your prayers every night?

Jimmy—Yep.

"And does your maw say hers?"

"Yep."

"And does your paw?"

"Naw. Paw don't need to. It's almost daylight when he gets to bed."—Cincinnati Tribune.

In a Quandary.

Modern Maid—I wish some advice.

Modern Maid—Shall I marry a man whose tastes are the opposite of mine, and quarrel with him, or shall I marry a man whose tastes are the same as mine, and get tired of him?

Why Gold Exists.

Before the Royal Society of New South Wales, a member recently presented a summary of the various reasons which have been put forth to account for the existence of alluvial gold other than the old and accepted one, that it had been set free by processes of disintegration. Details are also given of a large number of experiments made with a view to determine whether a nucleus of gold, immersed in a gold solution and in the presence of such substances as would be likely to occur in nature, will increase in weight, the conclusion being that gold is deposited when the nucleus is in contact not only with metalliferous sulphides and arsenides which form strong galvanic couples, but also with such substances as iron oxides, charcoal, graphite, sandstone, granite, quartz, clay and marble, which form but weak galvanic couples with the gold nucleus. It is doubtful, he thinks, whether the common assertion as to the greater fineness of nugget as compared with coarse vein gold has any foundation in fact; with fine alluvial gold there is such a difference, but this is thought to result from the removal of silver and other impurities by solution, owing to the larger relative surfaces exposed. Furthermore, the author assumes that large nuggets could be artificially produced by methods used in his own experiments, and that gold is probably being so deposited at the present day.

CURIOUS CASE THIS.

A Doctor Maltreated at Dead of Night—The Jury Disagrees.

Special to The Times.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Sept. 17.—A most curious case came up at the Assize Court here today. On Saturday, Aug. 10th last, Dr. John Bull, of Holland Centre, near here, was awakened at midnight by a stranger, who asked him to rise, dress and accompany him to where the unknown's sick wife was lying. Dr. Bull consented and, entering the stranger's carriage, was driven about three miles to a wood. Here the pair alighted, when suddenly a cloth was thrown over the doctor's head and his hands strapped together. He was then tied to a tree, his body bared, and was flogged severely. There seemed to be three men concerned in the beating. They said that the reason they flogged the doctor was that he was always swearing at his wife. After having flogged the victim they liberated him and he had to make his way home on foot.

Subsequently the doctor swore out a warrant against Samuel Lowrey, a well-to-do farmer. Though there was much hard swearing on both sides the jury disagreed. In his evidence Dr. Bull and his wife positively identified Lowrey.

THAT SETTLES IT.

Special to the Times.

NEWPORT, R.I, Sept. 17.—Lord Dunraven's representative, Mr. H. M. Kersey, was seen yesterday afternoon by a press representative. He said, Valkyrie positively would not race Defender and would return to Europe at once.

The New Orleans Recorder, commenting on the fiasco says: "The impression which will be produced in Europe by the decision of the committee will be most unfavorable. The Englishmen's boat, which was the challenger, and a stranger, was entitled to a most lenient interpretation of the rules, and the committee would have done well to have even stretched a point in order to accord the visitor the most favorable treatment. Moreover, the race of Tuesday was not essential to the final success of the Defender, whereas the decision as rendered seriously impairs the Valkyrie's chances of winning.

Should Lord Dunraven decide to withdraw from the contest, there would be nothing to show which was the better vessel, as both have won a race.

FIVE WERE KILLED.

Special to the Times.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 17.—Train No. 34, fast mail from Washington to Atlanta, ran into a waggon containing six people at Lawyers, a small station 150 miles south of this city, this evening. It is said that five persons were killed and it is likely the other one will die. Particulars of the wreck are very meagre. The man killed is supposed to have been Joseph Callahan, living near Bustburg, Campbell county. Two women and two children were in the vehicle with him. All were killed, as was also the horse.

The schooner Stella, of Lunenburg, N.S., arrived today, bringing 19 men, the crew of the French fishing vessel Basquise, of St. Peirre, which sank on the Grand banks last Thursday. They were adrift for two days without food or water before they were rescued.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WOMAN SAVED A TRAIN.

A SECTION FOREMAN'S WIFE FOUND A BRIDGE BURNING.

A Denver Professor Who Says he Has the Bones of the First Man—Horseless Carriages—The Latest Thing in Vehicles.

Special to the Times.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 17.—The bravery of Mrs. Ostrom, wife of a section foreman, saved the west bound fast mail train on the Union Pacific from a frightful wreck yesterday near Wolcott Station, six miles from Rawlins.

While alone at the section house she discovered that a wooden bridge spanning a small gully was burning. The fast mail, nearly an hour late, was approaching at a high rate of speed, trying to make up for lost time.

Mrs. Ostrom ran down the track and flagged the train, which was stopped within thirty feet of the blazing bridge. The timbers were burned to such an extent that the train would have carried down the bridge. The passengers on the train made up a purse of $50 for the woman.

HAS THE MISSING LINK.

DENVER, Sept. 17.—Professor J. L. Wortman, of Columbia College, has one of the human race, with facts sufficient to establish the authenticity of the Darwin theory of evolution. The mummy encased in the bag is what is commonly known as the white-faced capuchin, about two and a half feet long. Scientists have never been able to establish the presence of the monkey on the American continent and in the opinion of Prof. Wortman the chain extending from mollusk to man is no longer missing. In the professor's room there is another package, said to be the original of the domestic horse.

HORSELESS CARRIAGES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Because of the large number of inquiries received, Consul Chancellor, located at Havre, has supplied the Department of State a supplemental report on horseless carriage. He says that bicycles and tryciclés with the petroleum motor added weigh considerably less than 100 pounds. The price is about $250. In order to get the machine motion the rider after mounting turns a tap to admit the petroleum, which at the same time turns on an electric current which ignites the vapor. He then propels the machine with his feet until he finds the motor is working. There is also in course of construction a similar machine to carry two persons. For the propulsion of ordinary carriages a kind of steam horse is used. The front wheels are removed and extra wheels attached to a projecting platform of the steam horse. In these engines coke is used for fuel and there is no noise, smoke or steam. The weight is not greatly increased. Prices range from $1,800 to $2,500. Smoke roads are essential to the use of the carriage.

ELECTRICIANS AT OTTAWA.

The Annual Meeting of the Canadian Association Being Held.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—The annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association met here today. The delegates to the convention were received with an address of welcome from Mayor Borthwick in the railway committee room of the House of Commons. At the conclusion of the address the delegates were shown through the Senate, the House of Commons and the parliamentary library. The business sessions of the board commence this afternoon. Among those present are H. P. Dwight, general manager of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., Toronto; and K. J. Dunstan, of the Bell Telephone Co., Toronto. Mr. Dunstan is president of the association; A. B. Smith, Superintendent G.N.W. Telegraph Co., Toronto, first vice-president; C. Berkeley Powell, Ottawa Electric Co., second vice president; and C. H. Mortimer, publisher Electrical News, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Special to the Times.

ST. THERESE, Que., Sept. 17. — Joseph Laroche and a friend named Duval spent last evening in a social way with Miss Hermine Vanier and Miss Alexina Cadieux at the house of the first-named lady's father. About midnight in saying good-bye Laroche picked up a gun, not knowing it was loaded, and pointed it at Duval and exclaimed, "I will kill you." Duval dodged his head and the gun went off. Miss Cadieux, who was standing behind him, received the contents in the face and dropped dead on the floor.

FACTS TERSELY PUT.

Under the laws of Alfred the Great nearly all crimes were punished by fines for freemen and by the whipping-post for thralls.

Under Charlemagne's laws an eye was put out for the first theft, the nose was cut off for the second and the entire head for the third.

England is not generally thought of as a gold-producing country, but Knowledge says that there are perhaps few countries in the world in which the metal is more generally distributed. The principal mines in Wales, now abandoned, were worked as long ago as the Roman occupation.

Prof. Geikie writes in Nature that geologists have been on the whole inclined to acquiesce in Lord Kelvin's theory that the earth is about a hundred million years old, but some biologists have reduced the estimate to only ten million years.

IN AND AROUND ENGLAND.

Lord Randolph Churchill, who was supposed to be bankrupt, left an estate valued at $600,000.

England, according to the navy estimates, intends to build next year ten new first-class battle ships, six first-class, thirteen second and third class cruisers, and from forty-five to fifty torpedo boat destroyers.

Blunt Criticism.

President Kruger evidently has no music in his soul—if a story going the rounds in South Africa be true. At a social gathering given in his honor some time ago, one of Bloemfontein's sweetest lady singers gave an artistic rendering of a popular song. The lady of the house, turning to "Oom Paul," who was probably pining for a pipe, asked, "How did your Honor like that?" The president bluntly replied, "I go into the veld when I want to hear the she-wolf scream!"—Washington Gazette.

Have the Tables Been Turned?

"I heard one of the waiters say that fossil shells of oysters 6 feet wide had been found in Kansas," remarked the first oyster.

"How we have degenerated!" sighed the other oyster. "By the way, I wonder if they ever served us stuffed with turkeys in those days!"—Cincinnati Tribune.

The lake dwellers of Switzerland, who are believed to be the contemporaries of the Greeks who fought at Troy, had a small grained wheat, apparently much harder than the kind now in use.

Editor Buggin, of the Platteville Echo, is the busiest man we know of. Unsisterly Words.

Two little sisters who were very fond of each other, and generally quite happy together, were playing "keep house and go visiting." The elder sister was the housekeeper, and she bustled merrily about, spreading the table and arranging the little tea set upon it, meanwhile chatting with little Anna, who, for the time, was "a very fine lady from the city."

Just as the preparations were completed, and she as about ot summon her guest to the miniature repast, Anna quietly climbed into a large easy chair, and rocking slowly back and forth, she said:

"I don't want to play any more."

"I'll never play with you again as long as I live!"

And she never did. She went to her little bed alone that night and lay with a heavy, aching heart, longing for the morning to come, that she might put her arms around her little sister's neck and tell her she was sorry. The morning came, but Anna was dangerously ill. Her parents had watched over her through the weary night, and were alarmed for her safety. Her sister was allowed just to see her, but she must not speak. The poor child grew worse and worse, and in a few days she died. The last words she ever heard from that loving but petulant sister was that bitter, angry sentence.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

The Awful Condition of James Whitney, a Canadian, at Geneseo, N.Y.

Special to the Times.

GENESEO, N.Y., Sept. 18.—James Whitney aged 50 years, a Canadian who came here some time ago, was seen to crawl to a well in this village. Upon examination the man presented a most frightful appearance. There was a gash over two inches deep under his left ear and his face was covered with grime and clotted and dried blood, which was ground into his beard. To add to the wretched condition of the man his body had become fly blown, and the wound in his throat was full of maggots. The doctors pronounced his condition the worst they had ever seen, over a pint of maggots being taken from the body. Whitney had been suffering from a felon, and thinks he must have gone crazy as he remembers nothing since a week ago, last Saturday, when he thinks he cut himself in the woods. The man lost over fifty pounds since he was last seen. He may recover.

FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

Heavy Seizure of Alleged Contraband Jewellery—Union Bank Finances.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld, Sept. 18.—The largest custom seizure yet reported was made today. Over $1,000 worth of watches and jewellery was taken from leading jewellery stores on the ground of the goods being smuggled. All classes of the public and the newspapers comment on the vigilance of the customs officials. The government has not yet begun the prosecution of the offenders, and all hope of its doing so has been abandoned.

Some splendid coal seams have been discovered on the line of the new railway. The coal is considered by experts to be equal to anthracite.

The trustees of the Union Bank cannot pay the promised dividend owing to the government making claims which the trustees contend are not due till December of next year. An indignation meeting of creditors will be held this week to take action in the matter.

Another Big Tow.

L'ORIGNAL, Sept. 18.—The largest tow that has ever come down the Ottawa river passed here Sunday afternoon in tow of steamer Reliance. It was composed of 109 cribs of square timber, belonging to David Moore & Co. They were left at Grenville, from which place they shot the Longue Sault Rapids, a steamer picking them up at the foot and proceeding with them to Bord au Plouffe, whence they proceed by themselves to Quebec for shipment to England.

KIDNAPPED A WOMAN.

Special to the Times.

GREENVILLE, Mich., Sept. 18.—E. Kaff who lives about six miles west of Lincoln lake, lost his wife and child from fever, and grief has unbalanced his mind. His relatives have kept a close watch on him, as they did not want to send him to an asylum. A few days ago he escaped to the nearest neighbor's house, unhitched a horse that stood in front, got into the buggy drove away at a rapid gait.

HIS WIFE AND BABY,

Kaff had not gone far when he met a women and little girl coming up the road. He jumped out and said to the women, in a commanding tone, "Get in." She refused, badly frightened. His eyes flashed as he repeated the order, then taking hold of her arm he forced her into the buggy. He no sooner got the woman and child into the buggy than he grasped her around the waist and began yelling, "My wife and baby."

THE LADY'S FRIGHT.

The lady screamed for help, and the child cried, and altogether they raised such a pandemonium that everyone rushed out of their homes to learn the cause. No one came to their rescue, as the farmers were all in the lots at work.

The horse was as badly frightened as the rest, and flew down the country road for nearly three miles while Kaff was constantly screaming, "My wife and baby," and drawing the lady to his side as hard as it was possible for him to do with one hand.

They soon came to a turn in the road where a gang of farmers were reaping near by, who, attracted by the deadful din, stopped the horse, released the woman and child, who were almost in hysterics, tied Kaff's hands behind him and drove with him back to his friends. He will be taken to the asylum now.

Tuesday afternoon as a load of hay was being delivered on the premises of Mr. D. A good many hours work was necessary before the damage could be repaired, and the axle replaced by means of jack screws.

Not Holmes the Murderer.

Strange, isn't it, that when a big criminal looms into prominence, almost every village and town in the country claims to have been distinguished by a visit from him. Take the Chicago murderer, Holmes, as an instance—almost every paper picked up notes that he put up at such a farm house, or "lorded" it at a certain hotel in this or that village or town while presumably looking out for subjects for his graveyard insurance scheme. Even Lindsay "got there with both feet," to use a somewhat vulgar expression, and local insurance men feel somewhat indignant over the printed report that the nefarious Holmes was one of their number some ten years ago. The Holmes referred to hailed from Brighton village and represented the Mutual Life in this district for a time. He was of fair complexion and has been known to several people in town from his boyhood up.

Had a Head Like a Rock.

The tramp which the special constable struck with his baton and the baton broke must have had a head as hard as the knob on a millionaire's monument. Yesterday a farmer found the business end of the baton near the Ashburnham brickyard, and brought it to THE TIMES office. The heavy hardwood stick was dented deeply and numerously. Some of the dents were big enough to hold a ten cent piece very readily. The lumps on the tramp's head that caused these marks would furnish a phrenologist with interesting study all winter. The tramp must have had conical bumps "hall ovah 'is bloomin' 'ead," and the lumps must have been as hard as door knobs. No wonder the constable broke the inch and a half club. It is a wonder that he didn't break his arm. It is indeed a wonder that the reverberation of that mighty blow did not knock down the brick kiln and break all the windows in Nelson's tannery. A tramp with a head like that needn't tramp all over the country and live on hand outs. He should hire himself and his head out as a pile driver.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

SEWER EXTENSION BYLAW PASSED LAST NIGHT.

The Work Will now Go on—A Letter From the Town Solicitor Explaining the Town's Position in Connection With the Carbon Works.

A special meeting of the town council was held last night at which there were present, Mayor Kendry, presiding, and Councillors Cahill, Best, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Dawson, Clinkscale and Sawers.

THE CARBON WORKS.

A letter from the town solicitor, clearly outlined the town's position in connection with the mortgage held by the Central Canada Company on the Carbon works. The letter was as follows:

I have considered the matter of the Peterborough Carbon Co. and the position of the town with regard thereto. Under the notice served by the Central Canada Co. proceedings may be taken to sell the property, if not redeemed within the time limited by the notice. The principal and interest due the latter company are stated to amount to $10,078.

The town holds a mortgage dated Sept. 6, 1890, for $6,000, as security for compliance with the conditions upon which a bonus to that amount was granted to the Brooks Manufacturing Company. The compliance with the conditions of the bylaw entitled the company to a release of $2,000 on the 31st December, 1894, leaving $4,000 still due. If the company employ 50 hands on the average for the next five years they would be entitled to a release of the whole mortgage. If the company became insolvent or go into liquidation or make an assignment for the benefit of creditors or proceedings be taken for the winding up of the company, the whole of the remaining sum becomes payable forthwith. The mortgage money is further secured by the bond of Arthur Stevenson, Thomas Brooks, John W. Taylor and Geo. Stevenson, for $2,500, (this bond being joint and several and not subject to any statement until the terms of the mortgage are complied with) and by the bond of Geo. A. Cox for $500, in which it is provided that any discharge or release of the mortgage shall be pro tanto, a discharge or release of the bond. The latter bond is thus reduced to $333.33.

The mortgage of the Central Canada Co. only covers the land, the building thereon and the steam engine and boiler, and the main shafting and pulleys thereon then in the said buildings. The town's mortgage covers as well all the plant, tools, machinery, appliances and fixtures of whatever kind in or about the premises. The town mortgage is subject to the Central Canada mortgage.

In the event of the company now making an assignment or being wound up, the whole of the $4,000 will at once become due. If there should be a deficiency upon a sale of the property covered by the mortgage, the bonds may be looked to so far as they will answer the amount. For any balance the town ranks as an ordinary creditor proportionately with the bank and other unsecured creditors.

It is impossible for me, of course, to place a value upon the securities held by the town, and it would appear to be rather to the town's interest that the business should be continued than that it should be wound up. I understand that the matter is still pending as to whether the company shall go into liquidation or not.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS.

The letter was received on the advice of the Mayor, and will be taken up later on, the Mayor remarking that there was a probability of the Carbon Works continuing operations.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From F. Bartlet, applying for the position of superintendent on the new sewer extension. Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

From John Riddell regarding the grant for Bensfort bridge. The stone work is nearly completed and the township needs the money badly.

Engineer Belcher reported that the work on the bridge would be completed soon, and Councillor Phelan favored paying over part of the grant. Councillor Denne moved that $300 be paid over, but the mayor, and Councillors Dawson, Sawers and Best advised the non-payment of any part of the grant until the bridge was completed. Councillor Deene withdrew his motion and the matter rested there.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the finance committee:

Examiner	4 50

SEWER EXTENSION BY-LAW.

After a great deal of discussion the bylaw providing for the building of the sewer from Lake to Townsend streets was passed on its several readings. The special meeting was called for this purpose.

JOINT COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Joint Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee held a joint meeting with the Special Bridge Committee of the County Council on Sept. 14 last, when the following tenders for painting the Locks Bridge were opened:

Cook Bros	$105 00
Duncan & Gray	193 00
R. Carton	193 00

The committee decided to accept the tender of Cook Bros. provided they gave the required security.

2. It was also agreed by the committee that the Ashburnham bridge be placed under the care of the Street and Bridge Inspector of the town for the purpose of making temporary repairs.

3. Your Committee recommend that the caretaker of the Locks Bridge, William Kerr, be provided with two signal lamps and that he receive the additional salary of $10 per year, provided the County Council agrees to this, half of the additional salary to be paid by the town and half by the County.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. PHELAN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. In reference to the petition of R. B. McKee and others in regard to a proposed drain on Gilmour street, we find the petitioners are now paying a local improvement tax for the Park street drain, and that owing to a bed of clay lying between their property and the Park street drain they receive no benefit from that drain. Under these circumstances your committee recommends that a grant of $100 be made towards constructing a drain on Gilmour street from Park street to connect with the Park street drain. It is a condition of the grant that any ratepayer shall have the right, at the discretion of the town council, to make use of the drain on paying an equitable portion of the cost of construction of the drain,

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

SOME MOTIONS.

Councillor Denne, by motion, had the market committee invested with power to purchase necessary tables and chairs for the market building.

On motion of Councillor Best, the Sewerage Committee was instructed to ask for tenders for steel pipe for the outfall sewer to cross the creek, and also for gratings, gravel pans and manholes.

The extension of the sewer from Townsend to Brock will be considered by the Committee of the Whole.

SKIPPED THE TOWN.

Geo. M. Harrison, of Lindsay, Has a Sudden Call East.

A despatch from Lindsay says: There was a ripple of excitement in town yesterday morning when it became known that Geo. M. Harrison, the dashing second cornet player in the Citizens' band, had found it necessary to suddenly skip the town. He did not even wait to bid his most intimate friends goodsbye, and there are many young ladies who received the news in sorrow and tears. He was a general favorite, particularly with the fair sex. From what can be learned a telegram was received early this morning by Mr. Harrison apprising him of the fact that an officer would arrive from Cornwall on the 2.30 train and that he had better govern himself accordingly. That he lost no time in so doing subsequent events prove. While he has figured in Lindsay as a single man, it is said he has a wife and family in Cornwall, and it was on a charge of neglecting to support these that he was wanted. It is evident his friends in Cornwall gave him the "tip" that enabled him to escape.

WEDDING BELLS.

Mr. W. H. Quinn Wedded to Miss Ray Moscrip.

A very pleasing ceremony was performed last evening when Mr. W. H. Quinn was married to Miss Ray Moscrip, of Dublin street, Peterborough. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride's parents.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Theo. McWilliams. Rev. Dr. Torrance performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. Quinn, who for three years has held the position of inspector for the Bell Telephone Company is one of the most popular young men in Peterborough, and his host of friends will warmly congratulate him upon his marriage.

ROAD RACE POSTPONED.

Will Take Place Next Thursday—News Of the Sports.

The local handicap road race to Lakefield and return has been postponed until Tuesday, Sept. 24, as several of the most prominent riders will be unable to compete before that time. The committee in charge of the race decided on this course as it would greatly lessen the interest if such riders as Milt. Walker, Herb. Walker, Evans and Lord are unable to start.

Entries will be received by the secretary of the local club until 10 p.m. on Saturday.

C. W. A. CLUBS EXPELLED.

For non-payment of dues the following clubs have been struck from the membership roll of the C.W.A.:

Aurora, Ont.; Watford, Ont.; Walkerton.; Chinook Club, of Lethbridge, N.W.T.; Collingwood, Ont.; Deseronto, Ont.; Mountaineer Club, of Vernon, B.C.; Stragglers, Toronto; Yarker, Ont.; Campbellton, N.B.; Oshawa, Ont.; Broadway, Toronto; Exeter, Ont.; St. John, N.B.; Tilbury, Ont.; Nicl, Brighton, Ont.; Union, Alvinston, Ont.

CORBETT AND FITZ.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Some remarks are occasioned by the statements that Corbett will not go to Texas until next month, and that so far he has done no training toward his fight at Dallas. Even his friends warn him not to value Fitzsimmons too cheaply and urge him to use the six weeks that intervene between now and the date of the mill in preparing for the fray. To this the champion contemptuously replies that he is in good condition, that it will not take six weeks to prepare him, indeed not six days, and he points to the fact that Peter Maher needs training much worse than he, for he is now in Ireland having a good time instead of training here for his fight with Steve O'Donnell. Some of Corbett's friends are prophetic enough to say that this will be Jim's last fight, that he will endeavor to win if it lies in him to do so, and is sincerely pleased that the Texas authorities will not prevent the fight taking place, but that, win or lose, this will be his last fight. After that he will quit the ring forever.

FOR THE DEFENSE.

The Board of Health met last night and heard evidence for the defence in the Whyte's dam case. There were present, Chairman Hartly, and Messrs. Blackwell, Stapleton, Denne, Hall, and Innis. Mr. Owens the owner of the dam was present with his solicitor Mr. John Burnham, M.P., who is conducting the case for the defence.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, police magistrate, was the first witness called. He did not think the creek or the pond was unsanitary or a menace to health. The locality was favorable to excessive surface water, and this drainage water, he believed, would get to the wells. It was only natural that it should. The danger from the wells was in having them so that they dragged the surface water into them. As to the school well, he believed its water was largely used in that community; in fact, it was the most popular well for good water in that section. As to the pond, it was undoubtedly shallow in the summer, and parts of it were exposed to the sun, which of course was not very conducive to health. But this was the only evil in connection with it. Being below the well, the water from it could not possibly reach them, and it was pure, fresh water anyway.

The medical testimony was given by Dr. A. E. Yelland, Dr. Greer and Dr. Bingham. Dr. Yelland did not think the pond or the creek was the cause of the sickness in that section. Above Park street the pond and the water from it was not a source of pollution. The water being drawn off and on by the dam did not produce disease. The pit closet drainage getting into the wells, was undoubtedly the one cause of the sickness. The pond was certainly not injurious to health.

Drs. Greer and Bingham gave evidence of a similar nature, and to the pond being sanitary, certainly not a menace to health. Dr. Greer said the smell complained of by residents would produce nothing but malaria, and he saw no signs of malaria when he visited the pond. There was no accumulation in the pond that would produce disease.

Dr. Bingham never saw a cleaner pond. Following the medical evidence came a score of residents in that locality, who swore that the pond was not a nuisance to them or a menace to their health. Their wells had not been affected, and they could trace no injurious results from living near the pond.

The Board of Health sat until late and examined a large number of witnesses.

POSSE RETURNS HOME.

THEY FAILED TO OVERTAKE THE BAD TRAMPS.

Hidden in a Church the Posse Passed the Tramps Not 20 Yards Away, But Didn't Know They Were so Near—Traced to Hastings.

The posse of men under the leadership of County Constable Archie Moore, returned to town last night, empty handed, having failed to come up with the tramps, although at times close on their trail.

After leaving the farm house on the 7th line on Tuesday night, at which point the TIMES' representative left them, the posse pressed on to Norwood, where they remained all night. As they left the farm house where the tramps had called for water at noon, they had to pass Bethel church, a stone structure opposite the farm of Mr. Fife. The church stands in from the road about 20 yards. Had the men halted their horses and searched the church, they would have found the tramps, for the quartette had hidden there.

Yesterday morning the posse learned that as soon as they had got out of sight after passing the church the tramps left their hiding place, and running down to the railroad track, went east as fast as they could go. The good farmers who witnessed their flight, reported that the tramps were so so frightened that they fairly ran down the track, and had a lot of wild animals been chasing them they couldn't have appeared more scared than they did.

While the posse were quietly resting in Norwood, the tramps made a detour and went to Westwood. They called at a farmhouse there and got something to eat, for which they paid liberally. The posse reached this farmhouse a few hours after the tramps had left. The lady of the house said the tramps took the Hastings road.

The posse beat the woods towards Hastings for seveval hours, and then gave up the hunt and returned home, arriving here at 9 o'clock last night.

The agent at Norwood sent out messages all along the line, so that it is possible that the tramps will yet be arrested.

A FEE OF $10 PER DAY

Can be Imposed Upon Commercial Travellers by Municipalities.

Municipalities have power to impose licenses of $10 per day upon commercial travellers who expose samples of their goods in store windows for the purpose of trade.

The first case on record in Ontario where the municipality has assumed this right occurred at London this week. The authorities made a bid for the license fee upon Thomas Fleming and Mr. Gray, travellers for Gowans, Kent & Co., Toronto. These gentlemen were exhibiting their wares in a shop window, but they refused to pay up when ordered. To a reporter Mr. Gray said:

"I know the act as well as I know my alphabet, and no fee will they get out of us. We are not transient traders. We sell to no one but merchants. We are commercial travelers displaying our wares, and gold would not induce us to make retail sales. We are not competing with city retailers—we are selling to them and to retail trade generally throughout this section. Pay a license? I guess not, eh, Fleming?" To this Mr. Fleming replied: "Well, we are not like men who could not pay a license if we had to, but we don't have to. If we are liable, so is every traveler who opens his samples in the city."

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

A STEAMSHIP FOUNDERS.

BIG STEAMERS COLLIDE IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

The Edam Goes Down and Her Captain, Crew and Passengers Escape in Four Boats and are Picked up.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 19.

THE steamer Beresford has arrived here, having in tow the trawler Vulture, of Brixham, and four ship's boats, containing the captain crew and passengers of the Netherlands-American Steamship Company's steamship Edam, of Rotterdam, from New York, bound for Asterdam. At one o'clock this morning the Edam collided with the steamer Turkistan when 50 miles south east af the Start Point. The collision occurred in a dense fog. The captain, crew, and passengers of the Edam who had taken to the boats immediately after the collision were picked up by the trawler.

HEARD A TERRIFIC CRASH.

The trawler Vulture was on the fishing grounds, 15 miles from the Eddystone lighthouse, last night. The night had been clear. Just before 1 o'clock a thick fog came up. Those on board the Vulture heard a great blowing of whistles and then a terrific crash. The Vulture proceeded immediately to the spot from which the sounds issued and went alongside the steamship Edam, which was rapidly filling. Captain Brunsma, of the Edam, requested that the Vulture stand by. The ship's boats were then quickly lowered and the passengers were helped into them without accident. The passengers were greatly alarmed, but there was no panic among them. The majority went on deck without having taken time to dress. The women and children were first embarked in the ship's boats. The sea at the time of the collision was perfectly smooth. The steamer Turkistan, which did not appear to have sustained serious injury by the collision, stood by until danger was passed and then proceeded in the direction of Cardiff. The Edam foundered at 3 o'clock, two hours after the collision.

TWO INDIANS KILLED.

During Tuesday Night's Big Storm—A Tree Fell Upon Them.

Special to the Times.

ZURICH, Ont., Sept. 19.—Two Indian families on their way from Southampton to Kettle Point pitched their tents in Taylor's grove, on the lake bank, eight miles from here, Tuesday night. The thunder storm blew down a large dry tree, which fell over on one of the tents, instantly killing one of the Indians and his wife and severely wounding their daughter, a girl of 13 years of age. Although in a critical condition hopes are entertained of her recovery. There was a third person in the tent, but she escaped uninjured. The dead woman is a sister of John Crowe, the Indian agent at Southampton.

TORONTO WATERWORKS

An Outbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, (Special). Sept. 16.—The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is always possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them it is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a perfect state of regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacious in the latest as well as in the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The correspondent of the Central News at Cowes wires that Lord Dunraven this morning cabled to the Royal Yacht Squadron that he would like it to be clearly understood that the offer contained in Mr. Iselin's letter of the 16th inst. to resail either the last two races or the whole series had never been made to him, either by Mr. Iselin or the Regatta Committee of the New York Yacht Club.

Y., Sept. 19.—It is understood that the grand jury of the Federal Court has found a true bill of indictment against Mrs. Mack, of Hamilton, Ont., the alleged accomplice of George Morrison in the stamp counterfeiting scheme, and that as soon as the indictment is reported, probably tomorrow, her case will be moved for trial.

DALLAS HYAMS ILL.

One of the Twins Charged With the Murder of Willie Wells Occupying the Hospital Ward.

Special to The Times

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Since the 71th birthday of her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria the Hyams twins, accused of the murder of Willie Wells on Jan. 15, 1893, have lain in the county jail.

For the past four or five weeks Dallas Hyams has been quite ill and intermittently has occupied the hospital ward of the institution. Dr. Richardson has been in attendance and is pulling him around all right. He was suffering from an affection of the stomach which one of the officials described as being "off his feed."

The prisoners have the freedom of the grounds and if they want to exercise therein they can have the liberty. They don't seem inclined that way, and are to all appearances perfectly at home in their quarters.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Night School Vacancies—Many Will be Disappointed.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Emanuel Tasse, a former pontificial Zouave, writes to Le Canada that notwithstanding the lapse of twenty five years and the confident assertions of the enemies of the Church that an end has been put to the temporal power of the Pope forever, he and those for whom he speaks cherish the hopes of seeing better days arise. He protests on their behalf an unalterable attachment and fidelity to the papacy and expresses the conviction that although the Zouaves may not again assemble beneath the banners of the Church yet their children will do so, swelled by thousands of devoted adherents of the Holy See from the banks of the St. Lawrence.

SPANISH WARSHIP SUNK.

THE BIG VESSEL RUN DOWN BY A COASTER.

An Admiral, the Captain, Three Officers and Thirty of the Crew Drowned—An Incident of the Insurrection.

Special to The Times.

HAVANA, Sept. 19.—The Spanish warship Sanchez Barcaizetegui with Admiral Delgado Parejo on board, was struck by the incoming coasting steamer Mortara in front of Morro Castle, at midnight last night, and sank almost instantly. Admiral Parejo and thirty four of the crew of the warship, including Capt. Ybanez and three other officers, were drowned. The remainder of the crew, 116 in number, were saved. The bodies of Admiral Parejo and Captain Ybanez were recovered.

The body of the captain was mutilated, the head and arms having been eaten by sharks.

The Sanchez Barcaizetegui was an iron barque rigged cruiser, 920 tons displacement and 1,100 nominal horse power. She was built at Lasrine, in 1876. She was 203 feet long, 30 feet wide and had a draught of 12 feet. She carried seven guns.

LATEST AD FOR THE LILY.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Westminster Gazette says that Mrs. Langtry has returned from Baden to London, and made application to the Union Bank for the restoration of jewels valued at £40,000, which she deposited in the bank before leaving London. She found that the bank on August 24th, under an order in handwriting resembling that of Mrs. Langtry, and bearing a counterpart of her signature requesting the bank to give the jewels to "bearer," and delivered them as directed.

Mrs. Langtry declares that the order was a forgery, and has placed the matter in the hands of the police, who thus far have been unable to trace the forger.

CLARA AN ACTRESS.

She is Playing in Buffalo With Sam T. Jack's "Creole" Girls.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, Sept. 19.—Sam T. Jack's giddy company of "Creoles," now holding the boards at the Court Street Theater in this city, is a dusky-eyed, buxom-bosomed and lissome-limbed maiden who less than a year ago was the most conspicuous woman in the Dominion of Canada, being then on trial for her life. She was then known as Clara Ford, and had been accused of the murder of Frank Westwood. During the trial it was learned that she was a quadroon and the illegitimate daughter of a Toronto man. After her acquittal by the jury she found herself penniless, and having a fondness for male impersonation sought a position on the stage. She has no speaking part but her figure speaks for her in the amazon marches and the "first-part" scene.

WILL THEY FIGHT?

The Corbett-Fitzsimmons Mill Still in Doubt—A Test Case.

Special to the Times.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 19.—By this time tomorrow the question as to whether or not the Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight can be pulled off by Dan Stewart, before the Florida Athletic Club, in this city, will be settled once for all.

There was a hearing this morning before Chief Justice Hart, of the Court of Criminal Appeals, on the habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Jesse Clarke, who was recently arrested for engaging in a prize fight. Judge Hart will render his decision tomorrow. Dan Stewart, as well as Mayor Holland and the sheriff, are confident that the decision will be favorable to the Florida Athletic Club, but with them it may be that "the wish is father to the thought."

Off With Fifty Thousand.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Ross C. Vanbokelen, receiving teller of the Merchants' Loan & Trust Company, is missing with about $50,000 of the money belonging to the institution. Vanbokelen is supposed to be in Mexico. Vanbokelen's father was rector of a church at Buffalo, N. Y., and he has a brother who is a rector of a church near New York city.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—At practice yesterday Bradley, the sprinter of the London Athletic Club, which will compete in the International games with the New York Athletic Club at Manhattan Field next Saturday, covered 100 yards in 10 seconds flat, finishing strong and showing himself quite able to cope with Crum and Wafers.

A POLICEMAN FALLS DEAD

WAS CHASING TRAMPS WHO HAD STOLEN $500.

Died While Climbing Over a Fence Near Brockville—A Grocer's Safe Blown Open by Powder.

Special to the Times

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 19.—This town was thrown into a great state of excitement this morning by a report that Policeman Alex. Wright had been shot and was dead. Investigation proved that Wright was dead, but that he had died from heart failure, caused by over exertion.

When Jas. Curran, grocer, went to his store on Bartholomew street this morning he discovered that burglars had been at work during the night. The door of the store had been forced open and the safe blown up with powder and about $500 in money taken. He at once notified the police station and Wright, the only policeman on duty at the station, went down. After viewing the premises he and Curran proceeded towards the east end of the town in search of the burglars. Noticing three tramps some distance away, they pursued them.

They had gone about a mile, when Wright, in getting over a fence, fell dead. Curran at once returned to town and gave the alarm. The body was brought in and an inquest will be held today. Wright has only been on the force for about seven months. He leaves a widow and four young children, one of which is ill and not expected to live.

The large amount of money in Curran's safe is accounted for by the fact that yesterday was pay day on the Grand Trunk and a great many of the customers had been in during the afternoon and evening settling their accounts.

The three tramps that were chased have been arrested, but it is not supposed they are the burglars.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895.

MR. LAURIER IN ONTARIO.

Mr. Laurier is going up into Ontario presently to make a uumber of picnic speeches. The Conservative press have already attempted to embarrass his progress by pushing into prominence statements that he is alleged to have made in rural Quebec, which, they shrewdly suspect, will not be pleasing to Ontario ears. But they can hardly make much headway against so capable a campaigner by these tactics. It is not likely that it will turn out that the politic Mr. Laurier has said things that he ought not to have said. Far more probable is it that he has left unsaid much that he ought to have said.

But whatever the politicians may hope from this series ot speeches, Canadians who are anxiously looking toward the troubled future will listen only for frank and authoritative utterances. This is not a time when a statesman can afford to caper nimbly behind a veil. There are some two or three questions of grave importance to be settled by this country in the near future, and we have a right to to know what a candidate Prime Minister thinks should be done about them. He will tell us, of course, that he does not like Protection; and he will probably add that any tariff which the Liberals will frame, must do considerable protecting. Will he be explicit, then, and tell us what he will protect and what he will abandon? Unless he has changed his mind since last session, he solemnly state that the Manitoba school difficulty is a question o fact, and will promise, if returned to power, to look into it. But will he not go farther than that and tell us what he will do if he finds that the Privy Council was right when he declared that the Manitoba minority had suffered "an injustice?"

There are those who think that it will pay Mr. Laurier to avoid plain speech just now. Apparently the leader of the Opposition is one of these. But in a time of crisis, a public man forfeits his claim to the statesman's rank who is silent from expediency—and silent with his mouth full of ostentatious speech. And it is a question whether a leader of the Liberal party can afford to stand in that position. Liberalism nowhere has made its way with a Delphic tongue and an uncertain policy.

The Hon. Mr. Harty has found it a hard matter to get himself elected in Kingston. He finds it a harder matter to keep himself elected.

Queen Marie of Hanover, widow of George V. and mother of the Duke of Cumberland, has lost the sight of one eye and may lose the other; she is 77 years old.

Married women who get kissed and afterwards decide to make a fuss about it should profit by the experience of an Indian woman. She was kissed in March and again in May by a neighbor. She failed to complain until August, and the court dismissed the prisoner.

Golden dreams have been put into many a head by the news from Rainy Lake, Seine River, Western Algoma, the valley of the Yukon, and British Columbia. In all these portions of Canada the yellow metal has been recently uncovered, and in all of them is supposed to be a great store of it. Those youths whose heads were turned by the fairy tales that came from the gold mines of South Africa might have found they could make a fortune with as little magic right at home. These gold fields of ours are likely to be important gathering-places of population.

HETEROPHEMY.

An Awkward Trick For Which the Tongue or Nerves Are Responsible.

Heterophemy, the curious disease which consists in using one word when meaning to use an entirely different one, gives rise to many amusing combinations. An old lady living in a town on the Hudson river is thus afflicted. She is tall and stately in appearance, courtly and gracious in manner, and this makes her incongruous sentences all the more ridiculous. Strange to say, she herself is totally unconscious of her infirmity, for the family, friends and even the servants endeavor to save her from the mortification she would feel.

Not long ago when she was recovering from a serious illness the bishop of the diocese chanced to make his annual visitation, and at the suggestion of the rector they went together to call upon Mrs. Drew.

She was delighted to see them and entertained them with her usual grace and cordiality. The conversation naturally touched upon her illness and her thankfulness at her recovery, which for a time had been despaired of.

Presently she turned to the bishop, saying earnestly, "My dear bishop, let us have a little drop."

"Certainly, Mrs. Drew," interposed the rector, waiting for her to make some move which might disclose her meaning. But Mrs. Drew waited expectantly also.

"If you have not your Vade Mecum with you, there is a prayer book," she said after a moment.

The rector, with a sigh of relief, turned to the bishop. "Mrs. Drew will be glad to have you read prayers with her," he said quietly.

Prayers were read, and then the gentlemen prepared to take leave.

"Your visit has been a pleasure," Mrs. Drew said warmly. "Now, Mr. Belknap, won't you take this little boy home to your dear wife with my best love?"

For a moment Mr. Belknap wondered if she could mean the bishop, but she relieved his mind by lifting a magnificent bunch of roses from a vase on the table.

Allied to this is another form of misspeech, to which most of us are occasionally subject—the exchange of syllables. A certain young lady who, to her intense mortification, often reverses her vowels thus, says she is entirely unconscious of it even after speaking.

One summer evening she was sauntering with a friend toward the village postoffice of the little town where they were staying. On the way they encountered an acquaintance with a handful of letters.

"Ah, good evening," she said in her peculiarly gracious, suave manner. "Are you strailing out for your mole?"

The mystified young woman made some inarticulate reply and passed on. As soon as the friend could recover her gravity she gasped, "I suppose you intended to ask Miss May if she was strolling out for her mail?"

The same young lady was relating a sad story of various misfortunes which had overwhelmed a dear friend.

Carbolic Acid Suicides.

"It is a strange fact," said my friend, the Franklin street physician, "that six out of ten would be suicides now resort to that most horrible of all deadly doses, carbolic acid. It causes more pain, more genuine, lingering agony than any deadly dose I can mention. Yet its popularity continues to increase, especially among the unfortunate members of the half world who have become weary of life and seek the comforts of the grave. The antidote? Oh, an antidote after the acid has been swallowed is of little avail. A mixture of flour and water should be given; also mucilaginous drinks. I once had a patient recover after taking a small quantity of the acid, and she said she thought she was swallowing molten lead. It is a horrible life destroyer."—Buffalo Courier.

Which Is the Cheaper?

When you are willing to pay for brains in your kitchens, the servant girl question will solve itself. Which is cheaper—to employ a girl at $3 per week, who will probably waste, spoil or throw away $10 worth of food, or to pay a competent cook $6 or $8 per week and have all the left overs saved and served up into the most palatable of dishes? One you can trust with your purse and the care of your refrigerator; one who will not only cook, but relieve you of marketing and the worry of each day contriving a new bill of fare.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

GENESEO, N.Y., Sept. 18.—James Whitney aged 50 years, a Canadian who came here some time ago, was seen to crawl to a well in this village. Upon examination the man presented a most frightful appearance. There was a gash over two inches deep under his left ear and his face was covered with grime and clotted and dried blood, which was ground into his beard. To add to the wretched condition of the man his body had become fly blown, and the wound in his throat was full of maggots. The doctors pronounced his condition the worst they had ever seen, over a pint of maggots being taken from the body. Whitney had been suffering from a felon, and thinks he must have gone crazy as he remembers nothing since a week ago, last Saturday, when he thinks he cut himself in the woods. The man lost over fifty pounds since he was last seen. He may recover.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

REMOVAL OF THE REMAINS OF JOHN HOWARD PAYNE.

Brought From Tunis to His Native Land Pathetic Scene In the Little Protestant Church—Something About the Last Days of the Sweet Singer.

I chanced upon Mr. John Worthington the other day just after his return from Malta, where he has been United States consul since his appointment to that position by President Arthur in 1882. From time to time I have noticed extracts from his consular reports in the newspapers, but I particularly remembered his connection with the removal of John Howard Payne's remains to this country from Tunis at the instance of Mr. Corcoran of Washington.

Mr. Worthington said that one of the earliest and most interesting duties he had to perform as consul was to go to Tunis and exhume the body of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home." This was on Jan. 5, 1883. Payne had been the American consul at Tunis and died there in 1852. His body lay in St. George's cemetery, in the heart of the town of Tunis, for 32 years, when Mr. Corcoran, the Washington banker, obtained permission from the state department to take it up and bring it to America.

"When I arrived at Tunis," Mr. Worthington continued, "it was noon—the exhumation was to take place at 1 o'clock. At the grave I found assembled Sir Thomas F. Reade (the British consul general), one or two gentlemen connected with the American consulate and about 20 other gentlemen, some of them Tunisians, dressed in the costumes of the country. Among the latter was Payne's old dragoman, who had been present at his death and funeral.

"There was nothing whatever left of the body except the skeleton, and in removing this skeleton from the grave to a coffin we had to put some of the earth in with it, as the coffin in which the body had been buried had crumbled away, the earth and bones becoming mixed.

"In stooping over the grave I noticed that the root of a tree—a pepper tree—had just begun to creep over the forehead. This I pulled away, and in so doing exposed a piece of bone as white as ivory, which, together with a branch of the pepper tree, I sent to Mr. Corcoran at Washington. I also obtained five or six brass buttons from the uniform in which Payne had been buried, one of which I sent to Mr. Corcoran, one to the secretary of state—in fact, I gave them all away, not keeping even one for myself.

"The body was then taken to the little English Protestant church at Tunis, where, the coffin having been covered with an American flag, we placed it on a table at the foot of the chancel and directly under a window which had been erected to Payne's memory by English and American residents, and on which was inscribed: 'To the memory of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home."'"

This was just about sunset. The ceremony which took place was of a simple nature. An English naval officer played the air of 'Home, Sweet Home' on a little American melodeon which stood there, and after considerable urging I induced my wife to sing the words. This she at last consented to do, and standing there in the beautiful twilight singing helped to make one of the most pathetic scenes I have ever witnessed. At first she sung in brave tones, but gradually, as she began to think how this little scene might some day become historic, her voice trembled and trembled—which only added pathos to the scene—until there was not a dry eye in the church. Arabs, foreigners and all were wiping away the tears. It was simply overwhelming.

"There we left the body all night. The next day, at noon, we again assembled, when the coffin containing all that was left of Payne was carried to the Mariana, whence it was put aboard a French ship bound for Marseilles. It was then transferred to a ship coming direct to the United States, where it was taken to Washington and buried.

"The people of Tunis, as I learned afterward, felt aggrieved that even the old tombstone which had covered the grave for 30 odd years had been taken away to America. This was done by a mistake. Mr. Corcoran wrote me, and when he was informed of their feeling he at once authorized me to have a monument put up over the empty grave in Tunis. This I did, duplicating the one in Washington, except instead of putting a bust, as on the Washington moument, I had a little group of symbols cut for the top, one a ribbon, on which were carved the first few notes of 'Home, Sweet Home,' and the inscription (from Mrs. Ray Riley Smith's poem, 'Sometime'), 'Then Be Content, Poor Heart,' and the others a lute and a book."

"I suppose, Mr. Worthington, you obtained considerable information regarding Payne's life in Tunis?"

"Yes, I did, particularly from a Mr. Alfred Chappillie, the present United States vice consul in Tunis. He knew Payne very well and was very kind to him. It was through Mr. Chappillie largely that Payne was enabled to receive the assistance which made his last days comfortable without Payne knowing that it was charity. He was proud, he fancied—and his friends led him to believe—that the money he was living on was his own, whereas, as a matter of fact, his friends were helping him. He supposed it was his money which had been saved for him out of his own income.

"Payne lived in a fine large house in Tunis, which he had succeeded in getting the bey to let him occupy in his capacity as a servant of the United States. As he began to fail he staid in the house a great deal, sitting in a large chair, well wrapped up, with a hot fire burning—this, too, in the hot climate to be found there—contenting himself with brandy and soda. He finally died from exhaustion from inability to eat or retain anything, living on brandy altogether during the last few days of his life."—Philadelphia Press.

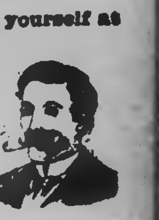
GREAT SAVING B PURCHA [illegible]



FISHING FOR COD.

A TRAMP PRINTER'S VOYAGE TO THE BANKS OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Fog and Fish Were Plentiful—Weird Sensations Experienced Alone In the Mist. The Dangers of Setting the Trawls Are Many and Serious.

There are few situations in life, however strange and precarious, in which the tramp printer is not to be found; but, save myself, I know of none that has been fool enough to try his luck as a "roustabout" on a banker or fishing craft bound for the "stormy Georgias."

One day, weary of the monotony of typesetting, I went on board the 103 ton sloop Trident lying off Spruce street wharf and was hailed by Captain Sam Macy, a tall, bony Yankee in red cap and rubber boots.

"Want to ship for the grand banks fur cod? Ever tried fishing, hey? Well, I want a 'gutter' and will give $22 a month. Get yer plunder aboard. We sail tonight."

So on a very cold and windy night the sloop passed Black light with a stiff wind astern. We had a crew of seven men, four of them Finns. After standing my watch I went into the little fo'cas'le. Going to bed on a banker means lying down on some one else. After a minute's trial I crawled from under a big Finn and finished my 40 winks on the wet deck, the waves flying over our low rail. For four days we did nothing but hold on, and after three days more jumping the seas the Trident anchored in Machias harbor, Maine.

Here we bought bait, caplin and mossbunker, broken up and barreled, and these covered our deck. Next it was "Ho, for the Grand banks!" and on the 30th of March the cry was "The banks on the lee bow!"

A cloud of gray mist, and this our vessel entered as through a gateway, and then it closed, so thick that the man at the wheel could not see the jib, 80 feet away. Groping our way, we anchored in 90 fathoms. Around us the toll of ship bells is plainly heard, and soon comes a hail. We are 40 yards away from old friends and yet cannot see them. Around us is one gray waste of water, breaking into short waves. The fog thickens, and in the northeast it is getting black, and by night the storm comes on, and for 40 hours we are fairly pinned to the deck by the wind.

It was my task to toll the bell. I grew dead weary and pulled the cord mechanically. How sweet to close one's eyes and dream! The sloop rises and falls with a lulling motion, and I am a thousand miles away. Suddenly a deep boom awakens me. All the crew rush on deck and unite in one loud yell, "What's the matter?" I see a huge black wall hanging over the sloop, a glare of scorching light and a rush like a million of Tartar cavalry. It is gone. Captain Macy walks aft and says: "A close call. You must keep your eyes open. That was a Cunarder, blast her!" An ocean liner had swept by us 50 feet to leeward.

And now we commenced fishing for cod. Each man had three lines, and these were pulled every minute, the fish released with a jerk and the hook baited and thrown in. The cook and I opened the fish and put a handful of salt inside, while the captain packed them away. The cold was intense, and so we worked for 18 hours, and then came dinner and supper in one. I was too tired to eat, although the food was good and plenty of it.

Then came laying the trawls, the most dreaded work of all. Two men get into a dory—double bowed skiff like a big dish—and lay out a mile of line baited and hooked every two feet. Ten feet from the sloop the mist closed around us like a pall. We had a compass, a keg of water and biscuit. After six hours' work we found the sloop and next day started again to overhaul the trawl—most exhausting work. One man hauls into the heaving boat the line. Halibut weighing 200 pounds are on the hooks, and these must be gaffed and as the boat rises hauled in, the boat gun'le under water. Often she upsets and then good by. Sometimes men lose their bearings, and ships often find the dories drifting in midocean, with the shrunken and blackened remains of the occupants in the bottom. For 28 days we worked, the only intermissions being when the storm swept down on us. Once a steamer passed so close that her wake dashed the white water over our boat. Every day hails came to us through the blinding fog, "Ahoy! Seen anything of our dory?" Captain Macy had lost three sons and a nephew on one voyage two years before and in the terrible "Lord's day gale," August, 1878, 200 of the New England fishing fleet were dashed to pieces.

On Sundays we rested, mended our clothes, smoked, spun yarns and slept. Nothing was more surprising to me than the strange shapes taken by the mist when blown by a gale. It rolled up like ranks of women with floating garments and trailing hair or swept by for hours the semblance of an army of horsemen breaking, uniting and again forming in ranks.

Our Finns were very superstitious and full of curious old sea lore. Every move of the fog and wind had a significance, and once the whole crew was raised to listen to the wail of women far off to the windward. Heard in the silence of night it was very impressive. It was seals coming from the north on floating ice.

Our cruise had been very successful, and our hatches were locked down over a splendid catch of halibut. So one morning we raised our anchor, struck our bell three times—the signal of departure—and this was answered, and under a chorus of goodbys the jib and mainsail were sheeted home, and in 90 hours the Trident entered Gloucester harbor. Our destination was New York, but I had had enough of it, so the captain paid me, remarking graciously "that I wasn't as big a fool as I looked."—Philadelphia Times.

Telegraphic Abbreviations.

Soon after the advent of typewriting machines in telegraph offices about five years ago senders of news messages began to abbreviate, and the manager of one of the news associations invented a code of abbreviations which is almost as intricate as the sign code itself. For instance, the sender telegraphs "hag," and the receiver writes it on his typewriting machine "in consequence of." Likewise "pes" means principles, "ay4" means anywhere, "aeoty," authenticity; "sum," sales unimportant; "sbgun," small business, prices unchanged; "fpabnd," full prices asked, but no demand; "xz," exercise; "wum," with amendment; "utc," under the circumstances; twp," tomorrow afternoon; "pep," presented a petition; "ogt," on the ground that; "scotus," supreme court of the United States; "kaw," adjourned sine die; "ehy," either of which; "ekz," committed suicide; "cbt," covered by insurance.—Troy Press.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT ILL.

THE PROVINCIAL PREMIER IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

He Has Consulted Eminent Specialists in Britain But Has Derived Little Relief—He will Return in Worse Health than he Went.

Special to The Times

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—The condition of Sir Oliver Mowat's health is a cause of serious apprehension to his friends, and of anxious speculation among his colleagues. It has been known for some time that the Little Premier was not in the best of health—in fact was a very sick man and suffering from a form of kidney disease. For the past few summers Sir Oliver has been in the habit of taking the waters at the Clifton Springs Sanitarium, in New York State. But lately these waters seemed to have lost their virtue in the Premier's case.

It was in pursuance of the urgent advice both of his physicians and friends that Sir Oliver crossed the water to consult an eminent specialist in London, England. Sir Oliver has been for several months under the treatment of the best physicians in the metropolis none of whom has succeeded in alleviating his disorder.

It is understood that the eminent specialist gave Sir Oliver but little hope of anything more than temporary relief. This verdict was endorsed by other specialists whom Sir Oliver consulted.

Sir Oliver will return to Toronto shortly. His closest friends admit that so far from being benefited by his sojourn abroad his health is actually worse and his complaint aggravated.

It is hinted that Sir Oliver will before long retire from active politics, and that he will be succeeded by Hon. Mr. Hardy or Hon. Mr. Ross, with the chances in favor of the latter.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Insurgents Suffer Losses in Engagements With the Troops.

Special to the Times.

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—The column of Colonel Kulz, operating in the Province of Puerto Principe, has, according to official despatches received here, had several brisk skirmishes with insurgents. In one of these seven insurgents were killed and twelve wounded, while of the troops seven were wounded. An official report states that Captain Mora, with 50 infantry men and 20 cavalry men, engaged insurgents to the number of 250 and after a hard fight forced them to retire. The insurgents lost four killed and three wounded. One soldier was killed and five were wounded.

The steamer Santa Barbara has arrived here with 1,090 soldiers and 37 officers from Tetuan, Morocco. The troops were given a splendid reception. The newspaper proprietors of the city distributed among the newcomers 15,000 cigars and 20,000 packages of cigarettes.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS
Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.
$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.
Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

WATER LEVEL IN THE LAKES.

The probable effect of the opening of the Chicago drainage canal upon the water level of the great lakes has been the subject of discussion ever since that tremendous project took shape, says the Cleveland Leader. A cry of alarm was raised several years ago when it was announced that the diversion of water from Lake Michigan in anything like the quantity required to fill the canal then being constructed across Illinois to the Mississippi valley would seriously interfere with the navigation of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers and render it impossible for heavy draught vessels to enter most of the harbors on the lower lakes. The Chicago engineers have done their best ever since to dispel that belief. They have maintained that the taking from the lakes of all the water that will ever be required for the canal will not lower the lake level more than three inches, and the Chicago newspapers have all indorsed the opinions expressed by the Chicago engineers, as a matter of course.

Prof. G. Frederick Wright, of Oberlin college, who has perhaps made a more careful study of the geology and geography of the lake region than any other man in the United States, does not agree with the Chicago engineers, however. Prof. Wright shows that the quantity of water required to be turned into the drainage canal when it is first opened will be equal to about five per cent. of the quantity that now flows over Niagara. When the population of Chicago reaches two millions, the law under which the canal was constructed provides that the quantity of water passing through it shall be doubled. That means that at least ten per cent. as much water as now passes over Niagara will be diverted from the lakes to the Mississippi. Maj. Ruffner, of the corps of engineers of the United States army, estimates that when the drainage canal is first opened the result will be to lower the level of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie and the connecting rivers at least nine inches, and that when the canal is operated to its full capacity the fall in the water level will be eighteen inches. This, Prof. Wright says, may have but little effect in the rainy season, but during the late summer and autumn he is certain that it will seriously interfere with navigation. He declares that the vessel owners and all who are interested in the commerce of the lakes should realize the danger and do all they can to avert it. As a preventive measure he suggests that a dam be constructed across the lower end of Lake Superior at the "Soo," which will raise the level of that lake two feet and store enough water during the early season to supply the lower lakes during the late summer and fall.

Prof. Wright says that the level of the lakes is such that if the continent were to dip fifty feet to the west all the water which now goes over Niagara would flow over Illinois and into the Mississippi, and if the dip were one hundred feet to the north the water of the lakes would go through Lake Nipissing into the Ottawa river, and the Niagara would become dry.

Certainly his suggestions are worthy the attention of lake men and vessel owners, and an investigation should be started to determine what the actual effect of the opening of the Chicago canal will be. Chicago ought not to be deprived of this means of disposing of its sewage, but if there is any way of preventing such a serious interference with the navigation of the lower lakes, as is threatened, action should be taken at once to avert it.

Matting Hats.

Use the mats that come inside of tea chests, or buy a rice bag at a Chinese store. Cut out a circular piece the size you want your hat, and another circular piece the size of the crown from the middle of it. With the machine sew a narrow tape or piece of muslin around each raw edge to keep it from fraying, and line the rim with mulle, crepoline or cheesecloth, covering the edge as by a binding; fasten the small round piece to the rim by means of a full puff of the material, thus forming a "Tam O'Shanter" crown. HE SHOT HIMSELF.

James Pratt's Suicide in Manitoba—A Widow and Nine Children Here.

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Mrs. James Pratt, 103 Sussex street, has been made a widow by the suicide of her husband at Carberry, Man., on Wednesday at noon. Pratt came to Canada from Warwick, Eng., in April last, accompanied by his wife and nine children. He had been a corndealer in fair circumstances till an unlucky deal left him poor. In Toronto work was scarce and he left for the Northwest. Twice weekly he has written, his last letter having arrived last Friday. He sent his wife money regularly and there was no indication of despondency. A dispatch from Winnipeg on Wednesday night announced that he had shot himself in the right temple. Mrs. Pratt's oldest child is 20 and her youngest 4.

MANNERS OF GREAT MEN.

Calhoun was so absent-minded that he often forgot he was in company.

Andrew Jackson was rough in his manners, but could be polite when he pleased. He was always courteous to ladies.

The Duke of Marlborough said that he owed his success as much to his elegant deportment as to his talents.

Byron was affable to his equals and to those whom he wished to please, but haughty and distant to most others.

Talleyrand owed his success in life, to no small extent, to the uniform courtesy with which he treated every one.

Haydn was the personification of courtesy. He once said: "It does not pay to be impolite, even to a dog."

Raleigh's courtesy in throwing his cloak in the mud for Queen Elizabeth to step on was characteristic of his usual behavior toward ladies.

Gladstone is polite to everybody. At his country home he knows everyone in the vicinity, and has a kindly word for even the poorest farm laborer.

William Penn's formal but kindly politeness impressed even the Indians with whom he dealt. One of the names given him by them was "The Good Big Chief."

Cromwell, in spite of the position which he attained, never departed from the simplicity of life of an English country gentleman. In conversation he was quiet and unassuming.

George Washington had a stately courtesy, inclined to pomposity, that kept every one at a distance. He always wanted it clearly understood that he was the Father of his Country.

Lightning Creates Confusion in Two Hotels—Gunning Accident.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Charles Garside, a tailor living on the Wharncliffe road, South London, and employed at W. Slaters, Richmond street, was out shooting squirrels yesterday. While in the act of discharging a gun the weapon exploded. A small piece was blown into the air and the stock was blown down. Garside's left wrist was painfully torn for about six inches, and the little finger was fractured. He will be laid up for two months.

HOTEL GUESTS IN TERROR.

During the progress of the electric storm early this morning the Queen's hotel, Carling street, experienced a very close call. Lightning Struck one of the chimneys and the fluid passed down though they flue and blew out a number of "thimbles" which were in place for the summer. The house was filled with guests and a wild scene ensued. The crash of thunder at the time was terrific, and shook the building to its foundations. Men and women left their beds and ran about the corridors in their night clothes some of the latter screaming with fright. The only damage done, however, was the knocking out of a few bricks from the building. The London house was also struck. Every lamp was extinguished and furniture and crockery was tumbled about in all the rooms. No damage was done except a few water pitchers and basins which were smashed by contact with the floor. Mr. Fleming, a boarder was thrown clear out of bed.

Special to the Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 19.—President Grover Cleveland touched a golden button at Buzzard's Bay at 2 o'clock today and instantly the wheels of the machinery at the Cotton States and International Exhibition 1,000 miles away leaped into life. Cannon blazed and thundered, 60,000 people cheered, a thousand flags fluttered from the tops of many buildings and the great South Industrial Exposition was officially opened. Atlanta is alive with people. The parade of civic and military bodies which acted as escort to the officials of the exposition and its guests today was the most impressive procession ever seen in the South.

THE SATURDAY TIMES tomorrow will be an interesting paper. In addition to the latest local, foreign and district news, it will contain many special articles among which will be another list of "Our Eligible Bachelors," "The Lime Juice Club," and a letter from two Peterborough young men, who are now visiting in New York city. The letter contains an account of their visit, the things they saw, the adventures they had and their impressions of the Great American Metropolis.

They Wore Bloomers.

There was quite a sensation in town at noon today. The cause was the passing of Mr. R. Shanger and wife and R. K. Higgin and wife on tandem bicycles. The ladies were dressed in bloomers and looked remarkably well. It won't be long before they will be in general use.—Port Hope Guide.

The Autumnal Equinox.

Next Saturday is the date of the autumnal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator going south, and when the day and night is of equal length throughout the world. We are now midway between the longest and shortest days of the year, each succeeding day growing shorter until 21st of December next.

Dime Novels the Cause.

We are assured by a local gunsmith that it is simply wonderful the numbers of revolvers that are in the possession of young lads around town. Nearly every other boy seems to own a shooting iron, and uses it too, from the amount of repairing that is required. Probably they have been reading yellow backed literature, and are preparing to go west and shoot Indians.

Stock Notes.

The Rambler From Clare.

The opera house was crowded last night when the inimitable Dan McCarthy, who appeals to every Irish heart, appeared with his excellent company in that excellent Irish melo-drama, "The Rambler From Clare." Dan has a splendid support this year, and introduces new specialities and songs which add to the performance. Last night the audience was well pleased with the Irish comedian and every time he appeared received him with applause. The play is replete with humor, and scores a success everywhere.

A WOMAN ASSAULTED.

Two Men Seized a Woman on George Street Last Night.

About 10 30 last night a telephone message to the police station, requested an officer to come immediately to the corner of George and Murray streets, as a young girl named Boiler, had been assaulted there by two men.

Officer McGinity immediately went to the spot, and found the girl in a badly frightened state of mind. The men who had assaulted her had disappeared when the officer arrived.

Miss Boiler stated that she had been followed by two men, and although she made persistent efforts to elude them, they kept a short distance behind her, addressing insulting remarks to her.

After she had gone a short distance, and at the corner of George and Murray streets the men suddenly ran up to her, seized her arms, one on each side and attempted to throw her down.

She screamed and made strenuous efforts to extricate herself from their grasp. Just at this juncture several pedestrians were seen approaching, and the ruffians fearing detection, let go the young girl, and made off. When the pedestrians reached her, Miss Boiler told her story, and the police was telephoned to at once, but arrived too late to capture the scoundrels.

It is believed that the two men belong to town and the police have an idea of their identity. Their arrest will likely be effected today.

This makes the second assault that has been made on young women this week, and it seems as though the safest thing for young women to do is to remain at home at night and not appear on the street unless accompanied by gentlemen companions.

It is to be hoped that the perpetrators of last night's outrage will be caught and severly punished. Such wretches deserve the fullest penalty of the law.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Sudden Departure of a Lindsay Bookkeeper From Home.

Considerable excitement was created around Tuesday when it was learned that Mr. Robert Fee, second bookkeeper in the office of the Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle Bros. mills, had mysteriously disappeared. The young man went to the office about 6 o'clock, a.m., took the time of the men, opened the safe, took out the office books and arranged them in their proper place. After transacting considerable business he left for his breakfast about 8 o'clock. On his failure to return a messenger was dispatched to his home when it was learned that he had not been there for breakfast and considerable curiosity was aroused as to his whereabouts. His father, Mr. Robert Fee, set out to find him, and various conjectures as to when and where he was seen by different persons left the matter still in doubt and all sorts of rumors were set in circulation. It was not until evening that anything definite was learned. Mr. P. O'Neil on learning of the disappearance remembered that he had seen "Scrappy," as he was known about town come out between the elevator and storehouse, cross the street and take the railway track towards the old Victoria Junction. This clue strengthened by the statement of W. Reeves, who was employed out at Mr. Dunoon's new house to the effect that he had seen him going in the same direction. That was the last seen of him. On his failure to return on Wednesday morning there was talk of forming search parties and also of dragging the river. Fortunately the Coboconk train arrived about this time and Mr. Neil McDougall, brakeman, came down street and told several parties that he had met Mr. Fee at Lorneville who told him he had decided to get out of town, and had tried to catch Conductor Fair's train at the Junction but missing it had continued on to Lorneville. He asked Mr. McDougall to inform his friends that he was all right and that they would hear from him in a day or two. He then took the Midland train and went north. This information was soon conveyed to his almost heartbroken parents and relieved the painful excitement which they had undergone during the previous twenty-four hours. Whatever his reasons may be for leaving the town as he did, they can hardly justify his thoughtlessness in so far as it effected his own family. As is usual a thousand rumors were circulated which will no doubt prove wide of the truth. It does seem strange, however, that a man so well known as Mr. Fee could walk down town in broad day light without being noticed.

TIDINGS OF LARRY HALL.

He Spent Several Days at Norwood and Left a Board Bill.

A few days ago THE TIMES announced the mysterious disappearance of Larry Hall, who left his young wife several weeks ago, and had not been seen or heard from. It was stated at the time that grave fears for Hall's safety were felt, as it was feared he had either met with foul play or made away with himself.

It now appears that Hall has deliberately deserted the woman whom he led to the altar only a few months ago. Last night the police received word from Clancy's hotel, Norwood, stating that Hall had stopped at that place for several days and that yesterday he left the hotel and started to go to Perth, leaving his board bill unpaid.

Hall cannot be censured too much for his conduct. He left his wife without a penny and at the house where they boarded without any means to settle several debts which he had contracted. His wife will have the sympathy of every one.

The Gray Case.

The trial of Thomas and Hessie Gray will probably commence next Wednesday morning. The assizes open on Tuesday, and it is expected the Grand Jury will bring in their bill that afternoon. Mrs. McGregor, who is the principal witness, is in a very delicate condition, and may not be able to appear at the required time. Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for the Grays is working hard on the evidence.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

The reverend gentleman and his bride reached Peterborough on the five o'clock train yesterday evening. They were met at the station by Mr. and Mrs. Tully and escorted to the manse, where had assembled the elders of the church and their wives. The party dined together, and then repaired to the Sunday School room, which had been magnificently decorated for the occasion, and where had gathered a large number of the congregation of the church.

The pastor of St. Andrews and his bride were warmly congratulated and listened to warm expressions of hope that theirs would be a long and happy life. Then Col. R. W. Bell, on behalf of the congregation presented Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams with a handsome marble clock and two large oak carved, antique, richly upholstered chairs, in a short address.

On behalf of the Junior Y.P.S.C.E., Miss White, the president, presented Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams with a beautiful silver flower stand, and the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. MacWilliams:

DEAR PASTOR AND WIFE.—The members of the Junior Endeavor Society of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, desire to join with the older members of the church and congregation in expressing our best wishes to you both for a happy and helpful life, and in giving you at this joyful time a most cordial welcome.

We remember Mr. MacWilliams your very great interest in our behalf in the past and we cannot express how much we owe to your kindly counsel, generous encouragement and true Christian example, and we are glad to believe Mrs. MacWilliams that you will be interested in us too and that we may be advantaged as you may have opportunity in by your wide experience in our work. We desire you to accept this present from us not because of its value but as a token of good will and sincere respect from this Junior Endeavor Society.

We promise that we will continue to endeavor to live earnest, true Christian lives, and help as we can in the work of the church for the Saviour's sake, and we hope we may be able to add our part in making your life, together with this church, as happy and prosperous as it is possible for it to be.

Signed on behalf of the Society.

Rev. Mr. McWilliams was quite taken by surprise, but replied in a short address in which he returned the sincere thanks of his wife and himself.

A very pleasant evening was then spent in social chat and the rendering of a short program, as follows:

Solo........"Trusting"........Mrs. Jones
Quartette.. Messrs. Mulligan, Jones Miss Huebeck and Mrs. MacFarlane
Piano solo. .... Miss Gladman and Miss MacFarlane.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Directors of the Y.M.C.A. will meet tonight.

Next week will be a busy one for the newspapers. With the Central Fair and the Gray trial going on, the reporters will have to hustle—a little more than usual.

Mr. Robert Petrie, well known in town, was married in Toronto on Wednesday. Mr. Petrie and his bride are visiting friends and relatives in town.

The annual Collegiate Institute sports will take place two weeks from Friday. The Driving Park association have kindly loaned the institute the grounds for the afternoon.

Mrs. Smith, of Antrim street, who was charged by the Children Aid Society with allowing her children to beg, received a severe reprimand from the police magistrate yesterday morning, but the case was dismissed.

At the postmortem of Mr. John Kennedy's horse, Dr. Reed found a piece of granite eight inches in length, about an inch and a half in thickness and about four inches wide in its stomach. It puzzles the veterinary surgeon and others how this large piece of granite could get into the stomach.—Port Hope Times.

Mr. George Anderson, of Glen Rosa while duck hunting one day last week, had a narrow escape from being shot. He shot a couple of ducks, and before picking them up, he proceeded to load his gun. Having loaded it, he stood it up against a stump, and in so doing both barrels were discharged, the charges just missing his head. As it was, his cheek was filled with powder and his cap blown in pieces—News Argus.

Lindsay is having quite a little amusement over the town council. The council had a high license for circuses, that was prohibitory. The only effect was to inconvenience the public by making them walk to the outskirts of the town. The council then abolished the high license and when Sells Circus came the agent gave the town clerk a number of tickets for the councillors. Some of the worthy councillors did not get a ticket, and kicked up a great hullabaloo. They want a commission to enquire into "Who got the circus tickets?"

This is a very peculiar world. One is struggling to get a place in it, and another is fleeing from it. One is trying to build a house, and another is trying to sell his for less than it cost, to get rid of it. One man is spending all he earns in taking a girl to places of amusement, etc., sending her flowers with the hope of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending what has taken years to earn and save in getting a divorce. One man escapes all diseases that flesh is heir to, and gets killed on the railroad. Another man escapes a scratch and dies with the whooping cough. One man stands off all his creditors and goes travelling, while another pays his debts and stays at home. What are you doing?

Beware of Toadstool.

People who are fond of mushrooms will go out in search of them now that the frosty mornings have returned, and in gathering then great care should be taken as there is very often danger in mistaking the wholesome edible for the poisonous toadstool. No mistake will occur, as we have published in these columns before if the following is observed:—

First—The table mushroom is usually white on the outer surface and has a skin which readily peels off. This is not true of the unwholesome mushroom.

Second—The gills or under radiants are of a beautiful pink in the table mushroom, but the gills as well as the whole plant turn to a mahogany brown after it has been exposed to the sun and air in the open for two or three days.

Third—The minor ends of the gills are not joined to the stem in the wholesome mushroom, but they are in all that are not good to eat. The latter is the surest test.

AN ELOPEMENT RECALLED.

Big Jim Lindsay, of Apsley, was registered at a hotel in town last night. The good people of Apsley will be surprised to learn this, for evidently they think he is many miles away.

It is some months since the name of this gentleman appeared in these columns, and then it was in connection with a little story that created the biggest kind of a sensation in the peaceful wilds of Apsley and caused a great deal of talk.

A man who kept a store in Apsley and who was married and had a family, suddenly wound up his business affairs and left. He didn't take his family with him, but left them in poor circumstances, so poor in fact, that Mrs. Lindsay went to her father's with her children, to live.

Lindsay did not leave Apsley alone, however. He was accompanied by Hotelkeeper Wilson's daughter, a young girl, who no doubt before this has rued the step she took, when several months ago she persuaded a young man in Apsley to drive her to a sisters several miles away, where she met Lindsay and fled with him to parts unknown.

Miss Wilson was not with Lindsay last night. She may possibly have returned to her father's home repentant and wiser by her brief experience. At any rate Lindsay was alone at the hotel. He will meet with a warm welcome in Apsley, if that is where he intends going.

INS AND OUTS.

As we go to press we learn that the tramps were seen in Hastings yesterday evening. The one who was hit on the head went into a blacksmith shop there and had the crack in his cranium closed with a hydraulic clamp and then riveted together with a steel band.

⁂

A Toronto girl has married the lawyer who beat her in a lawsuit. Evidently she is of a revengeful disposition.

⁂

A drawing card for the Central Exhibition would be the tramp over whose head the baton was broken. The attention of Secretary Green is respectfully drawn to this suggestion.

LATEST FROM FRASERVILLE.

Correspondence Morning Times.

The buckwheat crop around here has been destroyed by the late frosts.

Mr. J. Isbister, of Centerhouse, paid the village a visit on Monday evening last.

Dame rumor has it that one of our lovely old bachelors is about to take unto himself a wife.

Rev. T. S. McKee while on a visit to Orillia purchased a fine Jersey cow. The price paid we believe was $15.

Mr. R. Stewart has sold his fine thoroughbred driver for a very handsome figure.

An artesian well has been discovered on the farm of Mr. David McIlmyle just east of here. When water was struck it gushed out at the rate of 1,000 gallons per hour, so fast indeed that Mr. George Trotter, an old miner of many years experience who had the contract for digging the well, had a very narrow escape from drowning. Many persons have visited the well which still continues to flow.

A Human Brute.

The Hastings Star says it is difficult to believe and yet nevertheless true, that such may be found in our midst. Who was the brute in human form, that enticed a young slip of a girl, to go with him, on Sunday evening two weeks ago, for a boat ride and detained her until dark and then landed at the head of Huyck's island when by threats if she ever told he would paralyse her? Has the fatherless child no friend to put the law in force and place such a pestiferous pestilent behind bars and safe keeping? It only requires the child's affidavit, and justice will be meeted out without further cost. Such brutes should not only be lashed, but skinned and roasted alive. While our heart aches for the poor wife, children and friends, justice demands the denunciation of all such, irrespective of sympathy for the injured. If such acts are permitted to go unpunished what house is safe from intrusion? The safety of society demands that the law be enforced in such cases.

Don't Try and Cheat.

At this time of the year there seems to be such a temptation among some people to deceive purchasers in the fruit line that we deem it advisable to quote a clause from the statue of 1895: "Each person who shall knowingly and with intent to defraud so place or arrange apples, pears, plums, peaches, nectarines, cherries, apricots, grapes or berries, of any description whatever, in any box, crate, barrel, bag, basket or other article, as to conceal defects in size or quality in any portion of such fruit, by covering the same with fruit of larger size, or better quality, or otherwise, shall be liable on summary conviction thereof, to the penalty of not less than $1 nor more than $5 and costs."

An Old Saying...

Has it that a first impression is a lasting impression.
If there is any truth in the adage, we certainly should feel flattered at our first introduction to the good people of Peterborough—the large crowds that thronged our store from morning until night.
The

that were passed upon our stock and the many kind greetings and tokens of good fellowship that come to us personally compell us to admit that our establishment in Peterborough is already a decided success. We feel highly flattered at our reception, we believe that already the people are convinced that the coming of Oak Hall means

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

KILLED BY A FREIGHT.

THE TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. O'KEEFE IN TORONTO.

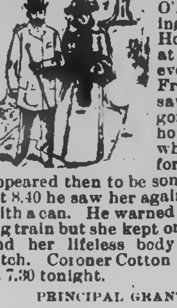
Special to the Times.



TORONTO, Sept. 20.—A Grand Trunk freight train killed Mrs. Mary O'Keefe at the crossing in front of Nurse's Hotel at the Humber at 9.40 o'clock last evening. Watchman Frederick Macdonald saw her about 7 o'clock going towards the house of Patrick Bolan where she had lived for a few days. She appeared then to be somewhat intoxicated. At 8.40 he saw her again near the crossing with a can. He warned her of an approaching train but she kept on. The train passed and her lifeless body was found in the ditch. Coroner Cotton will hold an inquest at 7.30 tonight.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S OPINION.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—A gentleman who accompanied Principal Grant a portion of the way on the train coming to Manitoba positively asserts that on the journey up the Principal made statements about the Manitoba school system exactly similar to those made in the Globe after his alleged study of the schools.

HOPELESS YOUTH.

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—Disappointment in her love affairs caused Alice Lucinda De Baptiste to commit suicide at her home, 180 East Willis avenue, this morning. No other cause can be assigned for the young girl's deed, and even her parents doubt that that could have been the cause of their daughter's self-destruction.

Alice was a general favorite, not only in her family circle, but among the neighbors and her acquaintances. She had a cheerful disposition, was always, seemingly, in good health and spirits, and had a good education.

TOOK POISON IN THE NIGHT.

Last night she was in such good spirits and at 8 o'clock no one in the household suspected that she contemplated her own destruction. She retired at the usual hour, occupying the same room with her sisters. During the night both Mr. and Mrs. De Baptiste heard a strangling noise from her room, but they thought it nothing extraordinary, because Alice was accustomed to snore while sleeping, but at 5.30 this morning Mrs. De Baptiste was startled when she tried to awaken her daughter. Alice could not be aroused and investigation showed that she was dying. Her father was then called and lost no time in bringing in the assistance of the family physician. When the physician arrived he soon discovered that the girl had poisoned herself.

A search resulted in finding a 1 ounce bottle of laudanum with only half a tea spoonful left. It was evident that the girl had ended her life with the contents of the bottle. Before taking it, however, Alice mutilated the label in such a way that the druggist's name who sold it could not be learned.

HER LAST GOOD BYE.

"Good bye, mamma, forever. Tell Rena I hope she will keep my promise to Mrs. Henry, who gave us the lessons. I cannot. Once more good bye. When you read this I shall be asleep to wake no more.

ALICE.

Mr. De Baptiste, when seen by a reporter could give no reasons for his daughter's act, He said she was a model daughter, always kind and gentle, and claimed that she never received any regular company. Drs. Keifer and Scure will hold an autopsy and Coroner Cutler will hold an inquest on the girl's death.

FELL FIVE STOREYS

On to a Stone Pavement and Escaped Injury—Playing in Two Hours.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept 20.—Nine year old Freda Bordoman lives on the top floor of the five storey tenement, No. 518 Sixth street. On returning from school yesterday Freda played about the street until nearly 6 o'clock, then became hungry, and decided to enter the flat by the fire escape.

From the fifth floor, she stepped to the fire escape, and started to make her way to a window of her home.

There was a shriek that terrified the tenants. The child had stepped through the fire escape opening, uttering one loud cry as she fell.

DROPPED TO THE PAVEMENT.

She struck one of the lower landings, bounded off, hit an iron railing farther down, then fell to the pavement.

She lay white and still on the stones. A man raised her and women rushed from the house to render aid.

COULD NOT FIND A WOUND.

Before an ambulance arrived Freda had become conscious. Not a cut or bruise could be seen, and the girl declared that beyond a pain in her chest she felt no injury. The ambulance surgeon examined her thoroughly, but could not find a wound. The pain in her chest he thought was caused by her striking the fire escape in her descent.

The surgeon wished to take Freda to the hospital, as he feared she might be injured internally, but she cried and refused to go.

Two hours latter she was skipping merrily about the house, laughing and singing.

SAYS HE WILL SHOOT HIM.

Wm. Wilson Wants Five Hundred Dollars or John Eaton's Gore.

Special to The Times

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—A detective from police headquarters has been in the vicinity of the person of Mr. John Eaton most of today. This is the reason thereof. Several letters have been received by Mr. Eaton severely castigating him for his establishment of the big store.

Last night these letters culminated in an offer by a man signing himself as Wm. Wilson, General Postoffice, to kill Mr. Eaton before Sunday if he did not at once pay $500.

"I am not exactly afraid," said Mr. Eaton, "but it makes a man feel rather queer. The company asked for police protection on the ground that they did not care to lose me, but I have personal objections—strong ones—to being shot just at present."

There are just forty four William Wilsons in the directory.

BAD FOR DURANT.

He Was Pale and Breathless in Church on the Day of the Murder.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—This is the ninth week of the Durant trial and the prosecution will complete its direct case early next week. The opening statement of the defence is waited with much interest. It will be the first intimation of what it expects to prove. It has been said that an alibi for Durant would be shown, and further, that another man than Durant went into the church when the prisoner is said to have entered it.

Miss Emma L. Turner testified that on April 3 she was not with defeudant in Emmanuel church. Mrs. Leake yesterday testified that the girl she saw walking into Emmanuel church with Durant was either Blanche Lamont or Miss Turner. Organist George King was then put upon the stand to prove that he saw the prisoner in the church at 5 p. m., on April 3, almost an hour after Durant was said by Mrs. Leake to have entered the church. King proved an unwilling witness, apparently shielding Durant whenever possible, He told how he had come into Emanuel church, to play a new piece on the organ, and when he had been playing a few minutes, Durant appeared, pale, disheveled, sick and breathless, and without a hat or coat. Durant said that while repairing some gas pipes he had been overcome, and at Durant's reqnest the witness went to a drug store and purchase some bromo seltzer, which Durant drank. Then at his request Durant helped him to carry a small organ from one part of the church to another. The prisoner appeared exhausted, and was frequently obliged to rest. The witness stated that he had detected no escaping gas and thought all the gas jets and pipes were in perfect order.

TO KILL DURANT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 20.—The police have discovered and frustrated a plan to assassinate Durant. The plot was concocted by a well known criminal who is awaiting sentence in the county jail. He expressed his intention to his fellow prisoners of killing Durant at the first opportunity and the matter coming to the ears of the sheriff, extra precautions were taken not to allow Durant to exercise with the rest of the prisoners and to drive him to and from court either in a buggy or outside the prison van. On search being made of the cell, a broken table knife whetted to a keen edge was found therein. The prisoner has since been sentenced to twenty years in the penitentary. Before being taken to prison he admitted that he intended to kill Durant, but that he had had no opportunity to use his knife.

HER REUBEN NO LONGER.

Mary Krown of Weston Waited For Him 20 Years But——

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—For his failure to carry out his alleged faithful promise to marry Mary A. O'Brien of Weston, Reuben Langstaff, of the same place, was today made defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages. Nearly 20 years ago the engagement, the plaintiff states, was made, but as she further states, she agreed to wait, and has, but now she waits no more for Reuben; only for the verdict of the jury at the impending trial. The reason she no longer waits for the defendant is that very recently he married another with whom he now resides in Weston. The defendant is nearly 45 and the plaintiff some years younger.

A VERY OLD GAME

This 70 Year Old Farmer Evidently Does Not Read Newspapers.

Special to The Times.

KINGSTON, Sept. 20.—Mr. Wright, a farmer, 70 years of age, of Kingsford, was victimized out of $150 yesterday. A stranger and Wright were going into speculation and the sharper represented to Wright that to make the bargain he would put up $1,000 in a box and Wright put his $150. Wright was to hold the box and the stranger the key until arrangements were completed. Wright after a time feared that everything was not all right and had the box opened. It only contained a roll of paper. This is another case of two boxes just the same and an unsuspecting farmer.

RAN DOWN IN DAYLIGHT.

A Schooner Struck by a Steamer and Sunk in Lake Huron.

Special to the Times

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—The schooner Arctic, on her way up the lake, light, was run down by the Lehigh Valley liner Clyde and sank nine miles northwest of Point aux Barques, Lake Huron. The collision occurred at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The captain of the schooner claims it was broad daylight, with nothing to obstruct the view of the officers of the Clyde. The crew of the lost boat, together with her yawl, were taken aboard the steamer and landed in Detroit yesterday afternoon. The schooner was 42 years old, owned by Robert Tollock, of Charlevoix, and was on her way from Detroit to Rogers City for a cargo of lumber.

"LOST" COMPLAINTS.

Another Astonishing Revelation of New York Court Rottenness.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—It became known today through the admission of a district attorney's clerk that besides the 2,000 untried indictments, the recovery of which ten days ago started so many theories, a great file of police court complaints were also found at the same time. These complaints, which cover almost every crime, with the exception of murder in the first degree, according to the clerk, were evidently intended for the grand jury, but never reached that body. Now that they are outlawed, as the statute of limitation provides that complaints for felony shall be considered valid only for five years, while complaints for misdemeanors are valid even for a briefer period.

Help For Aged Clergy.

READING, Sept. 20.—A charter of incorporation was granted today to the Charitable Society of the United Evangelical Church, whose object and purpose is to relieve the distress and supply the deficiencies of the superannuated and wornout ministers of the United Evangelical Church. This morning a meeting of the trustees of the societies was held in Hendel's hall, at which bylaws were adopted.

This is for Careless Parents.

ESSEX, Sept. 20.—This morning about 11 o'clock a 4 year old child of Chas. Chase's, while playing in Jas. Gourley's machine shop here, was in some manner caught by the fingers in the cogs of the lathe. When extricated it was found that three fingers on the left, and one on the right hand had been crushed and required amputation.

TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE.

ONE MAN FATALLY HURT AND ONE BADLY WOUNDED.

A Bull Fight in San Francisco Which Did Not Terminate Successfully—Killed by a Base-ball.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—One man was fatally hurt and another bady wounded at the juncture of the two branches of the Fort street car lines this morning. A motor car on the Woodmere branch collided with another just turning into the Delray branch, catching several passengers on the foot board.

The motor backed off and Julius Schasnecki, a laborer, was found in a heap on the pavement terribly crushed. Clinging to the hand rail was Charles A. Michaels, Delray, and as the man fell to the ground his right leg doubled beneath him, the bone having been crushed into splinters below the knee.

WOULD NOT FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—Ten thousand people left the amphitheatre last night very much disappointed. The cattle would not fight. The first bull made two or three charges against the red capels, and then quit, Next came a black beast, which made things lively at Monday's fight, but soon he too lost heart. A long horned cow came next and was no improvement; the same with a white steer and heifer. The one exciting incident was when a heifer tossed a clown over her head. The fact was demonstrated that bulls even the wild Spanish bulls, will not fight fiercely except when under the influence of sharp pain.

BASEBALL KILLED HIM.

GALT, Sept. 20.—Peter C. Flatt, pitcher for the Alpha baseball team, died here this morning from paralysis of the spine, the result of a collision while playing second base in the Hespeler-Alpha game last week.

BLEW OPEN THE SAFE.

Special to the Times.

PLANTAGENET, Prescott Co., Ont., Sept. 20.—The store of L. Charbonneau, in this village, was bugglarized last night, the job evidently being done by experienced hands. Entrance was effected by the back door. A hole was drilled through the door of the safe, some explosive placed therein and the front completely shattered. About $100 was secured, but the robbers failed to open the inner apartment, although work had been commenced upon it. There is no trace of the burglars.

VICTOR FESSENDEN'S DEATH.

Special to the Times.

FORT ERIE, Ont., Sept. 20.—The young man who committed suicide by shooting himself through the breast at the Cottage Hotel, on Tuesday night, was Victor Fessenden, the youngest son of Rev. E. J. Fessenden, rector of Ancaster. The young man left Ancaster on Monday to return to Pittsburg, where his brother is a professor in an electrical college, but just got as far as Fort Erie. Upon arrival at the hotel he said he had been employed at the Western hotel, in Pittsburg, and he had a deep cut in one arm. Friends of the deceased know no cause why he took his life in his hands. He was clever and studious, but eccentric at times. He was engaged to be married. The body was removed to his home.

Greenway's Colleagues Indignant.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—Much indignation exists among members of the Local Government at the insinuation contained in the Dominion Government's organ, the Mail Empire, that a second remedial order sent to Manitoba a couple of months ago was given to the press by them. They positively assert that they never gave the order away.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING

STR. COLUMBIAN BURNED

THE SPLENDID LAKE STEAMER DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Citizens who have had the pleasure of riding on the steamer Columbian, owned by Dr. McCamus, of Bobcaygeon, will never have that pleasure again for early on Sunday morning the staunch little steamer was burned to the waters edge, and nothing is left but the blackened hull and the twisted machinery.

The Columbian was moored at the upper dock in Bobcaygeon. At 5.30 yesterday morning smoke was observed issuing from the hold in huge volumes, and a few minutes later the deck was a roaring mass of flames. The Bobcaygeon fire department was quickly summoned and on the scene a few minutes after the fire was discovered, but the flames burned the lines and the steamer drifted out, swaying from one side to the other, while huge fire brands were caught by the wind and deposited on buildings for hundreds of yards around.

The cottage of Mr. Hunt, an American tourist, near the wharf, took fire from the intense heat and was burned to the ground with contents. The occupant had a narrow escape.

Near the Columbian was the government dredge and it was feared that this would burn also. In fact, it caught on fire several times, and was only saved by being cut loose and towed out of the area of falling embers.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. There was no one on board the Columbian at the time and, we understand, there was no fire under her boilers. How it happened nobody seems to know.

The Columbian was the largest and most commodious of all the steamers on the back lakes. It is now a total wreck, as there is nothing left of it but the hull, and the machinery, which is badly damaged.

We understand the boat was insured for $12,000.

CHASED BY TWO MEN.

A Young Girl Followed Last Night—A Pistol Shot Scares Them.

About 10.30 last night a domestic in the employ of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, was returning from shopping down town to Mr. Bradburn's residence, when she observed a rough looking man following her.

The man followed a short distance behind her, and endeavored to catch up to her. She turned on another street, but still the man followed, and every corner she turned, he followed. When she reached Donovan's grocery the young girl went in and informed Mr. Donovan that she was being followed, and was afraid to proceed any further alone.

Mr. Donovan kindly consented to go the rest of the way with her, and slipping a revolver into his pocket, started for Mr. Bradburn's house. They had not proceeded very far before they found they were being followed by two men, one of whom the girl recognized as the man who had been following her.

The men followed them to Mr. Bradburn's gate, when Mr. Donovan left the girl to go into the house. As he did so the two men hurried up, brushed past him, and started to follow the girl into the yard.

At this Mr. Donovan drew his revolver and fired at the men. They immediately took to their heels. Mr. Donovan then telephoned the incident to the police, and the chief searched for the men, but was unable to locate them.

A RAID ON TRAMPS.

County and Town Police Chased the Weary Willies all Night.

For some time the county authorities have been aware that a gang of tramps have had a rendevous on the eastern shore of Little Lake. The authorities have every reason to believe that it was a regularly organized gang, with spies and scouts, who were put on a constant watch for chances of making a haul, either of money, food or clothes, and recent depredations were believed to have been committed by this gang.

At 12 o'clock on Saturday night, Constable Archie Moore, Officer McGinty and Special Constable Brine, made a raid on the tramps' camp, but the latter must have been warned of the intended raid, for when the police descended upon the camp, the great unwashed had flown.

But the trail was quickly picked up and the tramps located down near the locks. They were kept hustling all night, and although the police chased them until daylight, they succeeded in eluding them.

For several days the tramps had been assembled at this rendevous and it is believed they were getting ready for a big coup.

LARRY HALL MISSING.

Has Not Been Home for a Week—The Police Notified.

The friends of Mr. Lawrence Hall, better known as "Larry" Hall, are much concerned as to his whereabouts, and his wife is almost prostrated at his mysterious disappearance.

Hall is an employee of the firm of B. F. Ackerman, harness makers. He has not reported there for duty for over three weeks, and none of his friends nor his wife have seen him for over a week. His usual haunts have been visited, and a thorough enquiry made all over the town, but no one had seen the missing man for over a week.

Hall's disappearance is very mysterious, and it is hard to account for his absence from home and the town. He had been married only a few months ago, and his friends will not believe that he has deliberately deserted his young wife, nor is there any apparent reason why he should do so. Mrs. Hall can not think of any reason why her husband should leave her, without saying where he was going.

The police have been notified of Hall's disappearance and will institute a search. It is the opinion of many that Hall has been overtaken by some misfortune that has deprived him of the power to return home or notify his friends of his whereabouts.

OAK HALLS' OPENING.

It Was a Huge Success—Crowds Visit the Store.

Oak Hall, the new clothing store at the corner of Hunter and George streets, was thrown open to the public on Saturday, and the unique manner in which Manager Moffatt effected the opening stamps him as a gentleman of great energy, enterprise and business ability. It is doubtful if there was one man or woman in Peterborough on Saturday who did not know it was the opening day of Oak Hall; the fact was put before them and kept before them all day, and in consequence the bright, new store was crowded and thronged, filled and re-filled, from early morning until late at night, with a continuous stream of people, who inspected the mammoth stock of goods and bought and bought until the small army of salesmen must surely have been "nigh tuckered out," from shewing goods, selling goods, wrapping up goods and waiting on the eager purchasers.

A "lady" some ten feet in height, carrying a large valise on which were words telling the public to "see Oak Hall's clothing," appeared on the street in the morning, and created a great deal of amusement. It was a capital advertising scheme, and one the public was quick to appreciate.

In the evening the Fire Brigade Band played in front of Oak Hall which was brilliantly lighted. Thousands of people crowded the street and sidewalks and listened to the band and waited their chance to elbow their way into the crowded store.

Oak Hall has certainly begun business under most favorable auspices, and the appreciation shown by the public on Saturday augurs well for the future of the firm.

NEW GOLD MINING COMPANY.

The Mineral Resources of Madoc to be Developed.

In the last Ontario Gazette we notice that a new gold mining company is about to be organized for developing the mineral resources of the Madoc section of the province. Through Mr. William Cross, the solicitor for the applicants, official notice is given that application will be made to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for the grant of a charter of incorporation of Letters Patent under the provisions of the Ontario Joint Stock Companies' Act, and amending Acts.

The name of the company is to be "The Gold Hill Mining Company of Ontario."

The object for which incorporation is sought is to carry on mining works and operations.

The operations of the company shall be carried on in the counties of Hastings and Addington, with the chief place of business at the village of Madoc.

The capital stock of the company shall be two hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into five thousand shares of fifty dollars each.

The names of the applicants are as follows:—Orlando R Sprague, of the village of Madoc, in the county of Hastings, minor. Byron Fairbanks Fellows, Joseph Selleck Ferris, real estate dealers; George Otto Stohrer, bookkeeper; Anna Matilda Stohrer, married woman; of the city of Syracuse, in the State of New York.

SHOT IN THE HAND.

A shooting affair which has been kept very quiet occurred several days ago.

Two young men were walking along near the fruit orchard of Mr. Waddell, in Douro, when the latters hired man fired off a gun, the contents of which struck one of the young men in the hand. Forty-nine small shot, it is said, entered the limb, and it took a doctor several hours to probe out the little leaden shot and the injured person was confined to his bed for some time.

It appears that Mr. Waddell has a small vineyard of very choice grapes, and that numerous raids have been made by midnight marauders, who not only helped themselves generously to the luscious fruit, but destroyed the vines. In consequence Mr. Waddell was very much annoyed, and Walter Woods, an employee, was instructed to be on the watch for the thieves.

On the night in question Woods was watching for marauders, and with a gun loaded and primed, stationed himself where he could observe anyone who came to steal. He had not been on the watch very long when young Brundrette and Simmons, of town, passed along the road. Woods thought they were after the grapes and raising his gun blazed away with the result above stated.

Since the shooting the affair has been amicably settled. The two young men have satisfied Mr. Waddell that they were simply passing along the road and had no intention of helping themselves to his fruit, and Mr. Woods has made ample apology for the mistake he made.

A WOMAN ASSAULTED.

Two Men Seized a Woman on George Street Last Night.

About 10.30 last night a telephone message to the police station, requested an officer to come immediately to the corner of George and Murray streets, as a young girl named Boiler, had been assaulted there by two men.

Officer McGinity immediately went to the spot, and found the girl in a badly frightened state of mind. The men who had assaulted her had disappeared when the officer arrived.

Miss Boiler stated that she had been followed by two men, and although she made persistent efforts to elude them, they kept a short distance behind her, addressing insulting remarks to her.

After she had gone a short distance, and at the corner of George and Murray streets the men suddenly ran up to her, seized her arms, one on each side and attempted to throw her down.

She screamed and made strenuous efforts to extricate herself from their grasp. Just at this juncture several pedestrians were seen approaching, and the ruffians fearing detection, let go the young girl, and made off. When the pedestrians reached her, Miss Boiler told her story, and the police was telephoned to at once, but arrived too late to capture the scoundrels.

It is believed that the two men belong to town and the police have an idea of their identity. Their arrest will likely be effected today.

This makes the second assault that has been made on young women this week, and it seems as though the safest thing for young women to do is to remain at home at night and not appear on the street unless accompanied by gentlemen companions.

It is to be hoped that the perpetrators of last night's outrage will be caught and severly punished. Such wretches deserve the fullest penalty of the law.

AN ELOPEMENT RECALLED.

Big Jim Lindsay, of Apsley, was registered at a hotel in town last night. The good people of Apsley will be surprised to learn this, for evidently they think he is many miles away.

It is some months since the name of this gentleman appeared in these columns, and then it was in connection with a little story that created the biggest kind of a sensation in the peaceful wilds of Apsley and caused a great deal of talk.

A man who kept a store in Apsley and who was married and had a family, suddenly wound up his business affairs and left. He didn't take his family with him, but left them in poor circumstances, so poor in fact, that Mrs. Lindsay went to her father's with her children, to live.

Lindsay did not leave Apsley alone, however. He was accompanied by Hotelkeeper Wilson's daughter, a young girl, who no doubt before this has rued the step she took, when several months ago she persuaded a young man in Apsley to drive her to a sisters several miles away, where she met Lindsay and fled with him to parts unknown.

Miss Wilson was not with Lindsay last night. She may possibly have returned to her father's home repentant and wiser by her brief experience. At any rate Lindsay was alone at the hotel. He will meet with a warm welcome in Apsley, if that is where he intends going.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Considerable excitement was created around Tuesday when it was learned that Mr. Robert Fee, second bookkeeper in the office of the Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle Bros. mills, had mysteriously disappeared. The young man went to the office about 6 o'clock, a.m., took the time of the men, opened the safe, took out the office books and arranged them in their proper place. After transacting considerable business he left for his breakfast about 8 o'clock. On his failure to return a messenger was dispatched to his home when it was learned that he had not been there for breakfast and considerable curiosity was aroused as to his whereabouts. His father, Mr. Robert Fee, set out to find him, and various conjectures as to when and where he was seen by different persons left the matter still in doubt and all sorts of rumors were set in circulation. It was not until evening that anything definite was learned. Mr. P. O'Neil on learning of the disappearance remembered that he had seen "Scrappy," as he was known about town come out between the elevator and storehouse, cross the street and take the railway track towards the old Victoria Junction. This clue strengthened by the statement of W. Reeves, who was employed out at Mr. Dunoon's new house to the effect that he had seen him going in the same direction. That was the last seen of him. On his failure to return on Wednesday morning there was talk of forming search parties and also of dragging the river. Fortunately the Coboconk train arrived about this time and Mr. Neil McDougall, brakeman, came down street and told several parties that he had met Mr. Fee at Lorneville who told him he had decided to get out of town, and had tried to catch Conductor Fair's train at the Junction but missing it had continued on to Lorneville. He asked Mr. McDougall to inform his friends that he was all right and that they would hear from him in a day or two. He then took the Midland train and went north. This information was soon conveyed to his almost heart-broken parents and relieved the painful excitement which they had undergone during the previous twenty-four hours. Whatever his reasons may be for leaving the town as he did, they can hardly justify his thoughtlessness in so far as it effected his own family. As is usual a thousand rumors were circulated which will no doubt prove wide of the truth. It does seem strange, however, that a man so well known as Mr. Fee could walk down town in broad day light without being noticed.

TIDINGS OF LARRY HALL.

A few days ago THE TIMES announced the mysterious disappearance of Larry Hall, who left his young wife several weeks ago, and had not been seen or heard from. It was stated at the time that grave fears for Hall's safety were felt, as it was feared he had either met with foul play or made away with himself.

It now appears that Hall has deliberately deserted the woman whom he led to the altar only a few months ago. Last night the police received word from Clancy's hotel, Norwood, stating that Hall had stopped at that place for several days and that yesterday he left the hotel and started to go to Perth, leaving his board bill unpaid.

Hall cannot be censured too much for his conduct. He left his wife without a penny and at the house where they boarded without any means to settle several debts which he had contracted. His wife will have the sympathy of every one.

Don't you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla will overcome that tired feeling and give you renewed vigor and vitality!

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

The reverend gentleman and his bride reached Peterborough on the five o'clock train yesterday evening. They were met at the station by Mr. and Mrs. Tully and escorted to the manse, where had assembled the elders of the church and their wives. The party dined together, and then repaired to the Sunday School room, which had been magnificently decorated for the occasion, and where had gathered a large number of the congregation of the church.

The pastor of St. Andrews and his bride were warmly congratulated and listened to warm expressions of hope that theirs would be a long and happy life. Then Col. R. W. Bell, on behalf of the congregation presented Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams with a handsome marble clock and two large oak carved, antique, richly upholstered chairs, in a short address.

On behalf of the Junior Y.P.S.C.E., Miss White, the president, presented Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams with a beautiful silver flower stand, and the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. MacWilliams:

DEAR PASTOR AND WIFE,—The members of the Junior Endeavor Society of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, desire to join with the older members of the church and congregation in expressing our best wishes to you both for a happy and helpful life, and in giving you at this joyful time a most cordial welcome.

We remember Mr. MacWilliams your very great interest in our behalf in the past and we cannot express how much we owe to your kindly counsel, generous encouragement and true Christian example, and we are glad to believe Mrs. MacWilliams that you will be interested in us too and that we may be advantaged as you may have opportunity in by your wide experience in our work. We desire you to accept this present from us not because of its value but as a token of good will and sincere respect from this Junior Endeavor Society.

We promise that we will continue to endeavor to live earnest, true Christian lives, and help as we can in the work of the church for the Saviour's sake, and we hope we may be able to add our part in making your life, together with this church, as happy and prosperous as it is possible for it to be.

Signed on behalf of the Society.

Rev. Mr. McWilliams was quite taken by surprise, but replied in a short address in which he returned the sincere thanks of his wife and himself.

A very pleasant evening was then spent in social chat and the rendering of a short program, as follows:

Solo........"Trusting".......Mrs. Jones
Quartette..Messrs. Mulligan, Jones Miss Huebeck and Mrs. MacFarlane
Piano solo....Miss Gladman and Miss MacFarlane.

An artesian well has been discovered on the farm of Mr. David McIlmyle just east of here. When water was struck it gushed out at the rate of 1,000 gallons per hour, so fast indeed that Mr. George Trotter, an old miner of many years experience who had the contract for digging the well, had a very narrow escape from drowning. Many persons have visited the well which still continues to flow.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895.

MR. LAURIER IN ONTARIO.

Mr. Laurier is going up into Ontario presently to make a uumber of picnic speeches. The Conservative press have already attempted to embarrass his progress by pushing into prominence statements that he is alleged to have made in rural Quebec, which, they shrewdly suspect, will not be pleasing to Ontario ears. But they can hardly make much headway against so capable a campaigner by these tactics. It is not likely that it will turn out that the politic Mr. Laurier has said things that he ought not to have said. Far more probable is it that he has left unsaid much that he ought to have said.

But whatever the politicians may hope from this series of speeches, Canadians who are anxiously looking toward the troubled future will listen only for frank and authoritative utterances. This is not a time when a statesman can afford to caper nimbly behind a veil. There are some two or three questions of grave importance to be settled by this country in the near future, and we have a right to to know what a candidate Prime Minister thinks should be done about them. He will tell us, of course, that he does not like Protection; and he will probably add that any tariff which the Liberals wil frame, must do considerable protecting. Will he be explicit, then, and tell us what he will protect and what he will abandon? Unless he has changed his mind since last session, he solemnly state that the Manitoba school difficulty is a question of fact, and will promise, if returned to power, to look into it. But will he not go further than that and tell us what he will do if he finds that the Privy Council was right when he declared that the Manitoba minority had suffered "an injustice?"

There are those who think that it wil pay Mr. Laurier to avoid plain speech just now. Apparently the leader of the Opposition is one of these. But in a time of crisis, a public man forfeits his claim to the statesman's rank who is silent from expediency—and silent with his mouth full of ostentatious speech. And it is a question whether a leader of the Liberal party can afford to stand in that position. Liberalism nowhere has made its way with a Delphic tongue and an uncertain policy.

The Hon. Mr. Harty has found it a hard matter to get himself elected in Kingston. He finds it a harder matter to keep himself elected.

Queen Marie of Hanover, widow of George V. and mother of the Duke of Cumberland, has lost the sight of one eye and may lose the other; she is 77 years old.

Married women who get kissed and afterwards decide to make a fuss about it should profit by the experience of an Indian woman. She was kissed in March and again in May by a neighbor. She failed to complain until August, and the court dismissed the prisoner.

Golden dreams have been put into many a head by the news from Rainy Lake, Seine River, Western Algoma, the valley of the Yukon, and British Columbia. In all these portions of Canada the yellow metal has been recently uncovered, and in all of them is supposed to be a great store of it. Those youths whose heads were turned by the fairy tales that came from the gold mines of South Africa might have found they could make a fortune with as little magic right at home. These gold fields of ours are likely to be important gathering-places of population.

About two thousand persons in France are marked as anarchists, and are constantly watched by the police of the various European countries, according to Le Figaro, of whom 500 are French and 1,500 foreigners, Italy leading with 549, followed by Switzerland with 300, Germany and Russia with 240 each, Austria and Belgium with 60 each. As regards occupation, shoemakers, carpenters, and day laborers of all nations furnish large proportions of the Anarchists, while the educated professions hardly appear. German tailors and printers, Swiss watchmakers and farmers, Italian clerks and bakers, and French waiters and persons without avowed business tend more to anarchy than those of other nationalities. The Russians differ from all the others in that 30 per cent. of the persons under surveillance are students, another 30 per cent. professional men, and hardly one per cent. have occupations requiring no education.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

The Hall of Wisdom Once More Crowded to the Doors—A Dog Fight—A Distinguished Visitor—A Lawyer Makes an Offer.

Something was up; just what it was no one knew, but the President's countenance wore an unusually severe expression, and Bro. Anvil McCann, of Slopeville, was observed to have on a clean shirt, while Razor Reynolds, of Port Hope, for the second time in his life, had stove-blackened his brogans and had his vest buttoned all the way up.

"Gentlemen, an unpleasant duty is forced upon me by the pressure of circumstances," began the President, as the tones of the traingle died away. "The other evening I was reclining on the kitchen lounge, a rap was heard at the door, and the following note was placed in my hands:

"President McBride—If you will follow the bearer of this, you will discover a member of this Club engaged in a very disreputable business."

"I followed the boy. In a barn out in the suburbs the discovery was made. A member of this Club was there, engaged in putting up a dog fight, and about forty spectators were on hand to see the fun. I looked through the cracks and seen the whole performance. The dog owned by the Lime Juice Club man licked the other canine in about ten minutes, and five dollars changed hands. But the blush of pride didn't come to my cheek on that account. If ever there was a time when I liked to see a dog fight, it was away back in the fifties. It is a cruel, bad business—too low for decent men to encourage or engage in, and it is now my painful duty to ask Bro. Pony Moore, of Keene, to stand up and let himself be seen."

HE STOOD.

The member mentioned shortly arose. The proceedings were a perfect thunder-clap to him. As he reached his feet and found seventeen or eighteen hundred pairs of eyes on him, he would have resumed his bench if the thoughtful Nutmeg Cunningham hadn't been behind him with a darning needle.

"I—I'm here, Sir!" he gasped as he turned to the platform.

"The brother will step seven or eight paces this way," said the President.

He walked slowly forward, his knees playing a tune and his colour fading to the complexion of the French wall-paper, and when he was in position the President arose and said:

"Bro. Pony Moore, you have heard the charges. Are you guilty or innocent?"

"I was there, and I owned the winning dog," was the reply.

"Well, the sentence is that you hand over the five dollars to the library fund of this Club, and that you sign a pledge never again to engage in such low business. In case you refuse to hand over and sign, your name will be crossed from the roll, and the Hall won't see you any more."

The brother handed over the cash without heistation, signed a written pledge, and as he returned to his seat he had to unbutton his vest to give play to his heartfelt emotions. He will doubtless be found in the front rank of philanthropists and humanitarians after this.

VISITORS.

The Committee on Receptions reported the arrival during the week of a small, distinguished looking gentleman and a very large bundle of something tied up in a bed ticking. The name of the man was given the Committee as Vice Admiral Standhope, of the Italian navy, visiting this country to inspect naval affairs. The Committee might have accepted his statements had the stranger been less exacting in his demands. He wanted to march to the Hall of Wisdom behind a band and a flag, put up at a hotel with a frescoed kitchen, and be accorded guard of honor consisting of Constables Moore, Brien and Montyomery. The Committee consulted with prominent citizens as to the stranger's claims of official position, and the result was a movement on the part of the Admiral which placed him in the United States just five minutes ahead of a policeman.

A RECESS.

A recess was taken to permit the President to go down stairs and meet a man who wanted to borrow $5 and leave a wheel-barrow as security, and the Harmony Club improved the time by singing and playing a new melody by Bro. Mervin, entiled "The Crops." The first verse is as follows

"The Summer's going fast away,
The fall is almost here;
The crops are just a whooping up,
Each farmer's heart to cheer

Sing hey, farmers—
'Taters mighty big,
Squashes lying all around
And turnips dance a jig.'

SPECIAL REPORT.

The special Committee of three, to whom was referred the question as to whether a member of the Club could conscientiously live all winter next door to a school house with a big wood-pile attached, announced that they were ready to report:

"We have looked at this question from all the points of the compass," began the Chariman, as he got his balance. "On this side of the fence is a member of this Club and his family. On the other side is a big wood pile and a school house janitor. That's the situation. In the first place, the member did'nt put that wood pile there. In the next place the woodpile had nothing to do with his moving in. They are perfect stragers to each other. We don't say that the Janitor won't miss more or less wood this winter, but he has enough confidence in our brother to believe that, in the first place, he will buy his own wood; in the next place the man who lives 'longside of a big woodpile, and steals any more than he can crowd in the stove at once is weak on the top story."

The report was placed on file, and the President remarked that he would take the matter under consideration for a few days longer.

ANNEXATION.

A lengthy letter was read, signed by Bro. Walter Phelan and Joseph Cahill, Chairman and Secretary of the Special Committee appointed to attend the international yacht race between the Valyrike and Defender at New York which took place a few days ago, and if possible to purchase the winning vessel.

The letter went on to say that they were unable to agree as to price, but that the American yacht agreed to re-christen his boat "Dicky," in honor of Sir Richard McBride, President of the Club.

They had also considered the question of annexing the United States to Canada, and had come to no conclusion in the matter. The same tooth brush which is sold for twenty cents in Canada can be bought for fifteen in the United States, (wild cheers by mistake from Bro. Fife, who was promptly fined $400 and costs.) If we annex the States we can have cheap tooth brushes. On the other hand the same hand-cuffs that we sell for eight dollars a pair on this side, can be had over there for less the ten. (Great winks and nods in the vicinity of the stove, where sat special constables Archie Moore, W. Brien and Montgomery. If the United States annexes us we will be sure of cheap hand-cuffs.

THEIR DANDER ROSE.

A communication from M. B Smith, of Toronto, conveyed the intelligence that he was a member of the bar of Ontario, in good standing, and that he would be glad to do the legal business of the Club by the year for a reasonable compensation. His rates for defending members of the Club were as follows:

For defending a murder, $25; an incendiary, $18; a bigamist, $15; a horse-thief, $15; an embezzler, $12; tramps who allow themselves to be handcuffed, run away with the bracelets $10. For defending four common thieves in a heap, and proving an alibi in each case, $50; half in advance and the remainder in 30 days.

The reading of the letter was not interrupted by even a cough, but bushels and bushels of short hair could be seen trying to stand up straight in indignation. The President had a dangerous roll in his eye as he got up and began:

"Mister Secretary, you write to that man with the biggest kind of a pen and in the plainest language, that if he ever strikes this town he'd better keep clear of the Hall of Wisdom.

THE CLOSE.

A firm in Toronto forwarded an offer to supply the Club with enough oil cloth to cover all the benches and stools for the winter at 20 per cent below regular wholesale prices, and the Secretary was istructed to write a letter of thanks in reply and ascertain if he could, how many degrees colder oilcloth is on a cold day than regular ice, after which the meeting softly adjourned.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because Prominently in the public eye today. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Italy will issue a new postage stamp to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the taking of Rome. In the upper half is a figure of Italy, with the iron crown; below Victor Emanuel's saying. "In Rome we are and in Rome we stay," and Umberto's. "Rome is intangible." There are also a number of symbols—the she wolf of Rome, the eagle of Savoy, profiles of King Victor and King Humbert, the Italian crown, and the dates 1870-1895.

—New Underwear.

We've no trouble whatever selling goods where the store is known. But everybody doesn't know yet the sort of business we have here. Only the other day a man walked in one door and straight out the other, satisfied that he had seen everything. Then a friend took him in charge and together they spent three hours studying different features of the organization until he had to confess himself surprised beyond measure at all he saw.

The trend of all this advertising is to bring lookers as well as buyers. We welcome the most critical comparison of goods and prices. Whatever the men folks need is here in ample assortment, and values are better than you expect. For instance, you can buy:

—Men's Scotch Suits, in fine, neat Bannockburn Tweed, sateen lining single or double-breasted, perfect fitting garments, in dark colors	$10 00

They say living is cheaper in Toronto than in any other city on the continent, and we believe it. Those young men who're anxious to get to the States can figure on paying at least half as much again over there for absolute necessities. We buy as few stores know how to buy, and sell as few merchants are willing to sell. As a matter of fact You can meet the dress requirements of the season for less money than ever before, providing you come to the right store.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

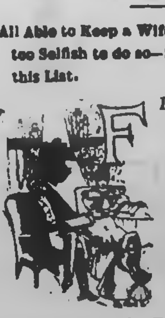
OUR ELIGIBLE BACHELORS

ANOTHER BATCH OF HOMELESS MEN HANDSOME AND HOMELY.

All Able to Keep a Wife, But Either too Shy or too Selfish to do so—Some Choice Catches in this List.



FIFTY happy unions can be traced directly to the lists of eligible bachelors published in THE SATURDAY TIMES last winter. Clergymen, housefurnishers, house renters, and others accordingly benefited from the friendly war waged on the single men by THE SATURDAY TIMES—a war that thinned the ranks of bachelordom to a considerable extent.

There are still a large number left—some that have moved to Peterborough since our last lists appeared, but most of them have been here right along and are old stagers and hardshells, whose hearts seem to be as invulnerable to the shafts of bright eyed Cupid, as the steel clad hull of a warship against the missiles of a pea blower. However, we do not despair of bringing them to their senses, and before the June roses bloom again we trust that many of them will assume the responsible duties of matrimony.

Our list of eligible bachelors appear once more as a regular feature of THE SATURDAY TIMES at the request of numerous readers. Not only this, but we feel it our duty to republish the names of some, having been told on the quiet that the last time their names appeared it came very nearly having the desired effect. This is encouraging, certainly. The list this week is composed of the following well-known celebrities.

Mosley, A. E.—30 years of age; $9,000 (and carries a cane). This popular gentleman showed alarming symptoms last winter, and it was generally believed that he would have been married long before this. Recently he took a trip across the pond, and then it was set down as a settled fact that he would not return alone. However, Mr. Mosley is still a bachelor, and the fair ones are in despair. Handsome, popular and wealthy, we can recommend the subject of this sketch as a good risk for any young lady matrimonially inclined.

Laidlaw, Andrew -- 30 years of age; $6,000. Long before this we believed that Mr. Laidlaw would succumb to the hypnotic influence of some fair one's eyes, but he is still plodding along in single miserableness. Mr. Laidlaw is head clerk in the establishment of A. Mercer, and is widely known and very popular. He is good value.

McKay, F. D.—30 years old; $8,000. In this gentleman's case all the well-known signs have failed, and the fall of 1895 finds him still single. Recent trips to Belleville led us to believe that the talented editor of the Review, would join the noble ranks of benedicts soon. We trust that we will never be forced to draw attention to his perverseners in this respect again. Mr. McKay is an intensely popular young man, and would make as good a catch as we know of.

Mr. Gachen, H. S.—24 years of age; $5,350. This young gentleman is a new comer to Peterborough, and is one of the staff of the Bank of Montreal. When he left Lindsay we are informed that there was great lamentation among the fair ones. We can safely limit his bachelor life to a few months. Since coming to Peterborough Mr. McGachen has made himself popular. He is a courteous gentleman, and a graceful figure on a bicycle. He will be a valuable acquisition to the hockey team next winter and we only hope he will reach the matrimonial goal as well.

Skitch, Fred—27 years of age; $3,000. We overlooked this young gentleman last year, but a note addressed to the bachelor editor in a feminine hand, drew our attention to his case. Mr. Skitch is an operator in the G.N.W. telegraph office, and also sings in the George street church choir, possessing a splendid voice. He would make an excellent husband, and we trust some nice young lady will land him in the near future.

Lytle, Will—24 years of age; $2,000. This young gentleman has the ear of more ladies than any other young man in town, for he is with the Bell Telephone Company, and answers the numerous feminine hellos that ring into central office. Mr. Lytle is a decidedly handsome young man, and is popular with the fair sex, especially in the north end of the town. He may be seen almost any night at the corner of George and Smith streets waiting for a car. At the R. Q. T. road raee in Toronto he won an umbrella. It is big enough for two.

Gurd, N. St. C.—26 years of age; $12,000. We know of none more fit to assume the responsible duties of matrimony that this gentlemen, who is a member of the law firm of Poussette & Gurd. Mr Gurd came from Sarnia less than a year ago, and during his short residence in Peterborough has become very popular. We are sorry to learn that he is not much of a ladies' man, but believing him to be the makings of a responsible husband and parent, we trust he will soon "gird" on the matrimonial armour and plead his case before the Hymeneal Judiciary. He is an excellent catch.

Dixon, George 23 years of age; $2,000. This young man is drifting towards matrimony, and will make a good hubby. Mr. Dixon is in the hardware trade, and will make a success of it. He owns a horse and rig, which is thrown out as a gentle hint to those fair ones who are fond of moonlight drives in summer, or a spin across the snow covered highways in winter.

Wasson, Ernest—25 years of age; $6,000. This young man has stood the admiring glances of the fair ones all during the lacrosse season, and is still invulnerable. We understand, however, that he will make a change this winter. We intend to keep post (ed) on his movements for the next few months. He will make a good husband, and as he is a connoisseur in diamond rings, the girl who gets him will doubtless wear a sparkler of rare value.

Kenner, H. R.—30 years of age; $5,000. Mr. Kenner, who is classical master of the Collegiate Institute, is still content to plod along without a helpmate, and sew on his own buttons. He is an excellent match, in fact is one of the most marriagable young men in Peterborough. He takes frequent trips to Stratford, which lead us to think he will soon enter the ranks of the benedicts. Mr. Kenner is a bicycle enthusiast and was one of those instrumental in bringing the recent bicycle meets to Peterborough. We hope he will soon go tandem style.

Shannon, F. A.—22 years of age; $2,000 This young man is department clerk at the Canadian General Electric Company Works. He is extremely good looking and quite a favorite with the ladies. We give him until after Christmas to join the benedicts. He may be seen about three nights a week strolling on Rubidge street.

Allen, W. G.—22 years of age; $2,000. Mr. Allen is a regular church and Sunday school attendant, and in every way is a most exemplary young man. He is assistant C. P. R. telegraph operator and manipulates the electricity in a skillful manner. We recommend him to any nice young lady as a good catch.

Mr. McKim will assure you that we told him at the time of placing our contracts, to make a special note that you were to receive a good share of them"—McClary Manufacturing Company, London.

RESULTS TELL THE STORY.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

Harvest Festival.

The annual harvest festival of St. John's church, took place last night in the church, and was largely attended, proving a very successful affair.

Dr. Ryerson Coming.

Dr. Ryerson, eye, ear and throat specialist, will be at the Grand Central hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, September 28, where those who wish to consult him may do so.

A Further Postponement.

On account of the date of the road race to Lakefield coming on Tuesday, the date of the Central Exhibition, when the road will likely be filled with vehicles, it was deemed advisable to postpone the race until Thursday, the 26th,

They Wore Bloomers.

There was quite a sensation in town at noon today. The cause was the passing of Mr. R. Shanger and wife and R. K. Higgin and wife on tandem bicycles. The ladies were dressed in bloomers and looked remarkably well. It won't be long before they will be in general use.—Port Hope Guide.

Examining the Locks.

Mr. Wm. Junkin, government diver, is registered at the Windsor. He is here repairing the lock dam and will spend a day or two overlooking the locks. The lowering of the water in the Little Lake for the purpose of allowing the locks to be examined has made it dangerous for the steam yachts.

Lakefield Fair.

Yesterday was fair day in Lakefield and a large crowd attended a very creditable show. The exhibits were numerous, and the attractions up to date. A great attraction and one that created a great deal of favorable comment was the Oak Hall tandem. THE SATURDAY TIMES' advertising lady was much in evidence also.

The Autumnal Equinox.

Next Saturday is the date of the autumnal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator going south, and when the day and night is of equal length throughout the world. We are now midway between the longest and shortest days of the year, each succeeding day growing shorter until 21st of December next.

Dime Novels the Cause.

We are assured by a local gunsmith that it is simply wonderful the numbers of revolvers that are in the possession of young lads around town. Nearly every other boy seems to own a shooting iron, and uses it too, from the amount of repairing that is required. Probably they have been reading yellow backed literature, and are preparing to go west and shoot Indians.

Stock Notes.

Mr. Wm. Thorndike, Oakwood, sold his popular chesnut gelding, Little Harry, after winning the farmers race at Toronto, last week, to a Mr. Eakins, of Peterborough for a satisfactory price. Mr. Thorndike then purchased a handsome three-year-old bay filly, sired by Major Stanton, from a London party. This filly is a promising young mare of good appearance and plenty of size and substance, and Mr. Thorndike thinks will defeat Harry at the same age.

The Gray Case.

The trial of Thomas and Hessie Gray will probably commence next Wednesday morning. The assizes open on Tuesday, and it is expected the Grand Jury will bring in their bill that afternoon. Mrs. McGregor, who is the principal witness, is in a very delicate condition, and may not be able to appear at the required time. Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for the Grays is working hard on the evidence.

Don't Try and Cheat.

At this time of the year there seems to be such a temptation among some people to deceive purchasers in the fruit line that we deem it advisable to quote a clause from the statue of 1895: "Each person who shall knowingly and with intent to defraud so place or arrange apples, pears, plums, peaches, nectarines, cherries, apricots, grapes or berries, of any description whatever, in any box, crate, barrel, bag, basket or other article, as to conceal defects in size or quality in any portion of such fruit, by covering the same with fruit of larger size, or better quality, or otherwise, shall be liable on summary conviction thereof, to the penalty of not less than $1 nor more than $5 and costs."

A Human Brute.

The Hastings Star says it is difficult to believe and yet nevertheless true, that such may be found in our midst. Who was the brute in human form, that enticed a young slip of a girl, to go with him, on Sunday evening two weeks ago, for a boat ride and detained her until dark and then landed at the head of Huyck's island when by threats if she ever told he would paralyse her? Has the fatherless child no friend to put the law in force and place such a pestiferous pestilent behind bars and safe keeping? It only requires the child's affidavit, and justice will be meeted out without further cost. Such brutes should not only be lashed, but skinned and roasted alive. While our heart aches for the poor wife, children and friends, justice demands the denunciation of all such, irrespective of sympathy for the injured. If such acts are permitted to go unpunished what house is safe from intrusion? The safety of society demands that the law be enforced in such cases.

Beware of Toadstool.

People who are fond of mushrooms will go out in search of them now that the frosty mornings have returned, and in gathering them great care should be taken as there is very often danger in mistaking the wholesome edible for the poisonous toadstool. No mistake will occur, as we have published in these columns before if the following is observed;—

First—The table mushroom is usually white on the outer surface and has a skin which readily peels off. This is not true of the unwholesome mushroom.

Second—The gills or under radiants are of a beautiful pink in the table mushroom, but the gills as well as the whole plant turn to a mahogany brown after it has been exposed to the sun and air in the open for two or three days.

Third—The minor ends of the gills are not joined to the stem in the wholesome mushroom, but they are in all that are not good to eat. The latter is the surest test.

INS AND OUTS.

As we go to press we learn that the tramps were seen in Hastings yesterday evening. The one who was hit on the head went into a blacksmith shop there and had the crack in his cranium closed with a hydraulic clamp and then riveted together with a steel band.

⁂

A Toronto girl has married the lawyer who beat her in a lawsuit. Evidently she is of a revengeful disposition.

⁂

A drawing card for the Central Exhibition would be the tramp over whose head the baton was broken. The attention of Secretary Green is respectfully drawn to this suggestion.

HOT AFTER THE TRAMPS.

Times' Representative With the Posse—At Keene the Tramps Bought a File and Nea German They Got Drinking Water at a Farm House—The Posse Presses on to Norwood.

Farmers in the peaceful wilds of Otonabee, were surprised yesterday afternoon, as a busload of men, armed with double-barreled shot guns, winchester rifles and revolvers passed their farms. They rested on their forks and gazed in wonder at the sight of this small army of determined men passing, and then as single rigs drove by, also containing more men, armed to the teeth, their wonder grew to large proportion, and they didn't know whether it was a fenian raid, or another rebellion

The armed men were a posse under the leadership of County Constable Archie Moore, and they were after the tramps who had fought so desperately with the police at Curtis' cut the day before.

At 8 o'clock on Monday evening a C. P. R. weigh freight met a party of four tramps a short distance this side of the Indian River. The conductor on the freight reported the occurrence in Peterborough. He said the tramps pointed their revolvers at him, and that one of the men was badly cut about the head, and also that three of the men were handcuffed.

The man with the cuts on his head was undoubtedly the man whom Special Constable Brine had struck with a baton the night before. The police were satisfied that they were the men they were after, and at noon a posse of 13 men under County Constable Moore, left for Indian River. Before starting, a farmer living near German, on the 7th line brought word to the police that the tramps had been seen at the railroad crossing near there, and that a man was watching their movements until the police arrived.

The posse drove to the spot and found that four tramps had passed at 11 o'clock. Two of them called at a farmhouse and asked for a drink of water. The lady of the house described the men, and they answered the description of the four men who gave the police the hard fight on Monday night. The lady indicated the direction to the posse the tramps had taken, and the party immediately separated into three parties and surrounded the territory for about three miles and gradually closed in to a central point. The woods, ravines and empty houses encountered were thoroughly searched, and in a secluded part of the woods a slumbering camp fire was discovered, around which was scattered chicken feathers, scraps of bread, and a few blood-stained rags, showing plainly that the tramps had halted there for lunch and then pressed on.

Shortly after this discovery, a man was observed driving down the road from the direction of Keene. He informed the posse that a party of four men had been in town early that morning and were observed at a distance by several residents. One of them went into the village, bought a file, and then joined his three companions and disappeared.

This startling intelligence convinced the posse that the men who called at the farm house for water were the men they wanted. The file was purchased to sever the handcuffs, and they had succeeded in filing them losse before they called at the farm house.

From farmers along the road, the posse secured further information of the tramps, and all indications pointed that the men had gone on towards Indian River. At 5 o'clock the posse struck off across the country for this point, and from there they intended to press on to Norwood.

Up to this point a TIMES' representative followed the posse, but when the latter went on to Indian River, he left them and came back to Peterborough. At this time the posse considered they were hot on the trail of the tramps, and were sanguine of overtaking them either at Indian River or Norwood.

ON MONDAY AFTERNOON.

On Monday afternoon the tramp who is now in the cells, and two companions were in the C.P.R. restaurant. One of these men was the stranger who supplied the two men with the revolvers later on in the evening at Curtis' cut. While in the restaurant the tramps offered the bartender a lady's gold watch for $2.50, and exhibited fully a dozen other watches and a big bundle of new knives. Mr. Bowman immediately went to the C.P.R. station and telephoned to the police. When he returned to his restaurant the tramps pointed revolvers at him and his bartender.

POSSE RETURNS HOME.

THEY FAILED TO OVERTAKE THE BAD TRAMPS.

Hidden in a Church the Posse Passed the Tramps Not 20 Yards Away, But Didn't Know They Were so Near—Traced to Hastings.

The posse of men under the leadership of County Constable Archie Moore, returned to town last night, empty handed, having failed to come up with the tramps, although at times close on their trail.

After leaving the farm house on the 7th line on Tuesday night, at which point the TIMES' representative left them, the posse pressed on to Norwood, where they remained all night. As they left the farm house where the tramps had called for water at noon, they had to pass Bethel church, a stone structure opposite the farm of Mr. Fife. The church stands in from the road about 20 yards. Had the men halted their horses and searched the church, they would have found the tramps, for the quartette had hidden there.

Yesterday morning the posse learned that as soon as they had got out of sight after passing the church the tramps left their hiding place, and running down to the railroad track, went east as fast as they could go. The good farmers who witnessed their flight, reported that the tramps were so so frightened that they fairly ran down the track, and had a lot of wild animals been chasing them they couldn't have appeared more scared than they did.

While the posse were quietly resting in Norwood, the tramps made a detour and went to Westwood. They called at a farmhouse there and got something to eat, for which they paid liberally. The posse reached this farmhouse a few hours after the tramps had left. The lady of the house said the tramps took the Hastings road.

The posse beat the woods towards Hastings for several hours and then gave up the hunt and returned home, arriving here at 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

The agent at Norwood sent out messages all along the line, so that it is possible that the tramps will yet be arrested.

A STEAMSHIP FOUNDERS.

BIG STEAMERS COLLIDE IN THE EN GLISH CHANNEL.

The Edam Goes Down and Her Captain, Crew and Passengers Escape in Four Boats and are Picked up.

Special to The Times.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 19.

THE steamer Beresford has arrived here, having in tow the trawler Vulture, of Brixham, and four ship's' boats, containing the captain crew and passengers of the Netherlands-American Steamship Company's steamship Edam, of Roterdam, from New York, bound for Asterdam. At one o'clock this morning the Edam collided with the steamer Turkistan when 30 miles south east af the Start Point. The collision occurred in a dense fog. The captain, crew, and passengers of the Edam who had taken to the boats immediately after the collision were picked up by the trawler.

HEARD A TERRIFIC CRASH.

The trawler Vulture was on the fishing grounds, 15 miles from the Eddystone lighthouse, last night. The night had been clear. Just before 1 o'clock a thick fog came up. Those on board the Vulture heard a great blowing of whistles and then a terrific crash. The Vulture proceeded immediately to the spot from which the sounds issued and went alongside the steamship Edam, which was rapidly filling. Captain Brunsma, of the Edam, requested that the Vulture stand by. The ship's boats were then quickly lowered and the passengers were helped into them without accident. The passengers were greatly alarmed, but there was no panic among them. The majority went on deck without having taken time to dress. The women and children were first embarked in the ship's boats. The sea at the time of the collision was perfectly smooth. The steamer Turkistan, which did not appear to have sustained serious injury by the collision, stood by until danger was passed and then proceeded in the direction of Cardiff. The Edam foundered at 3 o'clock, two hours after the collision.

TWO INDIANS KILLED.

During Tuesday Night's Big Storm—A Tree Fell Upon Them.

Special to the Times.

ZURICH, Ont., Sept. 19.—Two Indian families on their way from Southampton to Kettle Point pitched their tents in Taylor's grove, on the lake bank, eight miles from here, Tuesday night. The thunder storm blew down a large dry tree, which fell over on one of the tents, instantly killing one of the Indians and his wife and severely wounding their daughter, a girl of 13 years of age. Although in a critical condition hopes are entertained of her recovery. There was a third person in the tent, but she escaped uninjured. The dead woman is a sister of John Crowe, the Indian agent at Southampton.

CHOLERA PLAGUE.

Seventeen Thousand Deaths in Japan Since it Started—Foreigners Leaving China.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19. Notwithstanding the efforts of Chinese and Japanese officers to suppress it, the truth has come to light concerning the plague. Japan and North China are fairly alive with cholera germs. Siberian officials have declared Japanese open ports affected, and from official sources it is learned that over 17,000 people have died in Japan from the plague since its start in Pescadores.

TORONTO WATERWORKS

An Outbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, (Special). Sept. 16.—The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is always possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them it is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a perfect state of regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacious in the latest as well as in the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

NO MISTAKE ABOUT IT.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The correspondent of the Central News at Cowes wires that Lord Dunraven this morning cabled to the Royal Yacht Squandon that he would like it to be clearly understood that the offer contained in Mr. Iselin's letter of the 6th inst. to resail either the last two races or the whole series had never been made to him, either by Mr. Iselin or the Regatta Committee of the New York Yacht Club.

Killed by Carbolic Acid.

NORWICH, Sept. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman's little daughter Flossie, about seventeen months old, died from drinking carbolic acid. The little thing just gave one scream, then became unconscious. Dr. Harvey was there in a few minutes, but in less than an hour life was extinct.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Night School Vacancies—Many Will be Disappointed.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Emanuel Tasse, a former pontificial Zouave, writes to Le Canada that notwithstanding the lapse of twenty five years and the confident assertions of the enemies of the Church that an end has been put to the temporal power of the Pope forever, he and those for whom he speaks cherish the hopes of seeing better days arise. He protests on their behalf an unalterable attachment and fidelity to the papacy and expresses the conviction that although the Zouaves may not again assemble beneath the banners of the Church yet their children will do so, swelled by thousands of devoted adherents of the Holy See from the banks of the St. Lawrence.

DALLAS HYAMS ILL.

One of the Twins Charged With the Murder of Willie Wells Occupying the Hospital Ward.

Special to The Times

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Since the 74th birthday of her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria the Hyams twins, accused of the murder of Willie Wells on Jan. 15, 1893, have lain in the county jail.

For the past four or five weeks Dallas Hyams has been quite ill and intermittently has occupied the hospital ward of the institution. Dr. Richardson has been in attendance and is pulling him around all right. He was suffering from an affection of the stomach which one of the officials described as being "off his feed."

The prisoners have the freedom of the grounds and if they want to exercise therein they can have the liberty. They don't seem inclined that way, and are to all appearances perfectly at home in their quarters.

SPANISH WARSHIP SUNK.

THE BIG VESSEL RUN DOWN BY A COASTER.

An Admiral, the Captain, Three Officers and Thirty of the Crew Drowned — An Incident of the Insurrection.

Special to The Times.

HAVANA, Sept. 19.—The Spanish warship Sanchez Barcaizetegui with Admiral Delgado Parejo on board, was struck by the incoming coasting steamer Mortara in front of Morro Castle, at midnight last night, and sank almost instantly. Admiral Parejo and thirty-four of the crew of the warship, including Capt. Ybanez and three other officers, were drowned. The remainder of the crew, 116 in number, were saved. The bodies of Admiral Parejo and Captain Ybanez were recovered.

The body of the captain was mutilated, the head and arms having been eaten by sharks.

The Sanchez Barcaizetegui was an iron barque rigged cruiser, 920 tons displacement and 1,100 nominal horse power. She was built at Lasrine, in 1876. She was 203 feet long, 30 feet wide and had a draught of 12 feet. She carried seven guns.

LATEST AD FOR THE LILY.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Westminster Gazette says that Mrs. Langtry has returned from Baden to London, and made application to the Union Bank for the restoration of jewels valued at £40,0.0, which she deposited in the bank before leaving London. She found that the bank on August 24th, under an order in handwriting resembling that of Mrs. Langtry, and bearing a counterpart of her signature requesting the bank to give the jewels to "bearer," and delivered them as directed.

Mrs. Langtry declares that the order was a forgery, and has placed the matter in the hands of the police, who thus far have been unable to trace the forger.

CLARA AN ACTRESS.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, Sept. 19, —Sam T. Jack's giddy company of "Creoles," now holding the boards at the Court Street Theater in this city, is a dusky-eyed, buxom-bosomed and lissome-limbed maiden who less than a year ago was the most conspicuous woman in the Dominion of Canada, being then on trial for her life. She was then known as Clara Ford, and had been accused of the murder of Frank Westwood. During the trial it was learned that she was a quadroon and the illegitimate daughter of a Toronto man. After her acquittal by the jury she found herself penniless, and having a fondness for male impersonation sought a position on the stage. She has no speaking part but her figure speaks for her in the amazon marches and the "first-part" scene.

WILL THEY FIGHT?

The Corbett Fitzsimmons Mill Still in Doubt—A Test Case.

Special to the Times.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 19.—By this time tomorrow the question as to whether or not the Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight can be pulled off by Dan Stewart, before the Florida Athletic Club, in this city, will be settled once for all.

There was a hearing this morning before Chief Justice Hart, of the Court of Criminal Appeals, on the habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Jesse Clarke, who was recently arrested for engaging in a prize fight. Judge Hart will render his decision tomorrow. Dan Stewart, as well as Mayor Holland and the sheriff, are confident that the decision will be favorable to the Florida Athletic Club, but with them it may be that "the wish is father to the thought."

HE SHOT HIMSELF.

James Pratt's Suicide in Manitoba—A V and Nine Children Here.

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Mrs. James Pratt, 103 Sussex street, has been made a widow by the suicide of her husband at Carberry, Man., on Wednesday at noon. Pratt came to Canada from Warwick, Eng., in April last, accompanied by his wife and nine children. He had been a corndealer in fair circumstances till an unlucky deal left him poor. In Toronto work was scarce and he left for the Northwest. Twice weekly he has written, his last letter having arrived last Friday. He sent his wife money regularly and there was no indication of despondency. A dispatch from Winnipeg on Wednesday night announced that he had shot himself in the right temple. Mrs. Pratt's oldest child is 20 and her youngest 4.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 19.—It is understood that the grand jury of the Federal Court has found a true bill of indictment against Mrs. Mack, of Hamilton, Ont., the alleged accomplice of George Morrison in the stamp counterfeiting scheme, and that as soon as the indictment is reported, probably tomorrow, her case will be moved for trial.

A POLICEMAN FALLS DEAD

WAS CHASING TRAMPS WHO HAD STOLEN $500.

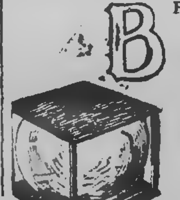
Special to the Times



BROCKVILLE, Sept. 19.—This town was thrown into a great state of excitement this morning by a report that Policeman Alex. Wright had been shot and was dead. Investigation proved that Wright was dead, but that he had died from heart failure, caused by over exertion.

When Jas. Curran, grocer, went to his store on Bartholomew street this morning he discovered that burglars had been at work during the night. The door of the store had been forced open and the safe blown up with powder and about $500 in money taken. He at once notified the police station and Wright, the only policeman on duty at the station, went down. After viewing the premises he and Curran proceeded towards the east end of the town in search of the burglars. Noticing three tramps some distance away, they pursued them.

They had gone about a mile, when Wright, in getting over a fence, fell dead, Curran at once returned to town and gave the alarm. The body was brought in and an inquest will be held today. Wright has only been on the force for about seven months. He leaves a widow and four young children, one of which is ill and not expected to live.

The large amount of money in Curran's safe is accounted for by the fact that yesterday was pay day on the Grand Trunk and a great many of the customers had been in during the afternoon and evening settling their accounts.

The three tramps that were chased have been arrested, but it is not supposed they are the burglars.

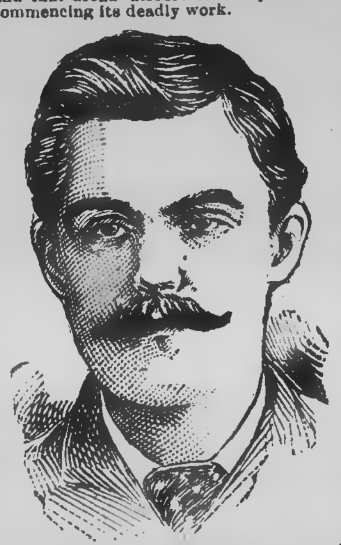
Paine's Celery Compound the Best Friend for Suffering Men and Women.

AN ALARMING CASE

ALL HOPE WAS GIVEN UP

Life and Health Restored When the Great Medicine Was Used.

Mr. F. P. Roberts, St. John, N. B., had a desperate struggle with suffering and disease. A severe attack of Grippe brought on nervousness, insomnia and weakness, and that dread disease consumption was commencing its deadly work.



Mr. Roberts, after disappointments and failures with his medical attendants, followed the course that thousands in extremities have taken to regain health—he used Paine' Celery Compound, and soon freed himself from the heavy bondage and chains of suffering.

Are you, dear reader, one of earth's sick and burdened mortals, sighing and praying for a new and happy life? If so, you can implicitly plant your hope in the unfailing efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine that has no equal in this wide world.

Mr. Roberts reports his case as follows :—

"About two years ago I had La Grippe badly. For several months I was unable to do any work. During that period, and for months after, I was under treatment by my physician.

"At times my case was regarded as very alarming, and my life was even despaired of. A most violent cough was firmly seated on my lungs and bronchial tubes, and very often I raised up large quantities of blood.

"At this stage I became desperate and determined to obtain relief without further delay. My doctor was slow to offer me much encouragement; and I finally resolved to try Paine's Celery Compound from having heard much in its favor.

"I am happy to inform you, that by using three bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound I was completely cured; and, instead of being restless and wakeful as I once was, I am free from all nervousness and sleep well.

"You cannot conceive of a more grateful man than your humble servant is, for what Paine's Celery Compound has accomplished. My personal recommendation made many thankful customers for our druggist.

"I shall continue to sound its merits at every opportunity; and would be glad if this mildly drawn statement of my case could be of service in persuading others to start with the Compound."

A Hustling Firm.

We call attention to the advertisement of H. LeBrun & Company in this issue. This firm has bought a large new stock of goods, suitable for fall clothing, and are prepared to make up suits and overcoats at remarkably low prices. It will pay to watch the bargains offered from time to time in their advertisement.

Citizens Complain.

Residents in the vicinity of the Little Lake and the Locks, are complaining of the stench which arises from the muck and sawdust beds in the river. The lowering of the water and dam in order to repair the sluice, exposes these beds to the sun, and the miasmatic odor arising therefrom is exceedingly offensive. They intend to lay the matter before the medical health officer.

It Was an Annoyance.

A subscriber writes: The ball held Thursday evening at the corner of Elizabeth street and Driscoll Terrace, Ashburnham, after the show was over, created a lot of noise. The music was furnished by mouth organs, and the dancing was of the go-as-you-please character. Chief Craig has knowledge of the participants, and if they repeat the performance, will have them before the magistrate.

A Solid Jewelry Firm.

One of the leading jewelry firms in Toronto, is H. & B. Kent, Yonge street. This reliable firm has secured handsome premises, and their showrooms are overflowing with jewerly and silver wares. They buy direct from the European markets and can give bargains in the line of diamonds, jewelry, wedding presents, and also a selection not to be had outside of the large cities. Citizens visiting Toronto would do well to visit this firm.

A Sad Case Indeed.

The Children's Aid Society had a case before the Magistrate the other morning in which a mother was charged with forcing her children to beg as well as neglecting to take proper care of them and send them to school. The eldest boy was a lad of fourteen years of age. He could neither read nor write and was disgustingly dirty, as was his two smaller brothers, aged respectively, 8 and 10 years. The father of the children is a patient in the Toronto Asylum for the Insane, and the lot of the family is a hard one. Under the circumstances the magistrate felt that he could take no action though he advised the mother to keep the children clean if nothing else.

A FLAT CONTRADICTION.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—An evening paper last night contained extracts from a letter purporting to be from one of the tramps whom we tried to arrest on Monday night near the Ashburnham brick yard. The remarkable letter was mailed at Havelock, so it is stated, and it contains certain statements, which if made by the aforesaid tramp, brands him as a deliberate liar.

The statements in the letter are tended to discredit my version and the verson of my companions, of what took place on Monday evening. In order to contradict the misleading inferences of this letter, I wish to make the following statement.

In company with Messrs. Brine and Montgomery, we went out to the brick yard and found the three tramps asleep. We woke them up, searched them, and then handcuffed them. The fourth tramp then made his appearance and the shooting commenced. I told Brine to get out of the road with his man. Both Montgomery and myself held our ground until our ammunition was all gone. I shot to wound and not to kill, or some of the tramps would not now be at large, for it was difficult to strike their limbs, when it would have been an easy matter to shoot them through the body.

The statement that the tramps chased us, and that we hid in the grass, is a deliberate falsehood. The tramps were the first to run. Brien did strike his man with the baton, and I can prove it by several witnesses, as I can the other statements made here. We followed the tramps a mile and a half after our ammunition gave out.

The tramps hid in the day time and travelled by night. We traced them to Hastings and it is very strange that one of their number should go to Havelock to write this remarkable letter. As to the tramps not being in the Bethel church, I can prove that they were in an orchard behind the church, and that they were very much frightened when seen making down the track after we left.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,
ARCHIE MOORE,

JOE DALY IS DEAD.

A Well Known Hotel Man of Toronto, Passed Away on Thursday Night.

Joseph J. Daly, proprietor of the Daly House, at Front and Simcoe streets, Toronto, died Thursday night of acute inflammatory rheumatism. Mr. Daly has been confined to his bed for seven weeks, during which time he was attended by Drs. Macdonald Strange and Graham. It was thought that his robust physique would enable him to shake off the disease, but this week his case assumed a critical stage and all hope of his recovery was abandoned.

Mr. Daly was thirty eight years of age. Previous to going to Toronto he had managed a hotel in town and for several years had owned the Daly House in Lindsay. Two years ago he purchased the hotel property at Front and Simcoe from George Harris and since that time the hotel has been known to the travelling public as the Daly House. He was an enthusiastic sportsman and was Vice President of the Offhand Shooting club. He was a member of the Ontario Jockey club and was himself an owner of a couple of trotters under the 2 25 mark.

Mr. Daly leaves a widow. Three brothers also survive, James Daly, of Orillia, Edward Daly, Lindsay, and P. J. Daly, Buffalo, ticket agent for the New York Central railroad. He was a Roman Catholic and a regular attendant at St. Michael's cathedral. At 4 25 this afternoon the remains will be taken by train to Lindsay where the interment will take place on Sunday afternoon.

EXCITES ADMIRATION.

The Enterprise Displayed by a Leading Clothing Firm.

The enterprise exhibited by the manager of the new clothing store, Oak Hall, has excited the admiration of citizens. Already the firm is as well known in Peterborough as those that have been here for years. To establish a business in a new town is no light task, and sometimes months elapse before encouragement in the way of patronage, is received. Oak Hall, however, has forged right to the front, and its commodious storerooms are crowded daily with customers, in fact, it is already recognized as one of the leading business concerns of Peterbrrough, and not only by citizens, but by the farmers who do their trading in Peterborough.

An old saw has it, that anything well begun is half done. Oak Hall has begun well, and the success of their beginning was based on a firm belief in the fundamental principles of advertising. When Manager Moffat came here to open Oak Hall he brought all the benefit of his large experience to bear on how to make Oak Hall known to the people of this section. First, mile posts, bearing the name of the firm and distances to and from Peterborough, were placed out on all the leading country roads, and these not only prove to be a great convenience to road travellers, but a valuable advertisement for the firm. Then the newspapers were called upon to help, and a liberal display and use of painter's ink has done much to introduce Oak Hall to the people of this county. The advertising novelties conceived by Mr. Moffat and immediately put into execution, were unique in their effectiveness. The tall "lady" who drew the attention of so many people on Oak Hall's opening day, and the Irish Jaunting Car tandem at the Lakefield Fair were capital advertising schemes and more than paid the firm for the outlay.

The establishment of this reliable clothing firm in Peterborough has been characterized by rare enterprise, in the first instance, and in the second, by keeping faith with the public. Everything is as represented; the goods are as represented; the prices are as represented; the values are as represented. This is the secret of Oak Hall's success not only in Peterborough, but in all its branches throughout Ontario.

JUST WAIT, SAYS WIGGINS.

No Indications of That Big Storm Till it Bursts Upon Us.

Prof. Wiggins has great faith in his predicted storm. Yesterday he said to a reporter: "Make no Mistake; that storm is coming. There are no indications, and there will not be any until the storm comes. Do you notice how electrical storms are very prevalent just now, how Vesuvius is excited? I never predicted a storm on conjunctions more to my liking."

"Hadn't we better prepare for emergencies?" asked the reporter.

"There are no emergencies, except what will arise from the storm," replied the professor. "We shall have a northwest wind which will satisfy you on Saturday," he continued, "sure. These people who doubt the reliability of the data upon which my prediction is based, will, I venture to say, be careful to keep well inshore along the ocean on Saturday."

OUR BOYS IN NEW YORK.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM WALTER AND JOE

They Visit the Theatres, Root Gardens, Coney Island and the Eden Musee—Viewing the Yacht Race From the Decks of the Weinerwurst.

It is with pleasure we give space to the interesting letters of two Peterborough young men, now taking in the sights of New York:

FROM JOE.

BEEFSTEAK JOHN'S,
"The Bowery."

DEAR TIMES,—Walter and myself arrived here safely some days ago, and we both are duly impressed with the wonders and magnificence of this great city. By close figuring we calculate it is about four times as big as Peterborough and Ashburnham, including the new car works to be built by the Street Railway Company. I am writing this in our room in the 28th storey of a 60 storey building. We are higher up in life, in fact, than we ever were before. Walter says he can hear the archangels giving directions to Jupiter and Pluvius to have Prof. Wiggin's storm on time. As I write here, I can see down into that historic street of which the old song so truthfully says:

"The Bowery, the Bowery,
They say such things and they do such things on
The Bowery, the Bowery—
I won't go there any more."

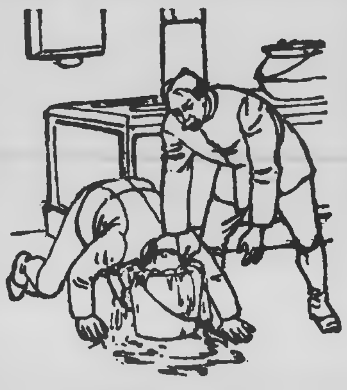
THEIR ONLY SAFE SPOT.

When we landed at the New York Central station we naturally felt a little dazed. Trains were puffing, whistling and rushing past us on all sides. Elevated trains were dashing here and there and cabmen jostled us and tried to take our shawl straps right out of our hands. We took an elevated car to our hotel, but although we had been given full instructions before we left home where to get off at, we couldn't recognize the spot, so we rode on and on, until nearly dark. I began to get uneasy but Walter says:

"We'll get the worth of our money, any way, Joe."

Finally the conductor asked us how much we wanted for five cents, so we told him where we wanted to go and he directed us where to get off at. At 6 o'clock we reached our hotel, freshened up and went to the Cafe de St. Denis for supper. They had an awfully long bill of fare, and we took everything that was on it, including Edam cheese and olives on ice. They were seven or eight gentlemen at our table and they looked surprised at our apetites.



THEY FRESHENED UP.

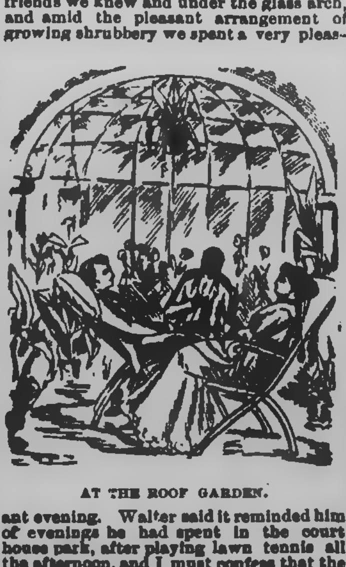
Walter said he would settle the bill. The waiter tucked a little slip under his plate, and Walter looked at it. It contained the figures $9.05. Walter showed it to me and I called the waiter over.

"We are not paying for all these gentlemen." I said, pointing to the others.

"Certainly not," replied the waiter. "This is for you two. Do you want the items?"

We didn't. We paid the bill, but we didn't go there any more. Walter was excited and remarked: "It's a shame, we only had boiled bam, pashed motatoes, creen gorn, pice rudding and ruts and naisans. Billy McCallum wouldn't treat us like that.

That night we took in the Madison square roof garden. There we met some friends we knew and under the glass arch, and amid the pleasant arrangement of growing shrubbery we spent a very pleasant evening. Walter said it reminded him of evenings he had spent in the court house park, after playing lawn tennis all the afternoon, and I must confess that the joys of the roof garden will long be remembered by myself.



AT THE ROOF GARDEN.

IT WASN'T FAIR TIME.

New York is crowded at present. I thought it must be fair time, but upon enquiring was told there was nothing unusual going on in the city. Of course we went to the boat race, for as soon as Lord Dunraven heard of us being in the city he sent us a cordial invitation to attend. On board the excursion boat Weinerwurst we followed the course of the two boats, and saw the Defender cross the line first, amid great cheering of waving the flags. It beat the Otonabe club canoe parade all hollow.

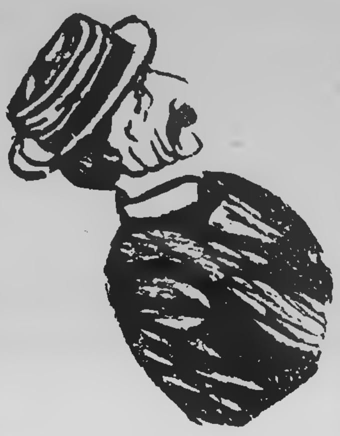
ON BOARD THE WEINERWURST.

A few nights ago Walter proposed that we go to the theatre. "We may run across the Baird Opera Company, Harry Lindley, or Dan McCarthy," says he. So we went to the Academy of Music, but although we paid 50 cents each for our seats, we found ourselves away up near the ceiling. The performance was good, but we didn't see any one we knew.

I will leave Walter to tell you the balance, as I am going to retire.

FROM WALTER.

DEAR TIMES,—I promised to write you a few lines while here, so will do so now. Joe has just gone to bed. He is so sore all over from looking at the tall buildings, that he dicided to remain in tonight.



LOOKING AT THE TALL BUILDINGS.

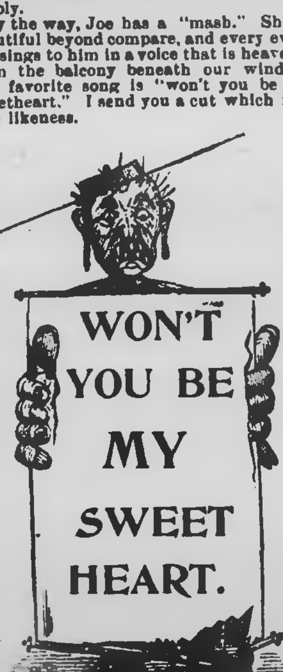
We went over to Coney Island the other day to see the elephant. We had heard so much about the elephant that Joe said we must see it, if we didn't see anything else. We spent all the afternoon there, drank lemonade and listened to the singing, but we thought they must have taken the elephant away, for we couldn't find it anywhere. When we got back to the city we learned that the hotel there is called the elephant—I suppose on account of the trunks lying around.

We went to the Eden Musee to see the chamber of horrors. The first thing that struck Joe's eye was the sign: "Look out for pick pockets." Standing looking at it was an old man in wax, and another wax man just in the act of pulling the old man's pocket book out of his pocket. "Look at that," says Joe, "there's a buncoe steerer robbing that man, but by gingers, I'll frustrate his nefarious plan." Joe then went up to a policeman and said to him: "Arrest that thief."

The policeman is wax also. Joe bought the cigars and I promised to keep quiet about the incident when I got home.

We have been to all the theatres, ridden on the cable cars, dodged surface cars, crossed Brooklyn bridge, visited New York World building, walked up and down Broadway, and seen many strange and wonderful things. New York is indeed a wonderful city. We are duly impressed with its greatness, its vastness, the evidence of wealth, and stupendous undertakings on all sides, the immense throng of strange faces, the hurry, skurry, rush, clatter and noise everywhere. The splendor on all sides, the rich and the poor, the richly dressed and the poorly clad, the evidences of squallor, pain and suffering, all has impressed us deeply.

By the way, Joe has a "mash." She is beautiful beyond compare, and every evening sings to him in a voice that is heavenly from the balcony beneath our window. Her favorite song is "won't you be my sweetheart." I send you a cut which is a true likeness.



WON'T YOU BE MY SWEET HEART.

Before returning home we intent visiting Grant's monument, Dr. Talmage's church, the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue, Manhattan, Atlantic City, and other points of interest.

We are having a hog-killing time and will never forget our visit here. We get THE TIMES every day at the leading news dealers here, so are fully acquainted with everything going on in Peterborough. You may hear from us again.

THAT ASSAULT CASE.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—Feeling a contradiction neccessary to correct the statement made about Miss Boyler, my sister, being insulted last evening on the corner of Murray and George streets, the young men were acquaintances of the young lady, and asked to accompany her home, she refused. She did not meet the police officer, as when he arrived on the scene she was nearly home. It is altogether a wrong statement, as the young men, although intoxicated, did not act improper to her.

Her sister,
MISS J. BOYLER.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!
MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

THE MERRYWEATHER ENGINE NOT UP TO THE CONTRACT.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The contract between the City of Toronto and the Merryweather Fire Engine Company regarding the purchase of a fire engine called for these conditions:

1. That would raise 100 lbs. of steam in ten minutes.

2. That it would throw a vertical stream 200 feet through a 1 13 16 inch nozzel.

3. That it would weigh 5,250 pounds.

AN OFFICIAL TEST.

The other tests having proved unsatisfactory another official test was held this morning at the old sugar refinery on the Esplanade at the foot of Sherborne street. The experts present were John J. Northey, W. H. Robb, John Fensom, City Engineer Keating and Chief Graham. The engine did not come up to the first requirement. There were only 28 pounds of steam up ten minutes after the word had been given to start and the 100 pounds was not raised until 1 min. and 57 sec. later. The times and weights were: 5 min. 10 lbs.; 9 min. 20 lbs.; 10 3 4 min. 40 lbs.; 11 min. 45 lbs.; 11 17-60 min. 50 lbs.; 11 54-60 min. 100 lbs.

THREW A VERTICAL STREAM 172 FEET.

Test number two was made against the tall chimney which stands over the center of the building. After a dozen or so attempts had been made the consensus of opinion of the experts was that the engine threw a stream 18 feet higher than the chimney, which is 154 feet high. This, together with six feet allowed for the suction distance between the engine and the bay, brought the height of the stream up to 172 feet. A strong wind was blowing from the west at the time, sending the spray some four hundred feet to the eastward, and the experts thought that this would account for the difference between the test and the specifications.

The company has not lived up to the third condition, as the machine weighs by itself 8,330 pounds. With firemen and coal on board it will nearly reach four tons and a half dead weight.

MAY BE A BIGAMIST.

A story involving the good name and happiness of a young lady who lives on Ontario street has just come to light. The persons who are most intimately connected with the affair is Miss Kate Steinle, a 17 year old girl, whose parents reside at 8 Ontario street, and John Leroy, a son of Mrs. Leroy, of 46 Grove avenue, in Parkdale, and Mrs. John Leroy, who, if the story is true, might with propriety be called Mrs. John Leroy, No. 1.

On the 17th of August Kate Steinle crossed the lake to Niagara Falls. On her return she informed her parents that she was married and produced a marriage certificate. On Sept. 2 Miss Steinle disappeared, presumably with Leroy, and the other wife has been found at 453½ Yonge street, deserted and penniless.

A BICYCLE THIEF.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—James L. Kemp's trial in the Sessions on a charge of stealing a bicycle from Ned Sullivan, hotel keeper, King street east, ended in a verdict of guilty. Kemp has lived in the city until recently, when he moved out to the village of Mount Albert. He has been travelling to and fro between there and Toronto and has been riding different wheels. He is an intimate friend of Thomas Newton, who was tried for alleged pocket picking. He has still to be tried on two other charges of bicycle stealing. County Constable Parish Steeper showed extraordinary shrewdness in effecting Kemp's capture; had a long chase and ran his man down in a cornfield.

MORE TROUBLE IN CHINA.

The Basle Mission at Moilio Wrecked on Monday.

Special to the Times

LONDON Sept. 21.—A dispatch to the Times from Hong Kong, says that the Basle mission at Moilio, west of Swanton, was wrecked on Monday.

The foreigners have evacuated it, owing to the warnings received from other stations, that thousand of rebels are gathering and looting the property of the wealthy Chinese.

The troops sent to the district to quell the rising were withdrawn recently. Placards announce that the withdrawal was due to an English attack on Canton, because of recent massacres.

THE LION GROWLS.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Globe prints a dispatch from Shanghai, saying that the British cruisers Aeolas, Spartan, Rainbow and Caroline, assembled unexpectedly at the outer anchorage today and subsequently proceeded to Yang Tee Kang river. The movement was made in consequence of threats having been made against foreigners residing in the interior of the Empire. The Chinese officers, the despatch adds, are greatly excited over the action taken by Great Britain for the protection of her subjects.

MANY DEATHS FROM HEAT.

Yesterday's Record in Chicago—What Twenty Four Hours Did.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The intense heat of the past week has caused one or more deaths and many prostrations daily, but yesterday's eclipsed all others. For the 24 hours ending at eight o'clock last night the death roll numbered 51, 47 of the number, however, being children under five. The thermometer has hovered around the 91 mark for a week, and the excessive humidity has made the heat all the more unbearable.

German Soldiers Killed.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—A railway train with 1,200 soldiers on board, came into collision with a freight train standing at the station at Oederan, Saxony, last evening, demolishing a number of cars of both trains. Twelve soldiers were instantly killed and sixty were injured. Many others are missing.

H. M. S. "Majestic."

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The new battleship Majestic started from Portsmouth yesterday for a trip intended to test her engines, but was obliged to return, her condensers having sprung a leak. This is the second futile trial trip.

MARLBORO-VANDERBILT.

Engagement of the Young Duke to Miss Consulla Vanderbilt Announced—To be Married This Year.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Miss Consulla Vanderbilt, the daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, will, before the end of the year, become the Duchess of Marlborough.

The engagement was quietly announced by the families to the friends of the parties yesterday. It was confirmed beyond any question last evening. It will be performed in accordance with the ritual of the Protestant Episcopal Church, conforming with that of the Church of England. Bishop Potter will probably officiate, and the services, it is thought, will be in open church.

The Duke of Marlborough cabled the news yesterday morning to the members of his family and the intimate friends in England and the Continent. Included among those to whom the information was conveyed was the Prince of Wales, who is godfather to the Duke. It is expected that several of the intimate friends of the Duke will cross the Atlantic to be present at the wedding.

The acquaintance between the Duke and Miss Vanderbilt was formed in London about 18 months ago. During the last two London seasons and in Paris last spring they met frequently in society, and the friendship thus formed led to the entertainment of Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt at Blenhiem early this present summer.

It was but natural under the circumstances that when the Duke reached New York on his tour of the world that he should have received and accepted an invitation to visit the Marble House at Newport. The three weeks spent there gave him a pleasant insight into American manners and customs and resulted in the engagement.

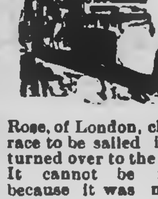
The plans of the Duke of Marlborough has been changed by the engagement and approaching wedding. The tour of the world will be abandoned but he will devote some time in seeing America. Within a few days now he will join Sir Rivers Wilson, the recently elected president of the Grand Trunk, and a party on making a tour of that road. Thereafter he will join Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt either in this city or Newport, and without doubt participate in an extensive round of entertainments given in his honor and that of his fiancee. This will make him well acquainted with the friends of the Vanderbilt family before the date of the wedding.

CABLED HIS CHALLENGE

EAGER TO RACE FOR THE AMERICAN CUP.

A Son of Sir John Rose will be Next Aspirant For International Yachting Notoriety—Another Great Struggle Anticipated.

Special to the Times.



NEW YORK, Sept, 21.

THE Evening Telegram publishes the following: Another challenge has been issued for the America's cup. Ex-Commodore Jas. D. Smith, chairman of the Cup Committee of the New York Yacht Club, this afternoon received a cable from Charles Rose, son of Sir John Rose, of London, challenging the club to a race to be sailed in 1896. The challenge turned over to the New York Yacht Club, It cannot be formally acted upon because it was not made in the proper form.

According to the deed of gift underwhich the New York Yacht Club holds the America's cup, the challenge should have been sent through the secretary of the club to which Mr. Rose belongs.

Mr. Rose is a member of the Jockey Club of London, and has been known for many years as a racing man. Commodore Smith said tonight that the challenger is a member of the Royal Yacht Squadron, but his name does not appear in the list of those belonging to that organization.

The fact that a new challenge comes so soon is regarded as a compliment to the Regatta Committee of the New York Club from an English source.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Ex-Commodore Smith, who has all along pooh-poohed the idea that it was "all over with the America's Cup," was delighted when he received the cablegram from Mr. Rose. Mr. Smith said yesterday: "A new challenge for the America's Cup has been received for a match to be sailed next year on conditions satisfactory to the America's Cup Committee. It came by cable this afternoon to the America's Cup Committee from Charles Rose, of 30 Hill steeet, Berkeley Square, London. Mr. Rose is a member of the Jockey Club of England, and of the Royal Yacht Squadron." The challenge, although somewhat informal, has been handed over to the New York Yacht Club, which will receive it today, and it will be repeated to the club by Mr. Rose in the regular form by cable at once.

To a reporter J. F. Laycock, owner of the English yacht Valhalla, said: "Well, then, you Americans can make up your minds to a good struggle, for I know Mr. Rose well enough to feel sure that if he has once decided to give you a race you will have a worthy antagonist. He is a young man who will spare no pains, or money either, to build and equip a yacht that will make whatever boat the Americans choose sail for what she is worth."

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Mr. Charles Day Rose, son of Sir John Rose, of the banking firm of Morton, Rose & Co., of London, and owner of the yacht Satanita, last week sent an informal challenge for the America's Cup. The New York Yacht Club acknowledged that challenge, but cabled in reply that it would be necessary for Mr. Rose to challenge formally for the Cup through a yacht club. In compliance with this requirement Mr. Rose will forward a formal challenge through the Royal Victoria Yacht Club of Ryde, of which he is a member.

Swallowed a Bean.

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.—A boy named Morin, belonging to St. Pierrie, Island of Orleans, died yesterday from the effects of having swallowed a bean. He was brought to town to be placed under the doctor's care and fell dead on Bridge street.

Triplets in Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The wife of Mr. R. McDougall, 70 Shelborne street, has given birth to triplets, two boys and a girl. One boy died but the remaining two are healthy and vigorous. The Fitkin triplets which caused such a sensation in Toronto some time ago, are all in good health.

OPERA HOUSE BURNED.

AN $18,000 FIRE AT ST. CATHARINES.

Big Labor Strike Anticipated in Hamilton—Human Bones Found in a Shark's Stomach—Whipped an old Woman.

Special to The Times.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 21.—The Opera House in this city was completely destroyed by fire about 1.30 this morning. The fire originated in the dressing room of the Opera House, and before the brigade could be notified the entire block was in immediate danger. The several companies responded promptly and soon had the fire under control. The Opera House is a total loss. It is owned by the Canada Permanent and Loan and Savings Company of Toronto. It is valued at about $18,000 and insured for about $8,000. The total loss will probably amount to $30,000. Insurance not obtainable at present.

LABOR AROUSED.

HAMILTON, Sept. 21.—The bricklayers and stonemasons employed on the T., H. B. tunnel quit work at 5 o'clock last night. This was in accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting of the union on the night previous that the nine hours a day rule should be enforced.

Contractor Onderdonk will accede to the demands of the men and will put on more men as soon as there is working accommodation for them.

The local Cigarmakers' Union took no action in the recent conference between the manufacturers and employees with reference to a union scale of prices. It was represented by Hamilton cigarmakers that they had to pay their union men a higher scale than is paid in Toronto, Montreal, or London. As a result of this, relations between the Tuckett firm and its employees are strained. Yesterday the firm submitted certain alternatives to its employees. These were a willingness to pay the Toronto scale with an advance of one to two dollars per thousand for certain hand work jobs or to pay the present Hamilton prices less one dollar all round. The company stated that in the present state of the cigar trade they were unable to continue the present scale and offered to submit the affair to arbitration. They requested an answer in writing within a week.

HUMAN BONES IN THE STOMACH.

HAVANA, Sept, 21.—A large shark was caught in the harbor yesterday and was cut open, when it was found to contain two fleshless human legs and feet besides other human bones, which are believed to be the remains of some of the drowned members of the crew of the wrecked warship Sanchez Barcaiztegui.

WHIPPED AN OLD WOMAN.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 21. — Green County whitecaps took the aged, sick widow of Reuben Flynn from her home last night, whipped her and burned her house with its contents. Her offence was hiring a colored man to do her farm work.

CANADIANS ARRESTED.

THREE PROMINENT MEN IN LIMBO FOR SILK SMUGGLING.

The Unearthing of a Skeleton in Hamilton—Believed to be a Murder Mystery—A Methodist Church in Rome.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 21.

THREE prominent young men of Windsor, St. Thomas and Kingsville, respectively, are in the central police station charged with smuggling. They were arrested yesterday with $60 worth of silks in their possession which they had a short time before their arrest brought from Windsor. The identity of the trio proved startling. One is Walter C. Learoyd, aged twenty-seven, junior member of the firm of Learoyd Brothers, prominent dry goods merchants of Windsor; William McDonough, aged twenty-seven, son of Rev. William McDonough, of Kingsville. The third is Harry Drake, of St. Thomas, aged twenty-six, and brother of the wife of A. D. Learoyd. He came to Windsor a few days ago to visit his sister. When first questioned by the detectives they said some unknown man had paid them a few dollars to bring the goods across and leave them at the hotel where they were arrested. The police gave slight credence to this story.

A SKELETON FOUND.

HAMILTON, Sept. 21.—While excavating for a cellar near 52 Magill street, one of Contractor Faulkner's men yesterday morning dug up a human skeleton with a fractured skull. Alfred Green the workman who unearthed the bones, stuck his pick into the skull about two feet below the surface. Continuing, he found the other bones buried in the sandy loam, and putting them together formed a complete skeleton. The frame was that of a person of large stature. Coroner White's examination showed that the remains belonged to a man. The jaws were big and square. The skull was of ordinary size the forehead low and receding and the back of the head well developed. Over the left temple was a fracture of long standing. The bones were dry and devoid of flesh. Interment, it was concluded, must have taken place from six to ten years ago.

A few years ago the locality, which is near Vinegar Hill, was a resort for cockfighters and such like, and it is thought that the man was knocked on the head at some sporting bout and quietly laid away. The lot was till a few years ago owned by Mrs. James Jones, De Grassi street, Toronto. No inquest will be held and the bones will be interred.

A METHODIST CHURCH IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 21.—At four o'clock yesterday afternoon the Methodist church in this city was dedicated. Prof. Carbone made the opening prayer, Miss May Maude Elkins sang, and extracts from the Scriptures were read. The Rev. Mr. Piggott then read Bishop Fitzgerald's address "On the Mission of the Methodist Church.

PETERBOROUGH. SEPTEMBER 19 1896,

THE POPE'S TEMPERAL POWER.

That certainly is a very interesting piece of news which comes from abroad to the effect that prominent Catholics of Europe have been approached with the proposition that $1,000,000,000 be raised for purchasing the Papal States from the Government of Italy. It is represented that the Italian Government is so badly in need of money that it would probably be willing to make the bargain. It is somewhat unlikely that the scheme has any foundation of truth or that either party to the arragement would listen to it with much seriousness. It is well known that the Government is embarrassed in a financial way. The country is not rich, although it is in a better condition than it was some years ago, for peace has reigned for a long time. Yet it is hardly conceivable that the Government, while Humbert and Crispi remain in control, would be willing to see the restoration of any sovereign power in the center of its confines, least of all the power of the Pope. Should Rome and the other former possessions of the Pope be restored, the upper and lower portions of the peninsular would be separated. It would be like breaking the back of the nation. Difficulties of civil and criminal administration would arise.

Nor would the people of the States consent to the restoration. It was by the presence of French troops that they were retained for the Pope until the exigencies of the Franco-Prussian War compelled Napoleon to recall the French garrison. Then the gates of the cily were thrown open to the forces of Italy, all then not united, but destined, it would seem, to remain so thereafter. In the Italy of to-day the wishes of the people must be consulted. States are to be bought and sold by individuals and syndicates.

The need of money might seem so great to the Italian Government that, in certain circumstances, the proposition would be tempting. To the church, however, it would involve a sacrifice of principle which seems hardly possible. The Church has never ceased to regard the taking of the States as an act of sacrilege and insult. It regards the properly as its own. This week the diocese of New-York is engaged in prayer for the restoration of the Pope's temporal power. Is it likely that the church will abandon faith in prayers and seek its ends by a bargain? Is it not far more probable that the Church will cease more and more to wish for temporal power and rely upon the spiritual side of its life to gain the influence which it wishes? All Catholics are not eager to see the Church engaged in the government of portions of the earth.

Every true Conservative will be glad if Sir Mackenzie is able to struggle out of that Manitoba schools quagmire. Still, he needn't have strayed into it.

If it be true that the Dominion government has issued another remedial order much milder and more conciliatory in tone than the first one, it is cause for rejoicing. But the fact remains that the first one-should never have been issued.

The German army having got through playing at war, the French army has now begun the same game. In these mock battles, the Germans see in every foe a Frenchman, and the French soldiers, whenever they fire their blank ammunition, fancy that the balls are plowing wide lanes in the ranks of German regiments. When will they come together in earnest? The great war will have to come, sooner or later, and probably sooner than later.

HETEROPHEMY.

An Awkward Trick For Which the Tongue or Nerves Are Responsible.

Heterophemy, the curious disease which consists in using one word when meaning to use an entirely different one, gives rise to many amusing combinations. An old lady living in a town on the Hudson river is thus afflicted. She is tall and stately in appearance, courtly and gracious in manner, and this makes her incongruous sentences all the more ridiculous. Strange to say, she herself is totally unconscious of her infirmity, for the family, friends and even the servants endeavor to save her from the mortification she would feel.

Not long ago when she was recovering from a serious illness the bishop of the diocese chanced to make his annual visitation, and at the suggestion of the rector they went together to call upon Mrs. Drew.

She was delighted to see them and entertained them with her usual grace and cordiality. The conversation naturally touched upon her illness and her thankfulness at her recovery, which for a time had been despaired of.

Presently she turned to the bishop, saying earnestly, "My dear bishop, let us have a little drop."

"Certainly, Mrs. Drew," interposed the rector, waiting for her to make some move which might disclose her meaning. But Mrs. Drew waited expectantly also.

"If you have not your Vade Mecum with you, there is a prayer book," she said after a moment.

The rector, with a sigh of relief, turned to the bishop. "Mrs. Drew will be glad to have you read prayers with her," he said quietly.

Prayers were read, and then the gentlemen prepared to take leave.

"Your visit has been a pleasure," Mrs. Drew said warmly. "Now, Mr. Belknap, won't you take this little boy home to your dear wife with my best love?"

For a moment Mr. Belknap wondered if she could mean the bishop, but she relieved his mind by lifting a magnificent bunch of roses from a vase on the table.

Allied to this is another form of misspeech, to which most of us are occasionally subject—the exchange of syllables. A certain young lady who, to her intense mortification, often reverses her vowels thus, says she is entirely unconscious of it even after speaking.

One summer evening she was sauntering with a friend toward the village postoffice of the little town where they were staying. On the way they encountered an acquaintance with a handful of letters.

"Ah, good evening," she said in her peculiarly gracious, suave manner. "Are you strailing out for your mole?"

The mystified young woman made some inarticulate reply and passed on. As soon as the friend could recover her gravity she gasped, "I suppose you intended to ask Miss May if she was strolling out for her mail?"

The same young lady was relating a sad story of various misfortunes which had overwhelmed a dear friend.

Carbolic Acid Suicides.

"It is a strange fact," said my friend, the Franklin street physician, "that six out of ten would be suicides now resort to that most horrible of all deadly doses, carbolic acid. It causes more pain, more genuine, lingering agony than any deadly dose I can mention. Yet its popularity continues to increase, especially among the unfortunate members of the half world who have become weary of life and seek the comforts of the grave. The antidote? Oh, an antidote after the acid has been swallowed is of little avail. A mixture of flour and water should be given; also mucilaginous drinks. I once had a patient recover after taking a small quantity of the acid, and she said she thought she was swallowing molten lead. It is a horrible life destroyer."—Buffalo Courier.

Which Is the Cheaper?

When you are willing to pay for brains in your kitchens, the servant girl question will solve itself. Which is cheaper—to employ a girl at $2 per week, who will probably waste, spoil or throw away $10 worth of food, or to pay a competent cook $6 or $8 per week and have all the left overs saved and served up into the most palatable of dishes? One you can trust with your purse and the care of your refrigerator; one who will not only cook, but relieve you of marketing and the worry of each day contriving a new bill of fare.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

KILLED BY A FREIGHT.

THE TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. O'KEEFE IN TORONTO.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—A Grand Trunk freight train killed Mrs. Mary O'Keefe at the crossing in front of Nurse's Hotel at the Humber at 9.40 o'clock last evening. Watchman Frederick Macdonald saw her about 7 o'clock going towards the house of Patrick Bolan where she had lived for a few days. She appeared then to be somewhat intoxicated. At 8.40 he saw her again near the crossing with a can. He warned her of an approaching train but she kept on. The train passed and her lifeless body was found in the ditch. Coroner Cotton will hold an inquest at 7.30 tonight.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S OPINION.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—A gentleman who accompanied Principal Grant a portion of the way on the train coming to Manitoba positively asserts that on the journey up the Principal made statements about the Manitoba school system exactly similar to those made in the Globe after his alleged study of the schools.

HOPELESS YOUTH.

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—Disappointment in her love affairs caused Alice Lucinda De Baptiste to commit suicide at her home, 180 East Willis avenue, this morning. No other cause can be assigned for the young girl's deed, and even her parents doubt that that could have been the cause of their daughter's self-destruction.

Alice was a general favorite, not only in her family circle, but among the neighbors and her acquaintances. She had a cheerful disposition, was always, seemingly, in good health and spirits, and had a good education.

TOOK POISON IN THE NIGHT.

Last night she was in such good spirits and at 8 o'clock no one in the household suspected that she contemplated her own destruction. She retired at the usual hour, occupying the same room with her sisters. During the night both Mr. and Mrs. De Baptiste heard a strangling noise from her room, but they thought it nothing extraordinary, because Alice was accustomed to snore while sleeping, but at 5.30 this morning Mrs. De Baptiste was startled when she tried to awaken her daughter. Alice could not be aroused and investigation showed that she was dying. Her father was then called and lost no time in bringing in the assistance of the family physician. When the physician arrived he soon discovered that the girl had poisoned herself.

A search resulted in finding a 1 ounce bottle of laudanum with only half a tea spoonful left. It was evident that the girl had ended her life with the contents of the bottle. Before taking it, however, Alice mutilated the label in such a way that the druggist's name who sold it could not be learned.

HER LAST GOOD BYE.

"Good bye, mamma, forever. Tell Rena I hope she will keep my promise to Mrs. Henry, who gave us the lessons. I cannot. Once more good bye. When you read this I shall be asleep to wake no more.

ALICE.

Mr. De Baptiste, when seen by a reporter could give no reasons for his daughter's act. He said she was a model daughter, always kind and gentle, and claimed that she never received any regular company. Drs. Keifer and Soure will hold an autopsy and Coroner Cutler will hold an inquest on the girl's death.

"LOST" COMPLAINTS.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—It became known today through the admission of a district attorney's clerk that besides the 2,000 untried indictments, the recovery of which ten days ago started so many theories, a great file of police court complaints were also found at the same time. These complaints, which cover almost every crime, with the exception of murder in the first degree, according to the clerk, were evidently intended for the grand jury, but never reached that body. Now that they are outlawed, as the statute of limitation provides that complaints for felony shall be considered valid only for five years, while complaints for misdemeanors are valid even for a briefer period.

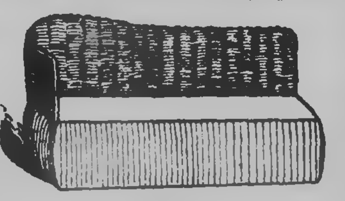
A child is happiest when he is busy, and the mother who can invent little pastimes and everyday amusements will greatly add to the happiness of the nursery. One of the most ingenious and at the same time one of the simplest and easiest amusements is the manufacture of cork furniture for dolly's housekeeping. The first thing to do is to collect a number of old corks. These may be of various styles and sizes, from the tiny stopper of the diminutive medicine vial to the large and ungainly cork of each two gallon vinegar jug or the large flat mushroomlike cork of the marmalade jar.



A SOFA.

These will all come into request for the different styles and sizes of furniture, and the cook and housemaid should have instructions to lay them aside in a little box that they may afford material for the children's playhouse.

Perhaps the simplest article, and therefore the one on which the children should first try their skill, is the doll's chair. The cork can either be taken in its natural shape, in imitation of one of the old fashioned, round parlor chairs, or the sides can be trimmed into an almost cubical form. In either case the side of the cork and the top should be covered with small pieces of bright colored cloth, cut to the proper shape and size, and fastened down with a little mucilage or paste.

It is advisable to put on the circular or square piece of cloth for the seat first and then fasten the longer piece around the sides. Great care should be taken to have it fastened neatly with the gum. If the child possesses a box of paints, he can vary the style of his furniture by substituting a coat of paint for the cloth. And now to construct the chair back. This is done with pins, sticking them carefully into the back of the seat, arranging them to have the heads all even and as close together as possible.

Naturally, if your chair was left like this, the pins would come out more easily than if they were tied together. At this stage you will also need a good supply of some crochet cotton, which should be the same color as your cloth. Take the crochet cotton and wind it in and out of the pins, first securing the end to one of them.

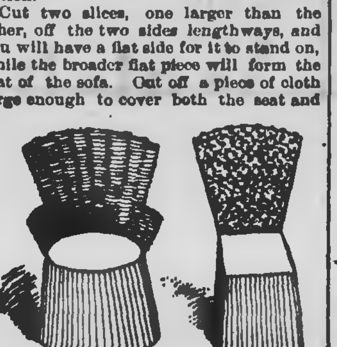
This gives you an ordinary sitting room chair. To make an armchair it is better to leave the cork in its natural round shape. The bottoms of the chairs must be quite flat, or else they will not stand properly. For the armchairs the pins must be put in a half circle. The thread is wound on the same way as on the other chairs. To make a sofa requires more time, and more difficult winding must be done. A long fresh cork must be used for the foundation.

Cut two slices, one larger than the other, off the two sides lengthways, and you will have a flat side for it to stand on, while the broader flat piece will form the seat of the sofa. Cut off a piece of cloth large enough to cover both the seat and side of the sofa and stick it on with gum, tucking in the corners neatly. Now get some small pins and stick them into one side of the seat and get some larger pins and put them at one end for the "head" of the lounge and wind the cotton in and out, as in the chairs.



AN ARMCHAIR—A SITTING ROOM CHAIR.

A little bed is made in much the same way as the sofa, covering it with cloth, but the pins must be put in at each end and not at the side.

To make a washstand the cork must be cut in half and the sides cut off, as in the bed and sofa. Cover it with cloth and stick a pin in each corner to serve as the legs.

By this time you will think of other things you can make out of cardboard and colored paper which will be quite pretty, and your dollhouse will be handsome enough for the most fastidious doll in dolldom.—Kindergarten in New York Mail and Express.

Little Milton and the Clock.

"Well, where will the hands of the clock be, then?" he asked.

His mamma pointed out the respective positions of the hands to indicate the sixth hour. Some time after the mother chanced to look at the clock and was surprised to find it all wrong. Remembering her conversation with Milton the Wise, she called him and inquired what had happened to the clock.

"Why, mamma," explained the boy, clapping his hands, and his eyes dancing with expectation, "I just run the hands around, so grandma would come right straight off!"

The same bright boy tells time in an entirely original way. He looks carefully at the clock and stretches out his little arms in the exact position of the hands. He will go to his mamma and say, "The little hand is here and the big hand is there." And so accurate is he in imitating that one can tell the time to a very few minutes.—Newark Call.

On His Hobby Horse.

From morning till evening a stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.
He rides on a horse that he never can tire,
On a road that's kept warm by the nursery fire,
And when he arrives with the fairies he'll talk,
And in gardens of candies and gingerbread walk.
And that's why so briskly this stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.

INDIAN GAMBLERS.

Sometimes Whole Villages Are Impoverished by a Streak of Bad Luck—They Rely Upon Charms and Their Ability to Cheat—They Are Good Losers.

As eagerly as a duck flops into the water does an Indian jump into a game of chance. Unbounded belief in luck and perhaps the natural deviltry of the race make Indians inveterate gamblers. There is nothing in an Indian's possession that he will not readily wager on a game of chance. Nearly every noble red man is the possessor of an individual charm or fetich which enables him to do things that other Indians cannot do. This fetich is of value exclusively to the owner, and according to their belief would be of no use or advantage to any other Indian. No person besides the possessor knows what the fetich is and were it to become known it would immediately lose its power for good. No Indian will knowingly steal another Indian's fetich. Such theft vitiates the power of the thief's fetich and casts over him a hoodoo.

Having full faith in the ability of his charm to bring luck to him, the Indian never fails to place all his possessions in the balance when there is a bet on. If he loses, he takes it philosophically and attributes his bad luck to the greater power of his adversary's charm. If he wins, he has added faith in the power of his own charm. Indians have been known to wager all their earthly possessions, even to their squaws and children and tepees, on the fall of a stick in one of their games. Indian villages have become pauperized and dependent upon charity for months because the inhabitants bet everything they had on the result of games with other villages. Such occurrences were common several years ago, and were it not for the restrictions of government regulations would be so still.

Gambling is not a secret vice among the Indians. It is indulged in by all the members of the tribe, and the more expert the gambler the higher he stands in the estimation of his fellows. To have the fame of being a successful gambler causes an Indian to looked up to almost as much as if he were a successful warrior. There is no fear of shocking the morals of even the highest chief by proposing a game with him—in fact, the invitation pleases him. One point of advantage held by the red man over his white brother is in the fact that when he loses everything he possesses he is not much poorer than he was before, and he can readily recoup himself by making a raid upon some unfortunate white settler or upon a weaker tribe. The white man may commit suicide, but the Indian simply looks for a victim and seldom fails to find him.

Before the government tightened the moral lines on the Indians professional Indian gamblers were plentiful. Of late years their number has decreased rapidly. The most famous Indian gambler of today is Quelepah, a Comanche. His game is monte. He is about 30 years old, tall and straight, with a thin, narrow face. His eyes are sunken like those of a consumptive. He never smiles and seldom speaks. Like all Indian gamblers, his dress is rich in bright colors. He usually rides a white pony and is attended by two Apache Indians, both famous for deeds of prowess. He travels from village to village and from tribe to tribe. Everywhere he is well known. When his approach is made known, the Indians wait for him to appear, saving their money to play with him, for it is an Indian maxim that "in the game of Quelepah the play is honest, and the stakes are what you please."

Quelepah once appeared at the Cash creek village. He rode into the village shortly before sundown. One of his companions spread a bright red blanket on the ground. Quelepah knelt before it. As he settled down on his haunches and brought forth a new deck of Mexican monte cards the blanket was surrounded by Indians crouching three and four deep. And behind them stood other Indians eager for an opportunity to play. The long, lean fingers of Quelepah shuffled the cards with marvelous rapidity. The interest in the game waxed as the light waned. Candles were procured as night fell and were fastened in sharp pointed green twigs stuck in the ground.

By their flickering light Quelepah could be seen paying his losses and pocketing his gains. He was both dealer and banker. Behind him on his right and on his left crouched his two Apache fellows. As dawn was breaking Quelepah looked about him. He had stripped all save two Indians. One of them was a heavy winner. Laying down $100 for each of them to cover, Quelepah announced that it was his last bet. The cards left were the queen and the deuce. Both Indians laid on the queen. The deuce won. Quelepah pocketed his money. The village, save for the two Indians, was penniless.

Squaws also are inveterate gamblers. It is a common sight to see a dozen squaws, young and old, their papooses lying neglected on the ground, crowded around an old shawl, busy over a 10 cent game of monte. Their play is persistent, and many of them are marvelously clever gamblers. But they seldom have money of their own sufficient to play for high stakes.

One peculiarity of Indian gambling games is their intricacy. In several tribes the writer has seen Indians playing games with sticks and stones for hours at a time. Notwithstanding the closest attention he has been unable to discover the system used, nor has he ever met a white man who could explain the game. There are several games of this kind, and among the Pacific coast tribes they are common.

In addition to his faith in his charm the Indian places great dependence on his ability to cheat. To the best cheat are accorded the highest honors when gambling is indulged in. There is never a thought of getting angry over deft tricks or unfair methods so long as the perpetrator is not caught in the act. If he is caught, he refunds his gains and is laughed at for clumsiness.

Since playing cards have become common, games taught by the whites and Mexicans are generally the favorites among the red men. Monte is played for large amounts. Sometimes an Indian with hundreds of dollars will become impoverished in a single evening by trying his luck against a skillful player. An especially deft monte dealer, more skillful even than Quelepah, has been known to go from tribe to tribe in the mountains of New Mexico and return home loaded down with his winnings. Many Mexican gamblers devote almost their entire time to traveling among the various tribes in the Sierras. They win large sums, but lose them again in Mexican cities.—Fort Sill (O. T.) Cor. New York Sun.

PLANTAGENET, Prescott Co., Ont., Sept. 20.—The store of L. Charbonneau, in this village, was burglarized last night, the job evidently being done by experienced hands. Entrance was effected by the back door. A hole was drilled through the door of the safe, some explosive placed therein and the front completely shattered. About $100 was secured, but the robbers failed to open the inner apartment, although work had been commenced upon it. There is no trace of the burglars.

He has grown a moustache and side whiskers. The woman, his companion, is in the General Hospital. CAN NEVER BE ONE PEOPLE.

That the 280,000,000 inhabitants of the continent of India should ever become one nation is so wild an improbability, and, even if possible, a matter of so many centuries, that its assumed realization cannot be made the basis of practical politics, says the National Review. England and Ireland are an example of the slowness of growth of a common national sentiment in closely allied peoples forming one state, and the national unification of medieval Europe would have been a problem analagous to that of India today. For Latin then, as English now, in India was a common tongue for the educated classes, yet the former did not supplant, as the latter is now not destroying, the popular languages. And the ideal of a temporal head of Christendom in the holy Roman emperor, with its attendant aspirations, was a sentiment counteracting local or tribal feeling stronger than any that has yet arisen in India from the superimposed authority of the Queen's government, while there is nothing in India to correspond with the religious unity of Europe under the popes.

For Hindooism and Islam show no signs of decay, and the antagonism between their followers is on the increase. In the traditions of history one of the most powerful elements of national sentiment, the pride of the one is the shame of the other. The Mussulman glories in Aurangzeb; the followers of Gobind Singh and Sivaji detest his memory. Intermarriage is impossible, and is a sin even among the myriad castes of Hindoos. There is no historical example of such a miracle as the amalgamation into one nation of such a multitude of diverse elements, and if it is to be effected the first steps have yet to be taken.

Sweeter than Sugar.

A discovery of extraordinary interest has been recently made in the Kent Laboratory at the Chicago University. A new compound has been found which has sweetening powers in excess of those possessed by saccharine, which has hitherto been considered the sweetest substance known to chemists.

While working upon a series derived from the coal-tar products, Dr. H. L. Wheeler happened to touch his pencil to his tongue. He was astonished that it had a very sweet taste. Upon looking for the cause, Dr. Wheeler found that he had done some writing on a piece of filter paper, upon which there was a very small quantity of the material which he had been working with. This led him to look into the matter and he found that a taste like that of licorice was noticeable.

Matting Hats.

Use the mats that come inside of tea chests, or buy a rice bag at a Chinese store. Cut out a circular piece the size you want your hat, and another circular piece the size of the crown from the middle of it. With the machine sew a narrow tape or piece of muslin around each raw edge to keep it from fraying, and line the rim with mulle, crepoline or cheesecloth, covering the edge as by a binding; fasten the small round piece to the rim by means of a full puff of the material, thus forming a "Tam O'Shanter" crown. Line it and affix strings.

Another Record Broken.

Ten days and two hours is now the record from Bombay to Brindisi. The Peninsular and Oriental steamer Caledonia, which held the previous record, made it on April 8. The time includes all stops and the transit through the Suez canal.

One True Admirer.

"Oh, but I am," confessed Timmins. "She is good for at least three jokes and a poem every week."

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. HITTING CANADIANS HARD.

Passage of a U. S. Law That Aims a Blow at the Ferriage Business.

Special to The Times

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept 21.—July 1st last a new law went into effect requiring every foreign boat doing ferriage between international points to pay 20 cents every time it touches an American point, and also to fill a manifest with the United States customs officer. The fee must be paid regardless of the number of passengers.

This new law will most seriously effect the Maid of the Mist Steamboat Company. Its boat comes to this side every half hour during the season, and this means a tax of from $4 to $5.

The law also concerns owners of row boats who can no longer bring passengers from Queenston and Niagara-on-the-lake to Youngstown and Lewiston, unless they pay 20 cents a trip. All United States customs officers have been notified to the law and been instructed to see it obeyed.

THE FRENCH TREATY.

Great Britian Has Evidently Forgotton all About It.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—When questioned today as to what has become of the French Treaty, which has been hanging fire for months, Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that it is out of the hands of Canada. "The Imperial Government," he said, "has been notified that we are ready to proclaim it and we are waiting an answer." Since the last Communication a general election has intervened and the prospects are that the matter has been pigeon-holed. A remonstrance will be forwarded to the imperial authorities.

By Way of Canada.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Nearly 200 Russian Jews arrived in this city on the Norwich line steamer City of Lawrence yesterday. The Jews are all immigrants, and have been in this country only two days. They entered by way of Canada.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland st., Toronto, Ontario.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

More Tramps Hanging Around.

The police were notified last night that six tramps were hanging around Burnham's Point. The town is still infested with them, and they are becoming very bold in their demands for food.

Bates' Bread Wagons

Not only contains the best bread made, but also a good supply of buns and cakes, suitable for the most delicate tables. Why not have the best? It costs no more. Walter Bates, manufacturer.

A Disgraceful Affair.

A disgraceful fight took place at 8.30 last night in the rear of the post office. Two young men engaged in a sanguinary fistic encounter, and rained blows on each other until one of them was prostrated. A crowd of about 25 or 30 looked on and cheered the belligerents.

The Proposed Lock Works.

Negotiations between the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company and gentlemen in town have been continued since the announcement of the visit of some of the directors here, and matters have now about reached a stage where Port Hope's terms are likely to be satisfactory to the Company.—Port Hope Guide.

The Gray Trial.

The trial of the Grays will probably begin on Wednesday morning. At this time it is impossible to say how long the trial will last. There are 30 witnesses summoned but the examination of these might be done in two days or stretched out for over a week. The Times will publish a full report of the trial, and the evidence in as complete a form as possible.

The Ages of Man.

The soldier's age is cour-age; the shopman's age is till-age; the gambler's age is cribb-age; the doctor's age is pill age; the traveller's age is lugg age; the lover's age is cott-age; the lawyer's age is dam-age; the preacher's age is verbi-age; the drunkard's age is rumm-age; the cook's age is pott-age; the German's age is saus age; but the best and worst is marri-age.

Mr. Sproule in Lindsay.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. George B. Sproule, Peterborough's well-known photographer, is in town and has a magnificent tent on the market square which is fixed up like a studio. Mr. Sproule has for several years been the sole judge of photographs at the Toronto exhibition, and all who have seen his work have been highly pleased. He has a large gallery in Peterborough and is taking in a few of the principal towns in the neighborhood displaying his work and also taking photos in the tent.

It Is a Shame.

Mr. Pluard of Harvey paddled to the village the other day and reported naving seen the carcas of a deer lying on the shore of Green Bay. Several went down to see it, and found not one but two fine bucks. The largest had a horn knocked off, and shot wounds were seen in the neck. At this season, in the red coat, they sink when killed. It is supposed that those who killed them had been towing them to shore, and some other boat coming in sight, the deer had been dropped. They had been in the water about a week when washed up on the shore.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Funeral of Mr. Joseph Daly.

The remains of the late Joseph J. Daly, proprietor of the Daly House, Toronto, and formerly of Peterborough, were conveyed to the Union station, Toronto, at 4.35 Saturday afternoon for removal to Lindsay. A large number of friends were present. The Toronto pallbearers were Chas. Scholes, Ed. Clancey, Chas. Sleeman, Chas. Campbell, Geo. A. Weese and Harry Towns. James Daly, of Orillia, Edward Daly, of Lindsay, and other relatives accompanied the body to the latter place. Sunday afternoon at 2 30 the funeral took place from the residence of the deceased's brother, Lindsay.

A Mysterious Pair.

Senor and Madame de Ovies, of Oviedo, Spain, the mahatmas, will appear in the opera house tonight in their mysterious performance of mind reading and second sight, which is truly wonderful. Any one sending a question in a sealed letter to the Senor's hotel, will have the question answered correctly at the evening performance, no matter what it may be, or what it relates to. Blindfolded Senor Ovies can enter a buggy and drive to any spot you may think of, or where you have hidden anything, even if it be miles away. In Montreal the Ovies created a profound sensation. In Ottawa they were received by the very best families, and have in their possession invitations bearing the crests of people high in goverment circles. Their power is little short of the marvelous.

TRAMPS IN GAOL.

Four Captured at Havelock, But Not the Men Who Escaped.

County Constable Archie Moore, drove in from Norwood yesterday morning with four tramps whom he had captured at Havelock on Saturday night.

On Saturday morning Magistrate Edmison received word from the C.P.R. superintendent at Smith's Falls, that four tramps had just reached Havelock. One of them bore a scalp wound which led to the belief that they were the men who had given battle to the constables at the Ashburnham brickyard on Monday last. They had strengthened this suspicion by enquiring if a posse of Peterborough police had visited Havelock.

Constable Moore was directed to go to Havelock at once and he left on the noon train. After considerable search, he found four tramps, but they were not the men whom he and the posse had been chasing. He arrested them, however, took them to Norwood, and drove from Norwood to Peterborough yesterday morning. The tramps were lodged in the gaol, and will have a hearing today.

CONTROLS THE PLANETS.

The Insane Man Calls for his Draft at an Insurance Office.

A few days ago a man who gave his name as F. C. Gimble called at an Insurance Company's office, and stated that he had four hundred million dollars on deposit in the British American Bank Note Co., Ottawa, and drew up a draft for $12,000, and said he would call again for the amount. He showed up Saturday morning and asked the clerk if the money had arrived. The latter informed the crank the draft had not been honored. He asked Gimble how he had come to amass such a fortune. The man replied that he was supporting the planets, moon and stars, for the bank at Ottawa, that he could not do it on "wind," and the bank now owed him four hundred millions. He could not understand why they had not sent the money. However, he said, he would consult his solicitors, and attempt to collect it by legal process. The man was shabbily dressed, and was insane.

WINS HIS CASE.

Mr. R. Mulholland Successful in a Suit at Cobourg.

Mulholland vs. Battell, was the second case to occupy the attention of a jury at the Cobourg Assizes last week. In 1885 it appears that Mr. Robert Mulholland, now of Peterborough, held a judgment against Mr. Wm. Battell, of this town, for some $2,500 on which in different ways Battell had paid about $1,300 according to Battell or about $1,100 according to Mulholland. In November of that year Battell made further arrangements for paying Mulholland $140 a year for five years netting in all $700. Battell contended that Mulholland accepted this in full satisfaction of his claim, and that this was their agreement. In the year 1893 Battell received a letter from Mr. Mulholland's solictor, requesting further payments, but these were refused on the ground that nothing more was owing. In the spring of this year, proceedings were taken by Battell before J.H. Dumble, the Local Master, to have the judgment held by Mulholland declared satisfied. The Master decided in Battell's favor and on appeal by Mulholland to Chief Justice Meredith, an issue between the parties was directed to be tried at the Cobourg Assizes to decide whether Mulholland had made such an agreement and whether it had been satisfied. The trial occupied the better part of two days, and attracted the closest attention of a crowded court room who watched the proceedings with great interest. The conduct of the case on both sides was marked by great thoroughness, and the addresses of the counsel were unusually able and clear. After being out about twenty minutes the jury returned with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.—Cobourg World.

A PALATIAL STORE.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull's New Store Combines Spaciousness with Elegance.

The new dry goods and millinery establishment of Mr. J. C. Turnbull is nearly completed, and is undoubtedly one of the most commodious, convenient and elegant stores in the Province of Ontario, comparing most favorably with similar establishments in either Toronto or Montreal. It is certainly a credit to Peterborough and a substantial proof of the enterprise and business sagacity of its energetic proprietor.

A wonderful transformation has been wrought in a remarkably short space of time in J. C. Turnbull's store. The storeroom formerly occupied by Mr. T. Kelly has been taken in and the two opened up into one large and commodious department, having extensive frontage both on George and Simcoe streets. The exterior presents a handsome appearance with its new plate glass show windows, and artistic coloring, but it is the interior of the new departmental store that has been so elegantly and palatially fitted up into departments, and stocked with new goods admitting of a selection in style and quality, seldom found outside of the larger cities.

The three floors of the large, new store have a uniform area 35 x 90 feet, allowing ample room for the convenient and artistic arrangement of the several departments, the display of goods, and commodious passageways for the crowds that fill the store to inspect and purchase. From main floor to roof the fittings and equipment are of the most magnificent character and give the store a very elegant appearance. The woodwork is grained a light oak, brilliantly polished, and the ceilings and walls are richly papered.

The fittings are unique and novel as well as highly ornamental and afford the most advantageous display of the goods. On the main floor is 80 feet of counters, made of wood and glass, combining counter and show case in one. These are decidedly novel and can not be seen in any other store in Peterborough. They were manufactured especially for Mr. Turnbull, by the Dominion Art Wood Works Company, of Toronto Junction, the firm which received the $122,000 contract for the woodwork of the Provincial Parliament buildings.

An ever increasing business necessitated the enlarging of his old premises, and in this connection it is gratifying to note the march of progress and success which has attended Mr. Turnbull's business career in Peterborough—a career of over 14 years. The present new store is a tribute to his business ability, enterprise and energy, and also a creditable addition to Peterborough's splendid business houses. The public will appreciate the efforts Mr. Turnbull has put forth to give them a truly metropolitan store, where metropolitan conveniences can be enjoyed and where goods can be purchased, equal in quality, selection and price, to those to be had in the larger cities.

Cricket Grounds, Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Play was resumed at 11.10 Saturday morning in the international cricket match between the Oxford-Cambridge English team and All-Philadelphia, with Bruce and Hill yesterday's not outs, of the English team, at the bat. When play was stopped Friday evening the Philadelphians had completed their innings for 234 runs, and the Englishmen had scored 80 runs, with a loss of two wickets. Bruce had 10, not out, and Hill 39 not out. Hill had added only 2 runs to his score when he was caught at point by Noble off Bailey. Score, 89—3—41.

The heat was as intense as yesterday, but more people are present on the grounds at the same hour Friday and it is probable from ten to fifteen thousand spectators were here this afternoon. In the first ten minutes of the play the Englishmen increased their scores from 80 to 90, but did so at a loss of Hill's wickets. Hill played finely for his 41.

Bruce bowled—by King—score 110—4—30.

Phillips followed and was bowled by King—score 112—5—2. Milligan followed—Wilson caught by Wood off Bailey—score 123—6—11. Robinson caught by Noble, bowled by King—130—7—3. Arkwright next. Milligan caught by Coates, bowled by King—139—8—14. Lowe next was caught by Wood, off King—150—9—8. Hartley was bowled by King on his first ball. All out for 156. Arkwright not out, 9; extras 15. The Englishmen batted an hour and twenty five minutes. The bowling of King was very effective and the fielding of the Phillies was sharp. The Englishmen failed to equal the score of the Philadelphians first innings by 78 runs.

The crease was rolled and the Philadelphians at 1 o'clock went to the bat for their second inning with Patterson and Noble the first men up. Noble was bowled by Milligan. Score—37—1—14. Patterson not out, 18; extras 5. Wood was bowled by Milligan, 63—2—8. Coates next was caught of Milligan, 69—3—0.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION
THANKS!
MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate Oak Hall to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

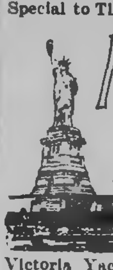
THE BRITISH CHALLENGER

"THE DISTANT SHORE" IS THE NAME OF THE BRITISH YACHT.

The Prince of Wales Greatly Interested in the Latest Challenge—Probabilities for Another International Race Very Fair.

Special to The Times.



NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—That there will be a race for the America's Cup next year is now accepted as a certainty. The New York Yacht Club awaits only the formal challenge from Charles Day Rose, the English sportsman, who sent an informal challenge by cable on Friday. It will come through the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, of Ryde, Eng., of which Mr. Rose is a member.

No challenge was received at the New York Yacht Club yesterday, and one is not expected for several days.

THE PRINCE OF WALES INTERESTED.

The impression prevails that the Prince of Wales is largely responsible for this last challenge. It is known that he felt disappointed at the outcome of the races between the Defender and the Valkyrie III, and deplored the fact that the yachting contests between England and the United States for the cup were likely to be discontinued.

According to a cable received from London, the Prince of Wales and several prominent yachtsmen have formed a syndicate to build a yacht to beat the world. The preliminaries have been arranged, but nothing will be known definitely until the end of October.

AN INTERNATIONAL RACE.

HALF-RATERS ETHEL WYNN AND SPRUCE IV. OVER A TWELVE MILE COURSE.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 23.—The indications of the early morning were much the same as those of Saturday, and the yachtsmen who waited for the purpose of seeing the first race of the match for the Seawanhaka international challenge cup, between the half-raters Ethel Wynn, of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, and Spruce IV., the English boat, looked worried. But before 10 o'clock the hopes of the anxious were raised by the appearance of a ripple come over the sound from the northwest, and the prospect of a race loomed up into quite respectable proportions. The course is a run of three miles out before the wind, from the center island buoy, and repeat, making a total of twelve miles.

THE START.

CENTER ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 23.—On board Naptha launch Titania; The preliminary signal was fired at 12.30, the preparatory signal at 12.40, and the starting signal at 12.45. Ethel Wynn got over the line first and started away on the run before the wind. Spruce IV. followed eight seconds later. Both set their spinnakers immediately. The English boat succeeded in blanketing the Yankee and at 1.05 p.m. she had run by Ethel Wynn. Course northeast by east; wind five miles an hour.

SCHOOL GIRL ELOPES.

Aroused Over the Disappearance of Charles Nabb and 14-Year Old Maggie Perry.

Special to The Times

BRIDGETON, N. J., Sept. 23.—Intense excitement prevails here over the fact that Charles Nabb, aged forty-five years, eloped on Friday with pretty Maggie Perry, a school girl of fourteen. Nabb was released from jail recently in $1,000 bail on the charge of stealing oysters at Bivalve. It is rumored that he has a wife and three children living in Camden.

It was learned here last night that Nabb arrived at Long Reach Friday and exhibited a marriage certificate purporting to have been signed by a minister in Millville, by whom he and the little girl were married. Her parents, who live at Long Reach, say they will have him arrested if possible.

Nabb and the child, who is well developed for her age, have frequently been seen together of late. Friday Nabb hired a horse and buggy and was seen driving in the direction of the woods shortly before noon. Soon afterward the girl was seen to enter the woods at another point. She was in the habit of carrying a lunch to school, but claimed yesterday that she was going home to dinner. She joined Nabb in the woods and from there they drove to Millville.

MOWBRAY IN BAD ODOR.

The English Anarchist Denounced by Chicago Trades Unionists.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Chas. Wilfred Mowbray, the English anarchist who came to this country for the purpose of teaching his doctrines of red flag and no government, was stopped in the middle of a speech yesterday at Belmont Park by the police. He was so badly frightened that after a few words of explanation, in which he said that he did not mean to teach violence, he hurriedly left the platform and made his escape. Mowbray has been disappointed on all sides since he has been in the city. The Trades and Labor Assembly, the recognized central labor union, denounced him at its last meeting, and the attendance at the park was very small.

MRS. LANGTRY'S LOSS.

No Doubt as to the Truth of the Great Jewel Robbery.

Special to the Times

LONDON, Sept. 23.—There are excellent reasons for affirming that the story of the theft of Mrs. Langtry's jewels is really true. Not only that, but her estimate, fixing their value at $200,000, is probably not exaggerated. It was not surprising that the Scotland Yard authorities were very skeptical when the robbery was first reported to them, but they are now satisfied that the great theft really did take place. There is no clue as yet to the clever thieves, and there are small chances that Mrs. Langtry will ever recover either the jewels or their value. The bank is clearly not liable for it held the deposit as a favor and without knowledge of the contents or the box.

Wm. Kyle Sent for Trial.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 23.—Wm. Kyle, of Toronto, who was charged with attempting to bribe one of the last year's council, was given a preliminary hearing by the police magistrate on Saturday. He was committed for trial and allowed out on bail.

WIGGINS STILL TALKS.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Prof. Wiggins has still great faith in his storm. He has advised ocean steamship companies to hold over their vessels this week and many are acting on his suggestion. The professor says we would have had the storm on Saturday but for the vast body of atmosphere which has resisted its progress. We have experienced the ante-cyclone in the intense heat of the past few days, caused by the intensification of the sun's rays passing through the greater body of atmosphere forced upon the continent by the coming storm.

"I see," said the professor this morning, "that storm signals have been ordered up all over the continent. Twenty minutes before that was done the observations reported that there was no prospect of a storm. It has started, and when it comes it will last a week. Any vessel on the ocean during this storm will have a hard struggle for existence."

DIVORCE PLANNED.

A Woman, Tired of Her Husband, Said to Have Made Use of an Infamous Scheme.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—It is claimed by the friends of Hattie Westervelt, aged fourteen years, a member of the Methodist church at Butler, N.J., and a girl of exemplary character, that she has been made the victim of a designing woman. Hattie is under bail on the charge of being unduly intimate with John Mead, the husband of the woman referred to.

Hattie says, in an affidavit, that Mrs. Mead confided to her that she was in love with a young man named Cook, and wanted to get a divorce from her husband. She wanted Hattie to help her, and the latter in her girlish way, consented. Mrs. Mead had an affidavit drawn and the girl signed it without having any knowledge of the contents of the document. It was a confession of guilt, and Mrs. Mead caused the girl's arrest. Hattie's father has begun civil and criminal actions against Mrs. Mead.

WIFE HURLED DOWN AN AIR-SHAFT.

Tragic Result of a Drunken Quarrel at Home.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Philip Ryan went to his home at 347 West Forty seventh street, Saturday night and engaged in a quarrel with his wife, Margaret, which resulted in her death.

Ryan had worked all day driving an ash cart for the street cleaning department, but he had got enough liquor to make him drunk and quarrelsome. Soon after he entered neighbors heard him shout at his wife. Mrs. Ryan's voice was heard pleading for mearcy.

Then there was a rumbling noise and a clatter of broken dishes, and then came piteous appeals for help. Then followed a crash of breaking glass and the woman's body shot down the airshaft, past the four lower floors to the ground. Nearly every bone in her body was broken by the fall and she was dead when picked up.

STRUCK GAS!

The Inhabitants of Iberville, Que., Jubilant Over the Discovery.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—During the past week workman have been digging an artisan well at the back of the Court House at Iberville, Que. When they had reached a depth of 123 feet a pump and plunger was put in and the water immediately began to flow. The workmen noticed, however, that the plunger even when not worked by power, kept going up and down. Mr. A. G. Corriveau, a prominent resident of the town, was sent for to elucidate the mystery. He at once suspected the presence of natural gas, and putting a lighted match to the head of the well a flame immediately burst forth. The flame which burned six feet high, gave out an intense heat and light and the townsfolk are jubilant over the discovery. At Mr. Corriveau's suggestion an expert is to visit Iberville to ascertain if the gas discovery will not prove valuable.

TORTURED HIMSELF.

Train Robber Perry Jabs Needles Into Both His Eyes.

Special to the Times.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Ever since Oliver Curtis Perry, the train robber, returned from Mattawan to a closely guarded cell in Auburn prison, he has been in a morose mood, varied by frequent outbreaks of violence. The most desperate act he has ever attempted was committed Tuesday. He procured a short stick, through which he trust two saddler's needles the same distance apart as his eyes and then prodded his eyes with the sharp points. He was put under the influence of chloroform, when it was discovered that the needles had not yet destroyed the sight of either eye, but the result will probably be blindness of one or both eyes. Perry believed if he put out both of his eyes and became blind the Governor would commute his sentence. The prison officials are more than ever of the opinion that Perry is insane.

MANY DISAPPOINTED.

Toronto Fair Visitors Hoped to See the Manufacture of a Well-Known Product.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Many regrets were expressed by visitors to the Industrial Fair that the Dodd's Medicine Company of this city did not have a display of their well-known Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy which has by this time become so widely and favorably known for the absolute cure of all complaints of the kidneys even in the most acute stages. A rumor was current that a public exhibition of the manfacture of the remedy would be given, but the restricted space this year prevented the possibility of such a scheme. Those who went away disappointed at not seeing the manufacture of their favorite remedy will have to wait till next year.

BRIEF WIRELETS.

Seven persons were drowned in the lake at Geneva, N. Y., by the sinking of a yacht which was run down by a steamer.

William J. Hollis, formerly private secretary for Sir Joseph Hickson, has been jailed at Boston for robbery.

The large buildings of the Rochester, N. Y. Vulcanite Pavement Company were burned to the ground at 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

AN AWFUL LANDSLIDE.

SAD STORY OF DEATH FROM THE CHAMPLAIN RIVER.

Special to the Times.

THREE RIVERS, Que. Sept. 23.—A land slide of large extent occurred on Saturday night at nine o'clock, on the Champlain river, at St. Luc, in the county of Champlain, carrying with it the house of Zephirin Norman and burying five members of the family in its ruins. Three other children, who heard the noise, escaped by jumping through the windows. One of them has become insane by the calamity. The five dead bodies have been dug out. The river is completely blocked, and other landslides and an inundation are feared.

FIXING GRAIN STANDARDS.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—A number of grain men met at the Board of Trade Saturday to strike the Ontario Grain Standard. Messrs. H. M. Baird, T. Flynn, J. Spink and John Carrick, represented Toronto; A. L. Thompson and J. A. McGee, Montreal; R. R. Morgan, Hamilton; C. Hunt, London; and W. Brodie, Quebec. Very little difference exists between this year's standard, as decided by the meeting, and that of last year, save as to barley, which is below last year's in color.

ZOUAVES AT QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Sept. 23.—In all the Roman Catholic churches in this city today solemn services were held for the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope. In the evening the Pontifical Zouaves attended service in Notre Dame des Victoires Church. His Emminence Cardinal Taschereau, Rev. Mr. Faguy, the St. Jean Baptiste Society and Institute Canadienne sent cablegrams to His Holiness, Pope Leo XIII, expressing their sympathy and hoping that he would soon regain his freedom. Appropriate answers were received from Cardinal Rampolla.

SUED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

HAMILTON, Sept. 23.—Scott, Lees and Hobson, acting on behalf of the Dominion Government, have issued a writ against Fairgrieve & Son, of this city, for compensation for damages done to one of the locks on the Welland Canal by the steamer Arabian, on Oct. 22nd.

CASUALTIES AT BLOOMFIELD.

BLOOMFIELD, Sept. 23.—Watson McQuaig's house with all its contents has been destroyed by fire. The family just barely escaped with their lives. Loss pretty well covered by insurance.

Christopher Lawson was kicked by a horse yesterday and received such injuries that his life is despaired of.

A FARMER KILLED.

ST. RAYMOND, Que., Sept. 23.—While Hector Jauvin, farmer, of St. Raymond, was coming home from his farm with a load of grain he was coming up a steep hill, and he attempted to hold the load to let his horses rest, but the load backed down and the wheels passed over his body and he died about an hour afterwards.

HENRY M. STANLEY GOES WEST.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 23.—After a stay of several days in Winnipeg, Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, left here last night over the Canadian Pacific for the Canadian Rockies. Mr. Stanley will spend a couple of days in the mountains hunting and fishing with a party of gentlemen who have arranged to join him. His travelling companion west is the Hon. Charles Mackintosh, Governor of the Northwest Territories. It is understood that Mr. Stanley has been commissioned by the King of the Belgians to report on the Canadian Northwest country as a place for Belgians to emigrate.

SUICIDE AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, Sept. 23.—A young man named Joseph Veget committed suicide by shooting last night. His body was found early this morning by some men engaged in herding horses on McDougall street. He had sat down and leaned against the fence. The revolver was found by his side. He was unmarried and about 34 years old. Despondency is supposed to be the cause. He was employed by the Grand Trunk as a yardsman.

KILLED BY A HORSE.

ST. EUGENE, Sept. 23.—A boy named Zepherin Labrosse, aged 13, was killed today by the kick of a horse's knee. The unfortunate boy was in the act of untying the horse which had been put in a shed for the purpose of taking a drive. He was the son of Simon Labrosse, an ex M.P.

PATHETIC BUT COWARDLY.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—Thomas Pratt, who came to Manitoba from Toronto, and committed suicide at Carbery a few days ago, left the following pathetic letter, addressed to his son, Mr. T. G. Pratt:—Otterbourne, Sept. 15, 1895. My Dear Tom,—My strength has failed me, and I am not able to do my work. I have no intention of being a burden to either you or the girls. You must do your best for your mother and the children now that I am taken from you. I trust that God will help and preserve you. I hope that your health will not fail you in this country as mine has. I remain your loving father. T. H. Pratt.

FOR DEEP WATERWAYS.

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly For October.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY for October is an exceptionally beautiful number pictorially, without any sacrifice of that quality of timeliness which makes it unique amongst illustrated magazines. The opening article is an idyllic description, by Mrs. Leicester-Addis, of a Summer holiday visit to old England's loveliest county, Surrey, with a description of the stately manor of Deepdene, upon which the present American Duchess of Marlborough has spent large sums of money to good, purpose. Apropos of this year's tercentennial Tasso celebration, there is a symptahetic and elaborately illustrated paper on "The Last Days of Torquato Tasso," by Marie Walsh. Another Italian contribution of rare artistic interest is Miss E. C. Vansittart's description of Monte Oliveto Maggiore, to which are appended some "Souvenirs of Siena," by the late John Addington Symonds. Other picturesque features are; "Women as Athletes," by W. de Wagstaffe; "Burmese Women," by H. Fielding; "Light-Givers," by Mary Titcomb; "Town and Cloth Halls of Flanders," by Alexander Ansted; "Widowed Sovereigns," by A Oakey Hall; and "Alpine Soliders," by Henry Tyrrell. This number also contains some unusually interesting short stories and poems.

The New Juvenile.

The first number of the new juvenile monthly magazine, FRANK LESLIE'S PLEASANT HOURS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS' will appear September 25th. It will contain a feast of good things for young people, and will be profusely illustrated. A particularly attractive feature will be the opening chapters of a serial story by Edward S. Ellis.

THE QUEBEC GERRYMANDER.

Now it is the Regina Leader which revives the story that Quebec is to be gerrymandered next session. In the course of prodding up the Toronto Globe, it says that "there is certain to be a redistribution of seats in Quebec before the next general elections, and the result must be to add to the number of Conservative members." This is a remarkably frank statement. Surely the astute Davin has left the Leader leaderless. There is now no constitutional reason nor constitutional precedent for a redistribution of the Quebec constituencies; and the reason at which the Leader more than hints will hardly be accepted by fair minded people. And for the Government to single out Quebec for dismemberment, leaving Ontario and the Maritime Provinces untouched, would persuade many that the Leader's "reason" had prevailed.

More than that, it would be a most difficult thing to carry a gerrymander so late in the life of a Parliment. The Globe confidently remarks on this point: "If next session there is proposed a redistribution of Quebec which is unfair to the Liberals, it will not be a case of tears at all. The bill will simply not be allowed to pass, and the Liberals will rather enjoy the fun which the effort will occasion. Things have changed since 1882, as our contemporary will find if a Quebec edition of the gerrymander is attempted."

This smells of fight; and the Liberals would be as foolish not to fight such a measure as the Government would be to fasten the attention of the country on a struggle of this kind just on the eve of an election.

Clara Ford has taken to the stage, and fills a male part in one of the melo-abominations that abound these days. The girl was pitied by some while under trial for the murder of Frank Westwood, but she is more in need of pity in her present life than at any other period of her career

THE WALLED HERD.

STRANGE STORY OF AN INACCESSIBLE BAND OF CATTLE.

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Wher Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipice Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 7l miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river. They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 80 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus for the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase to a point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 80 feet. The ghastly reminder and relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and reaches that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they lie for warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this cow garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

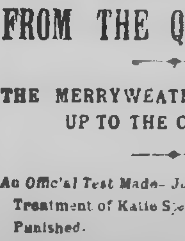
FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

THE MERRYWEATHER ENGINE NOT UP TO THE CONTRACT.

An Official Test Made—John Leroy's Heartless Treatment of Katie Steinle—A Bicycle Thief Punished.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The contract between the City of Toronto and the Merryweather Fire Engine Company regarding the purchase of a fire engine called for these conditions:

1. That would raise 100 lbs. of steam in ten minutes.
2. That it would throw a vertical stream 200 feet through a 1 13 16 inch nozzel.
3. That it would weigh 5,250 pounds.

AN OFFICIAL TEST.

The other tests having proved unsatisfactory another official test was held this morning at the old sugar refinery on the Esplanade at the foot of Sherborne street. The experts present were John J. Northey, W. H. Robb, John Fensom, City Engineer Keating and Chief Graham. The engine did not come up to the first requirement. There were only 28 pounds of steam up ten minutes after the word had been given to start and the 100 pounds was not raised until 1 min. and 57 sec. later. The times and weights were: 5 min. 10 lbs.; 9 min. 20 lbs.; 10 3 4 min. 30 lbs.; 11 min. 45 lbs.; 11 17 60 min. 50 lbs.; 11 54 60 min. 100 lbs.

THREW A VERTICAL STREAM 172 FEET.

Test number two was made against the tall chimney which stands over the center of the building. After a dozen or so attempts had been made the consensus of opinion of the experts was that the engine threw a stream 12 feet higher than the chimney, which is 154 feet high. This, together with six feet allowed for the suction distance between the engine and the bay, brought the height of the stream up to 172 feet. A strong wind was blowing from the west at the time, sending the spray some four hundred feet to the eastward, and the experts thought that this would account for the difference between the test and the specifications.

The company has not lived up to the third condition, as the machine weighs by itself 8,330 pounds. With firemen and coal on board it will nearly reach four tons and a half dead weight.

MAY BE A BIGAMIST.

A story involving the good name and happiness of a young lady who lives on Ontario street has just come to light. The persons who are most intimately connected with the affair is Miss Kate Steinle, a 17 year old girl, whose parents reside at 8 Ontario street, and John Leroy, a son of Mrs. Leroy, of 46 Grove avenue, in Parkdale, and Mrs. John Leroy, who, if the story is true, might with propriety be called Mrs. John Leroy, No. 1.

On the 17th of August Kate Steinle crossed the lake to Niagara Falls. On her return she informed her parents that she was married and produced a marriage certificate. On Sept. 2 Miss Steinle disappeared, presumably with Leroy, and the other wife has been found at 453½ Yonge street, deserted and penniless.

A BICYCLE THIEF.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—James L. Kemp's trial in the Sessions on a charge of stealing a bicycle from Ned Sullivan, hotel keeper, King street east, ended in a verdict of guilty. Kemp has lived in the city until recently, when he moved out to the village of Mount Albert. He has been travelling to and fro between there and Toronto and has been riding different wheels. He is an intimate friend of Thomas Newton, who was tried for alleged pocket picking. He has still to be tried on two other charges of bicycle stealing. County Constable Parish Steeper showed extraordinary shrewdness in effecting Kemp's capture; had a long chase and ran his man down in a cornfield.

MANY DEATHS FROM HEAT.

Yesterday's Record in Chicago—What Twenty Four Hours Did.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The intense heat of the past week has caused one or more deaths and many prostrations daily, but yesterday's eclipsed all others. For the 24 hours ending at eight o'clock last night the death roll numbered 51, 47 of the number, however, being children under five. The thermometer has hovered around the 91 mark for a week, and the excessive humidity has made the heat all the more unbearable.

German Soldiers Killed.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—A railway train with 1,200 soldiers on board, came into collision with a freight train standing at the station at Oederan, Saxony, last evening, demolishing a number of cars of both trains. Twelve soldiers were instantly killed and sixty were injured. Many others are missing.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

DOLL FURNITURE.

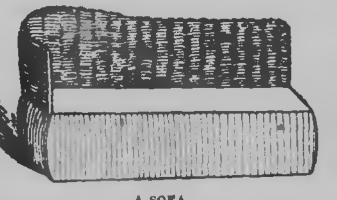
A child is happiest when he is busy, and the mother who can invent little pastimes and everyday amusements will greatly add to the happiness of the nursery. One of the most ingenious and at the same time one of the simplest and easiest amusements is the manufacture of cork furniture for dolly's housekeeping. The first thing to do is to collect a number of old corks. These may be of various styles and sizes, from the tiny stopper of the diminutive medicine vial to the large and ungainly cork of each two gallon vinegar jug or the large flat mushroomlike cork of the marmalade jar.



A SOFA.

These will all come into request for the different styles and sizes of furniture, and the cook and housemaid should have instructions to lay them aside in a little box that they may afford material for the children's playhouse.

Perhaps the simplest article, and therefore the one on which the children should first try their skill, is the doll's chair. The cork can either be taken in its natural shape, in imitation of one of the old fashioned, round parlor chairs, or the sides can be trimmed into an almost cubical form. In either case the side of the cork and the top should be covered with small pieces of bright colored cloth, cut to the proper shape and size, and fastened down with a little mucilage or paste.

It is advisable to put on the circular or square piece of cloth for the seat first and then fasten the longer piece around the sides. Great care should be taken to have it fastened neatly with the gum. If the child possesses a box of paints, he can vary the style of his furniture by substituting a coat of paint for the cloth. And now to construct the chair back. This is done with pins, sticking them carefully into the back of the seat, arranging them to have the heads all even and as close together as possible.

Naturally, if your chair was left like this, the pins would come out more easily than if they were tied together. At this stage you will also need a good supply of some crochet cotton, which should be the same color as your cloth. Take the crochet cotton and wind it in and out of the pins, first securing the end to one of them.

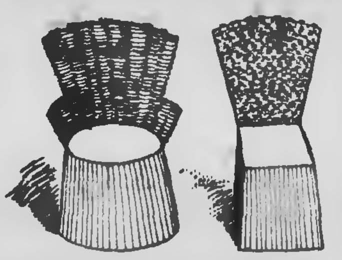
This gives you an ordinary sitting room chair. To make an armchair it is better to leave the cork in its natural round shape. The bottoms of the chairs must be quite flat, or else they will not stand properly. For the armchairs the pins must be put in a half circle. The thread is wound on the same way as on the other chairs. To make a sofa requires more time, and more difficult winding must be done. A long fresh cork must be used for the foundation.

Cut two slices, one larger than the other, off the two sides lengthways, and you will have a flat side for it to stand on, while the broader flat piece will form the seat of the sofa. Cut off a piece of cloth large enough to cover both the seat and side of the sofa and stick it on with gum, tucking in the corners neatly. Now get some small pins and stick them into one side of the seat and get some larger pins and put them at one end for the "head" of the lounge and wind the cotton in and out, as in the chairs.



AN ARMCHAIR—A SITTING ROOM CHAIR.

A little bed is made in much the same way as the sofa, covering it with cloth, but the pins must be put in at each end and not at the side.

To make a washstand the cork must be cut in half and the sides cut off, as in the bed and sofa. Cover it with cloth and stick a pin in each corner to serve as the legs.

By this time you will think of other things you can make out of cardboard and colored paper which will be quite pretty, and your dollhouse will be handsome enough for the most fastidious doll in dolldom.—Kindergarten in New York Mail and Express.

Little Milton and the Clock.

"Well, where will the hands of the clock be, then?" he asked.

His mamma pointed out the respective positions of the hands to indicate the sixth hour. Some time after the mother chanced to look at the clock and was surprised to find it all wrong. Remembering her conversation with Milton the Wise, she called him and inquired what had happened to the clock.

"Why, mamma," explained the boy, clapping his hands, and his eyes dancing with expectation, "I just run the hands around, so grandma would come right straight off!"

The same bright boy tells time in an entirely original way. He looks carefully at the clock and stretches out his little arms in the exact position of the hands. He will go to his mamma and say, "The little hand is here and the big hand is there." And so accurate is he in imitating that one can tell the time to a very few minutes.—Newark Call.

Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.
He rides on a horse that he never can tire,
On a road that's kept warm by the nursery fire,

And that's why so briskly this stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

INDIAN GAMBLERS.

Sometimes Whole Villages Are Impoverished by a Streak of Bad Luck—They Rely Upon Charms and Their Ability to Cheat—They Are Good Losers.

As eagerly as a duck flops into the water does an Indian jump into a game of chance. Unbounded belief in luck and perhaps the natural deviltry of the race make Indians inveterate gamblers. There is nothing in an Indian's possession that he will not readily wager on a game of chance. Nearly every noble red man is the possessor of an individual charm or fetich which enables him to do things that other Indians cannot do. This fetich is of value exclusively to the owner, and according to their belief would be of no use or advantage to any other Indian. No person besides the posessor knows what the fetich is and were it to become known it would immediately lose its power for good. No Indian will knowingly steal another Indian's fetich. Such theft vitiates the power of the thief's fetich and casts over him a hoodoo.

Having full faith in the ability of his charm to bring luck to him, the Indian never fails to place all his possessions in the balance when there is a bet on. If he loses, he takes it philosophically and attributes his bad luck to the greater power of his adversary's charm. If he wins, he has added faith in the power of his own charm. Indians have been known to wager all their earthly possessions, even to their squaws and children and tepees, on the fall of a stick in one of their games. Indian villages have become pauperized and dependent upon charity for months because the inhabitants bet everything they had on the result of games with other villages. Such occurrences were common several years ago, and were it not for the restrictions of government regulations would be so still.

Gambling is not a secret vice among the Indians. It is indulged in by all the members of the tribe, and the more expert the gambler the higher he stands in the estimation of his fellows. To have the fame of being a successful gambler causes an Indian to looked up to almost as much as if he were a successful warrior. There is no fear of shocking the morals of even the highest chief by proposing a game with him—in fact, the invitation pleases him. One point of advantage held by the red man over his white brother is in the fact that when he loses everything he possesses he is not much poorer than he was before, and he can readily recoup himself by making a raid upon some unfortunate white settler or upon a weaker tribe. The white man may commit suicide, but the Indian simply looks for a victim and seldom fails to find him.

Before the government tightened the moral lines on the Indians professional Indian gamblers were plentiful. Of late years their number has decreased rapidly. The most famous Indian gambler of today is Quelepah, a Comanche. His game is monte. He is about 80 years old, tall and straight, with a thin, narrow face. His eyes are sunken like those of a consumptive. He never smiles and seldom speaks. Like all Indian gamblers, his dress is rich in bright colors. He usually rides a white pony and is attended by two Apache Indians, both famous for deeds of prowess. He travels from village to village and from tribe to tribe. Everywhere he is well known. When his approach is made known, the Indians wait for him to appear, saving their money to play with him, for it is an Indian maxim that "in the game of Quelepah the play is honest, and the stakes are what you please."

Quelepah once appeared at the Cash creek village. He rode into the village shortly before sundown. One of his companions spread a bright red blanket on the ground. Quelepah knelt before it. As he settled down on his haunches and brought forth a new deck of Mexican monte cards the blanket was surrounded by Indians crouching three and four deep. And behind them stood other Indians eager for an opportunity to play. The long, lean fingers of Quelepah shuffled the cards with marvelous rapidity. The interest in the game waxed as the light waned. Candles were procured as night fell and were fastened in sharp pointed green twigs stuck in the ground.

By their flickering light Quelepah could be seen paying his losses and pocketing his gains. He was both dealer and banker. Behind him on his right and on his left crouched his two Apache fellows. As dawn was breaking Quelepah looked about him. He had stripped all save two Indians. One of them was a heavy winner. Laying down $100 for each of them to cover, Quelepah announced that it was his last bet. The cards left were the queen and the deuce. Both Indians laid on the queen. The deuce won. Quelepah pocketed his money. The village, save for the two Indians, was penniless.

Squaws also are inveterate gamblers. It is a common sight to see a dozen squaws, young and old, their papooses lying neglected on the ground, crowded around an old shawl, busy over a 10 cent game of monte. Their play is persistent, and many of them are marvelously clever gamblers. But they seldom have money of their own sufficient to play for high stakes.

One peculiarity of Indian gambling games is their intricacy. In several tribes the writer has seen Indians playing games with sticks and stones for hours at a time. Notwithstanding the closest attention he has been unable to discover the system used, nor has he ever met a white man who could explain the game. There are several games of this kind, and among the Pacific coast tribes they are common.

In addition to his faith in his charm the Indian places great dependence on his ability to cheat. To the best cheat are accorded the highest honors when gambling is indulged in. There is never a thought of getting angry over deft tricks or unfair methods so long as the perpetrator is not caught in the act. If he is caught, he refunds his gains and is laughed at for clumsiness.

Since playing cards have become common, games taught by the whites and Mexicans are generally the favorites among the red men. Monte is played for large amounts. Sometimes an Indian with hundreds of dollars will become impoverished in a single evening by trying his luck against a skillful player. An especially deft monte dealer, more skillful even than Quelepah, has been known to go from tribe to tribe in the mountains of New Mexico and return home loaded down with his winnings. Many Mexican gamblers devote almost their entire time to traveling among the various tribes in the Sierras. They win large sums, but lose them again in Mexican cities.—Fort Sill (O. T.) Cor. New York Sun.

MARLBORO-VANDERBILT.

Engagement of the Young Duke to Miss Consulla Vanderbilt Announced—To be Married This Year.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Miss Consulla Vanderbilt, the daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, will, before the end of the year, become the Duchess of Marlborough.

The engagement was quietly announced by the families to the friends of the parties yesterday. It was confirmed beyond any question last evening. It will be performed in accordance with the ritual of the Protestant Episcopal Church, conforming with that of the Church of England. Bishop Potter will probably officiate, and the services, it is thought, will be in open church.

The Duke of Marlborough cabled the news yesterday morning to the members of his family and the intimate friends in England and the Continent. Included among those to whom the information was conveyed was the Prince of Wales, who is godfather to the Duke. It is expect that several of the intimate friends of the Duke will cross the Atlantic to be present at the wedding.

The acquaintance between the Duke and Miss Vanderbilt was formed in London about 18 months ago. During the last two London seasons and in Paris last spring they met frequently in society, and the friendship thus formed led to the entertainment of Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt at Blenhiem early this present summer.

It was but natural under the circumstances that when the Duke reached New York on his tour of the world that he should have received and accepted an invitation to visit the Marble House at Newport. The three weeks spent there gave him a pleasant insight into American manners and customs and resulted in the engagement.

The plans of the Duke of Marlborough has been changed by the engagement and approaching wedding. The tour of the world will be abandoned but he will devote some time in seeing America. Within a few days now he will join Sir Rivers Wilson, the recently elected president of the Grand Trunk, and a party on making a tour of that road. Thereafter he will join Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt either in this city or Newport, and without doubt participate in an extensive round of entertainments given in his honor and that of his fiancee. This will make him well acquainted with the friends of the Vanderbilt family before the date of the wedding.

Triplets in Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The wife of Mr. R. McDougall, 70 Shelborne street, has given birth to triplets, two boys and a girl. One boy died but the remaining two are healthy and vigorous. The Fitkin triplets which caused such a sensation in Toronto some time ago, are all in good health.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D, the great reformer, writes October [illegible], 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev Chas. S. Robinson, D D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

LATEST FROM LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence Morning Times.

THE FAIR.

The attendance at the Agricultural show here last week was good notwithstanding the somewhat threatening appearance of the weather. The entries in the various classes were numerous and the quality of the roots, fruits and vegetables has probably never been surpassed in this district. The cattle were not quite so large an exhibit as might have been expected nor were those exhibited in show in condition. The entries of horses were very large, but with a few notable exceptions the quality was not of a high class. The Lakefield band enlivened the proceedings with a number of selections, and the crowd stayed right on till the conclusion of the drawing contest, which was the last event on the program. The directors would add immensely to the comfort of the spectators if they would erect a grand stand with seating accommodation. The structure need not be expensive and the cost could easily be defrayed by making a small extra charge, say ten cents. To stand about for four or five hours while the various events are being decided, tends to weariness and vexation of spirit.

T. V. C.

Mr. McCarthy, the purchaser of three houses on the route of the canal through the village, commenced operations on Thursday last, and has removed Mrs. Snelgrove's house to a new location. GOBBLING UP LAND.

Alaskan Traders Getting the Titles to Valuable Water Fronts.

Special to The Times.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23—Numerous attempts are being made in Alaska to secure valuable land by perversion of the Act of 1891. The law provides the land for trading and manufacturing purposes may be taken up, but the maximum is fixed at one hundred and sixty acres, and there is a further provision that it be as nearly square as possible. Early in the present year A. P. Swineford, special agent, was sent to investigate. He is in the city on his return to Washington and says the traders are doing business in small log-shacks with about $200 worth of goods, trying to acquire title to all the water front on the harbor. They seem animated by a desire to take everything and it looks as though they wish to keep everybody on the land from getting on the water. Salmon canners have taken up land with a view to shutting out all future people who might desire to can salmon in a particular locality. Attempts also have been made to gobble up town sites under the provisions of this law.

WHISKEY EXPLODED

And Shattered a Car to Pieces—Two Men Injured.

Special to the Times.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 23.—The Big Four whisky train to the east met with a serious accident when near Leroy. A car of spirits coupled behind the caboose was discovered to be on fire and a fast run was made to the next water, where Conductor Joe Murphy and Brakemen John Muldoon made an effort to extinguish the flames. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and the car was blown to atoms, it being impossible afterwards to find a stick of timber six inches in length. The men were hurled some distance from the wreck, both being terribly burned, and there is small hope of their recovery.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Baseball Game.

The Indians of Chemong village defeated the Ennismore ball tossers at the Indian village on Saturday by the score of 16 to 15 in a nine innings game. The work of the Indians was very creditable, and with practice they will make most of the teams in the country hustle to beat them.

A Small Fire.

A fire originated in the defective chimney in a brick house, occupied by Mr. R. Binch on Weller street, caused the fire brigade to be summoned to the premises shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday. The seat of the fire was located in the garret and the introduction of water through a hole which was chopped in the roof, extinguished the flame before it had made any headway. The damage was slight.

Police Court Notes.

Danial Fawn, an Indian from Hiawatha, had to answer to the charge of being drunk at the police court yesterday morning. He was remanded until Saturday. John Solomon, a youthful Syrian, with a bowed head and a sad face, stood before the magistrate yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty to the charge of assaulting some young lads on their way to school, by applying a stick quite forcibly on different parts of their bodies. Several witnesses were called, but the young brown faced lad denied the correctness of the story. The magistrate found the boy guilty, and fined him $5 or 20 days. He will have to take the days. The other Syrians in the court did not keep quiet while the case was being heard, and had to be called to order by His Worship. Then one of them faced the Magistrate and ejaculated an amount of jargon, which gave the spectators some amusement.

Murphy Again Remanded.

Frank Murphy, a big, corpulent, red faced Irishman, stood in the prisoner's dock at the police court yesterday morning charged with carrying an offensive weapon, a revolver, and also with vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and elected to be tried by the Magistrate, who proceeded to hear the evidence. This was very contradictory. Wm. Green swore that Murphy pointed a revolver at him in the C. P. R. restaurant on Monday last, and Albert Field, who was bartender at the restaurant on that day, did not corroborate this, stating that he did not see Murphy with any weapon. The Chief of Police stated that he searched the prisoner on Burnham's Point, but found nothing in his possession of any importance. Murphy told the Chief he was a light weight prize fighter from England. County Constable Moore gave evidence, but he did not show that Murphy possessed a revolver, and the prisoner was remanded for one week.

THE FIRE IS ALL OUT.

HAVELOCK SAVED FROM WHAT AT ONE TIME APPEARED TO BE CERTAIN DESTRUCTION.

Fiercely Raging Bush Fires Set the Village on Fire in Dozens of Places—Peterborough Responds Nobly to the Call for Aid—Our Engine and Seven Men Sent Down.

HAVELOCK, 11.30 p.m.—(Special)—A bush fire which has been smouldering in the bush in the west part of the town was fanned into a high blaze by the high wind which was blowing today and threatened to destroy the western portion of the town but the men and women all turned out and fought it with buckets of water until the fire engine from Peterborough arrived at 2.50 p.m., having been telegraphed for.

The wind blew sparks all over the country and one of them caught in Mr. Andrew Corbett's house, and in a short time was in ashes, house insured but not the contents. Robert Douglas' house across the street also caught fire from sparks and was burned to the ground. No insurance.

The Methodist parsonage and church adjoining Mr. Corbett's were partly damaged by fire and water. The Swift Co's. ice house caught several times and was put out with great difficulty. After the fire engine from Peterborough arrived the men set to work with a will and with the assistance of the men from Peterborough they soon had the fire in the town under control and well under in the bush but not altogether subdued.

The fire in the winds is still burning but if the wind does not raise there is no more danger but if it should there is little hope of saving the western portion of the town as all the wells are dry now. The engine and men left here for Peterborough at 11 p.m., having done all they could to save the town.

Shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon Mayor Kendry received a message from Havelock asking the Peterborough Fire Brigade to come immediately to Havelock, as a fierce bush fire was raging there and threatened to sweep the village out of existence.

A special train consisting of an engine, flat car and caboose was already waiting at the C. P. R. station, and Mayor Kendry gave the necessary permission for the fire engine to go to the assistance of the railroad village, in charge of Chief Rutherford and Firemen Green, Moore, Yelland, Hayes, English and Gordon.

It only took a few minutes to load the engine on the flat car, and the special shot out from the depot under a full head of steam. The distance to Havelock, 27 miles, was covered in exactly 31 minutes, a very fast run.

When the firemen reached Havelock the engine was unloaded, and water was secured from a creek near the C. P. R. track. Men, women and children were fighting the bush fire, which raged fiercely, while huge volumes of smoke enveloped the village and filled the eyes of the fire-fighters. The bush extending from Havelock to Tweed, was one roaring mass of flames, and the high west wind blew showers of sparks and embers on the roofs of the houses, and dozens of houses caught fire, but were put out by the bucket brigade consisting of men and women, who passed along the water as it was taken from neighboring wells. A swamp in the centre part of the town caught fire, and this more seriously threatened the distruction of the dwellings at one time. When this was extinguished, all breathed easier, for it was felt that the most pressing danger was over.

The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the bush fire to the west, but only after a hard fight. When the Peterborough firemen left Havelock the village was out of danger, and the bush fire practically out. A special train was made up, and they reached Peterborough at 1 o'clock this morning, having rendered effective assistance to the village.

The authorities at Havelock were perfectly justified in sending to Peterborough for assistance, for at one time it looked as if the village was doomed. Fortunately the high wind subsided, allowing the fire-fighters a chance to check the onward march of the flames. At one time as many as 25 dwellings had caught from flying embers.

POLITICAL RUMOURS.

It is Said That Sir Oliver Mowat Thinks of Retiring.

It is said by some Liberals that the Conservatives in the Local Legislature have been making overtures to Patron Leader Haycock, looking towards a coalition. The prime reason of this new attitude of Mr. Marter's followers is, it is said, the rumor of Sir Oliver Mowat's illness. Word has come from England by way of Conservatives, that Sir Oliver has serious thoughts of retiring. The provincial Conservatives see in this retirement of the veteran Premier and the succession of Mr. Hardy, possibilities that may land them on the right side of the Speaker.

Mr. Haycock is in Frontenac, and none of the Patron members are in town today.

A city Liberal said this morning that he placed little confidence in the report of the coalition.

"I should not be surprised to see the Patrons coalesce with the next Government at Ottawa, be it Grit or Tory," said he. "If the Conservatives gain power again, and if the Patrons have a strong representation in the House, I think they would be disposed to come together on a tariff reduction."—Telegram.

STABBED AT TWEED.

Two Lads Fight and One Draws a Knife With Bloody Results.

TWEED, Sept. 23.—(Special).—On Sunday evening last about 9.30 o'clock a young man, George Houston, was stabbed above the knee by Master Fred Woodcock. The trouble started in the Salvation Army barracks, when Woodcock persisted in annoying Houston by attempting to cut buttons off his coat. On leaving the barracks Woodcock, who is only 14 years of age, attempted it again when Houston gave him a cuffing. In the fracas Woodcock drew a knife and stabbed Houston inflicting an ugly gash just above the knee. Houston was taken to his home, where the the wounds were dressed and where he will be compelled to remain some time. Woodcock was arrested at noon today and will be tried on Saturday.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Contractor Grant Assumes an Aggressive Front—Other Business.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held last night. There were present, Mayor Kendry, presiding and Councillors Cahill, Best, Phelan, Dawson, Clinkscale, Stone, Mason, Mills and Sawers. Town Solicitor Edwards was also in attendance.

From John Montgomery, asking for 2 weeks holidays. Committee on Appointments.

From R. Sheehy, applying for position of sewer inspector. Committee on Appointments.

From G. M. Roger, acting for John Pollock and his wife, stating that their conveyance had been injured owing to defects in Hunter street bridge, and asking council to reimburse his clients to the amount of repairs. Referred to Joint Committee with power to act in conjunction with town solicitor.

From M. McFadden, applying for position of sewer inspector. Committee on Appointments.

THE C. P. R. FREIGHT SHEDS.

Councillor Stone drew attention to the fact that the C.P.R. sheds still remained on Wolfe street property, prejudicing the rights of property owners. No notice had been taken of the council's letter to the C.P.R. in regard to the matter, and he urged that the council again inform the C.P.R. that something must be done.

Councillor Cahill didn't think the council should be a party to injuring anybody's property, no matter how little the value. The council should give the C.P.R. to understand that the sheds must be removed or the damage paid for.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Stone, the town solicitor was instructed to notify the C.P.R. that the council wanted an answer to the letter sent them some time ago.

Councillor Cahill asked about the Collector's roll. Was it completed and had it been placed in the Collector's hands?

The clerk replied that the roll had been completed a week ago. So far no collector had been appointed this year.

Councillor Cahill asked about the amount that Ashburnham owed the town. Had the clerk written the village council that the account must be paid? An Ashburnham councillor had told him the village didn't consider it owed the town anything.

The clerk replied that he had written the village clerk but that no notice had been taken of the letter.

Councillor Cahill then moved that the clerk write the Ashburnham council for an answer to that letter.

Councillor Phelan seconded the motion. He had spoken to an Ashburnham councillor in regard to the matter, and the councillor had treated it as a joke.

Unless the Ashburnham council comes to time, the council will resort to extreme measures, possibly the withdrawal of fire protection.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the finance committee:

Dickson Co'y..........	$44 60
J P. Hurley..........	1 95
C.P.R..........	3 60

An exhaustive discussion on sewer matters was indulged in. The building of a sewer from Townsend to Brock was under discussion; also the advisability of taking up the old sewer on George street, and the laying of two pipes, one on each side of the street, or one trunk sewer. The question will be thoroughly threshed out in Committee of the Whole on Wednesday night.

CONTRACTOR GRANT'S LETTER.

The Mayor was in receipt of a letter from Contractor Grant's solicitor, in which he stated that he would object to any interference with his contract work, or to a connection being made with his section of the sewer.

The Mayor had forwarded the letter to the town solicitor, who was present and defined Mr. Grant's contentions which were that the contractor thinks the council has no right to connect or use the sewer, unless he is relieved from his obligation to maintain the sewer in good condition for one year. He wasn't prepared to say that this contention was legal, but he gave it as his opinion that no court of law would uphold it.

Councillor Cahill said the contractor evidently intended to cause the town trouble and urge his contentions in the court. Since Mr. Grant had found that he hadn't a cinch on all the sewer work in the town, he had shown his claws. The council should be prepared to meet him on the same ground.

The Town Solicitor said that if Mr. Grant's contentions were legal it would be a serious matter for the town.

On motion the Town Solicitor was instructed to take charge of the matter.

Councillor Dawson stated that a coal oil house had been erected on city property. He wanted to know who gave the authority. It then transpired that no authority had been given. The matter was referred to Councillor Dawson to enquire into.

Councillor Sawers asked for power to have the city teams deliver charity wood on his order. It was granted.

Councillor Cahill made enquiries as to what was being done in reference to the Carbon Works.

The Mayor replied that a settlement would probably be made on Wednesday night whereby the Works would continue. The town's interests were being watched by the town solicitor in conjunction with the Property Committee.

The council then adjourned.

MILL OWNER ARRESTED.

On a Charge of Defrauding His Creditors—Who Fired the Mill?

The circumstances surrounding the destruction of William L. R. Terry's grist mill at Newcombe's Mills, in Northumberland county, were so suspicious that Detective Murray was detailed to inquire into the case. A young man, Edward Ackley, employed in the mill, was placed under arrest, and on Friday last came up for trial. The evidence presented by the Crown officer was very strong against the prisoner, and the jury, after three and one half hours' consultation, could not agree. The judge sent them back, and in one hour they brought in a verdict of acquittal.

In consequence of evidence given at the trial, Terry, who owned the mill, was arrested on a charge of defrauding creditors, and will be tried on this charge. It was stated in the evidence that Ackley had made a confession to a companion named Donald Wright that he had got a watch and some money to fire the mill.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The 15 mile bicycle road race at Hamilton was won by the Hamilton B. C. Palmer and Skerritt were first and second at the finish.

Fitzsimmons has agreed to attend a meeting seven days before the fight at Dallas, and to do his full share of what may be a most difficult job—the selecting of a referee. Fitzsimmons does not appear to be worrying over the fight or anything connected with it. He is in no great hurry to resume his training, and will not reach Corpus Christi, where his quarters are located, for fully a week.

That mystic time has come again of those unhallowed joys,
Which college youth assimilate with wild, barbaric noise—
The time of "flying wedges," of "tackles" and of "punts,"
Of "V," of "goals," of "downs" and eke of shrieks and groans and grunts.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish,

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION. DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

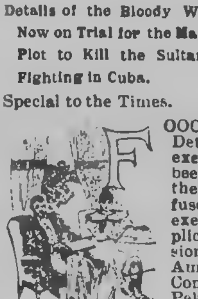
HOW SEVEN HEADS FELL

TO SATISFY FOREIGN DEMANDS FOR JUSTICE.

Details of the Bloody Work—Other Culprits Now on Trial for the Massacre of Kucheng—Plot to Kill the Sultan of Turkey—More Fighting in Cuba.

Special to the Times.



FOOCHOW, Sept. 24.—Details of Tuesday's executions have just been received. After the Mandarin had refused on Friday to execute any men implicated in the missionary massacres the American and British Consuls wired to Pekin. On Monday the Mandarin received the Viceroy's order to execute seven men. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning Consuls Hixson, Lieut. Evans and Mr. Gregory, the British Consul, proceeded to Yamen Gate, where two Mandarins sat awaiting them. When the foreigners took their seats the drums were beaten, a salute fired and the Crier shouted three times "The court is open."

Then the condemned men were brought speedily from their cells. They knelt before the Court and were tumbled, securely bound into bamboo cages, on which were attached pieces of paper with the sentence written on them. The Mandarins then put on their scarlets robes, scarlet hoods, and the death procession started for the execution grounds outside of the city, between lines of soldiers.

When the procession arrived, the condemned men were tumbled out and made to kneel with their backs to the Mandarines. Then the five headsmen began their bloody work. The first head fell clean-cut. When the heads of the seven men were cut off the vast crowd gave a great shout. The people clapped their hands and departed. The heads were hung in a prominent place in the city as a warning.

The Mandarins professed to fear further trouble from the crowd of foreigners, who went armed with revolvers, but there was no trouble. No leaders have been executed as yet. Some leaders, with strong backing, hope to escape. The Viceroy is delaying the execution of the others, hoping for a undeserved clemency. Punishment following the crime so soon is unusual after foreign troubles. The execution will have a good effect in showing the people that the matter is serious. Bad feeling was spread through the province because of the delays in execution. At Foochoo the common talk was that the men would escape.

The consuls wiring to Pekin for stringent orders to local officials, who do nothing unless forced, resulted in prompt action.

The flag-bearer who gave orders to kill the women in the missions has been brought to Kucheng for trial.

The executions this week have had a salutary effect upon the vegetarians, who will probably stop further persecutions of Christians.

The prospects for securing ample justice against the ringleaders of the riots are much brighter than they were earlier in the week.

THE CHINESE IN HOT WATER.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—The commander of the German squadron in Chinese waters has been ordered by telegraph to take whatever measures may be necessary to exact satisfaction for the destruction of a German Mission at Swatow by a Chinese mob.

TO KILL THE SULTAN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 24.—The police officials have discovered a plot among Macedonians to destroy, by the use of dynamite, the Yildiz Kiosk, the palace of the Sultan and the Government buildings. As a result of the discovery, the most extensive precautions have been taken at the Yildiz Kiosk to prevent any damage to the palace and possible injury to the Sultan.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

HAVANA, Sept. 24.—It is officially announced that on September 21, General Lugue with his command surprised a rebel hospital guarded by a large force of insurgents. The rebel guards resisted the attempt of Lugue to capture the hospital and a fight resulted in killing 37 of the rebels and wounding a number possibly exceeding 100. The government troops have captured the rebel camps at Peralta and Pailita and have also taken possession of the Banquete hospital. The loss to the government forces was one killed and eight wounded.

There is no sickness on the vessel now but she will be isolated and thoroughly fumigated.

HOLMES' TRIAL

For the Killing of B. F. Pietzel Will be Commenced on Oct. 28.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—Herman W. Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, was arraigned before Judge Finletter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer on the indictment charging him with the murder of Benjamin F. Pietzel in this city, on September 2, 1894. He pleaded not guilty. District Attorney Graham asked that Monday, October 28, be fixed for the beginning of the trial. Holmes' counsel objected, but the judge after hearing argument on both sides, stated that he thought Oct. 28 would give ample time for preparation.

ARMED REBELS.

Are Now Within Seventy Miles of the City of Havana.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. — A letter to the Tribune, from Havana, dated September 19, says: Armed parties of revolutionists are already in the Province of Matanzas and actually within 75 miles of the city of Havana. Of greater importance is the reported advance into the Province of Matanzas. If, as it is said, they have quantities of arms and munition there concealed, and if they are really advancing in force, the crisis is not far off.

STRANGE. IF TRUE.

A Young Girl Goes Into a Trance—Now in a State of Catalepsy.

Special to The Times.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 24.—Miss Bernadette Demarais, a pretty brunette of 17 years, has been in a trance like state since Monday last. She recoved consciousness today, but only for an hour.

The girl's uncle Moise St. Denis, died Sunday. Monday night the girl and her parents attended the wake. With others she had formed a circle around the casket and the prayers for the dead had been chanted, when with a slight cry she fell forward, with her arms outstretched over the coffin, going into a cataleptic state. Her limbs were so rigid that the knees could not be bent. The hands were clinched, and not even the little fingers could be straightened. The eyes were open wider than usual, but the eyeballs never moved.

There was no sign of life until this afternoon. Then Bernadette returned to consciousness and told her mother that her uncle was in purgatory and was calling to her. For an hour the girl moaned this message from her uncle and then she returned to the cataleptic state.

Her pulse is strong, though the girl has not swallowed any food since Monday. Mrs. Demarais says that before St. Denis died he warned her that something terrible would happen to the family.

The girl is said to have gone into a trance once when much younger, and remained so for three days.

GREAT FOREST FIRES.

The Widespread Damage That Has Been Done in the Province of Quebec.

Special to The Times.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 24.—Last night extensive fires could be seen on the south shore, opposite here, and this morning reports come in of an almost appalling conflagration through the country, between Arthabaska and the St. Lawrence. At Arthabaska the houses of Pierre Hamel and Mr. Bourasso were destroyed, including barns and contents. At Riviere Noir houses and barns were burned, and the whole surrounding forests are aflame. At St. Eulie, there are about 40 houses destroyed, with outbuildings, and many animals. At St. Sylvere, one whole range is reported swept away. At Aston, in the 6th range, the store of Mr. Desilets, stables, etc., were also burned. At Breault's Mills the sawmills and 15 houses with three loaded cars, all the property of Mr. Breault, were consumed. The Three Rivers' train on the Arthabaska branch this morning carried a large gang of men sent to repair the track and culverts which were burned. At St. Celestin one range was destroyed with 15 houses and barns and a saw mill. Forest fires between Drummondville and St. Wenceslas, families being obliged to protect themselves by wading into streams.

TWO SISTERS ELOPE.

The Misses Burson, of Schoolcraft, Leave Home at Midnight.

Special to The Times.

SCHOOLCRAFT, Mich., Sept. 24.—The two daughters of Court Curler Burson have left their home in a highly romantic manner, and there is grief in a once happy household.

Genevieve and Stella Burson have been among the prides of Schoolcraft. They were handsome, had a good education and stood high in church and social circles. An indulgent father humored their wishes in everything.

Recently two young strangers came to town. They were handsome fellows and fascinating in manner. The Burson girls met them, and, as developments show, fell in love, but an elopement was never thought of for a moment.

The girls retired as usual last night. At midnight they steathily climbed down from a window, jumped into a buggy they had hired and drove away with their lovers.

Mr. Burson heard the noise and gave chase, but the two couples had too great a start on him, and he was obliged to return alone. He will resume the search at once. Meanwhile Schoolcraft is stirred to the depths by the most romantic episode in its history.

THE STORM'S RAVAGES.

Over 100,000 Feet of Lumber Blown Into a River to Drift Away.

Special to The Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 24.—Yesterday's storm was the severest experienced in Wisconsin for years. In the towns of Pleasant Valley and Clear Creek, near Eau Claire, a number of buildings were blown down in a small cyclone, entailing a loss of about $23,000. At Oconto, many trees were uprooted and many buildings blown down. At Merrill the buildings on the fair grounds were demolished. The loss will be fully $20,000. At Menominee over 100,000 feet of lumber were blown into the river and drifted away. Reports from White Hall, Arcadia, West Superior, Spencer, Marinette and other places report much damage. It is estimated that the losses will amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

DELIVERED A MOCK SERMON.

Ex-Gov. Waite's Address to the Populists of Ohio.

Special to the Times.

CANTON, O., Sept. 24.—A resolution was introduced in the Methodist Conference here censuring the Populists for engaging ex Gov. Waite, of Colorado, to deliver a political speech here on Sunday. The ex-Governor appeared, but he postponed his political speech until Monday night. Instead he delivered a mock sermon. In which he condemned the money power and criticized the ministers. Among other things he said: Christ drove the money changers out of the synagogue. Did anyone ever hear of a Methodist preacher driving the money sharks out of his fold?" He declared that the money power hung about the neck of the church as a millstone.

J. LOCKIE WILSON HURT.

The Well Known Patron Meets With a Serious Accident.

Special to The Times

CORNWALL, Sept. 24.—James Lockie Wilson, Grand Trustee of the Patrons of Industry, met with a serious accident the other day near Alexandria while cutting corn for his silo. The corn cutter began to run too rapidly, and when Mr. Wilson sprang forward to check the speed the brake broke, and the big belt, coming off the wheel, wound around his legs and dragged him to the wheel of the cutter, feet foremost. He was whirled around several times before the cutter could be stopped. His escape from death was almost miraculous. One of his ankles was badly dislocated, and his legs, arms and head were badly cut and bruised.

DEATH BY A BULLET.

A TORONTO POLICEMAN ENDS HIS OWN LIVE.

A Servant Girl Discovers the Body of Policeman Leonard With a Pistol by His Side in a Pool of Blood.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—At a quarter to 7 o'clock this morning Policeman William Leonard, No. 71, was found lying dead in a lane in rear of 43 Henry street, a bullet hole in his head and his pistol lying by his side. The discovery was made by a domestic named Priscilla Free, employed in the house of Harvey Pierce, who lives next door south of the address given above. At the hour named she went to the door leading to the lane to deposit some garbage and as she opened it she saw a man lying on the ground quite near her, apparently asleep. A second look revealed the fact that he was a policeman and a moment later she was horrified at the sight of a pool of blood and a revolver which lay at his knee.

THE POLICE NOTIFIED.

At this moment Samuel G. Davis, who keeps a flour and feed store at 177 McCaul street and lives on Henry street, a few doors north of the scene of the tragedy arrived on the spot and quickly a crowd gathered around the dead man. Word was sent to the police, the news was forwarded to headquarters and the patrol wagon came and removed him to the undertaking establishment of B. D. Humphrey. Prior to this, however, Coroner Powell and Dr. Greig had viewed the body. The former reported the matter to Crown Attorney Dewart, who thought an inquest should be held. Between 65 and 67 Henry street a lane runs east to McCaul. Midway between these two streets, and parallel to them, another lane runs south for about one hundred yards. Near the end of this the tragedy occurred.

A BULLET THROUGH HIS HEAD.

The bullet entered the head at the right temple, came out on the opposite side and lodged in a board of the high fence on the east side of the lane. It was found an hour later by P. C. Egan. One chamber in Leonard's revolver was vacant; the bullet found corresponds with the bore of the weapon; several residents in that vicinity heard one, and only one, shot. There was no trace of any burglars, no sound was heard but the shot and a sharp succeeding cry. These facts point to suicide.

HEARD A SHOT BETWEEN 2 AND 3.

The deceased went out on duty with a number of fellow officers at 7.45 o'clock last night. His beat was on Caer, Howell, Baldwin, Henry, College, McCaul, Orde and Murray streets. Patrol Sergeant Watson visited him between half past twelve and one o'clock. Leonard sent in a report from a patrol box at one, and the operator at police headquarters is probably the last man who heard him speak. The pistol shot was heard between two and three. At four his duty should have ended, and at that hour he could not be found. He did not report off and a search for him began.

The deceased was born in the township of Innisfil in the county of Simcoe. His father died two years ago, and his mother and brother keep a store in the village of Stroud. He came to Toronto eight years ago last March and joined the force. He belonged first to No. 4 then No. 1 division. For several years he belonged to the mounted force, but last spring he was transferred to the ordinary work in No. 2 division.

AN INVALID WIFE.

He lived at 361 Ontario street and leaves an invalid wife and one child. His wife's maiden name was Myra Redfern, of Big Bear Point near Barrie. Deceased has several relatives in the city.

Doctors Grasett and Greig will make a postmortem examination of the body and an inquest will be held tonight at Humphrey's at half past seven o'clock.

Leonard was always a light-hearted man cheery and talkative. No possible motive can be assigned for his suicide if such it was. His companions last night observed no sign of melancholy or trouble.

The police are at a loss for a reason for the suicide. Leonard is known to have been a sufferer from asthma and his health was far from good. Lately too, he has occasionally given himself up slightly to a taste for liquor.

PERSECUTING SEALERS.

The Rush's Captain Said to Have Exceeded His Authority.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 24.—Speaking of the seizure of the whaling schooner Marvin, Collector Milne says: "Captain Cooper of the Rush is pursuing and persecuting our sealers. The vessel was out on the high seas, forty miles beyond the prohibition zone and a hundred miles from land, and I deny that he has any right to board or search her. If he had reasonable grounds to suspect her of an infraction of the law or had chased her from inside of the zone he would have been justified in boarding and searching. Evidence is entirely lacking."

The documents in the case with the suspicious seal skins were sent to Rear Admiral Stephenson. It is believed that he will order the vessel released, and it is deemed impossible to secure her condemnation in the Admiralty Court.

MANY DISAPPOINTED.

Toronto Fair Visitors Hoped to See the Manufacture of a Well-Known Product.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Many regrets were expressed by visitors to the Industrial Fair that the Dodd's Medicine Company of this city did not have a display of their well-known Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy which has by this time become so widely and favorably known for the absolute cure of all complaints of the kidneys even in the most acute stages. A rumor was current that a public exhibition of the manufacture of the remedy would be given, but the restricted space this year prevented the possibility of such a scheme. Those who went away disappointed at not seeing the manufacture of their favorite remedy will have to wait till next year.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895.

LET IT ALONE.

All that the Manitoba School question needs is to be severely let alone, and in a little while the growth of local good feeling would remove the grievances of the minority more effectually than they can ever be removed by federal legislation.

The party in power is afraid to let the question alone, because the Grits would then rouse Quebec against it. The Opposition is afraid to advocate non-interference, because the Government would then interfere and triumphantly march through Quebec with the credit of having defended the race and the religion of the French-Canadian against a Rouge conspiracy.

The poor country is a bad second in the thoughts of both parties. The Conservatives want to give peace to the country in so far as they can do this without endangering their own hold on office. The Liberals want to give peace to the country, but at the same time they do not want to lose any chance of office which the difficulties of the Government may give to them.

Lieutenant Peary has returned with out finding the north pole. Supposing he had dsciovered it of what use would the discovery have been further than to gratify public curiosity?

A railroad across Arabia, from Ismailia on the Suez Canal to the head of the Persian Gulf, following as nearly as possible the thirteenth degree of lattitude for nearly a thousand miles, is now under consideration. The engineering difficulties are not serious.

As soon as Sims Reeves, the veteran tenor, learned from President Cleveland hat conjugal life is "one grand sweet song," he went and got married.

Bloodhounds as detectives have lost their reputation, and the Town of Anderson. Indiana, may lose $10,000 in consequence. A most peculiar thief entered a house there and cut off a lady's hair, leaving a note to the effect that he could sell the braids at a good figure. Bloodhounds were put on the scent, and followed an imaginary trail till they surrounded and threatened to mangle a man who was waiting a train at a station a few miles from the place where the theft was committed. The man escaped the dogs by climbing a balcony, but was arrested for the theft. He easily proved his innocence, and is now suing the municipality for $10,000 damages. Dogs are uncertain officials.

The Ohio courts are once more wrestling with the weighty problem of who owns the chicken which is hatched from an egg laid by a hen in the yard of a next-door neighbor. A Cincinnati paper says that Louis Moarey lives on the Montgomery Road, near Hunt Street. So does Mike Nicholet. Louis owns several chickens, and so does Mike. Some time ago one of Louis's chickens hopped over into Mike's yard and laid an egg. Then one of Mike's chickens hopped upon the egg, and the result was as fine a chick as was ever seen on the hill. When Louis saw it he "shooed" it over into his yard, and then Mike "shooed" it back again. Then came the argument. Louis claimed the chick, because his hen laid the egg, and Mike said it was his, because his chicken hatched it out. They talked and talked, and finally they came to blows. They smashed each other, and, while rolling around the ground, Louis got his thumb between Mike's teeth, and Mike came down with his molars and nearly bit it off. So Louis had him arrested for assault and battery.

THE WALLED HERD.

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Wher Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipic. Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 71 miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river. They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 80 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus for the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase to a point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 80 feet. The ghastly reminder and relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and reaches that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they lie for warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this cow garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto,

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

AN AWFUL LANDSLIDE.

SAD STORY OF DEATH FROM THE CHAMPLAIN RIVER.

Special to the Times.

THREE RIVERS, Que. Sept. 23—A land slide of large extent occurred on Saturday night at nine o'clock, on the Champlain river, at St. Luc, in the county of Champlain, carrying with it the house of Zephirin Norman and burying five members of the family in its ruins. Three other children, who heard the noise, escaped by jumping through the windows. One of them has become insane by the calamity. The five dead bodies have been dug out. The river is completely blocked, and other landslides and an inundation are feared.

FIXING GRAIN STANDARDS.

TORONTO, Sept. 23—A number of grain men met at the Board of Trade Saturday to strike the Ontario Grain Standard. Messrs. H. M. Baird, T. Flynn, J. Spink and John Carrick, represented Toronto; A. L. Thompson and J. A. McGee, Montreal; R. R. Morgan, Hamilton; C. Hunt, London; and W. Brodie, Quebec. Very little difference exists between this year's standard, as decided by the meeting, and that of last year, save as to barley, which is below last year's in color.

It is understood that Mr. Stanley has been commissioned by the King of the Belgians to report on the Canadian Northwest country as a place for Belgians to emigrate.

SUICIDE AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, Sept. 23.—A young man named Joseph Voget committed suicide by shooting last night. His body was found early this morning by some men engaged in herding horses on McDougall street. He had sat down and leaned against the fence. The revolver was found by his side. He was unmarried and about 34 years old. Despondency is supposed to be the cause. He was employed by the Grand Trunk as a yardsman.

KILLED BY A HORSE.

ST. EUGENE, Sept. 23.—A boy named Zepherin Labrosse, aged 13, was killed today by the kick of a horse's knee. The unfortunate boy was in the act of untying the horse which had been put in a shed for the purpose of taking a drive. He was the son of Simon Labrosse, an ex M.P.

PATHETIC BUT COWARDLY.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—Thomas Pratt who came to Manitoba from Toronto, and committed suicide at Carbery a few days ago, left the following pathetic letter, addressed to his son, Mr. T. G. Pratt:—Otterbourne, Sept. 15, 1895. My Dear Tom,—My strength has failed me, and I am not able to do my work. I have no intention of being a burden to either you or the girls. You must do your best for your mother and the children now that I am taken from you. I trust that God will help and preserve you. I hope that your health will not fail you in this country as mine has. I remain your loving father. T. H. Pratt.

The 13 year old son of Mr. S. Labrosse, of St. Eugene, while harnessing a horse yesterday, was kicked by the animal and died in a few minutes.

DOLL FURNITURE.

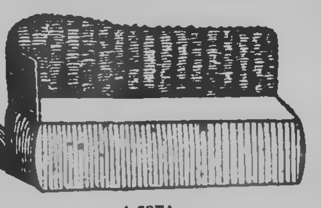
A child is happiest when he is busy, and the mother who can invent little pastimes and everyday amusements will greatly add to the happiness of the nursery. One of the most ingenious and at the same time one of the simplest and easiest amusements is the manufacture of cork furniture for dolly's housekeeping. The first thing to do is to collect a number of old corks. These may be of various styles and sizes, from the tiny stopper of the diminutive medicine vial to the large and ungainly cork of each two gallon vinegar jug or the large flat mushroomlike cork of the marmalade jar.



A SOFA.

These will all come into request for the different styles and sizes of furniture, and the cook and housemaid should have instructions to lay them aside in a little box that they may afford material for the children's playhouse.

Perhaps the simplest article, and therefore the one on which the children should first try their skill, is the doll's chair. The cork can either be taken in its natural shape, in imitation of one of the old fashioned, round parlor chairs, or the sides can be trimmed into an almost cubical form. In either case the side of the cork and the top should be covered with small pieces of bright colored cloth, cut to the proper shape and size, and fastened down with a little mucilage or paste.

It is advisable to put on the circular or square piece of cloth for the seat first and then fasten the longer piece around the sides. Great care should be taken to have it fastened neatly with the gum. If the child possesses a box of paints, he can vary the style of his furniture by substituting a coat of paint for the cloth. And now to construct the chair back. This is done with pins, sticking them carefully into the back of the seat, arranging them to have the heads all even and as close together as possible.

Naturally, if your chair was left like this, the pins would come out more easily than if they were tied together. At this stage you will also need a good supply of some crochet cotton, which should be the same color as your cloth. Take the crochet cotton and wind it in and out of the pins, first securing the end to one of them.

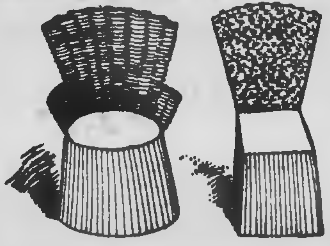
This gives you an ordinary sitting room chair. To make an armchair it is better to leave the cork in its natural round shape. The bottoms of the chairs must be quite flat, or else they will not stand properly. For the armchairs the pins must be put in a half circle. The thread is wound on the same way as on the other chairs. To make a sofa requires more time, and more difficult winding must be done. A long fresh cork must be used for the foundation.

Cut two slices, one larger than the other, off the two sides lengthways, and you will have a flat side for it to stand on, while the broader flat piece will form the seat of the sofa. Cut off a piece of cloth large enough to cover both the seat and side of the sofa and stick it on with gum, tucking in the corners neatly. Now get some small pins and stick them into one side of the seat and get some larger pins and put them at one end for the "head" of the lounge and wind the cotton in and out, as in the chairs.



AN ARMCHAIR—A SITTING ROOM CHAIR.

A little bed is made in much the same way as the sofa, covering it with cloth, but the pins must be put in at each end and not at the side.

To make a washstand the cork must be cut in half and the sides cut off, as in the bed and sofa. Cover it with cloth and stick a pin in each corner to serve as the legs.

By this time you will think of other things you can make out of cardboard and colored paper which will be quite pretty, and your dollhouse will be handsome enough for the most fastidious doll in dolldom.—Kindergarten in New York Mail and Express.

Little Milton and the Clock.

"Well, where will the hands of the clock be, then?" he asked.

His mamma pointed out the respective positions of the hands to indicate the sixth hour. Some time after the mother chanced to look at the clock and was surprised to find it all wrong. Remembering her conversation with Milton the Wise, she called him and inquired what had happened to the clock.

"Why, mamma," explained the boy, clapping his hands, and his eyes dancing with expectation, "I just run the hands around, so grandma would come right straight off!"

The same bright boy tells time in an entirely original way. He looks carefully at the clock and stretches out his little arms in the exact position of the hands. He will go to his mamma and say, "The little hand is here and the big hand is there." And so accurate is he in imitating that one can tell the time to a very few minutes.—Newark Call.

On His Hobby Horse.

From morning till evening a stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.
He rides on a horse that he never can tire,
On a road that's kept warm by the nursery fire,
And when he arrives with the fairies he'll talk,
And in gardens of candies and gingerbread walk.
And that's why so briskly this stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.

Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. INDIAN GAMBLERS.

Sometimes Whole Villages Are Impoverished by a Streak of Bad Luck—They Rely Upon Charms and Their Ability to Cheat—They Are Good Losers.

As eagerly as a duck flops into the water does an Indian jump into a game of chance. Unbounded belief in luck and perhaps the natural deviltry of the race make Indians inveterate gamblers. There is nothing in an Indian's possession that he will not readily wager on a game of chance. Nearly every noble red man is the possessor of an individual charm or fetich which enables him to do things that other Indians cannot do. This fetich is of value exclusively to the owner, and according to their belief would be of no use or advantage to any other Indian. No person besides the possessor knows what the fetich is and were it to become known it would immediately lose its power for good. No Indian will knowingly steal another Indian's fetich. Such theft vitiates the power of the thief's fetich and casts over him a hoodoo.

Having full faith in the ability of his charm to bring luck to him, the Indian never fails to place all his possessions in the balance when there is a bet on. If he loses, he takes it philosophically and attributes his bad luck to the greater power of his adversary's charm. If he wins, he has added faith in the power of his own charm. Indians have been known to wager all their earthly possessions, even to their squaws and children and tepees, on the fall of a stick in one of their games. Indian villages have become pauperized and dependent upon charity for months because the inhabitants bet everything they had on the result of games with other villages. Such occurrences were common several years ago, and were it not for the restrictions of government regulations would be so still.

Gambling is not a secret vice among the Indians. It is indulged in by all the members of the tribe, and the more expert the gambler the higher he stands in the estimation of his fellows. To have the fame of being a successful gambler causes an Indian to looked up to almost as much as as were a successful warrior. There is no fear of shocking the morals of even the highest chief by proposing a game with him—in fact, the invitation pleases him. One point of advantage held by the red man over his white brother is in the fact that when he loses everything he possesses he is not much poorer than he was before, and he can readily recoup himself by making a raid upon some unfortunate white settler or upon a weaker tribe. The white man may commit suicide, but the Indian simply looks for a victim and seldom fails to find him.

Before the government tightened the moral lines on the Indians professional Indian gamblers were plentiful. Of late years their number has decreased rapidly. The most famous Indian gambler of today is Quelepah, a Comanche. His game is monte. He is about 30 years old, tall and straight, with a thin, narrow face. His eyes are sunken like those of a consumptive. He never smiles and seldom speaks. Like all Indian gamblers, his dress is rich in bright colors. He usually rides a white pony and is attended by two Apache Indians, both famous for deeds of prowess. He travels from village to village and from tribe to tribe. Everywhere he is well known. When his approach is made known, the Indians wait for him to appear, saving their money to play with him, for it is an Indian maxim that "in the game of Quelepah the play is honest, and the stakes are what you please."

Quelepah once appeared at the Cash creek village. He rode into the village shortly before sundown. One of his companions spread a bright red blanket on the ground. Quelepah knelt before it. As he settled down on his haunches and brought forth a new deck of Mexican monte cards the blanket was surrounded by Indians crouching three and four deep. And behind them stood other Indians eager for an opportunity to play. The long, lean fingers of Quelepah shuffled the cards with marvelous rapidity. The interest in the game waxed as the light waned. Candles were procured as night fell and were fastened in sharp pointed green twigs stuck in the ground.

By their flickering light Quelepah could be seen paying his losses and pocketing his gains. He was both dealer and banker. Behind him on his right and on his left crouched his two Apache fellows. As dawn was breaking Quelepah looked about him. He had stripped all save two Indians. One of them was a heavy winner. Laying down $100 for each of them to cover, Quelepah announced that it was his last bet. The cards left were the queen and the deuce. Both Indians laid on the queen. The deuce won. Quelepah pocketed his money. The village, save for the two Indians, was penniless.

Squaws also are inveterate gamblers. It is a common sight to see a dozen squaws, young and old, their papooses lying neglected on the ground, crowded around an old shawl, busy over a 10 cent game of monte. Their play is persistent, and many of them are marvelously clever gamblers. But they seldom have money of their own sufficient to play for high stakes.

One peculiarity of Indian gambling games is their intricacy. In several tribes the writer has seen Indians playing games with sticks and stones for hours at a time. Notwithstanding the closest attention he has been unable to discover the system used, nor has he ever met a white man who could explain the game. There are several games of this kind, and among the Pacific coast tribes they are common.

In addition to his faith in his charm the Indian places [illegible] dependence on his ability to cheat. To the best cheat are accorded the highest honors when gambling is indulged in. There is never a thought of getting angry over deft tricks or unfair methods so long as the perpetrator is not caught in the act. If he is caught, he refunds his gains and is laughed at for clumsiness.

Since playing cards have become common, games taught by the whites and Mexicans are generally the favorites among the red men. Monte is played for large amounts. Sometimes an Indian with hundreds of dollars will become impoverished in a single evening by trying his luck against a skillful player. An especially deft monte dealer, more skillful even than Quelepah, has been known to go from tribe to tribe in the mountains of New Mexico and return home loaded down with his winnings. Many Mexican gamblers devote almost their entire time to traveling among the various tribes in the Sierras. They win large sums, but lose them again in Mexican cities.—Fort Sill (O. T.) Cor. New York Sun.

STRUCK GAS!

The Inhabitants of Iberville, Que., Jubilant Over the Discovery.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—During the past week workman have been digging an artisan well at the back of the Court House at Iberville, Que. When they had reached a depth of 123 feet a pump and plunger was put in and the water immediately began to flow. The workmen noticed, however, that the plunger even when not worked by power, kept going up and down. Mr. A. G. Coriveau, a prominent resident of the town, was sent for to elucidate the mystery. He at once suspected the presence of natural gas, and putting a lighted match to the head of the well a flame immediately burst forth. The flame which burned six feet high, gave out an intense heat and light and the townsfolk are jubilant over the discovery. At Mr. Corriveau's suggestion an expert is to visit Iberville to ascertain if the gas discovery will not prove valuable.

DIVORCE PLANNED.

A Woman, Tired of Her Husband, Said to Have Made Use of an Infamous Scheme.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—It is claimed by the friends of Hattie Westervelt, aged fourteen years, a member of the Methodist church at Butler, N.J., and a girl of exemplary character, that she has been made the victim of a designing woman. Hattie is under bail on the charge of being unduly intimate with John Mead, the husband of the woman referred to.

Hattie says, in an affidavit, that Mrs. Mead confided to her that she was in love with a young man named Cook, and wanted to get a divorce from her husband. She wanted Hattie to help her, and the latter in her girlish way, consented. Mrs. Mead had an affidavit drawn and the girl signed it without having any knowledge of the contents of the document. It was a confession of guilt, and Mrs. Mead caused the girl's arrest. Hattie's father has begun civil and criminal actions against Mrs. Mead.

TORTURED HIMSELF.

Train Robber Perry Jabs Needles Into Both His Eyes.

Special to the Times.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Ever since Oliver Curtis Perry, the train robber, returned from Mattawan to a closely-guarded cell in Auburn prison, he has been in a morose mood, varied by frequent outbreaks of violence. The most desperate act he has ever attempted was committed Tuesday. He procured a short stick, through which he trust two saddler's needles the same distance apart as his eyes and then prodded his eyes with the sharp points. He was put under the influence of chloroform, when it was discovered that the needles had not yet destroyed the sight of either eye, but the result will probably be blindness of one or both eyes. Perry believed if he put out both of his eyes and became blind the Governor would commute his sentence. The prison officials are more than ever of the opinion that Perry is insane.

RIGGED UP A DUMMY.

Desperate Attempt of a Saginaw Prisoner to Escape from the States Prison.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 24.—William Sanborn, who was last week sentenced to eight years at Jackson for burglarizing the American Express Company's office, made a determined effort to break jail last night. He rigged up a dummy and placed it in his cell. The sheriff did not distinguish the difference. Meanwhile Sanborn escaped to the basement, remaining there from 11 p. m. to 2 a. m., being unable to get through the iron barred windows of the basement. When found he made a desperate resistance, but was overpowered and returned to his cell.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Hamilton Detectives Nail a Firebug Named Lester.

HAMILTON, Sept. 24.—There is a lodger resident in No. 3 police station here under the name of R. Lester and in him the detectives believe they have a professional firebug. When searched a ticket for Toronto was found in his pocket.

Detective Doyle and P. C. Bleakley caught the man redhanded. He had rented a room at 25 1 2 King William street where he had placed two parcels which he had insured for $200 a few days previously. TO RESTRAIN THE FIGHT.

Every Effort Being Made to Block Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Special to the Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 24.—It was learned last night that Attorney-General Crane is arranging to sue out an injunction in the District Court of Dallas County to restrain the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. If the judge grants the injunction, which he doubtless will, then the fight management in self defence must appeal the latter to the Court of Criminal Appeals, with a full bench, and thus play directly into the hands of the State, because to get it before this full bench for a decision is exactly what the State wante, as it is believed a full bench of the court will reverse Chief Justice Hurt's individual opinion. It is well known Governor Culberson does not propose to accept Judge Hurt's opinion as final and says he wants a full court's opinion or nothing.

An Anecdote About Stead.

In a recent article the irrepressible Mr. Stead boasted of enjoying a private conversion with the late Czar, "as frank and full and unreserved as I ever held with any man." It was during a visit to St. Petersburg. As Stead complimented Alexander in the Pall Mall Gazette at a time when other British papers were reviling him, the Czar was induced to favor the journalist with an interview. It was stipulated, however, that it should not last more than fifteen minutes. At the end of that time the emperor looked at his watch and arose to indicate that the interview should cease. "But, your majesty," protested Mr. Stead, 'you have not said a word." "No," said the Czar; you haven't given me a chance."

Why He Swam Out.

The Professor swims from the sinking boat and climbs up on the bank. Then, dashing in again he returns to the wreck and rescues his wife.

"Ah, my dear sir," was the learned man's reply, "I was bound to save myself first. Self-preservation is the highest law of nature."—Boston Post.

Doesn't Get Around in Time.

Tommy—Do you say your prayers every night?

Jimmy—Yep.

"And does your maw say hers?"

"Yep."

"And does your paw?"

"Naw. Paw don't need to. It's almost daylight when he gets to bed."—Cincinnati Tribune.

In a Quandary.

Modern Maid—I wish some advice.

Old Lady—Certainly, my dear. What is it?

Modern Maid—Shall I marry a man whose tastes are the opposite of mine, and quarrel with him, or shall I marry a man whose tastes are the same as mine, and get tired of him?

Found an Angel.

Husband—Got a new girl, I see.

Wife—Yes, and she's an angel, too.

TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT.

A Large Lot of Jewelry Found on Some —Searching for Others.

Special to the Times.

BANGOR, Mich, Sept. 24.—Engineer Zibbel, of the train that was held up near Fennville, one month ago, claims to have recognized one of the robbers near Grand Junction Constable Elker arrested the man and a companion and brought them here for identification.

WAUPACA, Wis., Sept. 24.—Four men are under arrest charged with being implicated in the train robbery three miles from here on the Winconsin Central road. One claims to be able to prove an alibi, the other three were arrested on suspicion and a lot of jewelry was found on them. Large posses are still searching the swamps and forests.

A FEMALE SWINDLER.

Said She was a Y.W.C.A Officer but Drank Whiskey.

Special to the Times.

STRATFORD, Sept. 24.—On Saturday a woman who gave her name as Anne C. Gorman, President Dominion Y.W.C.A., Toronto, visited a number of citizens soliciting subscriptions on behalf of the association. Her list purported to be headed by J. W. Ferguson. It transpired that Mr. Ferguson's name had been forged and suspicion was aroused. The fact of the woman having ordered a bottle of whiskey sent to her room at the Windsor hotel, where she was registered under the name of E. W. Graham, Toronto, furnished an additional cause for suspicion. She was arrested and admitted being a swindler and that she was about to proceed to that town to continue her work.

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Provincial Detective Murray, Prosecuting Attorney R. C. Clute, and Drs. Caven and Primrose, are in town in connection with the Gray case. The trial will not likely commence before Thursday morning although it may go on this afternoon. After a true bill has been brought in, the prisoners will be arraigned, and then the time of the trial will be agreed upon.

Fenelon Falls Items.

A little before noon on Saturday, Mr. Corbett's fifth son, Walter, a little fellow about 10 years old, climbed to the top of a tree, over 20 feet high, to watch his elder brother, Nelson, and two or three other lads play a game of ball. From some cause he missed his hold and fell upon a rough, stoney spot, breaking his left thigh, both bones of his left wrist, and cutting completely through his chin into his mouth. Dr. Graham was at once sent for and soon afterwards Drs. Mason and Wilson, and Mr. W. T. Junkin, reached the house, the little patient was put under the influence of chloroform, the bones were set, and the wound in the chin was stitched up.

Why He Wants Change.

"Dr. Montague wants to get out of the Department of State," said a Conservative yesterday morning. "For once rumor is true, and warranted by facts. The custom is for the Liberals to belittle the 'sealing wax department,' as they call it. In the days gone by it always has been the resting place of a tired hack or a stumper, who was in the Cabinet because of his oratorical abilities. Chapleau and Montague belong to the latter class. The reason that Montague would like the leadership of the department of Agriculture is that in his present position he has little patronage to dispense. The holder of the portfolio of Agriculture has much patronage, and Montague is looking after it for this reason alone."

A Valuable Mine.

Mr. J. T. Vosper, of the Campbellford Herald, made us a call on Friday, says the Port Hope Guide. He is the lucky owner of a most valuable hundred acres of land in the Township of Methven, County of Peterborough, which contain five veins of mica, and feldspar. On two mounds the mica crops up in pretty pockets at the surface, and in one instance is traceable to the depth of eighty feet. The mica is found embedded in white and grey feldspar backed by a wall of blue granite. Mr. Vosper showed us samples of white feldspar, grey feldspar black spar and crystal. The mica shown is equal to any in the market, quite up to the famous Caroline mica. Mr. Vosper is negotiating with several parties for the sale of his valuable property, several New York dealers in mica are asking for samples, and he expects to receive orders from each of them. He has already put a force of men on to operate one vein.

Every newspaper man is not as fortunate as our Campbellford confrere, for he has millions in it.

THE FAIR A SUCCESS.

YESTERDAY'S ATTENDANCE EXCEEDS ALL OTHER YEARS.

The Entries Larger Than Ever Before—Fully 7,000 People Attend the Evening Performances—Today's Program.

In point of attendance and number of exhibits, the Central Exhibition this year surpasses all former years. Yesterday afternoon the attendance was between 6,000 and 7,000, and at the evening performance, fully 7,000 people were present.

The exhibition was formally opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by President George Elliott. The opening addresses were listened to by an immense crowd of people.

With a few words the president introduced the speaker, Mr. Stevenson, M. P.

Mr. Stevenson regretted the absence of some of the prominent men in agriculture, referring particularly to Mr. Robertson, of the Experimental Farm at Ottawa. In this county they had no need to feel ashamed of their record in dairying. What they wanted to do was to keep our young men in Canada. He spoke of the good market they had here in Peterborough. He said he had made application to the Grand Trunk to give cheap rates on Wednesday, so that this would also be made a market day as well as Saturday. They all rejoiced in the crops, which had turned out much better than was at first anticipated. In concluding he hoped that they would all enjoy themselves at the exhibition which was such a successful one.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., was the next introduced and opened by regretting the absence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox who was to have opened the exhibition, paying a tribute to the energy which Mr. Cox has evidenced in advancing Peterborough's interests. He expressed his pleasure at the attendance and at the splendid exhibition, which showed the interests the agriculturists took in these exhibitions. He regretted the limited accommodation afforded by the present buildings, and expressed the hope that these would be succeeded in the near future by more adequate buildings. He was sorry he could not congratulate them on bountiful harvests or a bright outlook for good prices this fall. He spoke of the great wheat yield in the west which forced the farmer to consider the question whether it was more profitable to sell their grain at present prices or to feed it to produce a better value in cheese or the dairy. The farmer had to consider whether they would follow old methods or adopt new ones suggested by changed conditions. He closed by expressing the pleasure it gave him to be present.

Mayor Kendry was then introduced, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present. He congratulated the president on the grand exhibition they saw around them, and he gave warm praise to President Elliott, and the directors on their successful management. He hoped the growth would continue. Thanking them for the hearing they had given him, finally declared the exhibition opened, and as he made the declaration, the band, stationed directly in front of the stand, rendered the first bars of the National Anthem, and the Central was opened.

Yesterday was school children's day, and in consequence there was a half holiday in the schools, and the youngsters were in attendance at the Fair in force.

The judging in the baby show was the first proceeding after the opening. Twenty infantile cherubs were entered, and the judges found it difficult to decide in this array of baby sweetness. Finally the prize was awarded to the baby of Mrs. Edward Elliott.

The special attractions were accorded a generous reception by the crowd. The dancing of Marie Walton, the musical Emery's, and the acrobatic performance of Dan Simons and Jack Connors were all good.

The exhibits this year are more extensive and of a higher order than in former years, and afford a field for most interesting inspection.

LAST NIGHT AT THE FAIR.

Fully 7,000 people attended the Fair last night, taxing the carrying facilities of the street railway to the utmost. The special performances of the afternoon were repeated, and the close consisted of a magnificent display of fireworks.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAM.

The judging will continue today.

The special attractions of all kinds will be repeated.

The speeding in the ring will consist of three interesting events.

Today will be the best day of the Fair.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The Cheese Board met yesterday.

The road race to Lakefield and return will be run tomorrow night.

A social will be held in the Forester's hall on Hunter street tonight, in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The first meeting of the Fortnightly Club was held last night. The papers read and the discussions which followed were very interesting.

'Tis the winter's cold I dread;
  Ah, nay; not so in any wise;
But winter's coal is what my head
  Is bothered with as autumn flies.

Here is how an exchange discriminates between a libel as uttered by a lawyer: "A lawyer in a courtroom may call a man a liar, a villain, a scoundrel or a thief, and no man makes a complaint when the court adjourns. If a newspaper makes such a reflection on a man's character there is a libel or a dead editor. This is probably owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says. What the lawyer says cuts no figure."

A Wonderful Performance.

In Montreal, Kingston and Ottawa, Senor and Madame de Ovies, who are at the opera house this week, met with an ovation, and not only gave public demonstrations of their wonderful power to crowded houses, but were greatly in demand at private parties. The Baldwins, who created such a profound sensation in Toronto, are fully equalled by them. Senor de Ovies is able to answer any question sent to him in a sealed envelope during the day, at the opera house at night, and invites the citizens to address to him any question or problem which they desired to have answered or unravelled. They come to Peterborough highly recommended by the best people in Ottawa and Montreal, and their performance is of a refined and scientific nature. Madame de Ovies is a most charming and refined lady and an accomplished soprano singer.

THE ASSIZES OPENED.

Chancellor Boyd Postpones his Address to the Jury Until Today.

When the Fall Assizes opened yesterday morning before Chancellor Boyd, the court room was filled with spectators, who doubtless thought the Gray case would be immediately called. In this they were disappointed, and in the afternoon the ranks of bench warmers had been thinned out considerably.

There were present in court the following legal talent: Messrs. R. C. Clute, Q. C., Crown prosecutor, Toronto; W. R. Riddell, Q. C., Toronto; A. J. Armstrong, Cobourg; F. E. Hodgins, Toronto; R. M. Ruddy, Millbrook, and Geo. Edmison, E.B. Edwards, W. A. Stratton, R. M. Dennistoun, D. W Dumble, R. R. Hall, W. S. Gladman and R. E. Wood, town.

The Grand Jury consisting of Messrs. Robt. Darling, David Madill, Wm. Faint, W. J. Martin, Jonathan Griffin, Wm. Plunkett, G. J. Galvin, James Richmond, Robt. Innes, Richard Short, Gustave Lech, Richard Telford, was sworn in. Mr. G. J. Galvin was chosen to act as foreman.

Chancellor Boyd postponed his address to the jury until this morning. The grand and petit jurors were dismissed and went out to the Central Fair.

The non-jury case of Payne vs. Crowe then came up and was traversed to a full court.

The grand jury will meet this morning.

Harley Davidson will Ride Against an Engine—Other Notes.

The secretary of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club has sent a formal challenge to the New York Yacht Club on behalf of the club, and Mr. Charles D. Rose, to sail a series of matches for the America's Cup in 1896, with the cutter yacht Distant Shore. The secretary of the New York club after receiving this challenge wired to England that the challenge would be considered at a special meeting immediately.

The International cricket match between the Oxford Cambridge eleven and the Gentlemen of Philadelphia, which has been in progress since Friday, came to an end yesterday, the Englishmen winning by two wickets. When the visitors commenced their second innings they had 217 to make to win. They scored 220 for the loss of 8 wickets, every batsman getting double figures except one. Three thousand five hundred people saw the match. The third and deciding game will commence on Friday next.

John C. Chapman, who managed the Toronto baseball team this season, said in Buffalo the other day that he had received two good offers for the franchise in this city. Mr. Chapman further stated that Toronto was one of the best cities in the Eastern League, and that with a winning team it would be a profitable ball town. President Pat Powers, when he was in town with Corbett, said that Toronto would certainly be represented in the league next year, although he did not know that Mr. Chapman would be at the head of the club.

Harley Davidson is making arrangements with the Grand Trunk Railway to have an engine pace him for the mile record straightaway. It is proposed to have a track of planks 30 inches wide laid down between the tracks and on this, Davidson will ride. Harley feels confident that with proper pacemaking he can lower the existing records without much trouble.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 24.—Dan Stuart, president of the Florida Athletic Club, speaking of the failure to select a referee for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at a meeting held in New York, said: "The matter of a referee is not giving the club any concern now, but when the proper time comes, if I can bring it about, I say plainly right here that the referee shall be a Western or a Southwestern man. I do not consider that the Eastern element has any right to dictate in this matter. What I want, is a man acceptable to all concerned, the people at large and the principals in the contest. I have no objections to deferring the selection of a referee until the 30th of October.

COAL TO COST $5.

That will be the Future Price of the Commodity.

Simultaneous with the prophesy of a real cold snap comes the comforting assurance that coal will certainly advance. Within the past three weeks the commodity has gone up to $4 75 a ton in Toronto, and the local operators are a unit in saying that it must see a further advance.

A variety of reasons is given for this, among them being the scarcity of cars, the lack of water in some places to work the mines and the strong revival in the iron trade, which largely predominates the coal situation.

It is stated that coal cannot be mined and the freight paid to Toronto at the rates which have resulted from the fight between the coal barons. This competition has been ended, and this is another reason for the sudden rise in price.

The present issue of the Coal Trade Journal reports better trade at all the western points, and says that there is probably "more coal standing in cars today in the United States than at any period in the history of the trade."

The Toronto Star publishes the following interviews with coal dealers: Mr. Elias Rogers told me this morning that it was impossible for the local dealers to buy coal within fifty cents of the prices paid three weeks ago. The mining companies refused to make contracts at even present rates. "I have seen an order of 50,000 ton refused within the past few days," concluded Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Noel Marshall, of the Standard Coal Company, said that the commodity would in all probibility see $5 before many days. The present prices were ruinous, and the local market will have to follow the rise on the other side.

Mr. Patrick Burns was of the opinion that coal would certainly advance. He was not positive, but every indication pointed to $5 coal.

A New Law Firm.

From the advertisement in another column it will be seen that we have a new law firm in town, but the head of the firm, Mr. Wm. Kerr, Q.C., of Cobourg, is so well known in this neighborhood that he needs no introduction to our readers. His son Mr. Francis D. Kerr, who will have charge of the Peterborough office, is a young man of talent and prepossessing manner, and we have no doubt the new firm will soon receive a fair share of the law business here. The office of the firm will be on Hunter street, near the Post Office, over Clarke & Gibson's store, and will be ready for occupation in a few days. We wish the new firm success.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish,

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

A STABBING AFFRAY.

Forest Fires in Arthabaska—People Flying in Terror and Cattle Burned in the Fields—A Village Wiped Out.

ORONTO, Sept. 25.—The young man who is known in the circle in which he moves as "Slabsey" Maguire, who made himself famous some months ago by jumping from the deck of a Victoria Park steamer to escape from a county constable, who had him in custody, threatens to come again before the public.

On Monday night, Maguire, who is suspected of living on Monk street, met another young man named John Quinn, 158 Euclid avenue, in a lane in rear of 442 Adelaide street west. Jealously over a dissolute female named Annie Howard, led to an altercation which came to blows. "Slabsey" drew a knife and stabbed his hated rival twice in the hip and blood flowed freely. Friends of the injured combatant carried him into the house of a Mrs. Ferguson adiacent to where the affair occurred. In fact, it is said, that if Mrs. Ferguson had not interfered and treated him as she did the result might have been a murder.

Dr. J. W. Peaker, 157 Bathurst street, was called in, and after stripping Quinn's clothing off he found two stabs in the hip and a bite on the shoulder. The injured man was kept quiet during the night and sent home in the morning. He has made no complaint to the police and no arrest has followed. The police are reluctant to proceed, because persistent perjury and tampering with witnesses have made convictions in affairs like this extremely difficult.

FOREST FIRES.

ARTHABASKA, Sept. 25.—Telegraphic communications with the afflicted districts has not yet been restored and but comparatively meagre accounts of the damage by forest fires in this district are obtainable by mail and travellers.

The fire raged fiercely all yesterday and last night, filling the air with dense smoke. As the night set in the spectacle was one of weird grandeur. The twilight partook of a dark pea-green hue, and as the night wore on a subdued glow settled down over the country. There was nothing but smoke on every hand. From Stanfold to St. Celestin the roaring element cut a wide swathe and about a hundred farms were devastated.

A VILLAGE WIPED OUT.

The village of Brault's Mills was entirely wiped out, not a building remaining; even hogs and cattle were burned in the fields. Six hundred cords of hard wood, pulp and bark were also consumed. The inhabitants fled terror-striken and barely escaped with their lives. Families became separated and their anguish of mind can well be imagined. Messrs. Pierre Brault, J. Lamothe, Joseph Diselet, Antoine Diselet, and L. Desrosiers spent two weary days and nights searching for their families, and late last night came upon them on the river bank, whither they had fled before the flames. Most of the country from Brault's Mills to Astonia is a charred and blackened waste. The fire is eating its way still further into the interior and the sky is obscured by dense smoke.

THE PEOPLE ASKING CHARITY.

THREE RIVERS, Erie, Sept. 25.—News from the burned district is of a most assuring character this morning. The intensity of the fire has moderated and in many places it has been entirely subdued. Fortunately no casualties have been reported. Forestdale and Moose Park, on Mitchell's road, escaped the fire entirely. But along the Arthabaska branch of the Grand Trunk the destitution is pitiable. The whole community has been burned out, and women and children are imploring charity from passengers on railroad trains and passers by. Telegraph poles are already being distributed and the lines re-built. The heaviest loss will be on cordwood, of which large quantities have been destroyed.

ALBERTA IS ALL RIGHT.

She Encountered a Gale and Run for Shelter—Arrived at Noon Yesterday.

Special to The Times

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 25.—The steamship Alberta arrived at noon. It appears that the gale struck her on Monday morning when within twelve miles of Passage Island. They were unable to stem it, and consequently had to run all the way back to Quebec harbor, on Michipicoten Island. Some of her cargo is reported damaged, and a protest has been entered. The Bannockburn and consort cleared at noon, but are back again.

Another despatch from Port Arthur says: The Canadian Pacific steamship Alberta arrived at 12 o'clock noon to-day, 30 hours late.

She had got about the middle of Lake Superior on Sunday when she was met by a terrific north-western gale, and, being pretty light, had to turn back and run for shelter to Michipicoten. She received a very severe shaking up, but a little damaged furniture is all there is to show for it. Ice formed on the boat from the water blowing on the deck.

DUCHESS'S DOWRY.

A Little Item of $50,000 a Year for Pin Money—Depew's Peace Mission.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Mr. Chauncey M. Depew returned home from Newport yesterday, where he is supposed to have been on a mission of peace to patch up the differences between Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Mr. Depew looked very happy and as though he had accomplished the object of his visit. Miss Vanderbilt's engagement is the absorbing topic of society's conversation, and all sorts of rumors and speculations are going its rounds concerning the possibility of a renewal of friendly relations between her mother and her father's family, and what settlements Mr. Vanderbilt will make upon her.

In addition to the $10,000,000 dowry, Miss Vanderbilt will have $50,000 a year, which sum goes with every Vanderbilt girl for pin money.

Valkyrie's Crew Still Talking.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A dispatch from Queenstown today to the Pall Mall Gazette reports that the crew of Valkyrie III., who arrived on board the steamer Majestic, speak indignantly of the way in which excursion steamers and tugs hampered the yachts in the races off Sandy Hook for the America's cup.

AN INDIAN WAR DANCE.

Dr. Montague Addresses a Great Gathering of His Constituents.

Special to the Times.

CALEDONIA, Sept. 25.—One of the largest gatherings ever held on the Indian reserve took place this afternoon in the beautiful grove of John Beaver, and was gotten up by the committee of the Conservative party of the Six Nations. The Hon. Dr. Montague, Secretary of State, was present and received a very warm welcome. The proceedings commenced about two o'clock with a war dance, after which the speaking started. The first speaker called by Chairman Anthony, was A. W. Wright, and he was followed by Chief Smith, J. J. Hawkins and Robert Henry, of Brantford. They made short addresses, but the audience seemed to be waiting for the country's representative, and when the name of Dr. Montague was called, the cheering was deafening. The hon. gentleman delivered a grand speech, which was very much enjoyed. On concluding the doctor left for Dunnville, his child being very low, which will keep him from filling a number of appointments.

SICK AND IN PRISON.

An Unfortunate Canadian Succumbs to His Ailment in a Detroit Jail.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—John Jacobs, a Canadian, who was captured at St. Clair by United States officers while attempting to smuggle 250 pounds of opium across the river in February last, died at the Detroit House of Correction yesterday after a lingering illness with liver trouble. Jacobs was sentenced from the United States Court March 18 last, to serve one year. He has been ill ever since his confinement. The family of the dead prisoner reside at Barrie, and the body is being held until word can be received from his relatives.

AN ELECTION AT HAND.

THAT IS THE GENERAL FEELING IN MANITOBA.

A Local General Election Predicted at Once—Government Already Hard at Work On the Lists—Signs of the Times.

Special to The Times.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Members of the local Government deny that there is any immediate intention of holding a general election, although it is bethought that the desirability of being ready to ask the Province its opinion upon the attitude which the Government has assumed upon the school question is under consideration. That this is the position of affairs is borne out by the fact that the Government has just resolved upon the revision of the lists and the work will be commenced at once. This, of course, does not definitely mean a general election forthwith, but by many it will be taken to mean that, and both sides will doubtless proceed to nominate candidates. It is not unlikely that the local Government is influenced in making preparations for the holding of a general election by the fact that the Dominion Government is believed to be doing the same thing, and both elections might be held at the same time. If a general election is held in Manitoba soon it would be upon the clear issue of the Government's resistance of any attempt to force Separate schools upon the Province.

WHERE IS HE?

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 25.—The town was considerably stirred up yesterday over the rumor that W. W. Vandermere, the local representative of the Canadian Cone Carriage Coupler Co., of Palmerston, had skipped out with several thousand dollars of the firm's money besides all the books and papers belonging to the agency. Vandermere left the town suddenly Saturday night and yesterday morning two members of the firm in Palmerston were in town investigating the affair. They state that their agent had evidently absconded and that they would be several thousand dollars in the hole unless he returned and straightened matters. It is said that Vandermere left in order to make a settlement with the firm, which he had not had for some time.

CONDENSED FOOD LED TO DEATH.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 25.—Bruno Paul Pettke, a private of the Seventh Infantry, United States Army, committed suicide yesterday, a victim of the new experiments on condensed rations, which were used on a forced march of soldiers from Fort Logan recently. Pettke complained that his stomach could not retain the condensed food, consisting of coffee and soup tablets. He went on a spree and tried to induce vomiting as a means of relief, but failed, and then took a dose of morphine with suicidal intent.

AFTER A PRAYER MEETING.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 25.—A seduction case from West Zorra was heard at the Fall Assizes which opened here before Mr. Justice Falconbridge yesterday. Robert Ireland, farmer, claims from Gilbert Thornton, a son of one of his neighbors, $1,000 damages for the seduction of his 20 year old daughter Mima. The offence was alleged to have been committed in November last after a prayer meeting at Ireland's house.

LAURIERS' VOICE GONE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition, stated today that the general elections are fast approaching. He has lost his voice again and will be compelled to take a long rest.

MANY DISAPPOINTED.

Toronto Fair Visitors Hoped to See the Manufacture of a Well-Known Product.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Many regrets were expressed by visitors to the Industrial Fair that the Dodd's Medicine Company of this city did not have a display of their well-known Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy which has by this time become so widely and favorably known for the absolute cure of all complaints of the kidneys even in the most acute stages. A rumor was current that a public exhibition of the manfacture of the remedy would be given, but the restricted space this year prevented the possibility of such a scheme. Those who went away disappointed at not seeing the manufacture of their favorite remedy will have to wait till next year.

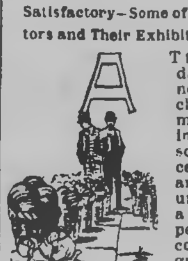
Accused of Treachery.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Many accomplices of the French spies arrested recently at Cologne have been captured at Essen, Magdeburg and Brunswick. They are charged with disclosing State secrets relating to the manufacture of cannon in Germany.

THE BIG FAIR IS OVER.

IT WAS THE BIGGEST SUCCESS OF ANY YET HELD.

The Attendance and Exhibits More Than Satisfactory—Some of the Principal Exhibitors and Their Exhibits.



AT the exhibition yesterday the crowds did not diminish and the closing day of the most successful Fair in the history of the society, was a big success in point of attendance. From morning until night there was a steady stream of people, going and coming from the Fair grounds.

The Central Exhibition is an institution worthy of the most generous patronage on the part of the residents of this county, and it is exceedingly gratifying to see the great interest the merchants of Peterborough evinced in it this year, and the splendid exhibits they made. The exhibits of our business institutions, in fact, formed a highly creditable part of the whole exhibit, and was certainly viewed and inspected by the large crowds who visited the grounds on Tuesday and Wednesday.

R. S. WILLIAMS & SONS.

In the musical and instrument department the magnificent exhibit of Messrs. R. S. Williams & Sons, attracted a great deal of attention. This firm is known throughout Canada, better, probably than any other piano manufacturing firm, and quite as widely as the fame of the firm has spread are the Williams' pianos in use. Success has attended the firm in their business, and because they commanded success by their enterprise, square business methods and the excellence of the piano they manufacture, which equals the best make. Increasing business has forced the firm to erect additional factories and it takes an army of constantly employed expert workmen to fill the orders that pour in from their numerous branches in Canada.

The four beautiful specimens of cabinet Grands shown at the Fair consisted of a veneered rosewood piano with revolving music rack, beautifully finished and embellished with enlarged panels. Another was shown in beech veneer, with revolving rack, built for an exhibition piano, the tone and action being excellent. A double veneered rosewood was also shown with full length music rack, handsomely designed. A magnificent special style was shown in French birl walnut, elaborately carved and ornamented, the workmanship on which could well be included in an art exhibit. Visiting musicians should see this piano, if not at the fair, at their branch warerooms on Water street. This piano took first prize at the Toronto Exhibition, and was selected to be exhibited at the Peterborough Fair. This exhibit was in charge of Mr. Dies, the efficient business manager of the local branch in town, Mr. F. Callaghen and Mr. F. W. Bull, performers.

PETER HAMILTON COMPANY.

The fine exhibit of agricultural implements made by the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, was surrounded by a crowd each hour of the Fair. This exhibit reflects credit not only upon the skill of the manufacturers, but also upon Peterborough, and it is gratifying to all to know that the implements of this company are widely being used by the farmers of Canada in preference to other makes. The Peter Hamilton Company keep abreast with the times and their implements embrace the latest improvements of inventive skill and science, and are warranted to give satisfaction and perform all that is claimed for them. In labor saving machinery, the farmer will find the most complete in the warerooms of this company, and therefore, is not compelled to buy from foreign manufacturers. The extensive works of the company are equipped with the most modern machinery for the manufacture of their implements, and the best mechanical skill of the world is employed. The result is that right here at home the farmer finds implements manufactured cheaper, better, and just as durable as those manufactured in the larger cities.

The creditable exhibit of this company was a feature of the fair and of great interest to the farmers, who were shown the latest labor saving mechanical devices, handsomely and skilfully constructed. Messrs. A. Nicholls, T. E. Fitzgerald and Alex. Gillespie were in charge of the exhibit and courteously showed the different implements to those who wished to inspect.

GRAFTON & COMPANY.

The enterprise of this well known firm was shown by the way in which they drew the attention of the crowds and by their large and splendid exhibit of fine clothing. All over the grounds were the signs of the firm, and in a large tent was a minature clothing establishment, complete in itself, and quite a novelty. Very few people who attended the Fair missed inspecting their fine exhibit of clothing, arranged and displayed in a manner at once unique and attractive. At night the tent was beautifully illuminated and presented a splendid appearance. Grafton & Co. are never behind in enterprise, and the foremost position they took amongst exhibitors at the Fair, was illustrative of the position they hold among the clothing firms of Peterborough—in the van guard. Their branch at No. 387 George street, was well represented at the exhibition, and as an advertisement, the results will doubtless prove the efficacy of this novel display.

A record of over forty years has established, beyond much controversy, the fact that Grafton & Co.'s "hand-made and tailor-cut" clothing combines elements of style, durability and attractiveness, with the lowest possible cost for intrinsically good clothing. The success which has attended their branch stores—especially the branch in this town—has no doubt been largely dependent upon the confidence which the buying public has reposed in the reliable character of the clothing which is placed on sale here. Much, too, has doubtless been due to the straightforward dealing and honorable management which has been insisted upon in the conduct of their branch stores. To work up a trade in Peterborough so strictly on the cash principal, that cash in advance to everybody is the rule, required no small amount of faith in the ability of this firm to overcome the prejudices which most assuredly had to be overcome. No one who saw the large exhibit at our Fair could be otherwise than favorably impressed with the rapid growth of Messrs. Grafton & Co.'s business in Peterborough.

THE LEADERS HERE.

The magnificent display of Messrs. Hall, Gilchrist & Company, in the line of carpets, tapestries, rugs, curtains, ladies' jackets, etc., gave the interested spectator a faint idea of the stock they carry in their large town establishment. After all is said and done, this progressive firm are the

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 19 1895,

If there was as much blow about Wiggins' storm as there is about Wiggins, it wouldn't be a storm at all, but a cyclone The Government should give him a gentle hint to attend to his departmental duties and stop frightening women and children.

La Grande Trappe, the parent of all Trappist monasteries, was lately thrown open to women for the first time in its history, on the occasion of consecration of its new church by the Bishop of Seez. Before that only three women had crossed its threshold James II.'s Queen, Mary of Modena, accompanying her husband in 1696, and Queen Amelia and the Duchesses de Nemours, who were with Louis Philipps when he visited the convent in 1847.

Having succeeded in putting down the sale of beer in New York on Sundays, young Mr. Roosevelt, the energetic police commissioner, has declared war upon the clubs which dispense liquor on the Lord's day. That's right. If it is wrong for the poor man to drink beer on the Sabbath, it must be wrong also for the rich man to drink wine. Let there be no discrimination between the rich and the poor in the enforcement of law. More power to young Mr. Roosevelt! He's the right stuff.

The result of Principal Grant's trip to Manitoba for the purpose of inquiring into the Manitoba school question is to confirm him in the opinion that separate schools should be granted to the Roman Catholic minority. Well, the oracle having spoken, what is that man Greenway going to do about it? Will he be guided by the opinion of Principal Grant or the opinion of the great majority of the people of Manitoba who elected him to power and keep him there?

For upwards of forty years Lord Dufferin has been using his splendid talents in the service of the British empire, as a member of the imperial government, as viceroy and governor-general, as a special commissioner employed in difficult and delicate diplomatic work, and as ambassador of Great Britain at the most important capitals in Europe. He is getting old, and a little tired, and wants a rest. No man in the imperial service deserves more than this great man whatever honors and emoluments a grateful government and people may wish to bestow upon him. It is doubtful if Great Britain and Ireland ever produced a diplomat who was at once more brilliant, more prudent, more daring and more tactful and prescient than Dufferin. It is impossible to estimate the value of the services which such men as he render to the empire.

There are now in Africa so many white men, English, Dutch, Portuguese Italian, French, Belgian, and German, that the slave trade can never again flourish there. More than a million people who are not black can now say that they are Africans, and a good many, of them can boast that they are natives of Africa. The whites, who for a long time did not venture beyond the coast regions, are advancing inland, where there are large areas which they find to be inviting. Millions of black people were brought from Africa in slave ships last century to North and South America, where their descendants now live. Large numbers of white Europeans have in this century gone to Africa, and there established homes for their descendants. The blacks multiply in Brazil and the United States; the whites thrive in Egypt and Algeria, in Cape Colony, and the South African republic. As for the Asiatic races, they prefer to stay in the countries which they inhabited from time immemorial.

THE WALLED HERD.

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Where Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipice Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 71 miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 80 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus for the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase to a point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 30 feet. The ghastly reminder and relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and reaches that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they lie for warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this cow garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

HOW SEVEN HEADS FELL

TO SATISFY FOREIGN DEMANDS FOR JUSTICE.

Details of the Bloody Work Other Culprits Now on Trial for the Massacre of Kucheng—Plot to Kill the Sultan of Turkey—More Fighting in Cuba.

Special to the Times.

FOOCHOW, Sept. 24.—Details of Tuesday's executions have just been received. After the Mandarin had refused on Friday to execute any men implicated in the missionary massacres the American and British Consuls wired to Pekin. On Monday the Mandarin received the Viceroy's order to execute seven men. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning Consuls Hixson, Lieut. Evans and Mr. Gregory, the British Consul, proceeded to Yamen Gate, where two Mandarins sat awaiting them. When the foreigners took their seats the drums were beaten, a salute fired and the Crier shouted three times "The court is open."

Then the condemned men were brought speedily from their cells. They knelt before the Court and were tumbled, securely bound into bamboo cages, on which were attached pieces of paper with the sentence written on them. The Mandarins then put on their scarlets robes, scarlet hoods, and the death procession started for the execution grounds outside of the city, between lines of soldiers.

When the procession arrived, the condemned men were tumbled out and made to kneel with their backs to the Mandarines. Then the five headsmen began their bloody work. The first head fell clean-cut. When the heads of the seven men were cut off the vast crowd gave a great shout. The people clapped their hands and departed. The heads were hung in a prominent place in the city as a warning.

The Mandarins professed to fear further trouble from the crowd of foreigners, who went armed with revolvers, but there was no trouble. No leaders have been executed as yet. Some leaders, with strong backing, hope to escape. The Viceroy is delaying the execution of the others, hoping for a undeserved clemency. Punishment following the crime so soon is unusual after foreign troubles. The execution will have a good effect in showing the people that the matter is serious. Bad feeling was spread through the province because of the delays in execution. At Foochoo the common talk was that the men would escape.

The consuls wiring to Pekin for stringent orders to local officials, who do nothing unless forced, resulted in prompt action.

The flag-bearer who gave orders to kill the women in the missions has been brought to Kucheng for trial.

The executions this week have had a salutary effect upon the vegetarians, who will probably stop further persecutions of Christians.

The prospects for securing ample justice against the ringleaders of the riots are much brighter than they were earlier in the week.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

HAVHNA, Sept. 24.—It is officially announced that on September 21, General Lugue with his command surprised a rebel hospital guarded by a large force of insurgents. The rebel guards resisted the attempt of Lugue to capture the hospital and a fight resulted in killing 37 of the rebels and wounding a number possibly exceeding 100. The government troops have captured the rebel camps at Peralta and Pallita and have also taken possession of the Banquete hospital. The loss to the government forces was one killed and eight wounded.

Are Now Within Seventy Miles of the City of Havana.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. — A letter to the Tribune, from Havana, dated September 19, says: Armed parties of revolutionists are already in the Province of Matanzas and actually within 75 miles of the city of Havana. Of greater importance is the reported advance into the Province of Matanzas. If, as it is said, they have quantities of arms and munition there concealed, and if they are really advancing in force, the crisis is not far off.

Now see that your blood is pure. Good health follows the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla which is the one great blood purifier.

DOLL FURNITURE.

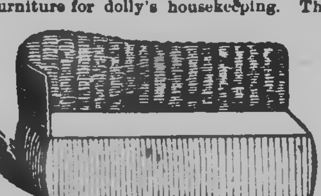
A child is happiest when he is busy, and the mother who can invent little pastimes and everyday amusements will greatly add to the happiness of the nursery. One of the most ingenious and at the same time one of the simplest and easiest amusements is the manufacture of cork furniture for dolly's housekeeping. The first thing to do is to collect a number of old corks. These may be of various styles and sizes, from the tiny stopper of the diminutive medicine vial to the large and ungainly cork of each two gallon vinegar jug or the large flat mushroomlike cork of the marmalade jar.



A SOFA.

These will all come into request for the different styles and sizes of furniture, and the cook and housemaid should have instructions to lay them aside in a little box that they may afford material for the children's playhouse.

Perhaps the simplest article, and therefore the one on which the children should first try their skill, is the doll's chair. The cork can either be taken in its natural shape, in imitation of one of the old fashioned, round parlor chairs, or the sides can be trimmed into an almost cubical form. In either case the side of the cork and the top should be covered with small pieces of bright colored cloth, cut to the proper shape and size, and fastened down with a little mucilage or paste.

It is advisable to put on the circular or square piece of cloth for the seat first and then fasten the longer piece around the sides. Great care should be taken to have it fastened neatly with the gum. If the child possesses a box of paints, he can vary the style of his furniture by substituting a coat of paint for the cloth. And now to construct the chair back. This is done with pins, sticking them carefully into the back of the seat, arranging them to have the heads all even and as close together as possible.

Naturally, if your chair was left like this, the pins would come out more easily than if they were tied together. At this stage you will also need a good supply of some crochet cotton, which should be the same color as your cloth. Take the crochet cotton and wind it in and out of the pins, first securing the end to one of them.

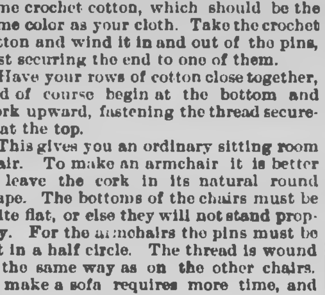
This gives you an ordinary sitting room chair. To make an armchair it is better to leave the cork in its natural round shape. The bottoms of the chairs must be quite flat, or else they will not stand properly. For the armchairs the pins must be put in a half circle. The thread is wound on the same way as on the other chairs. To make a sofa requires more time, and more difficult winding must be done. A long fresh cork must be used for the foundation.

Cut two slices, one larger than the other, off the two sides lengthways, and you will have a flat side for it to stand on, while the broader flat piece will form the seat of the sofa. Cut off a piece of cloth large enough to cover both the seat and side of the sofa and stick it on with gum, tucking in the corners neatly. Now get some small pins and stick them into one side of the seat and get some larger pins and put them at one end for the "head" of the lounge and wind the cotton in and out, as in the chairs.



AN ARMCHAIR—A SITTING ROOM CHAIR.

A little bed is made in much the same way as the sofa, covering it with cloth, but the pins must be put in at each end and not at the side.

To make a washstand the cork must be cut in half and the sides cut off, as in the bed and sofa. Cover it with cloth and stick a pin in each corner to serve as the legs.

By this time you will think of other things you can make out of cardboard and colored paper which will be quite pretty, and your dollhouse will be handsome enough for the most fastidious doll in dolldom.—Kindergarten in New York Mail and Express.

Little Milton and the Clock.

"Well, where will the hands of the clock be, then?" he asked.

His mamma pointed out the respective positions of the hands to indicate the sixth hour. Some time after the mother chanced to look at the clock and was surprised to find it all wrong. Remembering her conversation with Milton the Wise, she called him and inquired what had happened to the clock.

"Why, mamma," explained the boy, clapping his hands, and his eyes dancing with expectation, "I just run the hands around, so grandma would come right straight off!"

The same bright boy tells time in an entirely original way. He looks carefully at the clock and stretches out his little arms in the exact position of the hands. He will go to his mamma and say, "The little hand is here and the big hand is there." And so accurate is he in imitating that one can tell the time to a very few minutes.—Newark Call.

On His Hobby Horse.

From morning till evening a stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.
He rides on a horse that he never can tire,
On a road that's kept warm by the nursery fire,
And when he arrives with the fairies he'll talk,
And in gardens of candies and gingerbread walk.
And that's why so briskly this stout little man
Keeps riding to Nowhere as fast as he can.

INDIAN GAMBLERS.

Sometimes Whole Villages Are Impoverished by a Streak of Bad Luck—They Rely Upon Charms and Their Ability to Cheat—They Are Good Losers.

As eagerly as a duck flops into the water does an Indian jump into a game of chance. Unbounded belief in luck and perhaps the natural deviltry of the race make Indians inveterate gamblers. There is nothing in an Indian's possession that he will not readily wager on a game of chance. Nearly every noble red man is the possessor of an individual charm or fetich which enables him to do things that other Indians cannot do. This fetich is of value exclusively to the owner, and according to their belief would be of no use or advantage to any other Indian. No person besides the posessor knows what the fetich is and were it to become known it would immediately lose its power for good. No Indian will knowingly steal another Indian's fetich. Such theft vitiates the power of the thief's fetich and casts over him a hoodoo.

Having full faith in the ability of his charm to bring luck to him, the Indian never fails to place all his possessions in the balance when there is a bet on. If he loses, he takes it philosophically and attributes his bad luck to the greater power of his adversary's charm. If he wins, he has added faith in the power of his own charm. Indians have been known to wager all their earthly possessions, even to their squaws and children and tepees, on the fall of a stick in one of their games. Indian villages have become pauperized and dependent upon charity for months because the inhabitants bet everything they had on the result of games with other villages. Such occurrences were common several years ago, and were it not for the restrictions of government regulations would be so still.

Gambling is not a secret vice among the Indians. It is indulged in by all the members of the tribe, and the more expert the gambler the higher he stands in the estimation of his fellows. To have the fame of being a successful gambler causes an Indian to looked up to almost as much as if he were a successful warrior. There is no fear of shocking the morals of even the highest chief by proposing a game with him—in fact, the invitation pleases him. One point of advantage held by the red man over his white brother is in the fact that when he loses everything he possesses he is not much poorer than he was before, and he can readily recoup himself by making a raid upon some unfortunate white settler or upon a weaker tribe. The white man may commit suicide, but the Indian simply looks for a victim and seldom fails to find him.

Before the government tightened the moral lines on the Indians professional Indian gamblers were plentiful. Of late years their number has decreased rapidly. The most famous Indian gambler of today is Quelepah, a Comanche. His game is monte. He is about 30 years old, tall and straight, with a thin, narrow face. His eyes are sunken like those of a consumptive. He never smiles and seldom speaks. Like all Indian gamblers, his dress is rich in bright colors. He usually rides a white pony and is attended by two Apache Indians, both famous for deeds of prowess. He travels from village to village and from tribe to tribe. Everywhere he is well known. When his approach is made known, the Indians wait for him to appear, saving their money to play with him, for it is an Indian maxim that "in the game of Quelepah the play is honest, and the stakes are what you please."

Quelepah once appeared at the Cash creek village. He rode into the village shortly before sundown. One of his companions spread a bright red blanket on the ground. Quelepah knelt before it. As he settled down on his haunches and brought forth a new deck of Mexican monte cards the blanket was surrounded by Indians crouching three and four deep. And behind them stood other Indians eager for an opportunity to play. The long, lean fingers of Quelepah shuffled the cards with marvelous rapidity. The interest in the game waxed as the light waned. Candles were procured as night fell and were fastened in sharp pointed green twigs stuck in the ground.

By their flickering light Quelepah could be seen paying his losses and pocketing his gains. He was both dealer and banker. Behind him on his right and on his left crouched his two Apache fellows. As dawn was breaking Quelepah looked about him. He had stripped all save two Indians. One of them was a heavy winner. Laying down $100 for each of them to cover, Quelepah announced that it was his last bet. The cards left were the queen and the deuce. Both Indians laid on the queen. The deuce won. Quelepah pocketed his money. The village, save for the two Indians, was penniless.

Squaws also are inveterate gamblers. It is a common sight to see a dozen squaws, young and old, their papooses lying neglected on the ground, crowded around an old shawl, busy over a 10 cent game of monte. Their play is persistent, and many of them are marvelously clever gamblers. But they seldom have money of their own sufficient to play for high stakes.

One peculiarity of Indian gambling games is their intricacy. In several tribes the writer has seen Indians playing games with sticks and stones for hours at a time. Notwithstanding the closest attention he has been unable to discover the system used, nor has he ever met a white man who could explain the game. There are several games of this kind, and among the Pacific coast tribes they are common.

In addition to his faith in his charm the Indian places great dependence on his ability to cheat. To the best cheat are accorded the highest honors when gambling is indulged in. There is never a thought of getting angry over deft tricks or unfair methods so long as the perpetrator is not caught in the act. If he is caught, he refunds his gains and is laughed at for clumsiness.

Since playing cards have become common, games taught by the whites and Mexicans are generally the favorites among the red men. Monte is played for large amounts. Sometimes an Indian with hundreds of dollars will become impoverished in a single evening by trying his luck against a skillful player. An especially deft monte dealer, more skillful even than Quelepah, has been known to go from tribe to tribe in the mountains of New Mexico and return home loaded down with his winnings. Many Mexican gamblers devote almost their entire time to traveling among the various tribes in the Sierras. They win large sums, but lose them again in Mexican cities.—Fort Sill (O. T.) Cor. New York Sun.

STRANGE, IF TRUE.

A Young Girl Goes Into a Trance—Now in a State of Catalepsy.

Special to The Times.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 24.—Miss Bernadette Demarais, a pretty brunette of 17 years, has been in a trance like state since Monday last. She recoved consciousness today, but only for an hour.

The girl's uncle Moise St. Denis, died Sunday. Monday night the girl and her parents attended the wake. With others she had formed a circle around the casket and the prayers for the dead had been chanted, when with a slight cry she fell forward, with her arms outstretched over the coffin, going into a cataleptic state. Her limbs were so rigid that the knees could not be bent. The hands were clinched, and not even the little fingers could be straightened. The eyes were open wider than usual, but the eyeballs never moved.

There was no sign of life until this afternoon. Then Bernadette returned to consciousness and told her mother that her uncle was in purgatory and was calling to her. For an hour the girl moaned this message from her uncle and then she returned to the cataleptic state.

Her pulse is strong, though the girl has not swallowed any food since Monday. Mrs. Demarais says that before St. Denis died he warned her that something terrible would happen to the family.

The girl is said to have gone into a trance once when much younger, and remained so for three days.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Hamilton Detectives Nail a Firebug Named Lester.

Special to The Times.

HAMILTON, Sept. 24.—There is a lodger resident in No. 3 police station here under the name of R. Lester and in him the detectives believe they have a professional firebug. When searched a ticket for Toronto was found in his pocket.

Detective Doyle and P. C. Bleakley caught the man redhanded. He had rented a room at 25 1 2 King William street where he had placed two parcels which he had insured for $200 a few days previously. Last night he was seen by the two officers to enter the room and light a candle which was about an inch and a half from the floor. Then he went out and locked the door and was subsequently arrested.

TO RESTRAIN THE FIGHT.

Every Effort Being Made to Block Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Special to the Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 24.—It was learned last night that Attorney-General Crane is arranging to sue out an injunction in the District Court of Dallas County to restrain the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. If the judge grants the injunction, which he doubtless will, then the fight management in self defence must appeal the latter to the Court of Criminal Appeals, with a full bench, and thus play directly into the hands of the State, because to get it before this full bench for a decision is exactly what the State wants, as it is believed a full bench of the court will reverse Chief Justice Hurt's individual opinion. It is well known Governor Culberson does not propose to accept Judge Hurt's opinion as final and says he wants a full court's opinion or nothing.

If we were continuing in business would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapidity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

Because we think the plan a good one we're selling direct to the consumer, though a large wholesale concern.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 21, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

PETERBOROUGH. SEPTEMBER 21 1896.

THE BIG FAIR IS OVER.

leaders, and there is no disputing the quality of their goods, the cheapness in cash price, or the value received for small outlay. The markets of the world are ransacked to keep their stock complete, up to date and to afford a selection not to be surpassed in Canada, and the result is the crowds they draw and the warerooms of goods they sell. Their exhibit was rich and magnificent, and attracted attention and evoked admiration and praise. Hall, Gilchrist & Co. deserve success for their energy and enterprise.

TURNER & SONS.

The exhibit of our worthy flag and tent kings, J. J. Turner & Sons, was like the plains of Israel when the armies awoke—dotted with tents. The exhibition of their canvas, the durability of their tents and the splendor of their flags and bunting was shown in a gigantic exhibit that spoke volumes for the enterprise of the firm, who now send their goods and find a ready demand for them all over Canada.

We presume that ten tents of almost every style and shape which they manufacture, was erected and equipped on the grounds, from the large marquees for exhibition purposes to the smallest garden tent. Square wall tents, very roomy and cosy, with walls 6 feet high; lawn tents, in fancy striped duck; two new tents of English style, with projecting awnings; comfortable compartment family tents, just like a portable canvas house, with bedrooms divided into compartments; refreshment or dining tents for social occasions, which opened out in admirable shape and present a fine appearance; garden tents, in fancy stripe, very pretty for garden or lawns; round tents, with and without walls; the Northwest tent, for lumbermen, surveyors, contractors, etc. They also showed samples of their well-known tent and camping goods, camp beds, folding cots, waterproof clothing, horse and wagon covers, camp stoves, reclining chairs, camp stools, chairs, and tables, for all of which they have received the highest awards wherever exhibited. The exhibit was in charge of Mr. J. Turner, jr., and quite a little array of assistants.

ASHBURNHAM WOOLLEN MILLS.

The exhibit of Proprietor Wm. Faint, was indeed a creditable one, showing wool manufactured in nearly every article conceivable, including blankets, horse blankets, yarns, etc. The exhibit was extremely interesting to farmers, who saw the product of their sheep manufactured into articles of use. The Ashburnham Woollen Mills is a valuable factor in Peterborough's manufacturing industries, and in supplying the wool growers of this section with a home market for their wool, they are doing a great deal not only for the farmers but for Peterborough as well.

FESSENDEN CASE A MYSTERY.

The Missing Trunk Has Not Been Found—A Theory That He Was Robbed.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, Sept. 25.—A Fort Erie special in the Evening News says a brother of Victor Fessenden, who shot himself at Spain's Cottage hotel last Tuesday night came here yesterday from Pittsburg to make enquiries about his brother's movements while here. There is considerable mystery about the case, and the family are inclined to believe that he was robbed before he reached Fort Erie. When he left home he had something over $20 in money, besides his ticket to Pittsburg. His trunk, which was well filled with clothing, was checked from Ancaster to Buffalo.

Where he spent the time between his arrival in Buffalo on Saturday and his appearance in Fort Erie the following Monday is a mystery. His was the only trunk checked from Ancaster to Buffalo on that day, and inquiry at the depot in the latter place discovered that it was taken from the baggage room soon after the arrival of the train. Who presented the check and got the trunk is not known, nor can the family learn where it was taken.

When young Fessenden applied for a room at Spain's hotel, in Fort Erie, on Monday he had no baggage, and after the shooting only 15c in money was found in his pockets.

SEVERAL LIVES LOST.

The Schooner Williams Has Gone Down in Lake Michigan.

Special to The Times.

ESCANABA, Mich, Sept. 25.—During Sunday night's gale the schooner Chas. R. Williams of Elyria, Ohio, sank, and all on board are reported to have been lost. The crew consisted of Capt. Hunton; Maggie Bennett, stewardess; the mate and four sailors. The cargo was 570 tons of iron ore from Escanaba to Toledo. The schooner was in tow of the steamer Santa Maria, but the Maria lost her. The Williams' topmast was seen yesterday sticking out of the water near St. Msrtin's Island.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich, Sept 25.—The schooner A. W. Comstock, Capt. W. McArthur, foundered of Stannard Rock, Lake Superior, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Her crew of eight men took to the life-boat, and were tossed about in the heavy sea until 10 o'clock, when they were rescued by the steamer John J. McWilliams. Capt. McArthur was badly hurt, having one leg and three ribs broken. The Comstock was laden with 50,000 bushels of wheat. She was valued at $45,000 and was fully insured.

MACKINAW City, Mich., Sept. 25. The Queen City, a schooner owned by C R. Benham, of Cleveland, and valued at $18,000, was wrecked on Hog Island Reef yesterday. The crew were rescued after a night of suffering in the rigging.

MUTINY AND MURDER.

Schooner Found on the Potomac in a Sinking Condition.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A tale of murder, mutiny and robbery on the high seas was brought here tonight by the steamer Sue. The schooner John A. Dixon was found floating about in the river, near Cedar Point, about nine o'clock last night. On the schooner was the body of the captain, with wounds on it, showing that his death had been the result of a murderous assault. It is supposed that the murderers belonged to the crew, and that after committing the deed and robbing the body and boat of all the money they could find took a boat and went ashore, making their way toward Washington. An attempt had been made to scuttle the schooner, and before the crew of the Sue could save it the schooner sank. The name of the captain is not known and the body was left on the schooner, which sank in shallow water. The schooner was loaded with lumber from Annapolis, Md., and was bound for Washington.

MUTTERINGS OF WAR.

A Berlin Newspaper is the Authority for the Report that Hostilities Are Imminent.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept 25.—A dispatch to the Herald from Berlin says: "The Kreuz Zeitung declares that the France-Russian alliance has become a political factor of the importance. At any moment war, which, up to the present time, has been avoided only by a miricle, may break out. The signal for hostilities will, however, declares the Kreutz Zeitung, be given from Paris, not St. Petersburg, where the want of a firm hand in the Government is everywhere apparent.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

An Iowa Man Kills His Wife, to Whom He Was Secretly Married.

Special to The Times.

OSKALOOSE, Iowa, Sept. 25.—M. E. Stinson, a travelling man, and his wife were found dead from bullet wounds in bed together at the Asher house yesterday. The double crime was committed by Stinson. The woman was recognized as Miss Arta Moore, whose wealthy parents live in Panora, a few miles from Des Moines. She was attending Grinnell College, and it was not known until today that she was married secretly to Stinson on October 14, 1892.

Murder on a C.P.R. Steamer.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 25.—The C. P. R. steamer Empress of India, from Chinese and Japan ports, arrived here at an early hour this morning and later proceeded to Vancouver. She reports that while at Yokohoma a Japanese came aboard and had a fracas with a couple of Chinamen. The outcome was that he cut one Celestial's head off and badly slashed the other. The murderer was immediately placed under arrest, and his trial will take place at Yokohoma.

CAN NEVER BE ONE PEOPLE.

That the 280,000,000 inhabitants of the continent of India should ever become one nation is so wild an improbability, and, even if possible, a matter of so many centuries, that its assumed realization cannot be made the basis of practical politics, says the National Review. England and Ireland are an example of the slowness of growth of a common national sentiment in closely allied peoples forming one state, and the national unification of medieval Europe would have been a problem analagous to that of India today. For Latin then, as English now, in India was a common tongue for the educated classes, yet the former did not supplant, as the latter is now not destroying, the popular languages. And the ideal of a temporal head of Christendom in the holy Roman emperor, with its attendant aspirations, was a sentiment counteracting local or tribal feeling stronger than any that has yet arisen in India from the superimposed authority of the Queen's government, while there is nothing in India to correspond with the religious unity of Europe under the popes.

For Hindooism and Islam show no signs of decay, and the antagonism between their followers is on the increase. In the traditions of history one of the most powerful elements of national sentiment, the pride of the one is the shame of the other. The Mussulman glories in Aurangzeb; the followers of Gobind Singh and Sivaji detest his memory. Intermarriage is impossible, and is a sin even among the myriad castes of Hindoos. There is no historical example of such a miracle as the amalgamation into one nation of such a multitude of diverse elements, and if it is to be effected the first steps have yet to be taken.

Sweeter than Sugar.

A discovery of extraordinary interest has been recently made in the Kent Laboratory at the Chicago University. A new compound has been found which has sweetening powers in excess of those possessed by saccharine, which has hitherto been considered the sweetest substance known to chemists.

While working upon a series derived from the coal-tar products, Dr. H. L. Wheeler happened to touch his pencil to his tongue. He was astonished that it had a very sweet taste. Upon looking for the cause, Dr. Wheeler found that he had done some writing on a piece of filter paper, upon which there was a very small quantity of the material which he had been working with. This led him to look into the matter and he found that a taste like that of licorice was noticeable.

An Anecdote About Stead.

In a recent article the irrepressible Mr. Stead boasted of enjoying a private conversion with the late Czar, "as frank and full and unreserved as I ever held with any man." It was during a visit to St. Petersburg. As Stead complimented Alexander in the Pall Mall Gazette at a time when other British papers were reviling him, the Czar was induced to favor the journalist with an interview. It was stipulated, however, that it should not last more than fifteen minutes. At the end of that time the emperor looked at his watch and arose to indicate that the interview should cease. "But, your majesty," protested Mr. Stead, 'you have not said a word." "No," said the Czar; you haven't given me a chance."

Why He Swam Out.

The Professor swims from the sinking boat and climbs up on the bank. Then, dashing in again he returns to the wreck and rescues his wife.

"Ah, my dear sir," was the learned man's reply, "I was bound to save myself first. Self-preservation is the highest law of nature."—Boston Post.

Doesn't Get Around in Time.

Tommy—Do you say your prayers every night?

Jimmy—Yep.

"And does your maw say hers?"

"Yep."

"And does your paw?"

"Naw. Paw don't need to. It's almost daylight when he gets to bed."—Cincinnati Tribune.

In a Quandary.

Modern Maid—I wish some advice.

Old Lady—Certainly, my dear. What is it?

Modern Maid—Shall I marry a man whose tastes are the opposite of mine, and quarrel with him, or shall I marry a man whose tastes are the same as mine, and get tired of him?

A Bankrupt Convict.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—In a hearing of the Oscar Wilde bankruptcy case today, counsel for Mr. Wilde stated that his debts amounted to $3,501, and that there were no assets. Several friends, it was stated, had subscribed a sufficient sum to pay all the claims against Mr. Wilde except that of the largest creditor, who is a personal friend of the debtor. The examination was adjourned until November 12th. The convict play wright and author was brought from his prison to the Bankruptcy Court in a cab. He was not called to the stand, however.

Suspected of Being Spies.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—The arrest at Cologne of a Frenchman and his female companion on suspicion that they were spies has developed into a matter of much importance. It appears that a traitorous conspiracy exists, the main object of which is the obtaining of information regarding German ordnance.

Purified Blood

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. A TRUE BILL.

The Grand Jury Will Indict Thos. and Hessie Gray For Murder.

A VERDICT LAST NIGHT

ALTHOUGH THE GRAND JURY WILL NOT MAKE A DELIVERANCE UNTIL THIS MORNING—TRIAL MAY NOT BEGIN TO-DAY.

Much interest centers in the approaching trial of Thomas and Hessie Gray, charged with the murder of old David Scollie, of Otonabee, which it is alleged took place in February, 1894.

From all indications the trial will begin at noon today. Yesterday afternoon the Court adjourned because the Grand Jury had not made a deliverance, until 11:30 this morning. At this time the Grand Jurors were examining the witnesses in the Gray case. It was concluded from this that they would find in this case first, and in the event of a true bill being brought in when court convened this morning, the trial of the Grays' would immediately be proceeded with. This was the opinion of several legal gentlemen interested in the case.

A TRUE BILL.

The Grand Jury concluded the hearing of evidence yesterday afternoon and found a true bill of indictment for murder, which they will deliver when court convenes this morning. THE TIMES learned this from a reliable source, and it is safe to anticipate the deliverance which the Grand Jury will make this morning, by stating that a true bill will be brought in.

Notwithstanding this, the Gray's trial may not proceed this morning, for it is learned that the Grand Jury also found true bills in the housebreaking and forcible entry cases, and if this be true it will be the usual proceedure to clear the docket of these cases first, in which event the Gray case would not likely be reached before Friday. It is at any rate, far from an assured fact, that the Grays will be placed on trial this morning.

Crown Prosecutor R. C. Clute, Q.C., had all the witnesses in the Gray Case closeted with him last night at the Huffman House. This is taken as an indication in favor of the trial beginning today.

A NEW ORDER.

Sherwood Forest Camp Canadian Order of Woodmen Organized.

A CAMP of the Canadian Order of Woodmen of the World was organized last Wednesday night by Head Organizer Hawthorne, of Brantford. The Camp, which hereafter will be known as Sherwood Forest Camp No. 30 already boasts of a large membership, consisting of prominent citizens, and no doubt the branch of the Order in Peterborough will flourish and grow. The officers elected at the organization meeting were:

Council Commander	L. Wallace

Clerk	Jas. Snyder
Banker	W. H. Meldrum
Escort	E. Atchinson
Watchman	A. E. Runnals
Sentinel	C. Gousolis

Last night the Camp met at the Grand Central and incidentally sat down to a splendid repast prepared by Mine Host Gobiel, to which they did ample justice. Bro. Wm. Hayden, presided in the chair, and Head Organizer Hawthorne was called upon to outline the nature and benefits of the order which he did in a very able manner.

The order has 65 Camps in the Canadian jurisdiction and all are in a flourishing condition.

A very pleasant social evening was spent by the brethren last night.

The Camp meets every second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

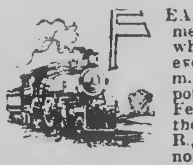
KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Train Dashes Into a Wagon Killing Driver and Horses.



FEARFUL was the lamentable occurrence which took place last evening about 6.45 p.m., at the dangerous point known as the Fenelon crossing on the Grand Trunk R. R., about two miles northwest of Lindsay.

At about 6.25 the Coboconk train, in charge of Conductor Greaves and Driver Deyman, pulled out from the station at Lindsay on the way north, and at about the same time a young man named Obediah Campbell, about 10 years of age, who worked for Messrs. Eustace and James H. Hopkins, of West Ops, turned slowly north from the Oakwood road and approached the crossing, driving a team of horses attached to hay rack. Several parties from town who were driving out to the Cambray church opening saw the vehicle ahead of them until it disappeared over the hill leading to the crossing. A few minutes later, when they reached the brow and saw the train halted below, they realized that an accident must have happened, and such unfortunately proved to be the case.

The sight that greeted their eyes was indeed a terrible one. About twenty feet from the crossing, up against the steep bank, they found the unfortunate boy driver, with his right leg ground almost into a jelly from the knee downwards; one of the horses had been carried along a short distance under the wheels of the train and crushed into an unrecognizable mass, while the other animal lay on its back in the ditch alongside the rails.

The first care of Conductor Greives and the train hands was for the wounded boy. The bell rope was hastily cut and transformed into a rude tournique above the knee to lessen the excessive flow of blood, and the young man was then carried as tenderly as possible to the train, which at once backed down to the station, where the Grand Trunk surgeons, Drs. Simpson and Kempt, were quickly in attendance. Under their care Campbell was removed to Maunder's hotel, and after consultation with Drs. Poole and Burrows the mangled limb was amputated above the knee. It was considered extremely doubtful that the poor fellow could survive the shock to his nervous system and the loss of blood, and unfortunately their fears proved true—about 2 o'clock in the morning he became very weak and at 3 o'clock he passed away.

The railway men state that they were running at the rate of about twelve miles per hour when the accident happened. The usual whistles had been sounded for the crossing, and when the train was a short distauce away the engineer saw a team on the track. The driver apparently tried to back the horse off, as they were facing west when the engine struck them. One of the horses was found in the ditch uninjured, by a party of bicyclists, who happened along a few minutes after the train had started towards the town. The poor beast was wedged in so tightly that he had to be pried out with a scantling and when freed was so nervous that he could hardly stand.

The crossing where the accident occured is a notoriously dangerous spot and there have been hundreds of narrow escapes there during the past ten or twelve years. We understand that upon more than one occasion grand juries have referred to it in their presentments, but no action was taken, and it has required the sacrifice of a human life to awaken the parties at fault from their culpable lethargy. The public safety requires an overhead bridge at that road crossing or proper gates in charge of a watchman. It is said that parties who were in the neighborhood assert that the train never whistled for the crossing. This is extremely improbable, as Conductor Greaves and Driver Deyman are both careful men. A strong wind was blowing from the west at the time, and the noise of a heavy wagon would be quite likely to drown the sound of the whistle.

An inquest was held last evening at Mander's hotel.

Up to noon yesterday the railway authorities and others were unable to find out where the boy's parents lived. When questioned by the medical men the boy said they lived a few miles north of Fenelon Falls, but no one in that village knew of their whereabouts. We have since learned that John Campbell, the father, resides at Burnt Hill.

The accident has cast a gloom over the whole community, and the Messrs. Hopkins, the lad's employers, are especially grieved, as they thought highly of the deceased.

THE FALL ASSIZES.

Chancellor Boyd Addresses the Grand Jury—Civil Cases Tried.

YESTERDAY morning at 9.30 His Lordship, Chancellor Boyd, addressed the Grand Jury briefly and to the point, telling them that their duties would commence at once. The cases which it was their sworn duty were not numerous, he was glad to say, but were of a very serious nature, and required their calm consideration.

After referring to the changes in the jury system, wherein the Grand Jury was now composed of 13 members, instead of 23 as formerly, and in the petit jury, the law requiring only 10 men to be unanimous in civil cases, etc, His Lordship dwelt upon the duties of the present Grand Jury, which had to enquire into a murder case, house breaking case, and one of forcible entry. It was their duty to decide whether the accused in these cases go to trial or not. They could deal with these cases on their merits. They could only hear, the Chancellor said, one side of the case, that which the Crown presents. If there was evidence crime had been committed they could send the case on to the petit jury. If they could not satisfy themselves by the evidence that a crime had been committed they could ignore the matter. Murder and housebreaking were usually cases in which the evidence was circumstantial. In such the act was usually committed after deliberation and with much planning. Speaking of the murder charge His Lordship pointed out that the old man alleged to have been murdered had given, it was said, the prisoners now charged with his murder his property they agreeing to keep him until his death. The house had been burned along with the old man. Though the husband might not have been present the night of the fire, he was as guilty in the eyes of the law if he was an accessory. The Chancellor then spoke of the housebreaking and larceny charges. These had been committed in day time and were clearly offences against the public. Forcible entry was a relic of olden times when knights used to summon aid from their tenants and make forcible entry on property. These cases were very unusual in the present time and they might find this case to be only one of trespass. The next thing a grand jury might do was the presentment of public grievances. He perceived other grand juries had done so, especially favoring a poor house. It was a reproach to any community to have the poor people, old and feeble, confined in a gaol. They should have a proper house for them and he learned by a resolution of the county council that the county was willing to build a poor house if the town of Peterborough would assist. This was only fair, the Judge said. The jury also had the privilege of visiting public institutions. The grand jury then retired.

CIVIL CASES YESTERDAY.

Sampson vs. Weese.—An action by Clarissa Sampson against Sara Jane Weese and Henry Weese. The plaintiff, a resident of Belmont, claims possession of lands and crops purchased from John Holbrook on lot four, concession eight, Belmont. She also claims $3000 profits on land since July 11th, 1895, when the place was purchased and asks for costs of the action. The defendant denies plaintiff's claim and asks that the conveyance of the land from James Holbrook to plaintiff be declared fraudulent and void. They also ask for possession of land and profits under a deed of James Holbrook to Sarah Jane Weese, and asks for costs of the action. W. A. F. Campbell (Norwood) for the plaintiff, and Edmison and Dixon for defendants. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for possession of land and costs of the case.

WAGES CASE.

Trew vs. Trew was the next case tried, and the services of a jury were dispensed with. James Trew, of Hope township, sued his uncle, David Trew, for $400 wages and costs of action.

The plaintiff practically killed his own case by admitting that when he went to live with his uncle he had not hired out for any stated wages; further that he had begun the suit without even asking his uncle for a cent of wages.

The defense produced witnesses who swore that the plaintiff had told them that he was working for his keep, and also that plaintiff made the statement that he had begun the suit for spite.

The action was dismissed with costs against the plaintiff.

The grand jury not having brought in bills in any of the criminal cases, the court adjourned until 11.30 this morning.

A SERIES OF ACCIDENTS.

Yesterday an Unlucky Day at the Electric Works.

Mr. James Moore, a young man in the employ of the Canadian General Electric Company met with a very painful and serious accident yesterday afternoon.

Moore was operating a socketing and riveting machine when his shirt sleeve was caught in a revolving collar which drew his arm in the machine, and a revolving bolt entered the flesh at the shoulder and tore it open to the bone as far down as the elbow, terribly lacerating the arm and creating a terrible wound.

The injured man was taken to his home on Park street where Dr. Boucher dressed the wound. He will be laid up for some time.

CRUSHED HIS FINGERS.

R. Morgan was working in the armature department at the Works yesterday morning, when he let an armature fall on his hand, badly crushing three fingers. He was taken to his home and Dr. Boucher dressed the injured hand.

A YOUNG LADY INJURED.

Miss McCabe, who works in the wire department, was operating a spooling machine yesterday afternoon, when her hand was drawn into the machine and two fingers were badly cut and lacerated. She was taken home and medical attendance summoned.

Narrow Escapes.

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Sept. 25.—Forest fires are raging in this vicinity and extend for several miles. Fears were entertained during last evening that the Intercolonia Temiscouata Railway properties would suffer, but fortunately the wind abated. The Frazerville fire brigade was on hand the greater part of the day which, in a measure, prevented the spreading of a fire in the immediate vicinity of the railway property. It is rumored that 14 buildings were burned at St. Arsene, and farmers at St. Epiphane and St. Modest have also suffered to a considerable extent. During the afternoon and part of the evening a perfect gale was blowing from the southwest. The citizens feared that a conflagration was imminent, and preparations to move was made.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

VOL. XXI. NO. 228 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 27 1895. PRICE TWO CENTS

MRS. HESSIE GRAY PLACED ON TRIAL.

The Crown Presents Its Case to The Jury And Calls Witnesses.

Was Scollie Drugged Before the Fire—The Medical Evidence All In—Wm. McGregor and His Wife Tell Their Story In The Box—The Evidence of a Dozen Witnesses Taken Yesterday—The Crown Will Probably Conclude Its Case This Morning—The Court Room Crowded With Spectators a Large Percentage of Whom Are Ladies—Complete Report of Yesterday's Trial.

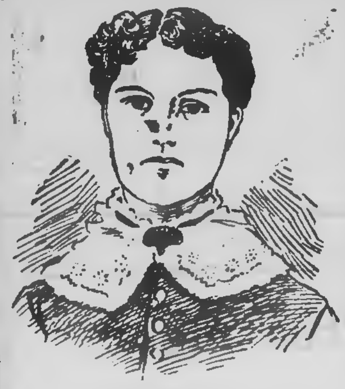
YESTERDAY at 11.30, when the Assize court convened, the Grand Jury brought in true bills against Thomas and Hessie Gray, and Hessie Gray was immediately placed on trial charged with the murder of old David Scollie. The jury was immediately empanelled it occupying only 30 minutes of the court's time in the selection of 12 good men and true, who will decide the fate of Hessie Gray. The jury is composed as follows:

Allen Gilchrist, farmer, Asphodel.
J. B. Powell, farmer, Otonabee.
Geo. S. McKee, farmer, Smith.
Donald H. Booth, photographer, Norwood.
J. A. McIntyre, farmer, Otonabee.
Richard Chôwen, blacksmith, Peterborough.
Wm. Clarke, farmer, Monaghan.
Stuart Scott, farmer, Asphodel.
Ed M. Elliott, farmer, Smith.
Moses Fisher, tailor, Lakefield.
Wm. Wilson, cheesemaker, Anstruther.
Wm. Shearer, farmer, Otonabee.

In the selection of the jury fourteen men were challenged, the Crown challenging 13 and the defence 1.

A COINCIDENCE.

It is a strange coincidence that on the petit jury, 28 of the jurors were residents of Peterborough. In accordance with the new order an extra panel of 48 should have been selected. However, only 24 were selected on this panel. The Crown presuming that the defence would challenge the small percentage of country residents, and having cognizance of the sympathy of the towns people for the Grays, decided to try the prisoners separately thus lessening the challenge number of the defence. Had the prisoners been tried jointly the defence had the privilege of challenging 40.



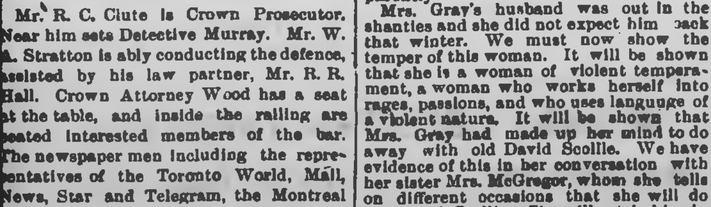
HESSIE GRAY.

THE TRIAL IN PROGRESS.

THE THEORY OF THE CROWN—SCOLLIE SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUGGED.

Mr. R. C. Clute is Crown Prosecutor. Near him sets Detective Murray. Mr. W. A. Stratton is ably conducting the defence, assisted by his law partner, Mr. R. R. Hall. Crown Attorney Wood has a seat at the table, and inside the railing are seated interested members of the bar. The newspaper men including the representatives of the Toronto World, Mail, News, Star and Telegram, the Montreal Herald and Gazette, and the Review, Examiner and TIMES are scattered around inside the railing. The prisoner sets edately in one corner of the arge prisoners' dock and looks down n her eldest daughter who is arrying the baby, and every now and hen the mother reaches over and takes he infant in her arms and holds it to her osom until it becomes restless. Then the ittle girl takes the child and walks with t in her arms up and down the corridors. Kind hearted ladies in the audience yes-erday, nursed the infant by turns.

The Crown will show its hand today and utline its theory more definitely than esterday. The Crown claims that Scollie vas drugged with laudanum and burned fterwards.



A—The Grays' house. B—Z. Burnham's house. C Mrs. McGregor's house. D Keene road. E Norwood road.

In support of this the Crown will place in the box, Mr. Alfred Cowan, drug clerk for Mr. J.D. Tully, and Mr. Cowan will produce the poison book, showing where on November, 1894, a Mrs. Gray bought one half ounce of laudanum. The evidence of Mrs. McGregor relates a conversation in November of that year with Mrs. Gray, at which time Mrs. Gray said:

"I will poison the damned old brute, and then burn him up."

If in a drugged condition, the position of Scollie's hands folded peacefully across his breast, as he was found according to the testimony of a dozen witnesses proves that he was insensible to the fire that surrounded him, and that the evidence of a violent death are compatible with this theory.

PRESENTING THE CASE.

Mr. Clute addressed the jury presenting the Crown's case briefly. The jury had a serious and important duty to perform. The administration of justice was in their hands. He realized the sympathy for a woman placed on trial for her life. This was in the mind of the Crown prosecution and he would not press any point unduly, but in face of all this they were expected to fearlessly do their duty. He explained that he made these remarks in order that they might be one, and that he might assist him and go fearlessly on to do their duty to the end. Mr. Clute then outlined the circumstances of the case. He said it would be shown in evidence that prior to the alleged murder the position of the parties had become irksome so far as the Grays were concerned and that threats of the most dangerous character were made by the prisoner at the bar. It could be shown that on the night of the alleged murder the prisoner at the bar was in the house alone, her husband being away. Mr. Clute here produced a plan of the Gray dwelling and the surrounding neighborhood, and the jury had this plan laid before them and the distances of the different neighbors' houses from the Gray dwelling. A fire took place, Mr. Clute contined, about two o'clock in the morning, and the first outside intimation of the fire was given by the children of the prisoner who came to McGreggor's. The prisoner did not accompany them. McGreggor got up and started for the fire, and a little west met Mrs. Gray. He asked where was Scollie, and she said he was in the house. She said she had gone down to the bridge with the intention of going to Deyell's but had changed her mind and came back. He ran on to the house and found the eastern part of the house in flames, and said he would run over to Burnham's and get help to get Scollie out. When he came back it was impossible to get the old man out. Mr. Clute then described the manner in which Scollie's body was removed from the ruins, and the condition in which it was found. The contention of the Crown was, he said, that if the head had been burned some traces of it would have been found, having regard to the condition of the body as found. The opinion of the experts further was that having regard to the condition of the bones of the neck, that the head could not have been so completely burned if it had not been previously removed. The Crown, however, did not hang its whole case of this supposition.

It is the duty of the Crown to show, and we propose to show, what interest the Grays had in making away with old Davy Scollie. He was an apparently healthy old man, and on the Wednesday previous to the murder the Crown will show that he was seen alive, and in perfect health, apparently.

Mrs. Gray's husband was out in the shanties and she did not expect him back that winter. We must now show the temper of this woman. It will be shown that she is a woman of violent temperament, a woman who works herself into rages, passions, and who uses languuge of a violent nature. It will be shown that Mrs. Gray had made up her mind to do away with old David Scollie. We have evidence of this in her conversation with her sister Mrs. McGregor, whom she tells on different occasions that she will do away with Scollie. She will catch him in Fitzgerald's lane and kill him; she will chop his head and then burn the house and then "who in hell will know anything about it." This was Mrs. Gray's talk before the bloody deed.

In most cases we find there is the thought of the deed, the deliberation over a plan, and the execution. We clearly have a case of this nature now. We have evidence of this woman's threats to kill Scollie, her violent temperament, and the motive standing out plain and clear. The Crown will show the deliberation of the plan, the motive for the murder of the man, and the strong circumstances that point to these prisoners as murderers.

AN ADJOURNMENT.

When Mr. Clute concluded, His Lordship adjourned the court for one hour. The spectators, however, did not leave the room, but held their seats all during the noon recess. The attendance of ladies during the noon hour was larger than in the morning.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Crown Examines a Large Number of Witnesses,

When the Court convened at 1.30 o'clock, the court room was packed with eager, curious spectators, a large percentage of whom were ladies. The prisoner, Hessie Gray, was led to the dock, and in taking the seat inside the inclosure, looked half way around in a nervous manner.

Mr. Clute asked that the witnesses on both sides be excluded from the court room with the exception of the medical witnesses. His Lordship had this done.

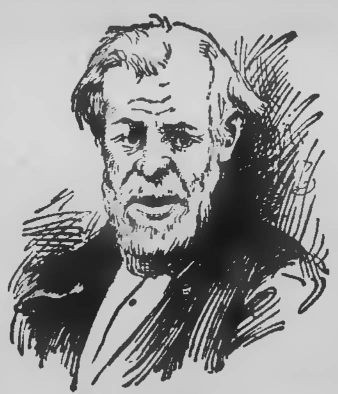
W. L. Innis, C. E., was the first witness called, and be swore to the plans and measurements which the Crown prosecutor used in indicating distances to the McGregors and Burnhams' from the Gray's house. The Burnham's were the nearest to the Gray's. Witness had made accurate measurement of the distances and also timed himself in going from one point to the other.

He had also made a map of the Gray house from accurate measurements on the scale of four miles to the inch. He had estimated that a man going at the rate of one mile an hour would reach the LaBelle's from the Grays in 25 minutes. Mr. Stratton questioned the witness on points of time.

The defense put in a plan as evidence, but Mr. Clute objected on the ground that the plan was not made on a relative scale.

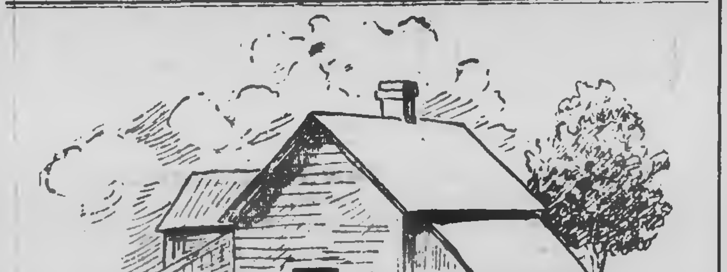
MARK BURNHAM.

Mark Burnham, son of Zack Burnham, Gray's nearest neighbor, was the second witness. This witness was not called at the preliminary hearing, and his evidence was new.



DAVID SCOLLIE.

Witness said he lived in Otonabee near the place where Scollie lived or just across the road. He remembered the burning of the Gray's house. Previous to the fire he had not seen Scollie for some time. The first intimation he had of the fire was McGregor calling at the house the morning of the fire. He got up, called his father and went over to the Grays. The house was all on fire and the smoke was coming out of the eaves. Fire also came out of the north window near the road. There was no fire up stairs at all. He hadn't remained there long—it was cold and stormy. When he got there he met McGregor. The next to come was his father. He left then and went home, and came back at 6 o'clock. By this time he had seen no indication of a body being in the flames. In the morning when he returned the body was taken out. He saw Mr. Weir and others digging it out. The body was covered with blankets. He was not near enough to make a close examination.



The house of Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Gray's sister, where Mrs. Gray first gave the alarm.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Witness told Mr. Stratton that the first words of McGregor were that old Scollie was burned alive. Afterwards McGregor told him that Scollie might have escaped. It was impossible to rescue Scollie had he been in the building. Neither of them made any effort to rescue Scollie.

To Mr. Clute witness said it would not have been any use, as no one could have lived in the house for the smoke and heat.

ZACHIAS BURNHAM.

The father of the former witness said he knew Scollie, and lived nearly opposite. He appeared to be a healthy old man, apparently 70 years of age. Hadn't seen him for some time previous to the fire. When alarmed on that morning, he hurried over and found the house pretty well burned on the east side, but the west side was not very much burned. He was told Scollie was burned, so he made no attempt to go in the house. In fact the flames prevented anyone going in. He didn't remain until the house was entirely burned, but up to the time of going home he did not observe any signs of the body. At 7 o'clock in the morning he returned to the ruins, and helped take Scollie's body out. He didn't observe the position of the body, it was in the north part of the house, some distance from where he slept. The body was all covered except the hands. He had examined the dead man's breast, and it was not burnt at all. The hair upon his breast was not burned. When the body was taken out the head was missing.

He couldn't see that there would be any difference in the heat on different parts of the body. If the head had been there it would have been covered with plaster too.

Had he been warned at first, he thought he could have rendered some assistance. He was pretty sure the body found was Scollie's body.

The Grays' had lived opposite him for 5 or 6 years. He knew the prisoner and her husband well. They were on friendly terms. Nothing to prevent being called upon in case of fire. His wife had assisted the Gray's in times of sickness.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Mr. Stratton asked witness if they were on visiting terms, to which witness replied that they were on neighborly terms.

When he reached the burning house that morning, he could do nothing to save Scollie. Had he got there 10 minutes sooner, he could have done something. He made no close examination of the neck of the body the next morning.

To Mr. Clute witness said there was no truth in the defence's claim that he, the witness, had pursued Mrs. Gray in the matter, or showed any feeling in the case.

JOHN GRAHAM WEIR.

John Graham Weir deposed that he lived a mile and a half from the Gray building. He had been acquainted with Scollie for many years. Scollie was a stout built, heavy set man, weighing about 180, and a very vigorous, robust man. He thought his age would be about 64 had he lived to the present time. Prior to the fire he had not seen Scollie for one week. He had heard of the fire about 7 o'clock on the morning of the fire and he was at the Gray place at 7.30. The building at this time was in ruins, the walls had fell and the debris filled the cellar. The spot where Scollie's body was supposed to be was pointed out. He then went to the spot and afterwards dug all around the body, about a foot away from it, until he got down to the floor, which he concluded was the lower floor of the house. Under the place where he dug there was no cellar; the cellar was a little further over. The joist of the floor was on the ground.

The covering on the body consisted of narrow strips of board and plaster to the depth of 8 inches. There was no difference in the distribution of the debris. Had the head been there it would have been equally covered. The body rested on a straw mattrass, and the mattrass rested on the floor. There were no cinders between the body and the mattrass or the mattrass and the floor. The floor was not burned.

Witness had come to the conclusion that Scollie had slept on the floor. No one could view the body and come to any other conclusion. The debris on top of the body was composed of strips and plaster which he concluded came from the ceiling and walls of that lower room.

Scollie's foot was burnt. The toes and part of the foot as far up as the instep were burned. The feet were stretched out and were turned up. The feet had woollen socks on.

When the body was taken the hands were folded across the chest and the blankets and clothes were wrapped closely around him, the hands under the bed clothes. The impression he received was that the old man had wrapped himself up warmly. The bed clothes had not been disturbed in the least. The body had on a guernsey shirt. The breast, when exposed showed a heavy growth of hair, up to the neck and it was not scorched. Deceased had a short neck and the distance between the hair to the point where the head had been severed, was not more than 3 or 4 inches.

The neck looked almost like a square cut, a little longer behind than in front. At the time he formed the impression that the man's head had been cut off. The body, he understood, was taken to the barn.

Witness had never seen the interior of the house. It was what they called a strip house. He couldn't say anything as to the value of the house.

He had seen Mrs. Gray frequently working about the place.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

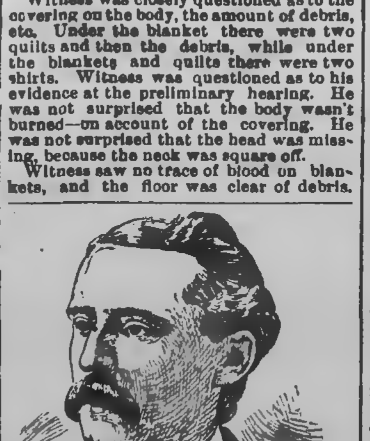
"Mr. Weir," asked Mr. Stratton, "since this trial began did you not go to Mr. Smithson, of Ashburnham, and ask him how his son-in-law felt on this case, knowing that he was a member of the jury?"

The witness did not deny the question.

Then Mr. Stratton by a series of sharp questions endeavored to show that the witness had shown more than ordinary interest, and displayed great zeal in aiding the detectives secure evidence against Mrs. Gray, and had made himself most active in the prosecution.

Witness was closely questioned as to the covering on the body, the amount of debris, etc. Under the blanket there were two quilts and then the debris, while under the blankets and quilts there were two shirts. Witness was questioned as to his evidence at the preliminary hearing. He was not surprised that the body wasn't burned—on account of the covering. He was not surprised that the head was missing, because the neck was square off.

Witness saw no trace of blood on blankets, and the floor was clear of debris.



R. C. CLUTE, Q. C.

He didn't see any blood on the floor. He had not made an examination of the bone of the neck, although he saw the cut, and it looked like a cut of an axe.

Witness said that when he was at the house that morning, Mr. Burnham was the only one there that he could be sure of. He didn't see McGregor that morning. The man who were there before him had done nothing towards recovering the body. Had the body not been covered by the debris, he did not think it would have been consumed. He did not think the head could have survived had it been unprotected. On this point the witness did not answer very willingly.

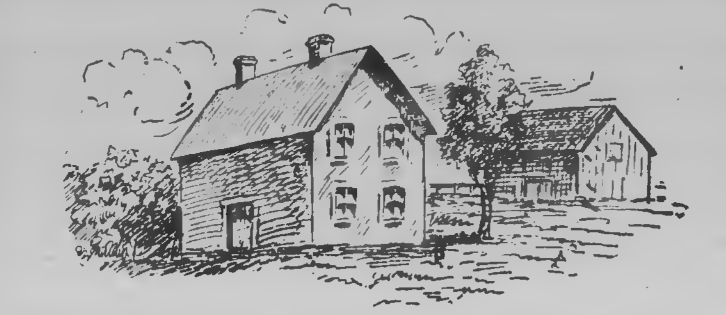
"Didn't you give old man Scollie in the month of August a note at six months for $200, and did you not change it to 12 months, and did not Scollie say that was forgery," asked Mr. Stratton.

Witness indignantly denied that he ever owed Scollie a cent.

"Was it not Davie's tin box you were poking around for with the shovel that morning?"

Witness denied this also, and the crier called the tittering crowd to order.

Witness denied that he was on bad terms with Gray. He denied that Gray had charged him with burning his own barn.



The Grays' house which was burned. "B" indicates where Scollie's body was found.

He had never told Mr. LaBelle that when Scollie went to the Grays that he brought death upon himself.

To Mr. Clute witness said he had gone with detective to show him where the witness at the inquest lived.

The suggestions of the counsel for defense that he had given Scollie a note or that he was on bad terms with Gray, were not true--had no foundation in truth. He and Gray had been on friendly terms.

WALTER JOHNSON.

This witness was with John Graham Weir on the morning of the fire, and saw the body dug out, assisting in carrying the water. The head was not on the body, which was tightly wrapped in blankets, the hands clasped on the breast. The body had on the guernsey shirt. The breast was not apparently injured by fire, the hair not being burnt, even as far up as the neck, or within an inch or so of the end of the bone where the head had been severed. The cut appeared to be burned over at the point of severance. The cut was a little higher at the back than at the front. The flesh up to the edge was was scorched, and about an inch or two inches down the bone. The body was taken to the farm.

Debris consisting of chunks of wood, strips and plaster covered the body. He noticed no difference in depth of debris, or degrees of heat. Under the body was a clean floor, and between the floor and the body was a straw tick. The straw was as fresh as when put in. There were not cinders on the tick or floor. As to the depth of the cellar at this point he could not say, nor whether the house had been banked at the side.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Witness when cross examined stated the body was a horrible sight. He wasn't prepared to state exactly in regard to the neck. The bone had a charred appearance, the flesh burned for about 2 inches, more at the back than at the front.

Witness did not observe that the body was burned at the elbows, feet, or that the body was burned clear through the ribs. This question on the part of the defence was a surprise, as no evidence has yet been adduced to show that the body was burned through.

JAMES E. HENDERSON.

Jas. E. Henderson said he lived four miles from the Grays and was present on the morning of the fire when J. G. Weir was there. He corroborated the other witnesses as regards the debris and clothing on the body. The body was on the straw and the latter was not burned. The straw was left in when the body was removed. He did not see the tick. The hands were folded across the breast and one leg was drawn up. The head was gone, but he did not notice the neck particularly. The breast was not burned and a heavy growth of hair extended to the neck from within 4 or 5 inches from point of severance. The hair was not burned. The body was wrapped tightly in bed clothes. From the position of the body he did not think it had fallen from any distance.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

In his cross-examination the witness said he had noticed straw at the side of the body. The neck had all the appearance of having gone through a severe fire.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

David Lawrence, Burnham's hired man, was not present the night of the fire but assisted in taking the body out the next day. There was not much straw under the body. He noticed that the head was gone. When the breast was exposed he noticed that the hair on the breast was not burned up to where the neckband of the shirt encircled the neck. The hands were burned on the back at the wrists.

When he reached the fire he noticed no flame over the body, except a slight flame over the abdomen. The body lay with the feet towards the road, or pointing straight north; the body lying across the house. His evidence was principally corroborative of preceeding witnesses.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Although 8 or 10 neighbors were around that morning, it was not suggested that the head had been cut off.

HENRY GIRVEN.

Henry Girven was at the fire between 8 and 9 o'clock and assisted in removing the body. He didn't notice what was under the body. It was wrapped in bed clothes. The breast was uninjured and hair was uninjured as far up as the base of the neck. The condition of the feet he did not notice. The underclothing, shirt and drawers, were apparently uninjured as well.

CROSS EXAMINED.

The witnesses cross-examination was unimportant.

DANIEL BELLEGHEM:

Mr. D. Belleghem was the next witness and sworn said:

I am an undertaker, and saw David Scollie's body three or four hours after the fire, it being at that time in the barn. McGregor was there. The body was lying on some boards, the hands folded across the breast and the head missing. The body was dressed in shirt and drawers, and there were socks on the feet. At first I thought the feet were burned, but the toes were drawn in, the flesh burned from them. The chest was covered with natural hair, unsinged nor burned. The drawers were all right, except a little scorched on the bottom. The shirt was intact; the socks were partly burned. The neck was charred. From the blackened dart to the hair on the breast, four or five inches intervened. After viewing the body I got a casket and buried it. In June, 1895, I exhumed the body in the presence of Drs. Halliday and Boucher, town, and Drs. Caven and Primrose, Toronto. The body I exhumed was the one I buried.

When I first went to see the body, I searched with a stick in the debris for the skull or parts of it, but found no trace. My examination was pretty thorough. I buried the body in the clothes it was found in.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

When searching for the head, witness told Mr. Stratton he did not know that others had been searching for it. He left the body in the barn unwatched and unprotected, and it was left in that condition for several hours. He thought at first from the appearance of the body that the head had been burned off, but when he failed to find the head, he had suspicions. He had not examined the neck very carefully. He saw no blood on the garments. The shirts were buttoned pretty close around the neck.

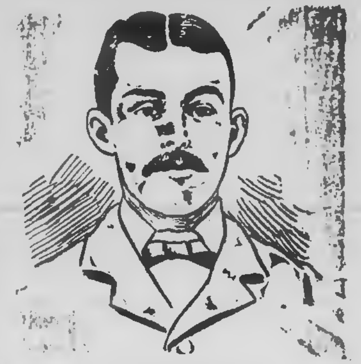
THE MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

DR. CAVEN DESCRIBES THE CONDITION OF THE BODY—HIS INFERENCES.

Dr. Caven, who conducted the post mortem on the body of David Scollie, was the next witness. He explained his position in the Toronto university as a demonstrator of diseases, and said he had examined 500 or 600 of bodies. He had examined the body in the Little Lake cemetery in June, in presence of Drs. Halliday, Boucher, Primrose, and Coroner Bell.

THE REPORT.

The casket having been removed to the morgue, was opened and the remains of a headless body exposed. The clothes covering the body and consisting of a woolen under-shirt and drawers and pair of socks were covered with mould and adhered closely to the body. The shirt showed marks of burning about the neck, shoulders and back. The drawers and socks were practically undamaged. After removing the clothing the following facts were observed: The head was absent; the chest, pubes, axillae and backs of the forearms were thickly covered with hair which was well preserved and gave no evidence of having been damaged by fire.



THOMAS GRAY.

The left hand was flexed. Both knees were slightly flexed. The back of the left hand and the knuckles were charred and blackened as if by fire. On taking hold of the neck above and attempting to raise the body thereby, a section of the spinal column came off in his hands. This was the uppermost remaining portion of the neck and was preserved for future examination. Both right and left humeri were completely burned through high up near the shoulder joint and more or less of the bones destroyed. A considerable portion of the spinal column in the neck and back was then removed and preserved for examination. In front of the windpipe was seen a small tuft of fibrous ropelike material which further examination has shown to be muscle acted upon by heat. About 2½ inches of the inner and of the left collar bone were present, the outer end of this fragment being charred and blackened. The right collar bone was similarly charred, but an inch and a half of it remaining. The ribs of the left side were completely burnt through and separate from the spine close up. The ribs on the right side were all intact. A three inch nail was found sticking in the right chest wall, but had not penetrated the chest. The front aspect of the body from below the claicles and the lower limbs presented no evidence of having been exposed to fire, but were extensively denuded of their soft parts by the processes of decomposition. With slight traction both feet came away from the legs, their ligamentous connections having perished. The lower limbs were similarly separated with ease from the body at the hip joints. The left shoulder blade was not to be found. The

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 27 1895.

THE HOWRY LUMBER COMPANY.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—I venture to ask you to publish this letter in order that the public may know something of the Howry people, and how kindly they look after their men.

On the 10th of September I was engaged by Mr. W. J. Kearns to work for the Company, and left Montreal on the same day for Gooderham, near where one of the camps is situated.

After working only two days I suddenly became very ill, and so bad did I become that it was necessary for me to go to the hospital. As I had neither money or friends, and nothing due me for wages, this was a difficult matter. In my trouble the Company, through the foreman of camp 17, where I was working, provided me with money and secured my admission to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where I have been ever since, and when I am slowly recovering, thanks to the excellent nursing and splendid medical attendance.

I write this that the public may know of the kindness of the Howry Company, who so nobly assisted me in my distress.

By publishing the above in TIMES you will greatly oblige an old Ottawa River lumberman.

J. B. MAREAU.

St. Joseph's Hospital,
Peterborough, Sept. 24, 1895

[Mr. Mareau, who has been foreman for a number of years for Mr. Booth, of Ottawa, and who has for 40 years been engaged in the bush, further states that the Howry Company are getting out an enormous quantity of timber this season, They have already eight camps, with one or more to be added. Camp 17 is an ideal lumberman's home. There are in that camp about 80 men. The meals are as good as those provided by any hotel in the land, while the foreman, Mr. Green, has the confidence and affection of the men. The Company expect to get out between 75,000,000, and 100,000,000 feet of lumber during the season. On the 14th instant the foreman and gang of men, with one team of horses, put into Burnt River 851 logs, which is the largest number of logs ever watered in one day by one gang and one team. Mr. Green, the popular foreman, rewarded each man belonging to the gang with a pound of tobacco at the conclusion of the days work. Mr. Mareau is a very intelligent Frenchman, and is loud in his praise of the way the Howry firm conduct their business and use their men—(ED. TIMES).

OUSE RAPIDS.

Correspondence of the Times.

Weather keeps very hot and dry and rain is very badly needed.

Mr. John Boland took tea at Mr Thomas Cavanagh's on Sunday last.

Messrs J. Daton and Wilfred Quinlan visited Stony Lake on Sunday last, for the good of their health.

Mr. Garrat Cavanagh, of Cobbletown, passed through Ouse Rapids on a hare chase. As Mr. Cavanagh is an old and experienced hunter, it is well known that he makes but very few 'fowl' shots.

An annual meeting of the local branch of the Lime Juice Club was held here on Friday, in the Hall of Wisdom. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Bro. Anvil Dwyer, during which great excitement was caused by Bro. Razor Flood, taking a weak fit. Brother Trader Quinlan run two miles in less than two minutes, and upon his return he was surprised to find that Bro. Cheese Cake Quinlan had 14 of his finest pumpkins gobbled up. The meeting was closed amid loud applause from Bro. D. Dwyer.

Mr. John Christie has just returned from China and brought with him five hens and a rooster, which cost him upwards of $600. Mr. Christie deserves credit for bringing such costly fowl to this part of the country.

The first canoe racing contest of the season took place here on Monday last in a swell of the Ouse River, known to surrounding country as Johnnie Lynch's pond. The contest was held between Mr. D. Quinlan and J. Kerr, of the north. Both men raced well and showed their ability with the paddles. The contest ended in favor of Mr. D. Quinlan, who rowed 1 mile in 2 minutes and 3 seconds, thus giving Mr. Quinlan great confidence in his rowing powers. He says he will paddle any one in Ontario for any sum from $1000 up. This wager will extend from now until the 25th day of Nov. when probably it will be renewed.

Electrical Treatment

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

OLD SCOTTISH CURES.

Remedies That Were Recommended In the Days of Auld Lang Syne.

A baldheaded man would hesitate before following Sir John Moncrieff's advice to "make a lee of the burnt ashes of dove's dung and wash the head well," although there is some consolation in learning that the same beneficial results would accrue from using "the ashes of little frogs." The hair, according to this authority, may be changed to a golden tint by using a simple lotion composed of the ashes of the ivy plant. Ladies who sigh for a fair complexion may secure it by such a pleasant method as washing the face with "the distilled water of snails," and the application of "liver of a sheep, fresh and hot," will make the whole face well colored.

Should the nose unfortunately bleed and the familiar remedy of thrusting a bunch of keys down the back of the neck fail of the desired result, then the assured styptic is to put into the nostrils a mixture of the hair of a hare and vinegar. Sir John bears testimony, "I myself know this to be the best of anything known." Blood flowing from a cut may be instantly stanched by simply holding a jasper in the hand or by putting cow's blood into the wound. The reader will be apt to remark that neither of these is a handy remedy for such an emergency. An ointment made of earthworms will cure paralysis if the affected parts be anointed with the compound.

Sleeplessness, so common an ailment in our own time, can be removed, according to Sir John, by applying "living creatures to the head to dissolve the humor," and Sir John narrates that for measles "many keep an ewe or wedder in their chamber or on the bed, because these creatures are easily infected and draw the venom to themselves, by which means some ease may happen to the sick person." In a similar manner, if the trouble be colic, a live duck or frog applied to the part "draws all the evil to itself and dies." Epilepsy may be prevented by wearing a girdle of wolf's skin. Should any one have been so negligent as to omit this necessary precaution, "powder of a man's bones burnt, chiefly of the skull that is found in the earth, cures the epilepsy. The bones of a man cure a man. The bones of a woman cure a woman."

Lethargic individuals should follow the sage Moncrieff's advice: "Burn the whole skin of a hare with the ears and nails. The powder thereof, being given hot, cures the lethargy perfectly." Deafness may be removed by pouring a mixture of onion juice and ants' eggs into the ear, and "the blood of a wild goat given to ten drops of carduus water doth powerfully discuss the pleurisy."—Gentleman's Magazine

PECULIAR CHINESE DISHES.

Some of Them Are Palatable, but More of Them Are Not.

Some of the dishes were extremely nice, notably the little shreds of roast mutton, excellently seasoned, such as I learned ever after to call for with confidence at Chinese inns. On the other hand, the chicken was made uneatable, and the eggs on this occasion, I am bound to say, were inexpressibly nasty. The taste for them as eaten in China had need to be acquired no doubt, for I had been told at Viorny of the wonderful pains and expense at which Chinese gormands preserve their eggs till they are black and putrid, and of which they are as proud when many, many years old as an English squire of his crusted port. I have, moreover, a vague impression, which for the moment I cannot verify, that I somewhere tasted these ancient delicacies and found them good, but on the present occasion my notebook condemns them utterly.

The rissoles of pork sausage were tasty, and so were the French beans, peas and hearts of cabbage stalk cut in slices and the mandarin oranges preserved in sirup. We helped ourselves to these delicacies as we pleased, but our host every now and then with his chopsticks placed on the plate of one or other of his three guests a choice morsel, which, mercifully, it was not a matter of unbending etiquette that one should eat. It was polite, of course, occasionally to return the compliment and help him to tidbits with one's knife and fork.—Philadelphia Times.

Swamp Plants.

It should be well known by this time that swamp plants, as a rule, will do much better in comparatively dry land than in the swamps where we naturally find them. Even the rice plant, which usually grows in water, will grow well and produce a fair crop of seeds in common garden ground. The reason for this has been fully explained in scientific serials. It reads oddly in a report just issued by the United States department of agriculture, suggesting that the common swamp rose mallow, Hibiscus moscheutos, would possibly grow in dry land, as an experiment was made to test this fact on the Delaware river 35 years ago. The plant is growing in every well ordered herbaceous ground and is one of our most popular border plants. It is a weakness of the United States department of agriculture that it is so often behind the times in its publications. One of the best tasks for that department would be to make an index of what has been placed on record in the many serial publications of our country during the last half century. Dr. Franklin B. Hough did something of this work in forestry when he was in this department. It is much to be regretted that such useful work has not been given a broader scope.—Meehan's Monthly.

A Horse Has Little Brains.

The mental peculiarities of the horse are much less characteristic than its physical. It is indeed the common opinion among those who do not know the animal well that it is endowed with much sagacity, but no experienced and careful observer is likely to maintain this opinion. All such students find the intelligence of the horse to be very limited.

Although some part of this mental defect in the horse, causing its actions to be widely contrasted with those of the dog, may be due to a lack of deliberate training and to breeding with reference to intellectual accomplishment, we see, by comparing the creature with the elephant, which practically has never been bred in captivity, that the equine mind is, from the point of view of rationality, very feeble.—Professor N. S. Shaler in Scribner's Magazine.

How She Said Grace.

Little 4-year-old Ida was visiting her aunt. She was always restless at the table during the silent blessing, so her aunt explained to her why they bowed the head and kept quiet before eating. One day little Ida kept unusually quiet during grace. Finally she lifted her little head and looked up in her aunt's face and said: "Aunt Emily, do you know what I was saying? I was saying, 'Reddy, get your hair dyed, hair dyed green.' "—Philadelphia Record.

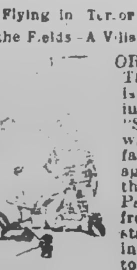
Forest Fires in Arthabaska—People Flying in Terror and Cattle Burned in the Fields—A Village Wiped Out.



TORONTO, Sept. 25.—The young man who is known in the circle in which he moves as "Slabsey" Maguire, who made himself famous some months ago by jumping from the deck of a Victoria Park steamer to escape from a county constable, who had him in custody, threatens to come again before the public.

On Monday night, Maguire, who is suspected of living on Monk street, met another young man named John Quinn, 158 Euclid avenue, in a lane in rear of 442 Adelaide street west. Jealously over a dissolute female named Annie Howard, led to an altercation which came to blows. "Slabsey" drew a knife and stabbed his hated rival twice in the hip and blood flowed freely. Friends of the injured combatant carried him into the house of a Mrs. Ferguson adjacent to where the affair occurred. In fact, it is said, that if Mrs. Ferguson had not interfered and treated him as she did the result might have been a murder.

Dr. J. W. Peaker, 157 Bathurst street, was called in, and after stripping Quinn's clothing off he found two stabs in the hip and a bite on the shoulder. The injured man was kept quiet during the night and sent home in the morning. He has made no complaint to the police and no arrest has followed. The police are reluctant to proceed, because persistent perjury and tampering with witnesses have made convictions in affairs like this extremely difficult.

FOREST FIRES

ARTHABASKA, Sept. 25.—Telegraphic communications with the afflicted districts has not yet been restored and but comparatively meagre accounts of the damage by forest fires in this district are obtainable by mail and travellers.

The fire raged fiercely all yesterday and last night, filling the air with dense smoke. As the night set in the spectacle was one of weird grandeur. The twilight partook of a dark pea-green hue, and as the night wore on a subdued glow settled down over the country. There was nothing but smoke on every hand. From Stanfold to St. Celestin the roaring element cut a wide swathe and about a hundred farms were devastated.

A VILLAGE WIPED OUT.

The village of Brault's Mills was entirely wiped out, not a building remaining; even hogs and cattle were burned in the fields. Six hundred cords of hard wood, pulp and bark were also consumed. The inhabitants fled terror-striken and barely escaped with their lives. Families became separated and their anguish of mind can well be imagined. Messrs. Pierre Brault, J. Lamothe, Joseph Diselet, Antoine Diselet, and L. Desrosiers spent two weary days and nights searching for their families, and late last night came upon them on the river bank, whither they had fled before the flames. Most of the country from Brault's Mills to Astonia is a charred and blackened waste. The fire is eating its way still further into the interior and the sky is obscured by dense smoke.

THE PEOPLE ASKING CHARITY.

THREE RIVERS, Erie, Sept. 25.—News from the burned district is of a most assuring character this morning. The intensity of the fire has moderated and in many places it has been entirely subdued. Fortunately no casualities have been reported. Forestdale and Moose Park, on Mitchell's road, escaped the fire entirely. But along the Arthabaska branch of the Grand Trunk the destitution is pitiable. The whole community has been burned out, and women and children are imploring charity from passengers on railroad trains and passers by. Telegraph poles are already being distributed and the lines re-built. The heaviest loss will be on cordwood, of which large quantities have been destroyed.

SICK AND IN PRISON.

An Unfortunate Canadian Succumbs to His Ailment in a Detroit Jail.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—John Jacobs, a Canadian, who was captured at St. Clair by United States officers while attempting to smuggle 250 pounds of opium across the river in February last, died at the Detroit House of Correction yesterday after a lingering illness with liver trouble. Jacobs was sentenced from the United States Court March 18 last, to serve one year. He has been ill ever since his confinement. The family of the dead prisoner reside at Barrie, and the body is being held until word can be received from his relatives.

Impure blood is the cause of boils, pimples and other eruption. Hood's sarsaprilla purifies the blood, and the cures these troubles.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

PETERBOROUGH. SEPTEMBER 27 1895.

MANY DISAPPOINTED.

Toronto Fair Visitors Hoped to See the Manufacture of a Well-Known Product.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Many regrets were expressed by visitors to the Industrial Fair that the Dodd's Medicine Company of this city did not have a display of their well-known Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy which has by this time become so widely and favorably known for the absolute cure of all complaints of the kidneys even in the most acute stages. A rumor was current that a public exhibition of the manfacture of the remedy would be given, but the restricted space this year prevented the possibility of such a scheme. Those who went away disappointed at not seeing the manufacture of their favorite remedy will have to wait till next year.

OPENED ON THE DANCERS.

Mr. Harris Did Not Waltz, But Made Others Hop.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 26.—A shooting affray took place at a negro ball here in which two persons were seriously and two others fatally hurt. Allen Harris, who was in attendance at the ball, became involved in a quarrel with a man named Phillips, and being somewhat under the influence of liquor drew his revolver and opened fire on the dancers. When the smoke cleared away it was found that four persons had been shot: John Henry in the back, Garry White in the leg, Andrew Phillips in the left side and back, and Harris himself in the right ankle.

CAUSED HER DEATH.

Burglars Fatally Frighten an Old Lady at Port Dover, Ont.

Special to the Times.

PORT DOVER, Ont., Sept. 26.—This morning, about 2 o'clock, the house of Miss Brown, in the western suburbs of this place, was broken into by burglars. An aged aunt, Miss Lonsboro, who was sleeping downstairs got up and called for help to Miss Brown and threatened the burglars. Then she almost immediately fell down and expired, the fright being too much for her. She had been in rather feeble health for some time. Several burglaries have taken place here lately although not with such tragic results.

WEARY WIGGINS.

He Still Prates About the Storm That Never Came.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Prof. Wiggins now says that what he predicted for Saturday last was a low barometic pressure over the North Atlantic. He is waiting the report of vessels that were on mid-ocean then. He says they must have encountered a terrible storm.

RAIN STOPS THE FIRES.

THE ARTHABASKA DISTRICT SAVED FROM DESTRUCTION.

Houses and Barns Swept Away Before the Devouring Element—Narrow Escape of Athabaska Village From Destruction.

Special to the Times.

ARTHABASKA STATION, Sept. 26.

THE forest fires continued unabated all night and until an early hour this morning, when a merciful rain set in and all danger is now thought to be at an end. The flames had crept up to uncomfortable proximity to the village of Arthabaska. It raged fiercely beyond Bulstrode, and two hundred men had to work unceasingly to save that village from destruction. Thousands of cords of valuable pulp wood and wood of other kinds were piled there and were nearly all destroyed.

At St. Vallere the fire did great damage, the following being some of the sufferers thereby: Alf. Baril, barn and dwelling; E. Clouthier, house and barn; L. Tavergne, dwelling; V. Pratte, house; A. Bouvet, mill; F. Blanchett, house; Joseph Brovencher, dwelling; Laurent G. Gosselin, barns and contents; Alf. Gosselin, house and contents; Joseph Morinval, barn and contents. That village also reports that the rain is expected to put out the fires.

A CHINESE LEPER.

New York Laundryman Afflicted With the Dread Disease.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A case of a Chinese laundryman affected with leprosy was discovered yesterday afternoon by the officials in charge of the good Samaritan Dispensary, at Broome and Essex streets. G. H. Janneman, the chief apothecary of the institution, was standing in the corroidor of the institution, when a Chinese entered and said he was sick, Janneman noticed an eruption on the Chinaman's face and called Dr. Ralphael Lewy. Dr. Lewy advised that the man be taken into the contagious disease room so as to isolate him from the other patients, and this was done. Dr. Lewy at once made a superficial examination of the patient and declared he was a leper.

HE HAS BEEN SUFFERING FOR TWO YEARS.

Dr. Ladst notified the Health Department, and at five o'clock Dr. George W. Bogert made an examination of the Chinaman, causing him to strip, and handled him quite freely. The patient was badly marked with white spots the size of a half dollar all over his body. He evidently had no feeling in the affected portions of his body, as when Dr. Lewy touched him there with a piece of cardboard he did not know it. He gave his name as Long Dong, thirty years old, of No. 752 Lexington avenue; said he had been here five and half years and that he had been sick for two years.

Dong said he had a wife in China, but none over here. Dong was taken away in the ambulance to the Reception Hospital.

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

To the Effect That an Attempt Was Made to Wreck Laurier's Train.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Yesterday the city was startled by the Herald, the Liberal organ here, publishing a despatch from Quebec stating that the train upon which Hon. Wilfred Laurier was proceeding to Lake St. John had narrowly escaped destruction and the Liberal leader from a terrible death. The story went that rocks had been placed on the track for the purpose of bringing about the death of the party in question. It happened that Hon. Mr. Laurier was in the city yesterday and as soon as he recovered from his amazement, went to the newspaper office and declared that the story was a pure invention made out of whole cloth.

Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce on Fire.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 26.—The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce building took fire this a.m., and seemed doomed. The fire was brought under control by 9 o'clock and the actual damage confined to the upper floors although the entire building was drenched. The Chamber of Commerce was a handsome five storey stone structure at Third street and Fourth avenue, south. It was erected in 1884 at a cost of $180,500.

Admits He is a Firebug.

HAMILTON, Sept. 26.—Harry Lester, the firebug, was arraigned at the police court yesterday and was committed for trial, the charge being of wilfully attempting to set fire to 35½ King William street. He pleaded guilty. The detectives told of how he had saturated some books and floor with coal oil.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co. Montreal, wholesale agents.

A BANK CLERK GONE.

He is W. B. Palmer, of the Bank of Commerce Hamilton.

Special to The Times.

HAMILTON, Sept. 26.—W. B. Palmer, paying teller in the Bank of commerce here has disappeared, and it is said there is a big shortage in the accounts. Palmer speculated freely in pool rooms here and has been losing heavely of late. The amount of the shortage cannot be learned but it is believed to be up in the thousands. Palmer was of a slim build and had a sandy moustache. He was a noted dog fancier and took many prizes at Toronto and other exhibitions. He was well known about town and was very popular. The bank authorities are now making a thorough examination of his accounts.

Bald Goes to Springfield.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 26.—Eddie Bald, the class B bicycle champion, started for Springfield this morning where he will do some track work. He then goes to Louisville and on to the Pacific Coast. Before returning home again it is likely more records will fall and more prizes be added to his season's string.

Purified Blood

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. THOMPSON, Peninsula Lake, Ontario.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

The Recent Battle.

Lindsay Post: "The Peterborough police have been having a lively time lately with tramps, who seem to have almost taken possession of the town. Four or five of these "knights of the road" defeated a posse of constables sent against them last week after a brisk exchange of revolver shots, and succeeded in getting away, although two of them had been handcuffed." Our contemporary is mistaken; it was the constables who managed to get away.

PREMIER BOWELL HERE.

HE MEETS WITH A WARM RECEPTION AT THE HANDS OF HIS ADMIRING SUPPORTERS.

Sir MacKenzie Bowell Holds a Reception at the Huffman House Last Night—He Remains in Peterborough Several Hours En Route to Ottawa.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Premier of Canada, who opened the Lindsay exhibition yesterday, passed through the town last night en route to Ottawa. The distinguished statesman arrived at the G.T.R. station at nine o'clock, and the rumor that he would probably remain over until the midnight train on the C.P.R., drew about 500 citizens to the station to welcome the Premier on this his first visit since receiving his nighthood. Sir Mackenzie, accompanied by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., was met at the station by Mr. C. W. Sawers, Capt. J. W. Miller and Mr. Joseph Jones, and escorted to the Huffman House in a carriage, headed by a section of the Fire Brigade band. At the hotel he was warmly welcomed by Mr. John Carnegie, ex-M. P. P., Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., Mr. W. H. Moore and many members of the Liberal-Conservative Association, who conducted their distinguished visitor upstairs, where in a private parlor of this handsomely furnished hotel he was introduced to a large throng of admiring friends and supporters, all eager to shake hands with the head of their party. A TIMES representative was pleased to learn that Sir Mackenzie is enjoying his usual health and was overjoyed at the opportunity afforded him of meeting so many friends in this large and thriving constituency.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

Our Public Institutions in Good Order—A House of Refuge

Presentment of the Grand Jurors of the County of Peterborough at the Autumn Assizes, 1895.

Your Grand Jurors have, as directed, investigated all the cases laid before them by the counsel for the Crown and have disposed of the same.

Your Grand Jurors have visited the county gaol and are pleased to report that they have found everything in good order and the prisoners properly cared for.

Your Grand Jurors also visited the Nicholls Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital and can only report the good reports given of them by former grand juries.

Your Grand Jurors agree with your Lordship in your remarks concerning a house of refuge for the poor and would urge upon the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to unite with the County authorities in the procuring of proper premises for the same at an early day believing as we do that the expense of maintaining such an institution, would add but little to the present cost of supporting the poor in jail.

The thanks of the Grand Jurors are due to the Crown Counsel for his assistance in disposing of the business laid before them.

G. J. GALVIN,
Foreman.

BRIDGE WORKS ON FIRE.

Sparks in the Roof Cause a Conflagration.

About 9.30 last night, flames were observed issuing from the roof of the north end of the Central Bridge works on George street. An alarm was immediately sent in and the firemen responded at once.

The fire was located entirely in the roof of the machinery department. Owing to the favorable direction of the wind and the prompt application of water, it did not gain much headway and was soon under control.

The roof is set in gravel and mortar and not very inflamable. The loss, consisting of damage to the roof, will amount to several hundred dollars.

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO.

A Splendid Display of New and Fashionable Goods.

A TIMES representative recently took a look through the mammoth premises of this enterprising firm, and found every department brimfull of new and fashionable goods. The goods were arranged so as to look their best, and the display was a credit to the firm. On the lower flat were arranged pyramids of dress goods, imported direct from Europe. These consisted of crepons, mohairs, etc., including Priestley's celebrated varnished board dress goods in all varieties and colors. Another pyramid of English and French tweeds, suitable for ladies' dresses, etc., occupied a prominent position, while still another contained all the latest English, American and Canadian tweeds, suitable for men's wear.

But the most attractive portion of the display was in the curtain and carpet departments, which had been divided into three rooms, one of which is especially deserving of mention. It consisted of a bed chamber, the carpets, curtains, rugs, draperies and bed covering being of a light blue shade. These rooms were visited by hundreds yesterday and the day before, many returning for a second visit and bringing friends with them.

Upstairs the millinery and mantle departments are replete with all the novelties of the season, purchased in the leading markets of the world.

It is impossible to give the reader even a faint idea of the quantity, quality and variety of the goods shown by this progressive firm.

MRS. HESSIE GRAY PLACED ON TRIAL.

The liver was the only abdominal viscus recognizable. Portions of the lungs were recognized in the thoracic cavity. The heart was destroyed.

The soft parts of the body (skin, muscle, etc.) were softened and pliable and were readily torn asunder by the hands. The bony fragments which have been spoken of as coming off in the hand on attempting to raise the body by the neck, have been examined further, and the following is a description of them:

2. The sixth cervical vertebra—The right side of this bone is entire save a small portion of the body. The lateral processes of the left side are absent, and a portion of the lateral part of the arch, so that the spinal canal is opened up on this side, the left side of it presents a broken surface etc.

DR. CAVEN EXAMINED.

Witness exhibited in his hand the neck bones, or the remains of three vertebra, two of which are techinally described in the above report.

Dr. Caven explained the smooth surface of the bone. In his opinion if the head had been on the body when the body was in the fire, the bones would not have been burned as they were. The charring was done after the head was off. If the head had been on the neck, it is not probable that the fire would have eaten in on one side to the distance it did and burned the bone away as it did. The injury would not have been caused had the head been on the body because this bone was protected by the fat, skin, muscle, windpipe and gullet.

As regards the position of the dead man's hands, he would not look for them to be in that position had the burning taken place before death. Suffocation was a violent death, and it was reasonable to see evidence of muscular contortion and agony, unless death had taken place before the fire. The position of the hands indicated an easy death, unless the suffocation had been very gradual. He couldn't say the hands had been placed in that position after death. In answer to a question witness said that the hands might have been in that position had a narcotic been administered.

His Lordship—But in case of a narcotic being admistered, the head, if cut off at all, must have been cut off after the narcotic had been administered.

Dr. Caven said he would't expect to find the head entirely destroyed and the hair on the chest uninjured, unless the body was protected in a special way. He wouldn't like to say how thorough Scollie's body had been protected. The plaster was a protection.

He reiterated that he wouldn't expect the head to disappear entirely.

To His Lordship witness said, if head had been cut off blood would likely be found on clothing.

Mr. Clute then asked that if, from the administration of a narcotic, the man had been dead when the head was cut off, would there be any spurting blood.

Witness replied that blood would not likely spurt, but dead or alive there would be blood on the floor, because the blood would naturally spurt from the body, and might not touch the clothes.

A FRACTURE.

A small fragmentary bone was here exhibited which witness thought was part of the larnyx, which showed signs of fracture, and also slight charring. Mr. Clute here asked if such a tiny bone could escape destruction when the skull was totally consumed.

The witness said this depended on the downward course of the fire.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

The cross-examination brought out that parts of the collar bone had been burned and the left shoulder blade absolutely. Some of the ribs were destroyed in part. The fire which burned the collar bone, ribs and arm, if applied to the head long enough and intense enough would burn the head. Presuming the head was burned off, there was nothing to show violence in the appearance of the bones on exhibit, or any other parts of the neck. If the tissue of the neck were destroyed, and all of the soft subastance, the head would fall off by its own weight. Destroy the outside of the neck and it would not take a hard blow to knock off the head.

The defence asked if it were not so that death by carbonic acid gas, was a mergence of life into death. The witness answered yes, and also assented to the next question that Scollie, if reached by this gas, could have passed from life into death in an easy position and manner.

DR. PRIMROSE.

Dr. Primrose, the next witness, said he was present at the post mortem, and he fully concurred in all that Dr. Caven had stated, and the inferences he had drawn.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Were there not unmistakable signs that would have enabled those who examined Scollie on the morning of the fire, to determine the length of his death—to have determined whether he died before or after the fire, was the question of Mr. Stratton.

Dr. Primrose said that there were ways of telling the length of time a man has been dead.

Do you think it possible for a weak, nervous woman to cut off a man's head with an axe, without a drop of blood, asked Mr. Stratton.

Dr. Primrose thought it possible but not probable.

DR. HALLIDAY.

Dr. Halliday stated that he concurred in the evidence and inferences of Dr. Caven.

The defense asked Dr. Halliday to describe the wounds, sears, burns and marks on the body, which he did.

DR. BOUCHER.

Dr. Boucher, who was also present at the post mortem, fully concurred in Dr. Caven's report, his examination and inferences.

MICHAEL FITZGERALD.

Witness deposed that he knew Thomas Gray and the prisoner at the bar. Fitzgerald is the purchaser of the Gray place. The deed of sale was produced in court, showing date of sale, and the consideration at $1,000. The insurance policy was also produced.

Mr. Frederick Dixon, agent for W. H. Hill, was called in connection with the policy, showing that it was continued after expiration. The policy was for $200 on a rough cast house, and on contents $200. The claim was settled after the fire in full and proof of loss, list of goods and cheque in payment of claim were put in as evidence.

The defence asked if the claim had not been settled without delay or question. The witness replied that it had.

WILLIAM J. McGREGOR.

William J. McGregor, brother in law of Mrs. Gray, the prisoner at the bar was the next witness called.

He said the prisoner was his wife's sister. He knew the Gray house, and he knew Scollie. He described the departments or rooms in the Gray house by use of the plan. On the night of the fire he first heard of it, by the five Gray children knocking at his window at 2.30 on the morning of February 23, 1891. He noticed how the children were dressed. The oldest had a coat and cap and boots. The eldest carried the youngest. The little girl called fire, but he could see none in the Gray house. The little girl replied: "The whole side of the house is burned down."

He was out of the house and on the way to the fire in two minutes' time. On the top of the hill, he met Mrs. Gray. She was carrying a bundle in her arms. She said Scollie was in the house. He could see the reflection, and he hurried on and kicked the door in. The flames immediately burst out. He went to the north end and looked up, but could see no flames or fire in Scollie's room.

He then started to go to Burnham's but Mrs. Gray told them not to go there. He disregarded her words and went to Burnhams. Then he heard screams over at Grays, and went back where he met his wife, who was screaming, "Save Scollie! Save Scollie!" I told her there was no chance to save him. His wife went home soon after. He saw no signs of the body of Scollie that night, and he was not there when it was taken out.

He had been at Gray's one night about a year after the new house was built and Scollie was standing on the floor with a slate and pencil in his hand. Gray said he was going to have a separation with Scollie—not going to have him any longer.

His Lordship ruled out this conversation as it was too remote.

Witness said he had often heard Mrs. Gray say she "would poison the damned old brute," referring to Scollie. She had made this remark at her own house and at his house.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Scollie was kind to the Gray children, said the witness, nursed the children, and was not much trouble. He was a peculiarly quiet man. Sometimes he was apparently happy at the Grays', at other times he wasn't. Before living with the Grays' he lived alone in a hovel.

When he got to the fire on that morning he found the woodshed free from it. He met Mrs. Gray after she passed the Burnham road. She told him Scollie was in the house, and he went up to the building knowing he was there.

And you made no effort to save Scollie? Asked Mr. Stratton.

No, he made no effort to get in the building. Instead he went over to Burnhams. He couldn't do anything to save Scollie.

When he went to Burnhams he knew Scollie was burning.

Mr. Stratton then tried to make the witness admit that the house was hopelessly burning when he first reached it, and accused him of trying to injure the prisoner by saying the fire could have been spat on and put out when she left the house to come to his house.

He reiterated his former evidence that the goods and chattels in the Gray house were not worth $50. He made that assertion because he didn't believe their goods would bring $50 on the market.

MRS. McGREGOR.

Mrs. McGregor, sister of the prisoner, was the next witness sworn. She looked exceedingly ill, and spoke in a very low voice.

She followed her husband to the fire that morning. Mrs. Gray, whom she met, said "Oh my good house and my good barn," I asked her why she did not save Scollie. Mrs. Gray replied:

"What do you want to save Scollie for?"

Mrs. Gray went home with her. It was impossible to get near the house by reason of the intense heat of the fire. It was impossible to see into the house.

She had seen Scollie the Wednesday before that morning, walking alone towards the Grays.

Shortly before the fire, one day in going to town with Mrs. Gray, the second Saturday in November, Mrs. Gray said she and Scollie had had some words about the house. Mrs. Gray said she was going to get rid of him that winter.

Witness asked her how.

Mrs. Gray replied she would watch her chance up Fitsgerald's lane and shoot him.

Witness told her she wouldn't go to heaven if she did this.

She said she would do him up so nobody would find out who did it.

Mrs. Gray said it was Scollie's last winter. She would chop his head off before she would keep him another winter. Then she would set the house on fire and cover up all trace.

Witness repeated that murder would out and Mrs. Gray replied: "How in the hell would they know."

After the fire witness saw Mrs. Gray and she had said Mr. Belleghem had questioned her a great deal about Scollie, and also her daughter Annie. She said Scollie had sleeping drops of his own.

Mrs. Gray was not very well dressed after the fire. Only had one old dress of her own to witness' knowledge.

After Mrs. Gray went south witness never heard from her.

Mrs. Gray had asked her not to swear against her after a certain letter had appeared in the newspapers.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Mr. Stratton subjected Mrs. McGregor to a severe cross-examination. He tried to show that the detectives had gotten a hold of the witness and had poisoned her mind.

Mrs. Gray was delivered of a child on the 12th of April, or about 7 weeks after the fire, asked Mr. Stratton, and the witness assented.

Witness said she had told the detectives that she and the Grays were not on good terms.

She reluctantly related her conversation with the detective. She denied that they had poisoned her mind. The reason she and her sister had not spoken, was because witness went to Rice Lake to live and they hadn't met. They had been friendly since. In her tremulous voice witness said:

"I am just as anxious to see my sister today as I was when she left for the South. I like her just as well."

There had been hard feeling over a flour deal and a $30 note. Her husband would have killed her had she gone to visit Mrs. Gray after the prisoner's return from the South. She said she had made this statement to others.

Gray and McGregor had a fight. McGregor gave Gray one kick.

There was no blood on any of Mrs. Gray's clothes, to her knowledge.

It is impossible to say that she had made no statement until she was subpoenaed. The trouble about the flour was a long time ago, and she had been on friendly terms with her sister since.

The defence will try and claim spite work on the part of the McGregors.

The Crown will claim that the position of the McGregors is an unfortunate one. They must either perjure themselves or tell all they know.

At the conclusion of the cross examination of Mrs. McGregor the court adjourned until 9.30 this morning.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION
THANKS!
MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

BOTH THE GRAYS ARE LIBERATED.

Hessie Acquitted By The Jury And Thos. Gray Discharged.

Both Allowed Out on Bail Yesterday Afternoon In Two Sureties of $500—The Charges of Arson Traversed to the Quarter Sessions—His Lordship Advises the Crown to Drop These Charges and the Crown Will so Advise the Attorney-General—Thomas and Hessie Gray Take Supper at a Hotel in Town Last Night—The Children's Evidence.

Thomas and Hessie Gray ate supper at the Morgan House last night. Hessie Gray was acquitted by the jury at 11.30 yesterday morning, and in the afternoon Thomas Gray was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and as the Crown did not offer any evidence he was discharged.

The arson cases were adjourned to the Quarter Sessions in December. The Judge expressed the opinion that the arson charges should be dropped at once. The Crown Prosecutor stated that he would lay the matter before the Attorney-General and advise the dropping of the charges.

OUT ON BAIL.

The Grays were then allowed out on bail in two securities of $500. James LaVelle went security for Mrs. Gray and James Gray for his brother Thomas. The Grays then walked out of the court room practically free and cleared of all the charges.

One hour after the dramatic acquittal of Hessie Gray, THE TIMES published an extra containing the following report of the proceedings:

Mrs. Hessie Gray was acquitted of the charge of murder at 11.30 this morning.

When the court opened the crown prosecutor announced that the crown rested its case. This was a genuine surprise.

THE DEFENCE.

Mr. Stratton then called the witnesses for the defence. Wm. Leahy was called first. He contradicted the evidence of the Crown witnesses as to the position of the body of Scollie.

MRS. GRAY'S DAUGHTER.

Little 13 year old Annie Gray was then put on the stand, and she told a plain simple story of that awful night in a straight forward manner that carried conviction with every word. Briefly her story was this: On the night of the fire she and her mother and brothers and sisters had retired to bed in the one bedroom, she sleeping with her sisters, and her mother with her two little brothers. Scollie was sitting by the fire all the evening. She had gone to bed first.

She was awakened and found the room full of smoke. Jumping up she called to her mother, and her mother asked what was the matter.

"The house is on fire," replied the witness.

Mrs. Gray got up. Got the axe from behind the bureau and smashed the frozen windows. Before this she attempted to get out by the hallway, but the flames drove her back.

The children were then handed out of the window, their clothing was thrown after them by the mother, and in the bitter cold of the night, in their bare feet they went to the water closet and dressed.

"Mamma took off her own stockings,' said the witness, "and gave them to my little sister, who was barefooted in the snow."

Half clad the five children walked to McGregors, the eldest girl carrying the baby, and the little boy carrying the next oldest. They were half clad and it was a bitter cold night.

TAKEN FROM THE JURY.

Tommy Gray, a little eleven year old boy corroborated his sister's evidence. At the conclusion of his cross examination His Lordship asked Mr. Clute if he desired to prosecute the case any further, and Mr. Clute replied that he did not see that it was of any use to do so.

Turning to the jury His Lordship said: "If you believe the evidence of these children, the Crown has no case."

Mr. Clute stated that he perferred to take the direction of the court.

His Lordship then told the jury that Mr. Clute was there to press the case in the interests of justice, and it being clearly shown that no murder had been committed there was no use pressing the case further.

It was very proper the case had been investigated. There was the fact of the missing head, and also the threats of the prisoner, which were foolish words, and there was cause for the suspicion of the Crown. However, it was very improbable that the prisoner in a delicate condition, having given birth to a child seven weeks after the fire, could have killed Scollie without leaving marks of violence upon him. He was hale and hearty, she was delicate, and it is almost incredible she should do violence. Now, the case is reduced to this: Scollie went to bed first, so there was no approach of this woman to Scollie at all.

Of course the suspicions were aroused. But, gentlemen, remember that this woman and her five children were alone when the house was on fire, and imagine their consternation when they found themselves half clad in the snow on that bitterly cold night.

Perhaps they didn't do all they could have done, but look at the circumstances. Half-clad, and not on friendly terms with the Burnhams, there is nothing suspicious in the fact of going to McGregor's for help

The evidence of these little children, which I believe to be the truth, removes all suspicion. If you believe this evidence gentleman, you cannot do other than find a verdict of not guilty. Have you heard sufficient evidence.

The jury to a man had heard enough.

Then I direct you to bring in a verdict of not guilty against the prisoner Hettie Gray.

The jury did so, and the clerk read the verdict.

THE CROWD CHEERED.

The crowded court room then burst into wild applause, clapping of hands and cheering. The pent up feelings of the spectators intensified by the pathetic story of the children, found vent in a wild cheer. Women cried and tears rolled down the cheeks of strong men.

When the verdict was read Mrs. Gray, who all during the trial had displayed no emotion or feeling burst into tears and convulsively kissed her infant child and little girl Annie.

His Lordship remarked that cheering was was not allowed in a court of justice, but having begun, it was impossible to check the outburst. It must not occur again.

THE DEFENCE.

Little Annie and Tommy Gray Tell the Story of That Awful Night.

The names of the petit jurors were called out when the court opened at 9.30 yesterday morning and answers of "here" responded from all quarters of the court room. Every seat in the courtroom was occupied, and early as it was, a large number of ladies were present.

The prisoner entered the prisoner's dock a few minutes before 9.30 o'clock looking bright and fresh.

A SURPRISE.

"The crown rests its case," said Mr. Clute, when the jurors names had all been called. This was a genuine surprise.

Mr. William Leahy, sworn, said he got to the fire at 7.30. At that time he met Mr. Burnham, Mr. LaVelle and others.

He had known Scollie for five or six years, and he was a hale, hearty old man. Saw Scollie on the Tuesday night before the fire. The body of Scollie was steadied on a rail and board, while being taken out of the ruins. The neck appeared to be tapered off like a lead pencil, though not to a fine point. Witness described the clothes, which were not spotted in any way with blood. A little blood dripped out on the snow where the body was lying after being taken out.

He knew the Gray house having been through it while it was being built. The front door faced the Keene road. The body was two or three feet from the south wall. From the position of the body witness thought it probable that the body could have fallen that way or any other way.

Mr. Stratton asked witness regarding a conversation he had with Mrs. McGregor. Witness said he told Mrs. McGregor of Mrs. Gray's arrival. Mrs. McGregor said she would like to see her sister, but if she went "he" would kill her. McGregor had further told witness that neither of them were to blame for the Gray's position, if any one was to blame it was Graham Weir, as he had been at the McGregors frequently.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Body was about on level with floor of the house. He examined the place where the body had been taken out, 10 minutes after. The spot was free from cinders and ashes. Witness said the body was not on the floor as the floor was burned through, and he dug down to the ground directly beneath the spot where the body was in search of the head. He saw the unsinged hair on the breast of Scollie.

He saw Mrs. Gray that morning. She told him she had thrown two pillows out of the window that morning. She had gotten out of the southwest window, facing the McGregor's. Mrs. Gray told witness the children were not dressed when she put them out through the window. She threw their clothing out of the window, and the children dressed each other. It was a bitter cold night. He had never heard Mrs. Gray say why she didn't go to Burnhams.

ANNIE GRAY.

The eldest daughter of the prisoner, 13 years of age, told Mr. Stratton she remembered the night of the fire. She saw Mr. Scollie the night of the fire just before she went to bed. He was sitting by the stove. She went to bed between 10 and 11 o'clock. All were home that night but her father, who went away on Tuesday morning. She named her brothers and sisters. That night she slept with her sisters, Mary and Hessie.

"What room did you sleep in that night?"

In the bedroom, replied the little girl. Afterwards she indicated the room where she slept. Her mother and her two little brothers slept in another bed in the same room. There were two doors to the room, one nailed up. There were two stoves in the house, one in the bedroom and one in the kitchen. That night Scollie slept in a room upstairs directly above her mother's bed. This room was divided by a partition. Scollie's bed had the head to the window, and against the partition, the foot of the bed.

On the morning of the fire she was awakened and found the room full of smoke. She then called to the mother, and her mother asked what was the matter. She told her mother the house was on fire. Her mother got up and lighted the lamp, and then fell over a stick putting the lamp out. Her mother got the axe from behind the door, and smashed the window which was frozen down. They all got out of the window partly dressed, and dressed afterwards. Up to this time nothing had been said of Scollie.

When they got outside they all called for Mr. Scollie.

To His Lordship—She did not know how the fire started. The origin of it was not discussed.

Her mother took off her stockings and gave them to Hessie, who was standing barefooted in the snow.

Witness showed Mr. Stratton how they got into the woodshed after leaving the house.

To His Lordship—I was asleep that night when my mother went to bed.

Witness had found Mr. Scollie asleep one morning with a newspaper across his breast and a lamp burning.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Witness told Mr. Clute she went to school and was in the fourth book. She was to school that day, but didn't remember what she wore.

Witness was in bed when her mother went out to the barn that night. Witness was the first to go to bed that night. There was a fire in both stoves. They used the door in front of the stairs to enter the bedroom. She didn't know when her brothers and sisters came to bed.

It was dark when she awoke and called her mother. Witness repeated her story about the smoke and calling her mother.

She saw no fire and did not hear any crackling.

It was dark in the room. She found her dress on the bed post, put it on without buttoning it. She didn't know how the rest got dressed.

The axe was behind the bedroom door. They kept the good axe in the bedroom because her father wouldn't let them use it, for fear of cutting their feet.

Witness said she didn't like to go to Burnham's that night because she was only partly dressed.

Witness had talked about the fire to Mr. Stratton, but had not told him her reasons for not going to Burnham's.

The fire seemed to be in the front of the house. At the head of the stairs to the right was Mr. Scollie's room.

The door at the front of the stairs was generally kept shut. The door to the kitchen was open, and from the kitchen she had a good view of the fire, and the stair door was sufficiently closed to see well down the passage way.

They remained outside a few minutes shouting for Mr. Scollie. At this time she was holding the baby.

She didn't remember whether they were all in the closet at once.

The buffalo robes were not in the house that night. Afterwards the robes were used to cover them, but she didn't know where her mother got them.

When they started for McGrego'r that morning, they left their mother near the house. She didn't say where she was going. Afterwards she learned that her mother was going to Lavelle's.

She went to bed ahead of Scollie. Heard no noise upstairs.

To his Lordship—She didn't know whether Scollie took any medicine that night. She didn't know whether he took anything to make him sleep.

THOMAS GRAY.

Thomas Gray, aged 11 years, son of the prisoner, was next called to the box. He remembered the night of the fire. His sister Annie went to bed before him. He and his mother fed the cattle before they went to bed. Scollie was by the stove while they were at the barn doing the chores. When they came back Sollie had gone to bed, and there was a light in his room.

His mother and Annie awakened him that night. They were screaming and calling that they were going to be burned. Witness got up and ran to the door, and when he opened it, the flames ran out over his head. He put his arms around his mother's waist and cried.

His mother asked him if his papa's good axe was in. Witness replied that it was behind the bureau. His mother got it and smashed the window. Annie was the first to get out. Witness had on his pants and shirt. He didn't know how the others were dressed.

Out of the house they cried for Mr. Scollie.

Witness' evidence as to where he had slept that night was corroborative of his sister's.

Witness had found a bone in the cellar where the men had been digging. He left the bone in a sleigh in which he stole a ride.

CROSS EXAMINED.

There were fires in both stoves that night. After doing the chores he and his mother made shavings and went to bed. He heard no noise after he went to bed.

Witness had no explanation for feeding the horses so late that night. They fed the cattle whenever they felt like it.

Witness contradicted his sister's evidence about the lamp being lighted. He did not see it lighted, and it was very dark in the room.

When witness was first awakened, his mother was already up. His mother did not try to get to the kitchen through the door. Witness was the one who opened the door.

He could see into the kitchen. The flames were coming in from the kitchen. He didn't dress before he went out of the window. His mother threw his clothes out to him and he dressed in the closet, putting on his pants, boots and stockings. It was a very cold night. His mother told the children they could either run to LaVelle's or McGregors, and they went to McGregors'.

Witness carried George, the next to the youngest child. On the way to McGregors he stopped quite a few times to rest, and they all reached McGregors together. They left their mother at the house.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE.

Herbert Moir, an Australian Willing to Spend as Much as Dunraven.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Herbert Moir, a well-known colonial yachtsman, has written an open letter to the Yachting World in which he says: "I know that I am expressing the feelings of many thousands of Englishmen at home and abroad when I say that the America's Cup should be brought back to the Old Country. I am prepared to form a syndicate to build a yacht to be called West Australia to bring the cup back to old England and to subscribe £500." Since this letter appeared Mr. Moir has been fairly inundated with offers to subscribe sums ranging from £50 to £1,000 until at the present moment he has been promised over £30,000 for the purpose of challenging for the cup.

Mr. Moir said in an interview this afternoon: "I have long wished to build a boat to compete for the America's Cup. I do not see why the cup should always remain in America. Surely there are yacht builders and designers outside that country. I understand that Valkyrie III. cost the Dunraven syndicate $80,000 with designers' fees, and I am quite prepared to spend an equal sum. I shall call the boat after the colony where I have made my greatest successes, West Australia. It will fin-keel craft and will be built upon the lines somewhat similar to Britannia. I cannot disclose the measurements yet. The acceptance of Mr. Rose's challenge for the America's cup will preclude the possibility of my racing in 1896, but I shall have my yacht ready for 1897.

"I am ready to sail anywhere. Any water that is good enough for Defender is good enough for me; any conditions that are fair enough for Defender are fair enough for me."

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Many regrets were expressed by visitors to the Industrial Fair that the Dodd's Medicine Company of this city did not have a display of their well-known Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy which has by this time become so widely and favorably known for the absolute cure of all complaints of the kidneys even in the most acute stages. A rumor was current that a public exhibition of the manfacture of the remedy would be given, but the restricted space this year prevented the possibility of such a scheme. Corbett and Fitzsimmons May not Meet There—Money For a License Declined—Prize Fighters Convicted,

Special to the Times.

AUSTIN, Texas Sept. 27.—Governor Culberson issued a proclamation calling a special session of the Legislature for October, one that will pass a law that will knock the Corbett - Fitzsimmons prize fight into a cocked hat. The Governor issued the proclamation at midnight last night after a lengthy consultation with his Cabinet and gave the Associated Press correspondent as the reason for his action that in the present condition of the law the fight managers are liable to pull off the fight while the courts are rowing over it; that the chief justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals has ruled against the state, and now there is a mandamus case pending in the Supreme Court that may go in a different line, thus causing a conflict between the highest courts in the State. In order to avoid of possible contention he issued the call convening the Legislature next Tuesday in this city. "To denounce prize fighting and kindred practices in clear and unambiguous terms and prohibit the same by appropriate pains and penalties, putting the law into immediate operation and making necessary provisions for its enforcement so that the proposed exhibition of this character within this State may be prevented, the undoubted will of the people upon the subject respected, and this affront to moral sense and enlightened progress of Texas averted."

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 27.—County Attorney Byra, of Georgetown, Texas, refused to accept from R. A. Johns, a prominent attorney, $730 tendered to secure a license for a prize fight. PORT HURON, Sept. 27.—There is consternation here at the prospect of having communication with Sarnia by ferry cut off on account of the new United States law which requires that every time a boat lands at an American port three manifests must be made out and forwarded to the Customs officials. These manifests make the cost 10 cents, and as the ferryboats make three trips an hour between Sarnia and Port Huron it will cost 90 cents an hour for each boat. THE FIRE IS ALL OUT

Fiercely Raging Bush Fires Set the Village on Fire in Dozens of Places—Peterborough Responds Nobly to the Call for Aid—Our Engine and Seven Men Sent Down.

HAVELOCK, 11 30 p.m.—(Special)—A bush fire which has been smouldering in the bush in the west part of the town was fanned into a high blaze by the high wind which was blowing Monday and threatened to destroy the western portion of the town but the men and women all turned out and fought it with buckets of water until the fire engine from Peterborough arrived at 2.30 p.m., having been telegraphed for.

The wind blew sparks all over the country and one of them caught in Mr. Andrew Corbett's house, and in a short time was in ashes. house insured but not the contents. Robert Douglas' house across the street also caught fire from sparks and was burned to the ground. No insurance.

The Methodist parsonage and church adjoining Mr. Corbett's were partly damaged by fire and water. The Swift Co's. ice house caught several times and was put out with great difficulty. After the fire engine from Peterborough arrived the men set to work with a will and with the assistance of the men from Peterborough they soon had the fire in the town under control and well under in the bush but not altogether subdued.

The fire in the winds is still burning but if the wind does not raise there is no more danger but if it should there is little hope of saving the western portion of the town as all the wells are dry now. The engine and men left here for Peterborough at 11 p.m., having done all they could to save the town.

Shortly after one o'clock Monday afternoon Mayor Kendry received a message from Havelock asking the Peterborough Fire Brigade to come immediately to Havelock, as a fierce bush fire was raging there and threatened to sweep the village out of existence.

A special train consisting of an engine flat car and caboose was already waiting at the C. P. R. station, and Mayor Kendry gave the necessary permission for the fire engine to go to the assistance of the railroad village, in charge of Chief Rutherford and Firemen Green, Moore, Yelland. Hayes, English and Gordon.

It only took a few minutes to load the engine on the flat car and the special shot out from the depot under a full head of steam. The distance to Havelock, 27 miles, was covered in exactly 31 minutes, a very fast run.

When the firemen reached Havelock the engine was unloaded, and water was secured from a creek near the C. P. R. track. Men, women and children were fighting the bush fire, which raged fiercely, while huge volumes of smoke enveloped the village and filled the eyes of the fire-fighters. The bush extending from Havelock to Tweed, was one roaring mass of flames, and the high west wind blew showers of sparks and embers on the roofs of the houses, and dozens of houses caught fire, but were put out by the bucket brigade consisting of men and women, who passed along the water as it was taken from neighboring wells. A swamp in the centre part of the town caught fire, and this more seriously threatened the destruction of the dwellings at one time. When this was extinguished, all breathed easier, for it was felt that the most pressing danger was over.

The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the bush fire to the west, but only after a hard fight. When the Peterborough firemen left Havelock the village was out of danger, and the bush fire practically out. A special train was made up, and they reached Peterborough at 1 o'clock this morning, having rendered effective assistance to the village.

The authorities at Havelock were perfectly justified in sending to Peterborough for assistance, for at one time it looked as if the village was doomed. Fortunately the high wind subsided, allowing the fire-fighters a chance to check the onward march of the flames. At one time as many as 25 dwellings had caught from flying embers.

MILL OWNER ARRESTED.

The circumstances surrounding the destruction of William L. R. Terry's grist mill at Newcombe's Mills, in Northumberland county, were so suspicious that Detective Murray was detailed to inquire into the case. A young man, Edward Ackley, employed in the mill, was placed under arrest, and on Friday last came up for trial. The evidence presented by the Crown officer was very strong against the prisoner, and the jury, after three and one-half hours' consultation, could not agree. The judge sent them back, and in one hour they brought in a verdict of acquittal.

In consequence of evidence given at the trial, Terry, who owned the mill, was arrested on a charge of defrauding creditors, and will be tried on this charge. It was stated in the evidence that Ackley had made a confession to a companion named Donald Wright that he had got a watch and some money to fire the mill.

A Splendid Display of New and Fashionable Goods.

A TIMES representative recently took a look through the mammoth premises of this enterprising firm, and found every department brimfull of new and fashionable goods. The goods were arranged so as to look their best, and the display was a credit to the firm. On the lower flat were arranged pyramids of dress goods, imported direct from Europe. These consisted of crepons, mohairs, etc., including Priestley's celebrated varished board dress goods in all varieties and colors. Another pyramid of English and French tweeds, suitable for ladies' dresses, etc., occupied a prominent position, while still another contained all the latest English, American and Canadian tweeds, suitable for men's wear.

But the most attractive portion of the display was in the curtain and carpet departments, which had been divided into three rooms, one of which is especially deserving of mention. It consisted of a bed chamber, the carpets, curtains, rugs, draperies and bed covering being of a light blue shade. These rooms were visited by hundreds yesterday and the day before, many returning for a second visit and bringing friends with them.

Upstairs the millinery and mantle departments are replete with all the novelties of the season. purchased in the leading markets of the world.

MRS. HESSIE GRAY PLACED ON TRIAL.

The Crown Presents Its Case to The Jury And Calls Witnesses.

Was Scollie Drugged Before the Fire—The Medical Evidence All In—Wm. McGregor and His Wife Tell Their Story In The Box—The Evidence of a Dozen Witnesses Taken Yesterday—The Crown Will Probably Conclude Its Case This Morning—The Court Room Crowded With Spectators a Large Percentage of Whom Are Ladies—Complete Report of Yesterday's Trial.

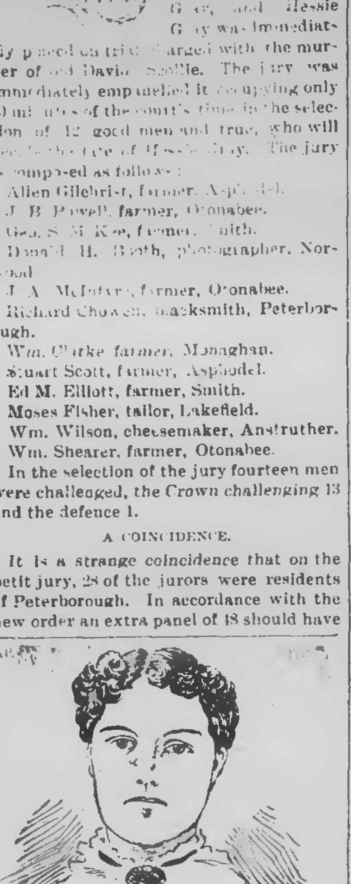
YESTERDAY at 11.30. when the Assize court convened, the Grand Jury brought in true bills against Thomas and Hessie Gray, and Hessie Gray was immediately placed on trial charged with the murder of old David Scollie. The jury was immediately empanelled it occupying only 30 minutes of the court's time in the selection of 12 good men and true, who will decide the fate of Hessie Gray. The jury is composed as follows:

Allen Gilchrist, farmer, Asphodel.
J. B. Powell, farmer, Otonabee.
Geo. S. McKee, farmer, Smith.
Donald H. Booth, photographer, Norwood.
J. A. McIntyre, farmer, Otonabee.
Richard Chowen, blacksmith, Peterborough.
Wm. Clarke, farmer, Monaghan.
Stuart Scott, farmer, Asphodel.
Ed M. Elliott, farmer, Smith.
Moses Fisher, tailor, Lakefield.
Wm. Wilson, cheesemaker, Anstruther.
Wm. Shearer, farmer, Otonabee.

In the selection of the jury fourteen men were challenged, the Crown challenging 13 and the defence 1.

A COINCIDENCE.

It is a strange coincidence that on the petit jury, 28 of the jurors were residents of Peterborough. In accordance with the new order an extra panel of 48 should have been selected. However, only 21 were selected on this panel. The Crown presuming that the defence would challenge the small percentage of country residents, and having cognizance of the sympathy of the towns people for the Grays, decided to try the prisoners separately thus lessening the challenge number of the defence. Had the prisoners been tried jointly the defence had the privilege of challenging 40.



HESSIE GRAY.

THE TRIAL IN PROGRESS.

THE THEORY OF THE CROWN—SCOLLIE SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUGGED.

Mr. R. C. Clute is Crown Prosecutor. Near him sets Detective Murray. Mr. W. A. Stratton is ably conducting the defence, assisted by his law partner, Mr. R. R. Hall. Crown Attorney Wood has a seat at the table, and inside the railing are seated interested members of the bar. The newspaper men including the representatives of the Toronto World, Mail, News, Star and Telegram, the Montreal Herald and Gazette, and the Review, Examiner and TIMES are scattered around inside the railing. The prisoner sets sedately in one corner of the large prisoners' dock and looks down at her eldest daughter who is carrying the baby, and every now and then the mother reaches over and takes the infant in her arms and holds it to her bosom until it becomes restless. Then the little girl takes the child and walks with it in her arms up and down the corridors. Kind hearted ladies in the audience yesterday, nursed the infant by turns.

The Crown will show its hand today and outline its theory more definitely than yesterday. The Crown claims that Scollie was drugged with laudanum and burned afterwards.

In support of this the Crown will place in the box, Mr. Alfred Cowan, drug clerk for Mr. J.D. Tully, and Mr. Cowan will produce the poison book, showing where on November, 1894, a Mrs. Gray bought one half ounce of laudanum. The evidence of Mrs. McGregor relates a conversation in November of that year with Mrs. Gray, at which time Mrs. Gray said:

"I will poison the damned old brute, and then burn him up."

If in a drugged condition, the position of Scollie's hands folded peacefully across his breast, as he was found according to the testimony of a dozen witnesses proves that he was insensible to the fire that surrounded him, and that the evidence of a violent death are compatible with this theory.

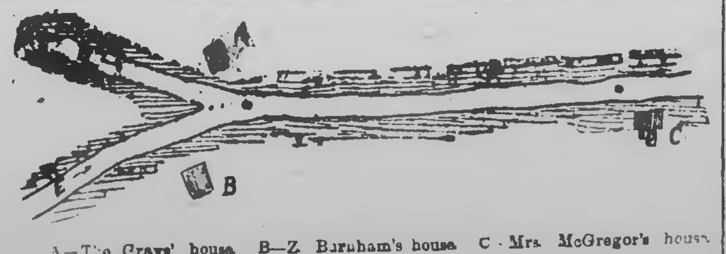
PRESENTING THE CASE.

Mr. Clute addressed the jury presenting the Crown's case briefly. The jury had a serious and important duty to perform. The administration of justice was in their hands. He realized the sympathy for a woman placed on trial for her life. This was in the mind of the Crown prosecution and he would not press any point unduly, but in face of all this they were expected to fearlessly do their duty. He explained that he made these remarks in order that they might be one, and that he might assist him and go fearlessly on to do their duty to the end. Mr. Clute then outlined the circumstances of the case. He said it would be shown in evidence that prior to the alleged murder the position of the parties had become irksome so far as the Grays were concerned and that threats of the most dangerous character were made by the prisoner at the bar. It could be shown that on the night of the alleged murder the prisoner at the bar was in the house alone, her husband being away. Mr. Clute here produced a plan of the Gray dwelling and the surrounding neighborhood, and the jury had this plan laid before them and the distances of the different neighbors' houses from the Gray dwelling. A fire took place, Mr. Clute contined, about two o'clock in the morning, and the first outside intimation of the fire was given by the children of the prisoner who came to McGreggor's. The prisoner did not accompany them. McGreggor got up and started for the fire, and a little west met Mrs. Gray. He asked where was Scollie, and she said he was in the house. She said she had gone down to the bridge with the intention of going to Deyell's but had changed her mind and came back. He ran on to the house and found the eastern part of the house in flames, and said he would run over to Burnham's and get help to get Scollie out. When he came back it was impossible to get the old man out. Mr. Clute then described the manner in which Scollie's body was removed from the ruins, and the condition in which it was found. The contention of the Crown was, he said, that if the head had been burned some traces of it would have been found, having regard to the condition of the body as found. The opinion of the experts further was that having regard to the condition of the bones of the neck, that the head could not have been so completely burned if it had not been previously removed. The Crown, however, did not hang its whole case of this supposition.

It is the duty of the Crown to show, and we propose to show, what interest the Grays had in making away with old Davy Scollie. He was an apparently healthy old man, and on the Wednesday previous to the murder the Crown will show that he was seen alive, and in perfect health, apparently.

Mrs. Gray's husband was out in the shanties and she did not expect him back that winter. We must now show the temper of this woman. It will be shown that she is a woman of violent temperament, a woman who works herself into rages, passions, and who uses languuge of a violent nature. It will be shown that Mrs. Gray had made up her mind to do away with old David Scollie. We have evidence of this in her conversation with her sister Mrs. McGregor, whom she tells on different occasions that she will do away with Scollie. She will catch him in Fitzgerald's lane and kill him; she will chop his head and then burn the house and then "who in hell will know anything about it." This was Mrs. Gray's talk before the bloody deed.

In most cases we find there is the thought of the deed, the deliberation over a plan, and the execution. We clearly have a case of this nature now. We have evidence of this woman's threats to kill Scollie, her violent temperament, and the motive standing out plain and clear. The Crown will show the deliberation of the plan, the motive for the murder of the man, and the strong circumstances that point to these prisoners as murderers.



A—The Grays' house. B—Z. Burnham's house. C—Mrs. McGregor's house. Keene road. E Norwood road.

AN ADJOURNMENT.

When Mr. Clute concluded, His Lordship adjourned the court for one hour. The spectators, however, did not leave the room, but held their seats all during the noon recess. The attendance of ladies during the noon hour was larger than in the morning.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Crown Examines a Large Number of Witnesses,

When the Court convened at 1.30 o'clock, the court room was packed with eager, curious spectators, a large percentage of whom were ladies. The prisoner, Hessie Gray, was led to the dock, and in taking the seat inside the inclosure, looked half way around in a nervous manner.

Mr. Clute asked that the witnesses on both sides be excluded from the court room with the exception of the medical witnesses. His Lordship had this done.

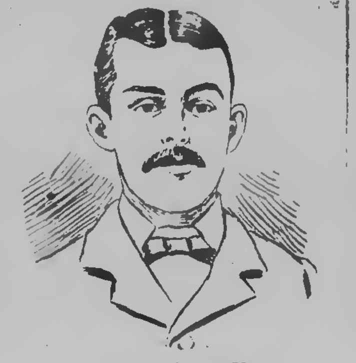
W. L. Innis, C. E., was the first witness called, and he swore to the plans and measurements which the Crown prosecutor used in indicating distances to the McGregors and Burnhams' from the Gray's house. The Burnham's were the nearest to the Gray's. Witness had made accurate measurement of the distances and also timed himself in going from one point to the other.

He had also made a map of the Gray house from accurate measurements on the scale of four miles to the inch. He had estimated that a man going at the rate of one mile an hour would reach the LaBelle's from the Grays in 25 minutes. Mr. Stratton questioned the witness on points of time.

The defense put in a plan as evidence, but Mr. Clute objected on the ground that the plan was not made on a relative scale.

MARK BURNHAM.

Mark Burnham, son of Zack Burnham, Gray's nearest neighbor, was the second witness. This witness was not called at the preliminary hearing, and his evidence was new.



THOMAS GRAY.

Witness said he lived in Otonabee near the place where Scollie lived or just across the road. He remembered the burning of the Gray's house. Previous to the fire he had not seen Scollie for some time. The first intimation he had of the fire was McGregor calling at the house the morning of the fire. He got up, called his father and went over to the Grays. The house was all on fire and the smoke was coming out of the eaves. Fire also came out of the north window near the road. There was no fire up stairs at all. He hadn't remained there long it was cold and stormy. When he got there he met McGregor. The next to come was his father. He left then and went home, and came back at 6 o'clock. By this time he had seen no indication of a body being in the flames. In the morning when he returned the body was taken out. He saw Mr. Weir and others digging it out. The body was covered with blankets. He was not near enough to make a close examination.

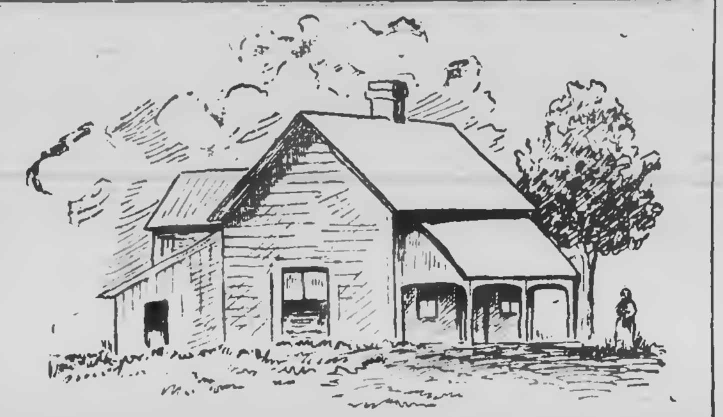
CROSS-EXAMINED.

Witness told Mr. Stratton that the first words of McGregor were that old Scollie was burned alive. Afterwards McGregor told him that Scollie might have escaped. It was impossible to rescue Scollie had he been in the building. Neither of them made any effort to rescue Scollie.

To Mr. Clute witness said it would not have been any use, as no one could have lived in the house for the smoke and heat.

ZACHIAS BURNHAM.

The father of the former witness said he knew Scollie, and lived nearly opposite. He appeared to be a healthy old man, apparently 70 years of age. Hadn't seen him for some time previous to the fire. When alarmed on that morning, he hurried over and found the house pretty well burned on the east side, but the west side was not very much burned. He was told Scollie was burned, so he made no attempt to go in the house. In fact the flames prevented anyone going in. He didn't remain until the house was entirely burned, but up to the time of going home he did not observe any signs of the body. At 7 o'clock in the morning he returned to the ruins, and helped take Scollie's body out. He didn't observe the position of the body, it was in the north part of the house, some distance from where he slept. The body was all covered except the hands. He had examined the dead man's breast, and it was not burnt at all. The hair upon his breast was not burned. When the body was taken out the head was missing.



The house of Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Gray's sister, whore Mrs. Gray first gave the alarm.

He couldn't see that there would be any difference in the heat on different parts of the body. If the head had been there it would have been covered with plaster too.

Had he been warned at first, he thought he could have rendered some assistance. He was pretty sure the body found was Scollie's body.

The Grays' had lived opposite him for 5 or 6 years. He knew the prisoner and her husband well. They were on friendly terms. Nothing to prevent being called upon in case of fire. His wife had assisted the Gray's in times of sickness.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Mr. Stratton asked witness if they were on visiting terms, to which witness replied that they were on neighborly terms.

When he reached the burning house that morning, he could do nothing to save Scollie. Had he got there 10 minutes sooner, he could have done something. He made no close examination of the neck of the body the next morning.

To Mr. Clute witness said there was no truth in the defence's claim that he, the witness, had pursued Mrs. Gray in the matter, or showed any feeling in the case.

JOHN GRAHAM WEIR.

John Graham Weir deposed that he lived a mile and a half from the Gray building. He had been acquainted with Scollie for many years. Scollie was a stout built, heavy set man, weighing about 180, and a very vigorous, robust man. He thought his age would be about 64 had he lived to the present time. Prior to the fire he had not seen Scollie for one week. He had heard of the fire about 7 o'clock on the morning of the fire and he was at the Gray place at 7.30. The building at this time was in ruins, the walls had fell and the debris filled the cellar. The spot where Scollie's body was supposed to be was pointed out. He then went to the spot and afterwards dug all around the body, about a foot away from it, until he got down to the floor, which he concluded was the lower floor of the house. Under the place where he dug there was no cellar; the cellar was a little further over. The joist of the floor was on the ground.

The covering on the body consisted of narrow strips of board and plaster to the depth of 8 inches. There was no difference in the distribution of the debris. Had the head been there it would have been equally covered. The body rested on a straw mattrass, and the mattrass rested on the floor. There were no cinders between the body and the mattrass or the mattrass and the floor. The floor was not burned.

Witness had come to the conclusion that Scollie had slept on the floor. No one could view the body and come to any other conclusion. The debris on top of the body was composed of strips and plaster which he concluded came from the ceiling and walls of that lower room.

Scollie's foot was burnt. The toes and part of the foot as far up as the instep were burned. The feet were stretched out and were turned up. The feet had woollen socks on.

When the body was taken the hands were folded across the chest and the blankets and clothes were wrapped closely around him, the hands under the bed clothes. The impression he received was that the old man had wrapped himself up warmly. The bed clothes had not been disturbed in the least. The body had on a guernsey shirt. The breast, when exposed showed a heavy growth of hair, up to the neck and it was not scorched. Deceased had a short neck and the distance between the hair to the point where the head had been severed, was not more than 3 or 4 inches.

The neck looked almost like a square cut, a little longer behind than in front. At the time he formed the impression that the man's head had been cut off. The body, he understood, was taken to the barn.

Witness had never seen the interior of the house. It was what they called a strip house. He couldn't say anything as to the value of the house.

He had seen Mrs. Gray frequently working about the place.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

"Mr. Weir," asked Mr. Stratton, "since this trial began did you not go to Mr. Smithson, of Ashburnham, and ask him how his son-in-law felt on this case, knowing that he was a member of the jury?"

The witness did not deny the question.

Then Mr. Stratton by a series of sharp questions endeavored to show that the witness had shown more than ordinary interest, and displayed great zeal in aiding the detectives secure evidence against Mrs. Gray, and had made himself most active in the prosecution.

Witness was closely questioned as to the covering on the body, the amount of debris, etc. Under the blanket there were two quilts and then the debris, while under the blankets and quilts there were two shirts. Witness was questioned as to his evidence at the preliminary hearing. He was not surprised that the body wasn't burned—on account of the covering. He was not surprised that the head was missing, because the neck was square off.

Witness saw no trace of blood on blankets, and the floor was clear of debris. He didn't see any blood on the floor. He had not made an examination of the bone of the neck, although he saw the cut, and it looked like a cut of an axe.

Witness said that when he was at the house that morning, Mr. Burnham was the only one there that he could be sure of. He didn't see McGregor that morning. The men who were there before him had done nothing towards recovering the body. Had the body not been covered by the debris, he did not think it would have been consumed. He did not think the head could have survived had it been unprotected. On this point the witness did not answer very willingly.

"Didn't you give old man Scollie in the month of August a note at six months for $200, and did you not change it to 12 months, and did not Scollie say that was forgery," asked Mr. Stratton.

Witness indignantly denied that he ever owed Scollie a cent.

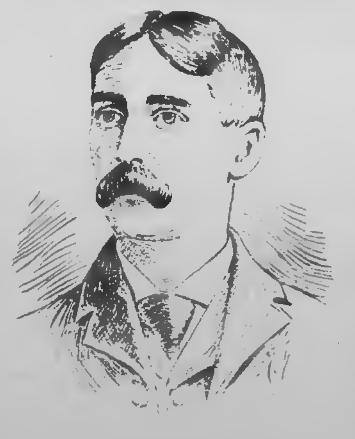
"Was it not Davie's tin box you were poking around for with the shovel that morning?"

Witness denied this also, and the crier called the tittering crowd to order.

Witness denied that he was on bad terms with Gray. He denied that Gray had charged him with burning his own barn.

He had never told Mr. LaBelle that when Scollie went to the Grays that he brought death upon himself.

To Mr. Clute witness said he had gone with detective to show him where the witness at the inquest lived.



W. A. STRATTON,

The suggestions of the counsel for defense that he had given Scollie a note or that he was on bad terms with Gray, were not true—had no foundation in truth. He and Gray had been on friendly terms.

WALTER JOHNSON.

This witness was with John Graham Weir on the morning of the fire, and saw the body dug out, assisting in carrying the water. The head was not on the body, which was tightly wrapped in blankets, the hands clasped on the breast. The body had on the guernsey shirt. The breast was not apparently injured by fire, the hair not being burnt, even as far up as the neck, or within an inch or so of the end of the bone where the head had been severed. The cut appeared to be burned over at the point of severance. The cut was a little higher at the back than at the front. The flesh up to the edge was scorched, and about one or two inches down the bone. The body was taken to the farm.

Debris consisting of chunks of wood, strips and plaster covered the body. He noticed no difference in depth of debris, or degrees of heat. Under the body was a clean floor, and between the floor and the

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 27 1895.

THE HOWRY LUMBER COMPANY.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—I venture to ask you to publish this letter in order that the public may know something of the Howry people, and how kindly they look after their men.

On the 10th of September I was engaged by Mr. W. J. Kearns to work for the Company, and left Montreal on the same day for Gooderham, near where one of the camps is situated.

After working only two days I suddenly became very ill, and so bad did I become that it was necessary for me to go to the hospital. As I had neither money or friends, and nothing due me for wages, this was a difficult matter. In my trouble the Company, through the foreman of camp 17, where I was working, provided me with money and secured my admission to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where I have been ever since, and when I am slowly recovering, thanks to the excellent nursing and splendid medical attendance.

I write this that the public may know of the kindness of the Howry Company, who so nobly assisted me in my distress.

By publishing the above in TIMES you will greatly oblige an old Ottawa River lumberman.

J. B. MAREAU.

St. Joseph's Hospital,
Peterborough, Sept. 24, 1895

[Mr. Mareau, who has been foreman for a number of years for Mr. Booth, of Ottawa, and who has for 40 years been engaged in the bush, further states that the Howry Company are getting out an enormous quantity of timber this season, They have already eight camps, with one or more to be added. Camp 17 is an ideal lumberman's home. There are in that camp about 80 men. The meals are as good as those provided by any hotel in the land, while the foreman, Mr. Green, has the confidence and affection of the men. The Company expect to get out between 75,000,000, and 100,000,000 feet of lumber during the season. On the 14th instant the foreman and gang of men, with one team of horses, put into Burnt River 851 logs, which is the largest number of logs ever watered in one day by one gang and one team. Mr. Green, the popular foreman, rewarded each man belonging to the gang with a pound of tobacco at the conclusion of the days work. Mr. Mareau is a very intelligent Frenchman, and is loud in his praise of the way the Howry firm conduct their business and use their men—(ED. TIMES).

If there was as much blow about Wiggins' storm as there is about Wiggins, it wouldn't be a storm at all, but a cyclone. The Government should give him a gentle hint to attend to his departmental duties and stop frightening women and children.

La Grande Trappe, the parent of all Trappist monasteries, was lately thrown open to women for the first time in its history, on the occasion of consecration of its new church by the Bishop of Seez. Before that only three women had crossed its threshold James II.'s Queen, Mary of Modena, accompanying her husband in 1696, and Queen Amelia and the Duchesses de Nemours, who were with Louis Philipps when he visited the convent in 1847.

The result of Principal Grant's trip to Manitoba for the purpose of inquiring into the Manitoba school question is to confirm him in the opinion that separate schools should be granted to the Roman Catholic minority. Well, the oracle having spoken, what is that man Greenway going to do about it? Will he be guided by the opinion of Principal Grant or the opinion of the great majority of the people of Manitoba who elected him to power and keep him there?

There are now in Africa so many white men, English, Dutch, Portuguese Italian, French, Belgian, and German, that the slave trade can never again flourish there. More than a million people who are not black can now say that they are Africans, and a good many of them can boast that they are natives of Africa. The whites, who for a long time did not venture beyond the coast regions, are advancing inland, where there are large areas which they find to be inviting. Millions of black people were brought from Africa in slave ships last century to North and South America, where their descendants now live. Large numbers of white Europeans have in this century gone to Africa, and there established homes for their descendants. The blacks multiply in Brazil and the United States; the whites thrive in Egypt and Algeria, in Cape Colony, and the South African republic. As for the Asiatic races, they prefer to stay in the countries which they inhabited from time immemorial.

Having succeeded in putting down the sale of beer in New York on Sundays, young Mr. Roosevelt, the energetic police commissioner, has declared war upon the clubs which dispense liquor on the Lord's day. That's right. If it is wrong for the poor man to drink beer on the Sabbath, it must be wrong also for the rich man to drink wine. Let there be no discriminal tion between the rich and the poor in the enforcement of law. More power to young Mr. Roosevelt! He's the right stuff.

OUSE RAPIDS.

Correspondence of the Times.

Weather keeps very hot and dry and rain is very badly needed.

Mr. John Boland took tea at Mr Thomas Cavanagh's on Sunday last.

Mr. Garrat Cavanagh, of Cobbletown, passed through Ouse Rapids on a hare chase. As Mr. Cavanagh is an old and experienced hunter, it is well known that he makes but very few 'fowl' shots.

An annual meeting of the local branch of the Lime Juice Club was held here on Friday, in the Hall of Wisdom. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Bro. Anvil Dwyer, during which great excitement was caused by Bro. Razor Flood, taking a weak fit. Brother Trader Quinlan run two miles in less than two minutes, and upon his return he was surprised to find that Bro. Cheese Cake Quinlan had 14 of his finest pumpkins gobbled up. The meeting was closed amid loud applause from Bro. D. Dwyer.

Mr. John Christie has just returned from China and brought with him five hens and a rooster, which cost him upwards of $600. Mr. Christie deserves credit for bringing such costly fowl to this part of the country.

The first canoe racing contest of the season took place here on Monday last in a swell of the Ouse River, known to surrounding country as Johnnie Lynch's pond. The contest was held between Mr. D. Quinlan and J. Kerr, of the north. Both men raced well and showed their ability with the paddles. The contest ended in favor of Mr. D. Quinlan, who rowed 1 mile in 2 minutes and 3 seconds, then giving Mr. Quinlan great confidence in his rowing powers. He says he will paddle any one in Ontario for any sum from $1000 up. This wager will extend from now until the 25th day of Nov. then probably it will be renewed.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

TURKEY'S TOBACCO TRADE.

The Monopoly Has Been Farmed Out to an English Company.

Special to The Times

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—In a report to the Department of State, Consul Hammond states that the Turkish Government has farmed out for a large sum of money the monopoly of the tobacco trade in Turkey to an English company.

Remarking upon the system, Mr. Hammond says: "The Hungarian Government has complete control, amounting to a government monopoly of tobacco. A private person cannot for his own use raise one ounce of tobacco, but that it must be turned over to the Government, the latter granting the privilege of raising the same."

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

MRS. HESSIE GRAY PLACED ON TRIAL.

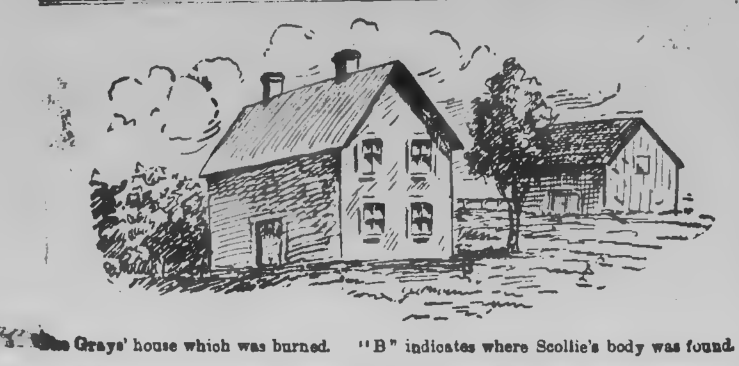
body was a straw tick. The straw was as fresh as when put in. There were not cinders on the tick or floor. As to the depth of the cellar at this point he could not say, nor whether the house had been banked at the side.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Witness when cross examined stated the body was a horrible sight. He wasn't prepared to state exactly in regard to the neck. The bone had a charred appearance, the flesh burned for about 2 inches, more at the back than at the front.

Witness did not observe that the body was burned at the elbows, feet, or that the body was burned clear through the ribs. This question on the part of the defence was a surprise, as no evidence has yet been adduced to show that the body was burned through.



[illegible] Grays' house which was burned. "B" indicates where Scollie's body was found.

JAMES E. HENDERSON.

Jas. E. Henderson said he lived four miles from the Grays and was present on the morning of the fire when J. G. Weir was there. He corroborated the other witnesses as regards the debris and clothing on the body. The body was on the straw and the latter was not burned. The straw was left in when the body was removed. He did not see the tick. The hands were folded across the breast and one leg was drawn up. The head was gone, but he did not notice the neck particularly. The breast was not burned and a heavy growth of hair extended to the neck from within 4 or 5 inches from point of severance. The hair was not burned. The body was wrapped tightly in bed clothes. From the position of the body he did not think it had fallen from any distance.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

In his cross-examination the witness said he had noticed straw at the side of the body. The neck had all the appearance of having gone through a severe fire.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

David Lawrence, Burnham's hired man, was not present the night of the fire but assisted in taking the body out the next day. There was not much straw under the body. He noticed that the head was gone. When the breast was exposed he noticed that the hair on the breast was not burned up to where the neckband of the shirt encircled the neck. The hands were burned on the back at the wrists.

When he reached the fire he noticed no flame over the body, except a slight flame over the abdomen. The body lay with the feet towards the road, or pointing straight north; the body lying across the house. His evidence was principally corroborative of preceding witnesses.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Although 8 or 10 neighbors were around that morning, it was not suggested that the head had been cut off.

HENRY GIRVEN.

Henry Girven was at the fire between 8 and 9 o'clock and assisted in removing the body. He didn't notice what was under the body. It was wrapped in bed clothes. The breast was uninjured and hair was uninjured as far up as the base of the neck. The condition of the feet he did not notice. The underclothing, shirt and drawers, were apparently uninjured as well.

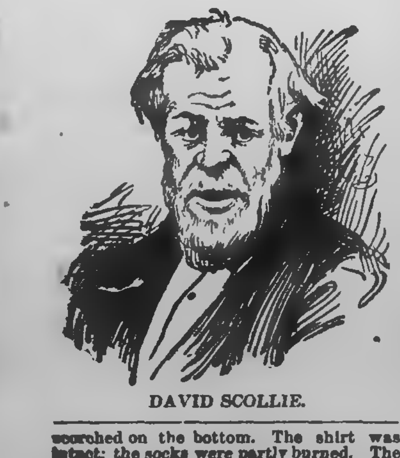
CROSS EXAMINED.

The witnesses cross-examination was unimportant.

DANIEL BELLEGHEM.

Mr. D. Belleghem was the next witness and sworn said:

I am an undertaker, and saw David Scollie's body three or four hours after the fire, it being at that time in the barn. McGregor was there. The body was lying on some boards, the hands folded across the breast and the head missing. The body was dressed in shirt and drawers, and there were socks on the feet. At first I thought the feet were burned, but the toes were drawn in, the flesh burned from them. The chest was covered with natural hair, unsinged nor burned. The drawers were all right, except a little scorched on the bottom. The shirt was intact; the socks were partly burned. The neck was charred. From the blackened dart to the hair on the breast, four or five inches intervened. After viewing the body I got a casket and buried it. In June, 1895, I exhumed the body in the presence of Drs. Halliday and Boucher, town, and Drs. Caven and Primrose, Toronto. The body I exhumed was the one I buried.



DAVID SCOLLIE.

When I first went to see the body, I searched with a stick in the debris for the skull or parts of it, but found no trace. My examination was pretty thorough. I buried the body in the clothes it was found in.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

When searching for the head, witness told Mr. Stratton he did not know that others had been searching for it. He left the body in the barn unwatched and unprotected, and it was left in that condition for several hours. He thought at first from the appearance of the body that the head had been burned off, but when he failed to find the head, he had suspicions. He had not examined the neck very carefully. He saw no blood on the garments. The shirts were buttoned pretty close around the neck.

THE MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

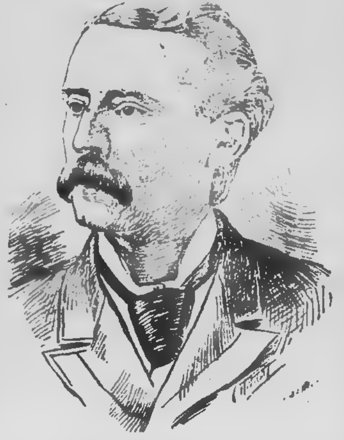
DR. CAVEN DESCRIBES THE CONDITION OF THE BODY—HIS INFERENCES.

Dr. Caven, who conducted the post mortem on the body of David Scollie, was the next witness. He explained his position in the Toronto university as a demonstrator of diseases, and said he had examined 500 or 600 of bodies. He had examined the body in the Little Lake cemetery in June, in presence of Drs. Halliday, Boucher, Primrose, and Coroner Bell.

THE REPORT.

The casket having been removed to the morgue, was opened and the remains of a headless body exposed. The clothes covering the body and consisting of a woolen undershirt and drawers and pair of socks were covered with mould and adhered closely to the body. The shirt showed marks of burning about the neck, shoulders and back. The drawers and socks were practically undamaged. After removing the clothing the following facts were observed: The head was absent; the chest, pubas, axillae and backs of the forearms were thickly covered with hair which was well preserved and gave no evidence of having been damaged by fire.

The left hand was flexed. Both knees were slightly flexed. The back of the left hand and the knuckles were charred and blackened as if by fire. On taking hold of the neck above and attempting to raise the body thereby, a section of the spinal column came off in his hands. This was the uppermost remaining portion of the neck and was preserved for future examination. Both right and left humeri were completely burned through high up near the shoulder joint and more or less of the bones destroyed. A considerable portion of the spinal column in the neck and back was then removed and preserved for examination. In front of the windpipe was seen a small tuft of fibrous ropelike material which further examination has shown to be muscle acted upon by heat. About 2½ inches of the inner and of the left collar bone were present, the outer end of this fragment being charred and blackened. The right collar bone was similarly charred, but an inch and a half of it remaining. The ribs of the left side were completely burnt through and separate from the spine close up. The ribs on the right side were all intact. A three inch nail was found sticking in the right chest wall, but had not penetrated the chest. The front aspect of the body from below the claicles and the lower limbs presented no evidence of having been exposed to fire, but were extensively denuded of their soft parts by the processes of decomposition. With slight traction both feet came away from the legs, their ligamentous connections having perished. The lower limbs were similarly separated with ease from the body at the hip joints. The left shoulder blade was not to be found. The right shoulder blade was slightly damaged apparently by fire, and was preserved for examination.



R. C. CLUTE, Q. C.

The liver was the only abdominal viscus recognizable. Portions of the lungs were recognized in the thoracic cavity. The heart was destroyed.

The soft parts of the body (skin, muscle, etc.) were softened and pliable and were readily torn asunder by the hands. The bony fragments which have been spoken of as coming off in the hand on attempting to raise the body by the neck, have been examined further, and the following is a description of them:

2. The sixth cervical vertebra—The right side of this bone is entire save a small portion of the body. The lateral processes of the left, side are absent, and a portion of the lateral part of the arch, so that the spinal canal is opened up on this side, the left side of it presents a broken surface etc.

DR. CAVEN EXAMINED.

Witness exhibited in his hand the neck bones, or the remains of three vertebra, two of which are techinally described in the above report.

Dr. Caven explained the smooth surface of the bone. In his opinion if the head had been on the body when the body was in the fire, the bones would not have been burned as they were. The charring was done after the head was off. If the head had been on the neck, it is not probable that the fire would have eaten in on one side to the distance it did and burned the bone away as it did. The injury would not have been caused had the head been on the body because this bone was protected by the fat, skin, muscle, windpipe and gullet.

As regards the position of the dead man's hands, he would not look for them to be in that position had the burning taken place before death. Suffocation was a violent death, and it was reasonable to see evidence of muscular contortion and agony, unless death had taken place before the fire. The position of the hands indicated an easy death, unless the suffocation had been very gradual. He couldn't say the hands had been placed in that position after death. In answer to a question witness said that the hands might have been in that position had a narcotic been administered.

His Lordship—But in case of a narcotic being admistered. the head, if cut off at all, must have been cut off after the narcotic had been administered.

Dr. Caven said he would't expect to find the head entirely destroyed and the hair on the chest uninjured, unless the body was protected in a special way. He wouldn't like to say how thorough Scollie's body had been protected. The plaster was a protection.

He reiterated that he wouldn't expect the head to disappear entirely.

To His Lordship witness said, if head had been cut off blood would likely be found on clothing.

Mr. Clute then asked that if, from the administration of a narcotic, the man had been dead when the head was cut off, would there be any spurting blood.

Witness replied that blood would not likely spurt, but dead or alive there would be blood on the floor, because the blood would naturally spurt from the body, and might not touch the clothes.

A FRACTURE.

A small fragmentary bone was here exhibited which witness thought was part of the larnyx, which showed signs of fracture, and also slight charring. Mr. Clute here asked if such a tiny bone could escape destruction when the skull was totally consumed.

The witness said this depended on the downward course of the fire.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

The cross-examination brought out that parts of the collar bone had been burned and the left shoulder blade absolutely. Some of the ribs were destroyed in part. The fire which burned the collar bone, ribs and arm, if applied to the head long enough and intense enough would burn the head. Presuming the head was burned off, there was nothing to show violence in the appearance of the bones on exhibit, or any other parts of the neck. If the tissue of the neck were destroyed, and all of the soft substance, the head would fall off by its own weight. Destroy the outside of the neck and it would not take a hard blow to knock off the head.

The defence asked if it were not so that death by carbonic acid gas, was a mergence of life into death. The witness answered yes, and also assented to the next question that Scollie, if reached by this gas, could have passed from life into death in an easy position and manner.

DR. PRIMROSE.

Dr. Primrose, the next witness, said he was present at the post mortem, and he fully concurred in all that Dr. Caven had said and the inferences he had drawn.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Were there not unmistakable signs that would have enabled those who examined Scollie on the morning of the fire, to determine the length of his death—to have determined whether he died before or after the fire, was the question of Mr. Stratton.

Dr. Primrose said that there were ways of telling the length of time a man has been dead.

Do you think it possible for a weak, nervous woman to cut off a man's head with an axe, without a drop of blood, asked Mr. Stratton.

Dr. Primrose thought it possible but not probable.

DR. HALLIDAY.

Dr. Halliday stated that he concurred in the evidence and inferences of Dr. Caven.

The defense asked Dr. Halliday to describe the wounds, scars, burns and marks on the body, which he did.

DR. BOUCHER.

Dr. Boucher, who was also present at the post mortem, fully concurred in Dr. Caven's report, his examination and inferences.

His Lordship remarked that he was glad to find four doctors agree in this case. They didn't generally agree.

MICHAEL FITZGERALD.

Witness deposed that he knew Thomas Gray and the prisoner at the bar. Fitzgerald is the purchaser of the Gray place. The deed of sale was produced in court, showing date of sale, and the consideration at $1,000. The insurance policy was also produced.

Mr. Frederick Dixon, agent for W. H. Hill, was called in connection with the policy, showing that it was continued after expiration. The policy was for $300 on a rough cast house, and on contents $200. The claim was settled after the fire in full and the proof of loss, list of goods and cheque in payment of claim were put in as evidence.

The defence asked if the claim had not been settled without delay or question. The witness replied that it had.

WILLIAM J. McGREGOR.

William J. McGregor, brother in law of Mrs. Gray, the prisoner at the bar was the next witness called.

He said the prisoner was his wife's sister. He knew the Gray house, and he knew Scollie. He described the departments or rooms in the Gray house by use of the plan. On the night of the fire he first heard of it, by the five Gray children knocking at his window at 2.30 on the morning of February 23, 1894. He noticed how the children were dressed. The oldest had a coat and cap and boots. The eldest carried the youngest. The little girl called fire, but he could see none in the Gray house. The little girl replied: "The whole side of the house is burned down."

He was out of the house and on the way to the fire in two minutes' time. On the top of the hill, he met Mrs. Gray. She was carrying a bundle in her arms. She said Scollie was in the house. He could see the reflection, and he hurried on and kicked the door in. The flames immediately burst out. He went to the north end and looked up, but could see no flames or fire in Scollie's room.

He then started to go to Burnham's but Mrs. Gray told them not to go there. He disregarded her words and went to Burnhams. Then he heard screams over at Grays, and went back where he met his wife, who was screaming, "Save Scollie! Save Scollie!" I told her there was no chance to save him. His wife went home soon after. He saw no signs of the body of Scollie that night, and he was not there when it was taken out.

He had been at Gray's one night about a year after the new house was built and Scollie was standing on the floor with a slate and pencil in his hand. Gray said he was going to have a separation with Scollie—not going to have him any longer.

His Lordship ruled out this conversation as it was too remote.

Witness said he had often heard Mrs. Gray say she "would poison the damned old brute," referring to Scollie. She had made this remark at her own house and at his house.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Scollie was kind to the Gray children, said the witness, nursed the children, and was not much trouble. He was a peculiarly quiet man. Sometimes he was apparently happy at the Grays', at other times he wasn't. Before living with the Grays' he lived alone in a hovel.

When he got to the fire on that morning he found the woodshed free from it. He met Mrs. Gray after she passed the Burnham road. She told him Scollie was in the house, and he went up to the building knowing he was there.

And you made no effort to save Scollie? Asked Mr. Stratton.

No, he made no effort to get in the building. Instead he went over to Burnhams. He couldn't do anything to save Scollie.

When he went to Burnhams he knew Scollie was burning.

Mr. Stratton then tried to make the witness admit that the house was hopelessly burning when he first reached it, and accused him of trying to injure the prisoner by saying the fire could have been spat on and put out when she left the house to come to his house.

He reiterated his former evidence that the goods and chattels in the Gray house were not worth $50. He made that assertion because he didn't believe their goods would bring $50 on the market.

MRS. McGREGOR.

Mrs. McGregor, sister of the prisoner, was the next witness sworn. She looked exceedingly ill, and spoke in a very low voice.

She followed her husband to the fire that morning. Mrs. Gray, whom she met, said "Oh my good house and my good barn." I asked her why she did not save Scollie. Mrs. Gray replied:

"What do you want to save Scollie for?"

Mrs. Gray went home with her. It was impossible to get near the house by reason of the intense heat of the fire. It was impossible to see into the house.

She had seen Scollie the Wednesday before that morning, walking alone towards the Grays.

Shortly before the fire, one day in going to town with Mrs. Gray, the second Saturday in November, Mrs. Gray said she and Scollie had had some words about the house. Mrs. Gray said she was going to get rid of him that winter.

Witness asked her how.

Mrs. Gray replied she would watch her chance up Fitzgerald's lane and shoot him.

Witness told her she wouldn't go to heaven if she did this.

She said she would do him up so nobody would find out who did it.

Mrs. Gray said it was Scollie's last winter. She would chop his head off before she would keep him another winter. Then she would set the house on fire and cover up all trace.

Witness repeated that murder would out and Mrs. Gray replied: "How in the hell would they know."

After the fire witness saw Mrs. Gray and she had said Mr. Belleghem had questioned her a great deal about Scollie, and also her daughter Annie. She said Scollie had sleeping drops of his own.

Mrs. Gray was not very well dressed after the fire. Only had one old dress of her own to witness' knowledge.

After Mrs. Gray went south witness never heard from her.

Mrs. Gray had asked her not to swear against her after a certain letter had appeared in the newspapers.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Mr. Stratton subjected Mrs. McGregor to a severe cross-examination. He tried to show that the detectives had gotten a hold of the witness and had poisoned her mind.

Mrs. Gray was delivered of a child on the 12th of April, or about 7 weeks after the fire, asked Mr. Stratton, and the witness assented.

Witness said she had told the detectives that she and the Grays were not on good terms.

She reluctantly related her conversation with the detective. She denied that they had poisoned her mind. The reason she and her sister had not spoken, was because witness went to Rice Lake to live and they hadn't met. They had been friendly since. In her tremulous voice witness said:

"I am just as anxious to see my sister today as I was when she left for the South. I like her just as well."

There had been hard feeling over a flour deal and a $50 note. Her husband would have killed her had she gone to visit Mrs. Gray after the prisoners' return from the South. She said she had made this statement to others.

Gray and McGregor had a fight. McGregor gave Gray one kick.

There was no blood on any of Mrs. Gray's clothes, to her knowledge.

To Mr. Clute witness said she had made no statement until she was subpoenaed. The trouble about the flour was a long time ago, and she had been on friendly terms with her sister since.

The defence will try and claim spite work on the part of the McGregors.

The Crown will claim that the position of the McGregors is an unfortunate one. They must either perjure themselves or tell all they know.

At the conclusion of the cross examination of Mrs. McGregor the court adjourned until 9.30 this morning.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

Our Public Institutions in Good Order—A House of Refuge

Presentment of the Grand Jurors of the County of Peterborough at the Autumn Assizes, 1895.

Your Grand Jurors have, as directed, investigated all the cases laid before them by the counsel for the Crown and have disposed of the same.

Your Grand Jurors have visited the county gaol and are pleased to report that they have found everything in good order and the prisoners properly cared for.

Your Grand Jurors also visited the Nicholls Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital and can only report the good reports given of them by former grand juries.

Your Grand Jurors agree with your Lordship in your remarks concerning a house of refuge for the poor and would urge upon the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to unite with the County authorities in the procuring of proper premises for the same at an early day believing as we do that the expense of maintaining such an institution, would add but little to the present cost of supporting the poor in jail.

The thanks of the Grand Jurors are due to the Crown Counsel for his assistance in disposing of the business laid before them.

G. J. GALVIN,
Foreman.

TRAMPS IN GAOL.

Four Captured at Havelock, But Not the Men Who Escaped.

County Constable Archie Moore, drove in from Norwood Sunday morning with four tramps whom he had captured at Havelock on Saturday night.

On Saturday morning Magistrate Edmison received word from the C.P.R. superintendent at Smith's Falls, that four tramps had just reached Havelock. One of them bore a scalp wound which led to the belief that they were the men who had given battle to the constables at the Ashburnham brickyard on Monday last. They had strengthened this suspicion by enquiring if a posse of Peterborough police had visited Havelock.

Constable Moore was directed to go to Havelock at once and he left on the noon train. After considerable search, he found four tramps, but they were not the men whom he and the posse had been chasing. He arrested them, however, took them to Norwood, and drove from Norwood to Peterborough Monday morning. The tramps were lodged in the gaol, and will have a hearing Tuesday.

RELEASED THE MORTGAGE

CARBON WORKS BOUGHT BY THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC WORKS.

The Council Last Night Released the $4,000 Mortgage and the Electric Works Releases the Town From Paying the $5,000 Bonus.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held last night at which there were present, Mayor Kendry in the chair, and Councillors Cahill, Best, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Dawson, Clingscale, Mason, Sawers.

The following letter was read from the Street Railway company.

Under the contract between the corporation and this company, we are required to extend our track one mile before 1st January next, and while it is our intention to comply with the conditions of our franchise, it would be a material assistance to us if the town could extend the time for laying down the mile of track required this year until next year, and we therefore beg to request that you will grant such extension on the understanding that next year we will extend our tracks by one mile and a half.

We have the honor to be,
Your obedient servants,
PETERBOROUGH AND ASHBURNHAM STREET RAILWAY COMPANY,
A. P. POUSSETTE,
Secretary.

The communication was received.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

THE SEWER MATTER.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report that they considered the matter of the further extension of the sewer this season in Committee of the Whole Council and recommend as follows:

1. That the Sewerage Committee advertise for tenders for the construction of a sewer from Townsend street to King street.

2. That the sewer from Townsend street to King street be constructed of brick and of the same size as that now under construction, namely two feet by three feet.

3. That the Sewerage Committee be empowered to arrange with Rutherford & Bogue, the contractors for No. 2 contract, to build that portion of the sewer from Rink street to the bridge of brick the same size as the other portion of their contract.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST,
Chairman.

Not having decided on the old sewer the recommendations in the report were thought to be the best plan.

On motion of Councillors Best and Denne, the report was adopted.

THE CARBON WORKS.

Councillor Cahill moved the first reading of a bylaw referring to the Carbon Works.

Councillor Dawson objected. The Carbon Works matter had been referred to the Council Committee for investigation, and he did not think enough time had elapsed for thorough investigation. It looked like hurrying the matter through.

Councillor Cahill said if anything was to be done in regard to the Carbon Works, it must be done at once. The Council was acting under the advice of the Town Solicitor.

The bylaw was then read a first time. It provides as follows:

1, Upon the purchase by the Canadian General Electric Company of the property and works of the Peterborough Porcelain and Carbon Company, and upon the said Electric Company releasing the said corporation from all liability to pay the said sum of $5,000 and accepting the provisions of this bylaw in satisfaction of the provisions of the said bylaw, the mayor and clerk are hereby authorized to execute a release of discharge of the said recited mortgage from the Brooks' Manufacturing Co., to the corporation of the town of Peterborough, but nothing therein or in such discharge or release contained shall discharge or release the sureties under such bond.

Clause two exempts the property for ten years in case the company carries on the works as agreed by the old company.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox was given a hearing. As a ratepayer of the town he felt the Carbon Works should continue. He explained how he had succeeded in getting the Board of the Electric Company to pass a resolution to purchase the Carbon Works, including plant, building, etc., for the sum of $15,000 providing the town exempt the plant and buildings from taxation for 10 years, and also carry out the agreement as to the $5,000 which had not been paid.

It would be to the interest of the town to encourage the extension of the Electric Works in this town. It was Mr. Nicholls intention to enlarge. The Carbon Works would be enlarged and extended. The Carbon Company had lost at least $100,000 in the works, or invested that sum in the works. He attributed it to mismanagement.

The question had been asked, if the Carbon Works couldn't make a success of the works, how could the Canadian General Electric Company make it pay. He had answered this question before the Board. The Electric Company would have no expenses for a general management, clerk hire, etc. He believed the Company could manage the works successfully. If they could it would be to the interest of the town to release the mortgage and have the works continue.

Councillor Best asked Mr. Cox if it was the Electric Company's intention of going on with the car works.

Mr. Cox replied that it was. The directors were willing to go on with the car works as soon as the town paid over the $5,000. The release of the mortgage was the equivalent for this $5,000.

Mr. J. R. Stratton said it was to be regretted that the management of the Porcelain Company left it in the present unfortunate fix. As a shareholder he and others had been looking for some plan by which the company could continue. The proposition of the Canadian General Electric Works was a way open to the continuance of the works and he thought it was in the interest of the town to release the mortgage and let the Carbon Works continue. Otherwise the works will fall into the hands of the Central Loan Company, and remain idle for years, perhaps.

Mr. Cox said the shareholders' stock was all gone. He had $7,000 paid up stock and would sell it for $1.

The Mayor, as a shareholder, said his $5 000 stock had been wiped out. He favored the town accepting the proposition. It would be in the best interest of the town.

Mr. A. P. Poussette said it was quite true that the arrangement proposed would wipe out the interests of the shareholders and further than this it would make some of the shareholders liable to the amount of their paid up stock. The loss of the company in five years was $75,000. The arrangement would be a relief to some citizens, and would undoubtedly benefit the town. The town would not be able to realize anything on the $4,000 mortgage.

Mr. Cox explained in answer to a question of Mr. Sawers, that the bonds to the amount of $2,800 would still continue in force according to the bylaw.

Councillor Cahill then moved that the Council go into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the bylaw. In doing so he said he felt he was acting in the very best interests of the town. It was a fortunate thing for the town that Mr. Cox had appeared on the scene.

Councillor Dawson wanted Mr. Cox to answer one question. If the by-law was passed, would the Electric Company build the Car Works, and carry on the Carbon Works.

The mayor replied that Mr. Jaffray and Mr. Cox had told him the car buildings would be put up. As a member of the council, he believed they would.

Mr. Cox replied he would accept no conditions.

The council then went into Committee of the Whole, and Councillor Dawson was called to the chair. Before doing so, he stated that it was the first time he ever saw a corporation hand over money without an agreement.

The by-law was then passed on its second and third readings.

Mr. Cox thanked the council for passing the by-law. If he had not been interested in the town as a ratepayer, he would not have advocated the passing of it. The town had done a good thing.

STREET RAILWAY CO.

On motion of Councillor Best, the request of the Street Railway Company was granted.

POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED.

The Two Tramps in Cobourg are Those Who Escaped from the Constables.

Constable Moore returned from Cobourg last night where he positively identified the two tramps who were lodged in the Cobourg jail on Thursday.

The tramp who suddenly appeared on the scene in the battle of Heap's Run, a week ago Monday, and who supplied his companions with revolvers, is one of the men.

The other tramp is one of the two who were handcuffed together. The story of their arrest is extremely interesting:

On Tuesday afternoon, 24th inst., seven or eight tramps boarded a G. T. R. freight train at Newtonville, the conductor put off three at the rear end of the train. Brakesman Foyle endeavored to get three from off the front when one of them presented a revolver and threatened to blow his brains out. No further efforts were made to get these three, but a message was dropped at Newcastle and sent to Bowmanville, asking for the police to be on hand. However, the tramps became suspicious of trouble ahead and left the train about half a mile outside of Bowmanville. Unfortunately Chief Jarvis was absent in Kingston on business, and no other officials were available. Major Sam Hughes, M. P., of Lindsay, who was attending a shooting match at Bowmanville, happened to be at the station in company with ten men, armed with guns, on the arrival of the train. On being informed of the affair by the station agent, he generously offered his assistance, which was promptly accepted. He immediately picked three men and started east along the track, sighting their men and within 200 yards of the spot at which they had left the freight. The tramps quickly took to their heels, and the Major who was fully 200 yards ahead of the other two pursuers, opened fire upon them, and in a few seconds all three men were blazing away. The reports of the rifles aroused the farmers in the vicinity of the chase, who joined in the hue and cry, yelling "stop thief, stop thief." This continued for about a mile, the numbers of the pursuers increasing at every concession, when the three tramps separated, two making across the fields, and the other straight ahead along the track. At this juncture, two section men appeared upon the scene, and catching sight of one of the offenders in a field, made chase and secured his capture. While questioning their capture his pal coolly approached the trio and pretending to be a police officer, seized the prisoner, exclaiming "This is the man I want." The section men, however, saw through his game, and grabbed him also. He showed fight, but was quickly overpowered. The man who attempted the rescue is named Walter St. Clair, of London, Eng., is about 35 years of age and is marked by a deep scar on left cheek. The chief of police of Port Hope identified him as one of a party of five he had ordered to leave that town on Tuesday noon. The other prisoner is about 24 years of age and is willing to give any information he can.

The man who kept the track (the one who threatened to shoot Brakesman Foyle) outdistanced Major Hughes and his companions, but he was met by two other section men, armed with scythes with which they had been cutting weeds. They threatened to mow him down if he did not stop, but he whipped out his revolver threatening to shoot them if they impeded his progress. The sight of his shooting iron turned the tables in favor of the tramp, who escaped in a corn field. He was last seen going north. His description is as follows:—height 5 ft. 10 in.; attire, navy blue coat, no vest, mouse colored shirt, with lace front, minus the lace, brown striped tweed pants, and black Derby hat; complexion, dark, face clean shaved.

On Thursday morning the two persons were arraigned at Bowmanville before Police Magistrate Haines, charged by G.T.R. Detective W. J. Cockburn, with fraudulently making use of the company's trains (a serious offence in itself) and also with wilfully obstructing an employee, in the discharge of his duty. They were remanded for one week, pending inquiries and conveyed to Cobourg jail by Chief Jarvis, of Bowmanville.

TWO CURLING CLUBS.

Peterborough Curling Club Decides on a Division.

There was a largely attended meeting of the Curling Club at the rink last evening. President Edminson was in the chair, and Mr. E. H. D. Hall acted as secretary.

The advisability of dividing into clubs was the discussion, and after being pretty thoroughly threshed out it was decided to form two clubs, one to be known as the "Thistles," and the other as the "Granites."

WAS A PATIENT

In St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton, Ont.

THE LADY LEFT HOSPITAL AND DOCTORS

She Uses Paine's Celery Compound and is Cured.

Another wonderful, almost, miraculous cure to report. As usual the afflicted one is saved by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. Annie Saunders, the cured lady, lives in Brimacombe, a pleasant suburb of Toronto. Her sufferings from a trouble common to many women, were terrible, and the wonder is that she now lives. To her, medical and hospital treatment proved of no avail. At a critical juncture, the doctor's deemed an operation imperatively necessary.

Mrs. Saunders would not sanction the proposed operation; she decided to try a medicine that had cured thousands; she had faith in its wondrous powers to make her a new woman. Paine's Celery Compound was her chosen agent; she used it, and thanks Providence for the happy change effected. She writes as follows regarding her cure:—

"It is with much pleasure that I testify to the value of your wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. I was a great sufferer from severe attacks of neuralgia in the left ovary. At times the attacks were so acute that I thought I would lose my reason.

"Several doctors treated me,and I was a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton. I obtained no relief from medical treatment. The doctors said unless I had the ovary taken away I could not be cured.

"Instead of submitting to the operation, I used Paine's Celery Compound, and I am thankful your valuable medicine cured me. I feel like a new women, and I would like all sufferers to know just what it has done for me."

ONE YEAR THE SENTENCE.

The Tramps Who Entered the Convent Are Convicted.

The day-light robbery which took place at the Convent some time ago, when the caretaker's room was entered and a sum of money stolen, will be remembered by our readers. Three men named Frank McDiarmid, Frank Somers and Duncan McCrea were arrested for the deed, and were sent to trial by Police Magistrate Dumble.

These men were arraigned at the Assize Court yesterday and pleaded not guilty. The Judge requested Mr. Frank Kerr, the junior member of the new law firm of Kerr & Kerr, to defend the prisoners.

A number of witnesses were examined, and Mr. Kerr displayed much ability in the cross-examination of them. He addressed the jury for 20 minutes making a splendid address, being complimented afterwards by the Crown Prosecutor.

The Jury remained out 40 minutes and returned a verdict of guilty. His Lordship sentenced the prisoners to one year each in the Central Prison.

Fire Near the Station.

For nearly a year our citizens have not been troubled with the exciting "call to action" of the fire bell. On Wednesday evening the sound pealed forth. The blaze pointed towards the station and when that part of the town was reached it was soon known where the trouble was located. The brick residence owned by the late Jas. D. Lowery and occupied by Mr. John Beatty and Miss Beatty had become a prey to the devouring element. As soon as possible the fire engine and hand pump were on the scene, but nothing could be done to check the onward march of the flames. Those who were there first, state that the greatest flames seemed to come from the cellar near the kitchen door and at a part altogether away from the stove. The firemen were unable to save any of the contents except some kitchen furniture, the whole house being wrapped in fire before they could get to work. They therefore devoted their attention to the adjoining houses. The building was insured we understand for $550, and the contents for a small sum, but not nearly to their value. Mr. Beatty lost all his valuable collection of books and both he and Miss Beatty, every stitch of clothing, except what they wore that evening. We beg to offer the sympathy of our fellow citizens to them.—Millbrook Reporter.

The many friends of the "de Ovies," will be pleased to learn that they have consented to remain in town at the Huffman House over Sunday. During the past two days the Senor and Madame have been visited by hundreds of ladies and gentlemen of Peterborough who had their hands examined, and in every instance they were delighted and enthusiastic over the result. Madame de Ovies is spoken of as one of the best palmists in the country, and she had the honor of reading Premier Bowell's hand during his recent visit here. Senor de Ovies is one of the most interesting gentlemen we have met, and is a phisiologist of a high degree.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

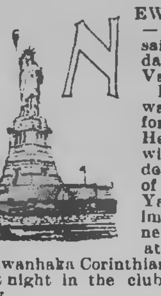
DUNRAVEN TO CHALLENGE

ONCE MORE FOR THE AMERICAN CUP.

So Said Commodore Smith—A Spanish Ship Attacks an English Vessel—Committed for Passing Spurious Coin.

Special to The Tim



NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Lord Dunraven sailed for England today on the yacht Valhalla.

Lord Dunraven wants another race for the America's Cup. He has expressed that wish to ex-Commodore James D. Smith, of the New York Yacht Club. This very important item of news was made public at a dinner of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club, given last night in the club house at Oyster Bay.

Commodore Smith was allotted the task of responding to the toast of "The America's Cup."

The commodore sprung a sensation on the yachtsmen present. No one expected he would let slip a most important bit of news which would astonish the yachting world. He said slowly and impressively, "I have been often misquoted during the recent discussion of the Dunraven question, but for this much I will be responsible. Within the past few days Lord Dunraven said to me: 'Commodore Smith, what will be the chance of having it accepted, if I should present another challenge for the America's Cup?'"

"I answered that it was my belief such a challenge would be considered, but the race could not be sailed until after a race between an American yacht and that of Mr. Charles D. Rose. I also expressed the hope that such a challenge would be presented, and then we could have two races next year."

PASSED SPURIOUS COIN.

WIARTON, Sept. 28.—Before C. V. Parks, J.P., this morning S. Berridge, of this place, was charged with passing spurious money. Some days ago a young woman was arrested in Owen Sound for passing counterfeit money. When she was brought before the Justice of the Peace she stated she got the money from R. Gardner, of Big Bay. Gardner was arrested and said he got the money from Berridge. The spurious money was in twenty five and fifty cent pieces, and bore the dates of 1886 and 1892. A large number of witnesses gave testimony to the effect that the young man had some of the counterfeit money in his possession. The magistrate committed him for trial at the Assizes. The money has been passed in a large number of other towns in this vicinity.

FIRED ON THE ALENE.

NEW YORK, Sept 28.—A special to the Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says:—The captain of the British steamship Alene, of the Atlas line, reported yesterday that his ship was fired upon by a Spanish gunboat Thursday morning at exactly 7 o'clock. The Alene was bound from New York to Kingston, and was off Cape Maysi when the gunboat appeared in her wake and without warning threw three shots after her. The Alene at once hoisted her colors and turned about on her course. The Spanish war vessel followed in pursuit until she was within a mile of the Alene, when she reversed her course, put on full steam, and as if disdaining to give an explanation, sailed swiftly away. Many Americans on board the British steamship were extremely indignant over the matter.

WALKED TO JORDAN.

HAMILTON, Sept. 28.—W. B. Palmer, the defaulting cashier of the Bank of Commerce, was arrested at Jordan yesterday afternoon by Detective Reid and brought back to this city. Palmer, it is claimed, walked all the way to Jordan. When he left the bank on Wednesday he took the mountain road and journeyed eastward, while the bank officials were endeavoring to find out from what station he had taken a train.

While on the road Palmer managed to get his mustache cut off and his hair trimmed, and this was almost sufficient disguise to make him unrecognizable by his friends.

When the detective arrested him Palmer said nothing. About $2,500 in bills was found in his pockets and this sum was handed over to Manager Roberts of the bank. It is believed the shortage amounts to about $20,000.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the new celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

"SIDEWIPED" BY AN EXPRESS.

Eleven Injured in an Accident Caused by Mistaking a Signal.

Special to The Times

TUNNELTON, W. Va., Sept. 28.—Last night the New York and St. Louis express westbound on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway was going into the tunnel, 20 miles east of here when it "sidewiped" the eastbound Baltimore passenger train. The latter train was switching to the main track when the engineer of the express mistaking a coal tippal light for the white signal light to enter the tunnel, plunged into the side of the laden coach on the Baltimore train. As the ladies coach upset the steam pipes burst. The sleeper was crowded with passengers. The front sleeper on the Baltimore train was thrown from the track. Two people were fatally injured; nine others seriously hurt by bruises and scalding.

Met Death in a Post Hole.

HARTFORD Sept. 28.—John Grogan, a young man, was found dead in Wethersfield yesterday, having evidently been drowned in a post hole half full of water. The head and upper part of the body were in the whole. All that could be seen of the body was the legs, which stuck into the air. It is supposed that Grogan while intoxicated stumbled into the hole and was unable to extricate himself.

LIEUT.-GOV. PATTERSON ILL.

He is at Ottawa and Suffering from Nervous Prostration.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Lieut.-Governor Patterson, who has been in the city for several days, has since his arrival been too much indisposed to leave his room. His physician states that he is suffering from nervous prostration, to overcome which he lately took the trip to California. All his furniture is packed for shipment to Manitoba, whither Mr. Patterson will go in a day or two if his health will permit.

A SCHOONER FOUNDERS.

The C. A. King of Detroit Goes to the Bottom—Her Crew Saved.

Special to the Times.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 28.—The steamer E. C. Pope has arrived here with the crew of the schooner C. A. King, of Detroit, who had been picked up off Point Auburques after their boat had foundered. The crew consisted of Capt. James Glenn, four men and a woman. The King was bound from Toledo to Bay City with coal, and encountered the northwester on Lake Huron yesterday afternoon. Water poured into her hold. The pumps were choked with coal and the water could not be kept down. For two hours Captain Smith stood by and finally succeeded in getting the King's crew out of their yawl. Captain Glenn had recently purchased the King and had no insurance.

DEFENDER'S YELLOW DOG.

Trouble as to the Ownership of the American Yacht's Mascot.

Special to The Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28.—There is a controversy between C. Oliver Iselin, of the Defender syndicate, and Paul S. Baptiste, a French chef of this city, over a yellow dog which served as the Defender's mascot. Baptiste alleges that the dog was stolen from him by a Bristol man, who at first tried to buy the animal, and, after being refused the purchase, got hold of the dog by other means. After the races Baptiste wrote to Mr. Iselin and demanded the canine and a sum of money as damages. Mr. Iselin replied by asking for a description of the dog. The chef complied with the request, but the description did not altogether satisfy Mr. Iselin, for he again wrote him, asking for a more exhaustive description, particularly of the left hind leg of the dog, which, it is claimed, bears a peculiar mark. Baptiste has done this and is now awaiting Mr. Iselin's further action in the matter.

LAKE MICHIGAN ANGRY.

Many Freight Carrying Vessels Reported Injured—Supposed Loss of a Steamer.

Special to the Times

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Vessels arriving here report a sea on Lake Michigan yesterday and the day before such as many old mariners had never met with before. The remarkable advance in freight rates had called into service during the last ten days every available vessel, and many of these are now being heard from as injured or disabled. The steamer Atlanta, of the Goodrich line, which left Chicago on Thursday night for Grand Haven, with 25 passengers and a full cargo, broke her main shaft off Grand Haven and was left helpless in the heavy sea. Her distress signals were seen by the steamer Sioux City, which towed her into Grand Haven. Wreckage of an unknown steamer was floating into the harbor at Manistique last night.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 28.—The steamer E. C. Pope arrived here last evening from Lake Huron, having on board the crew of the schooner C. A. King, of Detroit, who had been picked up off Point Aux Barques, after their boat had foundered.

A BUFFALO ADVENTURESS

Who Has Been Blackmailing St. Thomas Young Men.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 28.—A few months ago a stylishly dressed, prepossessing young woman, came to St. Thomas in company with Wm. Opdale, manager of a broker shop in the Bromell block. She gave her name as Lenore Mossman, and soon attracted about her a number of male admirers. Soon after coming to the city she had a falling out with Opdale, against whom she had a capias issued for his arrest, but the latter got wind of it and quietly left the city. A few days before his departure he called at police headquarters and wanted to swear out a search warrant against the woman, whom he alleged had taken his jewelry. The magistrate informed him that it would be necessary to issue a warrant for her arrest, which he declined to do. Since Opdal left the city the gay woman has been promenading the streets a good deal of her time, and soon had a number of young men (both married and single) in tow.

They were invited to visit her apartments and quite a few of them accepted the invitation. A few days after they would receive a note informing them that it would be necessary to contribute the sum of $10 to her exchequer or she would expose them. One young man, who is a clerk in the east end, was the first to settle. He received a note from the woman stating that unless the above mentioned sum was forthcoming in three days she would prosecute him. The next day a young man went to the clerk and told him the woman would drop proceedings if he gave her five dollars. The clerk handed over the money. The next day he received a summons to appear at the police court for assaulting a woman. Rather than appear in court the young man handed over $10 more and paid the costs. Yesterday a well known young man received a note from the woman, signed by the woman. The letter reveals the woman's character and places her within reach of the law for blackmail. The letter is very suggestive and is unfit for publication. In it she states that she will expect by return mail ten dollars and will allow him but little grace to settle up. But the young man is evidently not so soft as the gay Lenore imagines. The recipient of the letter placed it in the hands of his solicitor, Mr. R. H. McConnell, and intends to show the woman up.

The letter is written on one of Opdale's letter heads. He was a lecturer and in one corner of the letter head are the words "humorous, pathetic and instructive."

These two mentioned are not the only ones who have received letters from the woman of a similar nature and if proceedings are taken against her she will probably be severely dealt with.

Corbett is Melancholy.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Times this afternoon says: "From a gentleman who is close to Corbett, the Times has learned that the champion is suffering from melancholia, which is gradually becoming more pronounced. That Jim Corbett is not so good as he was a year ago was patent to every one who saw him on his recent visit to Buffalo.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

FOR THEIR MANY CRIMES WERE PRISONERS SENTENCED.

Mayor Kennedy En Route to Toronto—Detective Porter's Wild Chase After an Escaping Prisoner—Queen City Notes.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Lawbreakers were sentenced for divers crimes by Judge McDougall in the session today. Not one showed any signs of sorrow for being what they were found by the jury to be, save Henry Parsons, who, for shooting with intent was mercifully allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Fred Roots, for receiving stolen jewelry from the Goldsmiths company was sentenced to two years in the Kingston penitentiary. He asked for mercy, stated his brother had died yesterday, and promised to reform but to no purpose.

With nothing to say, James Kemp, the bicycle thief, was given four years in Kingston. He had added to his three offenses, the court stated, the crime of perjury.

James Willard was given seven years in Kingston for burglary. "You might as well give me life," he retorted, as he received his sentence. His career has been checkered and his record black—"an old jailbird," the court was forced to declare. At present he is serving a term in the Central for bicycling stealing.

George Kidd, also charged with burglary was given two years but a day in the Central.

Sydney J. Clarke, for arson, received five years in Kingston. And he has nothing to say.

George Barry, convinced of exhibiting immoral literature at the Exhibition, was allowed to remain out on bail, pending a reserved case, which was granted him.

For his unspeakable offence Convict William Foster was given fifteen years in the Kingston Penitentiary. His term at the Central expires on Tuesday next, and this he offered as a reason why he should be allowed to return to the home of his youth. In passing sentence Judge McDougall alluded to the over crowded condition of the Central Prison, where at present two convicts are in some cases occupying a single cell. It is the duty of the Legislature to furnish an immediate remedy.

The case of Frank Cable stands over to the next Sessions. John Raney, a youth, aged 12, was sent to the Boys Home at Brockville, for theft.

MR. COADY HEARD FROM.

President Shaw last night received a cable from Treasurer Coady, dated from London, stating that he had just returned from Edinburgh, that the bond suit against the city has been postponed for 30 days, that Mayor Kennedy sailed for home on Wednesday, and that Mr. Mansergh will start for Canada during the first week in November. Owing to the late arrival of the expert and the exhaustiveness with which he proposes to go into the questions submitted to him, the vote on the tunnel scheme will have to be further postponed.

HE THREATENED TO SHOOT.

Detective George Porter, of No. 4 division, had quite an exciting chase early this morning after a man named Fred Murray, who is wanted in Whitby on a charge of theft. Murray was staying at his mother's house, No. 131 Brunswick avenue, and when the officer rang the bell he heard a window in the rear open softly. Running through the house he found the window open, and his man disappearing over a back fence. Porter followed him, and the hunt continued over fences and through yards for quite a length of time. At last the detective ordered Murray to stop or he would shoot. With a yell the fleeing man's hands went up in the air, and he came to a dead standstill, half frightened to death. Murray will be taken back to Whitby today.

TO ASSASINATE HIM.

An Attempt Upon the Life of the Prime Minister of Japan.

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 28.—An attempt was made today on the life of Marquis Ito, Prime Minister and President of the Council of Japan. The would-be assassin, who is a member of the anti-Foreign League, was arrested.

Scientifically Butchered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 28.—Advices from Australia state that the people of Sydney have been startled by the atrocious murder of a young girl. On the night of September first, at midnight, on a wharf, was left a box containing the body of a young woman. She had been scientifically butchered, the corpse soaked in carbolic acid, and the remains been crushed into a dry goods box. The identity of the girl has not been discovered.

Three Attempts to Steal a Flying Machine.

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 28.—Three futile attempts to steal a flying machine from the barn of Coryell Bartholomew, the aeronaut, was made last night. The machine, one colored, after two failures, came with an express wagon the third time. He had the barn open and the flying machine in hand when Mrs. Bartholomew, armed with a revolver, appeared. She attempted to shoot but the gun didn't work and the colored brute chased her into the house, then both fled in the wagon. The police have the matter in charge.

FRASERVILLE NOTES.

The station platform has been completed. It is 150 feet long by 12 wide.

Mr. Thomas Hutching has grown a squash on his farm this year which measures 6 ft. 4 in. in circumference. Who can beat this?

The flowing well recently discovered on Mr. D. McIlmoyle's farm is still continuing to flow and attracts considerable attention.

A photographer visited this village last week and took photos of the principal places, also the most prominent men.

A gang of men and teams are engaged in drawing brick for Mr. G. Trotter's residence.

Fraserville is about to have another resident in the person of Mr. J. Pollock, of Bewdley, who will move here shortly.

Biliousness Cured.

"For about a year I have been troubled very much with biliousness and occasional attacks of indigestion. None of the medicine that I tried gave me relief until I began to take Hood's Pills. I am now cured and have taken Hood's Pills occasionally to prevent a return of the trouble." J. J. Finch, 179 & 181 Rideau St., Ottawa, Ont.

ADVERTISING SCHEMES.

The return of the tourist and cottager from his summer vacation is usually marked by an array of canvassers who pester the merchants with all sorts of advertising jokes. "Special" editions, padded out with old plate matter, totally devoid of news, is the commonest way in which victims are secured.

People are begining to see for themselves that the only legitimate and profitable advertising is through the columns of a live newspaper.

THE MORNING TIMES is, beyond all doubt, the most profitable medium through which to reach the masses. It is the only morning daily between Ottawa and Toronto and is read by thousands of persons not only in Peterborough, but throughout Eastern Ontario.

The council should see to it that the Lock Works shall remain in Peterborough It would be nothing short of a calamity if these Works will move away.

Speaking of Chicago's great stores Printers' Ink says their greatness is due to the fact that they spend from $20,000, to $70,000 a year each in newspaper advertising.

The organ fell out of the loft in the First Presbyterian Church of Chicago on Sunday. United Presbyterians who are opposed to instrumental music in divine worship will regard this as a Providential rebuke.

The Cuban insurgents have successfully used dynamite in their operations against the Spanish. It was sunk in hidden mines and exploded as the Spanish troops marched over it. This is a new weapon in warfare, and it may yet work another revolution in military science.

Last year the London Society for promoting Christianity Among the Jews expended $178,000 out of the $212,000 contributed. The net result of the year's efforts was six baptisms, the converts being one adult and five children. Thus it cost the society $29,666.66 per conversion. Jewish souls come high, evidently the L. S. P. G. A. J. must have them.

The divorced daughter of the Rev. Sam Small was married in Richmond, Va., on Monday, to a hotel clerk named Ford, whom she had known but a week. There were only two witnesses to the ceremony. The bride was about 14 months ago divorced from her first husband in Tennessee. This event attracted considerable attention at the time. Mrs. Ford is about 23, and quite pretty. The groom takes the affair in the most matter of fact way. He is opposed to long and tiresome engagements, he says. It certainly looks that way.

Seven Chinamen have been executed by order of the Viceroy for connection with the massacre of the missionaries. They were inconsequential persons, however, no leaders in the outrages having been punished. In the meantime, further outbreaks have occurred and it is said a fleet of English gunboats has been sent up the Yang-tse-Kiang. The execution of a few deluded tools will be of no use. If that is the best the diplomats can accomplish, they might as well have overlooked the matter altogether. When the Chinese officials see a fleet of foreign warships in one of their ports they will appreciate the fact that assault on missionaries is a dangerous passtime and they will never appreciate it by merely being compelled to execute a few subjects.

A JAPANESE HOME.

LIFE OF THE PEOPLE DESCRIBED BY A NATIVE YOUNG LADY.

How the Houses Are Constructed—Interesting Interiors—Walls, Floors and Furniture—How They Keep Warm—Kitchen and Cooking.

So much is said nowdays in the world's press about our people's warlike spirit and exploits, writes a Japanese young lady educated in Europe to a friend, that you, my sisters in the west, may perhaps like to have a true description of our homes and the peaceful pursuits of our life amid the family circle.

People say our dwellings are like the Swiss chalet in outward appearance. Possibly so, if the latter is built of wood, with three substantial walls and an overhanging roof covered with tiles. The south side is always open and has only sliding doors, consisting of thin wooden frames covered over with white paper, called "shoji," to shut out the wind and cold. Along this side of the house there is a highly polished wooden veranda, and as it is every mistress' aim to keep the wood as bright and spotless as possible it is wiped over with a cloth many times a day.

At night heavy wooden shutters are put up, which are fastened on the inside by means of a hook and ring. In front of the house we have a small sliding door of lattice work. When any one wishes to enter, he stands outside and calls out, "O tano moshi masu" (I beg for honorable admittance) and then waits until some one answers from the inside, "Donata sama!" meaning who may it honorably be. The visitor thereupon gives his name and is admitted through the little door.

In the interior there are rarely any walls, the rooms being partitioned off by means of sliding doors called "karakami." These differ from the "shoji," or white paper walls, which lead to the veranda, in generally being covered with thick painted paper, silk or other materials. Instead of a door handle, we have pretty little bronze indentations on either side of the "karakami." The floors of the rooms are covered with beautiful white mats, made of many layers of rice straw fastened together, on the top of which the fine white matting is placed. The whole is 2 or 3 inches thick and is generally bound round with black glazed cotton cloth. As these mats are always made 6 feet long by 3 feet wide, the size of a room is determined by the number of mats it contains. There is no furniture in a Japanese house. Chairs are unnecessary, for everybody sits on the floor in a kneeling position, with the feet crossed underneath him. Soft silk or crape cushions filled with cotton wadding are strewn around the rooms and are always offered to a guest, but not used in a general way. At mealtimes small tables are brought in for each member of the family, on which are placed the dishes containing each one's portion of the dinner, the soup bowl, rice cup and chopsticks.

As a rule, the foreigner will find none of the many things considered indispensable for a western home to make it attractive. The sole decorations are found on one side, where a dais is raised four to five inches from the ground and made of pretty polished wood, supported by pillars of pine or cherry tree. Upon this are placed quaint curios or vases of flowers and suspended on the wall over it a silk picture called a "kakemono." These pictures are changed according to the season or special occasion. In November, for instance, a "kakemono" with the picture of a chrysanthemum will be hung up, in March one representing a branch of cherry blossoms, others for any particular function, as funerals or weddings.

The raised dais, or "tokonoma," is the only place where we put our pretty ornaments, and then only one at a time, so that none of the beauty of the article may be lost by close connection with other things. Perhaps this is the reason why foreigners call out about our rooms being so bare and comfortless. So they are to any one accustomed to move about in an apartment filled with a variety of things. The same simplicity of decoration is observed in every Japanese house, whether the owner be as rich as Crœsus or as poor as the proverbial church mouse.

As our houses are built of such light materials, we find it very difficult to keep out the cold during the months of November, December, January and February. Besides this we have no means of heating our rooms, and even if we had the wind would still penetrate through the paper "shoji." The only way we do keep warm is by wearing many thickly wadded "kimono" dresses and holding our hands over the "hibachi" brazier, containing pieces of burning charcoal. We are not, however, quite so destitute of all comforts as the foreigner thinks.

The "kotatsu" combines warmth and comfort. For this purpose a square of matting is taken out, and a good sized brazier, filled with charcoal and protected by a kind of wooden cage, is let in the hole. Over this is thrown one of the wadded quilts. Each member sits on a small cushion, places his feet against the brazier and covers himself with the quilt.

When the whole family is thus gathered round the "kotatsu," many are the tales of the great deeds of warriors of bygone ages, of fearful ghosts and monsters and such like subjects, which are told for the amusement of old and young. Here all meet together and rest from labor. The father has returned from business, the mother from her household work, and the children have finished their daily tasks, and all are free to enjoy a quiet hour.

From the sitting and reception rooms we go into the kitchen. Its floors are made of polished boards and are so constructed that they can be taken up at will. As the whole house is raised some 20 to 30 inches from the ground, the space between the floor and the ground is used to store away charcoal and other things. In the middle of the kitchen a square charcoal brazier is let into the floor, and much of the cooking is done over its fire, but the most important utensil is the "kama," or large iron boiler, in which the rice is boiled. It is placed in a stand made of clay. Wood is generally burned in the clay stand, or "hetsui," as it is inexpensive and gives an even heat. The art of boiling rice is brought to great perfection in Japan, and in most houses a servant is kept who attends exclusively to the preparing of that article of food.

Tables and chairs are conspicuous by their absence in our kitchen. In place of the former we use small boards, raised on two legs, called "mana-ita," upon which we cut up our vegetables, "okoko" (pickles) and other things, and the latter are not necessary, as every one sits on the floor.—Baltimore Sun.

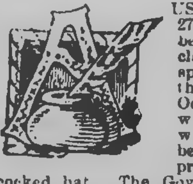
TO STOP THE BIG FIGHT.

A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE TEXAS LEGISLATURE HAS BEEN CALLED.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons May not Meet There—Money For a License Declined—Prize Fighters Convicted.

Special to the Times.



AUSTIN, Texas Sept. 27.—Governor Culberson issued a proclamation calling a special session of the Legislature for October, one that will pass a law that will knock the Corbett - Fitzsimmons prize fight into a cocked hat. The Governor issued the proclamation at midnight last night after a lengthy consultation with his Cabinet and gave the Associated Press correspondent as the reason for his action that in the present condition of the law the fight managers are liable to pull off the fight while the courts are rowing over it; that the chief justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals has ruled against the state, and now there is a man famous case pending in the Supreme Court that may go in a different line, thus causing a conflict between the highest courts in the State. In order to avoid of possible contention he issued the call convening the Legislature next Tuesday to this city. "To denounce prize fighting and kindred practices in clear and unambiguous terms and prohibit the same by appropriate pains and penalties, putting the law into immediate operation and making necessary provisions for its enforcement so that the proposed exhibition of [illegible] State may be prevented, the mind [illegible] of the people upon the subject respected [illegible] it is [illegible] moral sense and [illegible] altered [illegible] of Texas averted."

MONEY FOR A LICENSE DECLINED.

[illegible] Tex., Sept. 27. County [illegible] Georgetown, Texas, refused to accept from R. A. Johns, a [illegible] $750 tendered to secure a license for a prize fight. Mr. Johns refused to say for whom he was acting. [illegible] the Supreme Court [illegible] will be made of this case. Other cash applications for license have been made but this is the first case in which the cold cash has been planked down. Who is behind Mr. Johns is not known.

ONE YEAR EACH FOR PRIZE FIGHTING.

WEIR CITY, Kansas, Sept. 27.—Paddy Purtel and Johnson, the "Terrible Swede," have been sentenced to one year each in the penitentiary for prize fighting. The fight occurred last spring at Galena. The county attorney had orders from Governor Morrill to stop it, but he watched several rounds before interfering.

PROF. WILLIAMSON DEAD.

Sir John Macdonald's Brother-in-Law Dies at the Age of 87

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Sept. 27.—Last night Rev. Dr. Williamson, professor of astronomy in Queen's University, died after a brief illness, aged 87 years. He joined the staff of Queen's in 1812 and was its oldest professor. His second wife was the sister of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. He will be buried in Cataraqui cemetery in the Macdonald plot.

PORT HURON AND SARNIA.

May Lose Their Ferry Service Because a New U. S. Law.

Special to The Times.

PORT HURON, Sept. 27.—There is consternation here at the prospect of having communication with Sarnia by ferry cut off on account of the new United States law which requires that every time a boat lands at an American port three manifests must be made out and forwarded to the Customs officials. These manifests make the cost 10 cents, and as the ferryboats make three trips an hour between Sarnia and Port Huron it will cost 90 cents an hour for each boat. This, the management says, is one-third of its entire receipts, and would render it unprofitable to continue.

A PLAGUE OF BUGS.

Electric Lights Obscured—Typesetting Machines Clogged.

Special to the Times.

WICHITA, Kans., Sept. 27.—An invasion of bugs amounting almost to a plague took place in this city shortly after midnight last night. The electric street lights were entirely obscured and the sidewalks and pavements were covered to the depth of an inch. The bugs even clogged the typesetting machines in the newspaper offices and drove the operators from their keyboards. They were of several kinds. This morning the electric light men removed over 100 gallons of bugs from the globes of the street lamps.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 23, 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1891: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

LIFE WITH THE HOBOS.

"Ho do you do it?" asked the reporter of one of the tramps.

"Jes' do it. We know all the roads, an' all the trains, an' we ketch 'em. If we're in a hurry, we take de passenger; if we ain't, we loafs on de freight."

"How do you take the passenger train?"

"Ride de bumpers," was the reply. "Mail trains is good. Vestibools help us. Den a board on de irons under de car helps us when we get in a pinch."

"Don't you get caught?"

"Not often. When we does, we gets out all hunk if it's summer, an' if it's winter we don't mind bein' run in."

"Why don't you stay in one place?" asked the reporter.

"Stay in one place?" repeated the tramp. "Why, everone ud get ter know yer. Why I ain't been here over a week, an' dere ain't a siggle or a cop along the town limits wot don't know me. I'm goin' ter pull my freight tomorrow. Dis towns no good. It's got de ingrowin' face.

"Where will you go?"

"On East. It ain't time for a mont yet ter get a bunk for de winter. Back East dey gives yer t'ree mont's in November an' yer out in Jan'ary, den yer kin tackle anodder t'ree or skin Sout'. West dey gives yer short terms an' works yer hard. East dey give yer long waits, but no work."

As the tramp finished speaking he rose, shook himself and started into town. The reporter walked with him.

"Were are yuh going?" he asked.

"Ter copper some coin."

The tramp walked the entire distance to the heart of the town. On George street near Charlotte, he slipped one arm out of its sleeve in his coat and buttoned his coat up close around him. Dropping his shoulder, throwing forward his head and limping painfully, he approached a young woman. He turned the empty sleeve, flapping in the breeze, toward the girl.

"Please ma'am, give me a dime," he whined. "I'm an ol' soldier. My wife and children is in Rochester. My lost arm. My wounded leg——"

The girl dropped a dime into his outstretched hand. The tramp thanked her, winked at the reporter and tried again. He usually spoke to young girls or old women and occasionally to fat, deliberately moving men. As he was working, another ragged specimen of humanity appeared, but, seeing the first tramp he moved away. An unwritten law among tramps prohibits the encroachment by one on a field temporarily occupied by another. Often, however, the tramps work in pairs. They say that a person often refuses to give money when asked, but regrets the refusal before he has gone 30 feet. The second tramp then approaches them, and often gets money where it was refused to his companion. This manner of begging is known as "doubling" among the tramps. The first tramp is known as the "cracker" and his companion as the "taker." The taker collects most of the money, but they work together on the basis of an equal division of the spoils.

In less than fifteen minutes the tramp approached two score of people. Most of them did not notice him. Their failure to observe him did not grieve the tramp. Suddenly he turned towrad the reporter, beckoned to him and started east in Simcoe street. The reporter joined him.

"Come on," said the tramp. "I only pulled off 20 cents when the siggle dropped."

"What's the siggle?"

"De cop. He was pointin' fer me. Won't yer eat? Well, so long," and he limped away.

The fences just east of the C.P.R. bridge are decorated with the following tramp doggerel:

The plumber came down like the wolf in the fold,
His pockets were lined with solder and gold,
For nine long hours he courted the cook
And 65 dollars was charged in the book.

Signed to this effusion are the names of "Blinkey Morgan," "Silver Kid" and "Chicago Dutch."

WHO GOT RUNNED IN BY TWO BURLEY BILLS—BOWLING & HUNT.

Near this is recorded the fact that Dutch Joe and Slaughter House Mike got 15 days each on April 6, 1895. Further along the wall is written:

If you ride on trains or beg they let you go.

The Trouble Between George E. Tuckett and Cigar Makers' Union Settled.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, Sept. 28.—The trouble between the George E. Tuckett Company and the Cigarmakers Union is practically settled, each of the contending parties having conceded a little. As a result one dollar less a thousand will be paid for the manufacture of cigars, and $7 will be the lowest figure paid for any cigar. There is still a difference between the Company and the Union on an apprenticeship clause. The union wants to restrict the company to two apprentices while the company, although employed only three at present, does not wish to have to abide by such a regulation. In the meantime the third apprentice will be laid off till the next meeting of the union, when the matter will be settled.

Cost Him a Bottle of Wine.

"Say," said the hotel clerk, to the reporter, "I've got a funny little story to tell you. The other day a young man came in and gave us the names of a bridal couple who were expected here on a certain date. He informed us that the groom, who is well known to us here, had wagered him that no one would mistake him and his wife for newly-married persons and said he wanted us to put up a little joke on them.

"They came at the time expected and registered. As soon as I saw the name I called to one of the bell boys.

"Brush the rice off this gentleman's hat."

"You should have seen him look; but he never said a word. Then in about half an hour the instigator of the joke came in with a friend and asked for the groom. He came down and they opened a bottle of wine. Then they told him the joke and another bottle was opened."

Orillia's chance for winning the immediate championship of the C.L.A. now seems excellent. Of the 63 clubs which entered the contest last spring, only four remain in the ring. These four will meet at Brampton to play the finals next Tuesday and Wednesday. They are Orillia, Georgetown, Alerts of St. Catherines, and Wiarton. Georgetown, considered the most formidable of our opponents, has a fast team and has some veteran players. The Alerts are a young team who play good lacrosse, while Wiarton's stalwarts are heavy and sluggers. The Orillia boys have vanquished as doughty opponents as any of these in Bradford and Newmarket. But in lacrosse in every other game there are many chances, so we shall forbear to prophesy, in the hope that next week we may be in a position to jubilate.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

The City Papers Not In It.

No man is too poor to take his local newspaper, says an exchange, and it is false economy to get along without it. Hardly a week passes that something does not appear in its columns that will be a financial benefit to the subscriber and by the end of the year he has made or saved from one to twenty times the subscription price. The city papers do not take the place of your local paper, although some people seem to think they do. The city papers are all right in their way, but they don't give you what you are most interested in—your local and county news. You cannot learn from them when public meetings are to be held, who are dying or who are marrying; who wants to sell land—in fact hundreds of items which might be of particular importance for you to know. Such matter city papers cannot furnish, but your local paper can and does.

Church Notes.

At St. Andrew's yesterday morning Rev. A. McWilliams delivered a very eloquent and instructive sermon to a large and attentive audience. The reverend gentleman took for his text the 19th verse of the 89th Psalm, "I have laid help on One that is mighty; I have exalted One chosen out of the people." He went on to show the different conditions of men by reason of sin, and finally turned the attention of his hearers to the "One that is mighty," which power was given to Him long before the foundation of the world, when existed only the Blessed Trinity, Father, Son and Spirit; also to "the exalted One chosen out of the people," as the One by which we are to gain eternal life and charged his hearers to turn from sin and seek help from "the One that is mighty," against the wiles and temptations of the evil one. The choir showed their good training in their rendition of the anthem, "He lives," by G. T. Root. During the offertory Mr. W. Mulligan rendered "Not Ashamed of Christ," in good voice.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning Rev. Mr. Rae, pastor of that church, delivered a very fine discourse in his usual masterly way. The choir contributed an anthem their rendition of which is well deserving of mention. Miss Flossie Hall taking the solo parts in a sweet, cultivated voice. During the offertory one of the well known melodies, of the Sankey and Moody collection was given the verses of which were taken by Miss Hendren, of Lakefield.

BY A MANIAC.

A Lindsay Young Lady Nearly Killed in Ops Township.

A terrible assault case, nearly resulting in the death of Miss O'Neill, daughter of J. R. O'Neill, of Lindsay, took place in Ops township, a few miles from there, on Wednesday last. Miss O'Neill was visiting at the house of a Mr. Roddy, a well to do farmer, and during his absence in the field plowing she was attacked by young Roddy who is about 20 years of age and beaten in a severe manner, being almost killed.

Roddy first knocked his victim down with a chair and then kicked and pounded her about the body, leaving her insensible. Her head and face were severely cut and bruised, and Dr. Poole who was called, found it necessary to put several stitches in the wounds. Young Roddy has been observed to be mentally unbalanced for some days past and was being closely watched. It is a religious craze. He was bound hand and foot by the neighbors, and on Thursday brought to Lindsay by Chief Bell and lodged in jail.

THE TRENT CANAL.

Operations Going on at the Peterborough-Lakefield Section at a Brisk Rate.

The skeptics who doubted if the canal would ever be started, would have their minds made clear on that subject if they paid a visit to where work is being pushed at a rapid rate. Where work is commenced is about four miles from Lakefield, and there are now over 100 men employed and 50 teams, engaged in dragging, scraping, wheeling, stumping, carting, and clearing the earth off the rock preparatory to blasting.

As the line of the canal crosses what is known as the River Road on the east side of the Otonabee, a new road is being constructed for the use of the public before the old one is torn up. Over a mile of the new thoroughfare has been substantially constructed of broken stone on a raised highway through which culverts are pierced at intervals. Some big "fillings" have to be made before this new road is completed and a gang of men is at work on one of them now at about a mile and a half above Nassau. The road itself begins about half a mile above the village.

At present a gang of over a hundred men are engaged in "stripping" to get at the rock beneath the surface in order that the work of blasting can be carried on during the winter months. The rock so obtained will be used for the construction of the first lock just above the Red Mills. The scene presented to the visitor is one of great activity, for coupled with the swish of falling trees, are the shouts of the men encouraging their teams in the laborious work of stumping and scraping, and the clattering proceeding from the blacksmith shop, which has been erected just here, together with the carpenter shop, storehouse and boarding house for the men.

There are five foremen in charge of this first gang of men, of whom Mr. M. Buchanan is the chief.

A BEAUTIFUL SPOT

Is the Jackson Park—Many Desirable Improvements.

Peterborough will have one of the prettiest parks in the province when the contemplated improvements to the Jackson Park are completed.

During the past summer workmen have converted this wild stretch of woods into a very beautiful park. Trees have been trimmed, underbrush cleared away, weeds and other obnoxious vegetable growth exterminated, and bare spots sodded. A lake has been erected, a splendid bathing place provided, and in many other ways has the park been beautified and enhanced.

Messrs. Richard Hall and C. McGill have devoted much time and thought to the beautifying of the park and a debt of gratitude is due them by the citizens for the beautiful transformation effected in the past few months.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Moonlight nights.

Beechnuts are falling.

The water was run off the Little Lake at midnight.

Maskinonge will shortly leave their summer resorts, and spend their leisure time in deep water. As soon as the leaves begin to fall it is difficult to get a bite with the most tempting bait.

"Have you observed," said a merchant to customer, the handsome advertisement I have just painted on the fences about town?" "No, but if you will send the fences to our house I will try to read the announcement. I read the papers and haven't time to go around reading the fences."

Weeds along railroad tracks are now killed by electric "weed killer." It consists of a car carrying a dynamo, which sends a heavy current into a sort of rake of fine wires dragging among the weeds on each side of the track. If the wires touch them the weeds are "electrocuted" down to the smallest rootlet. It is proposed to introduce the same system in farming.

This is the season of the year when the air is full of thistle down and floating seeds, and farmers who neglected to cut down those seeds will be sorry for it next year. Dandelions, milkweed, thistles, burdocks, wild carrot, on they go, until overtaken by rain, or becalmed in some quiet cove, they find winter quarters, and half sunk in some hillock, await their resurrection. The wind is not the only carrier. Cattle browsing through the pasture offer their shaggy coats for the lodgment of innumerable seeds, and every bird is also a carrier.

And now comes the report that there is a haunted house in the western portion of the town, the apparition not having appeared to one person only but to several. A truthful woman makes the statement that about dusk on Sunday evening she entered the premises to get a pail of water and was frightened by a sight of the strange object which to her appeared like a very large dog with big, fiery eyes. She left the place in a hurry, and although she is not a timid woman, she could not be induced to go there again for love or money.

WHAT THEY SAY.

Opinions of the Press on the Collapse of the Gray Case.

(From the Toronto News)

The murder case against the Grays completely collapsed at Peterborough. The Grays were brought all the way from Florida for trial. They were dragged from their home, jailed, extradited, hustled back to Canada, jailed again, and then put to the expense of a trial. When the time came the Crown had no case further than that created by the gossiping tongues of meddlesome neighbors. The trial over, the accused either have been, or will be fired out of the jail door, without money, their means of livelihood for the time being gone and a couple of thousand miles away from home,

That is Canadian justice! The least reparation the Crown might make would be to pay the expenses of acquitted persons back to where they were arrested.

(From the Evening Telegram.)

The collapse of the case against the Grays at Peterborough leaves a man and wife with no redress against the authorities who have dragged them and their children from Florida on a charge which could not be supported by a shred of evidence.

The defendants may consider that a journey from Florida at the provincial expense was some compensation for their own imprisonment and the sufferings of their children. The report is that they were tired of Florida. If they had been doing well there, they would have been dragged away from all their interests and separated from their children, and the Crown would not offer a cent to soothe their injured innocence.

The detection of the Middlemarch murder after its victim had been in his grave was the beginning of a mania for the exposure of hidden crimes. Detective Murray had been ransacking graveyard after graveyard. He has been attended by expert medical witnesses and a chorus of newspaper admirers have heralded each new discovery.

These tactics could only end in a collapse somewhere, and the sudden end of the case at Peterborough, by exposing the undue zeal of the provincial force in one case, does something to belittle the value of its really good work in other cases.

RATEPAYER IS DISGUSTED.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—I understand that two more serious blunders stand in the way of the completion of that municipal bug-a-bear, the outfall sewer. Contractor Grant has written the town, through his solicitor, to the effect that he will not allow the town to make connections with the part of the sewer that he is building. The Town Solicitor was unable to state whether or not a court of law would sustain this contention, but he opined it to be a serious matter for the town in case the contention of Mr. Grant was sustained.

Now, it seems to me, Mr. Editor, that the Town Solicitor should have forseen a contingency of this nature and used the proper safeguards in the contract which I believe he drew up. At every point the Town has been beaten in this sewer matter, at least, in every contention involving a point of law. Now, who is to blame for it?

I understand from information supplied from a reliable source that the town is face to face without another blunder in the sewer matter. It is reported now that the levels were incorrectly made and that changes will have to be made entailing extras that will mean a considerable advance in the estimated cost of the sewer. If this is so it is a serious and costly blunder—another added to the series of blunders that has characterized the building of the sewer.

As a ratepayer, and one who is heavily taxed for the mistakes of the town officials, I wish to express my disgust at the way this sewer has been handled. I would like to know who is responsible for the large bill of extras in connection with the sewer. I think the majority of the ratepapers would like to know also.

RATEPAYER.

WITH THE SPORTS.

William A. Brady, manager for Champion Corbett, said yesterday that the big fight will surely take place, even if the Governor of Texas succeeds in passing a law to prevent it. "There are plenty of other places besides Dallas," he added. "We have a standing offer of a $20,000 purse, by a responsible man, who guarantees to pull the fight off within 250 miles of that city. Corbett will gladly accept this offer."

The third and deciding cricket match between the Oxford-Cambridge eleven and All-Philadelphia began Friday morning on the grounds of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford. The Englishmen went to bat first, and were disposed of for 198 runs. Patterson and Bohlen batted first for the Philadelphias, and when stumps were drawn for the day the score had reached 98 without the loss of a wicket.

LIFE WITH THE HOBOS.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE TRAMPS WHICH INFEST THIS COUNTRY.

They Stay Outside the Town Line as a Body but Come to Town Singly and in Pairs—24 Hours With the Tramps.

Just beyond the limits of this town, where the message of rails begin to untangle and stretch out in long lines of track and thence into the open country, one meets here and there a worn, ragged figure, slinking or limping along beside the ties. Trains rush to and fro loaded with human freight, clean and good to look at. Brakemen, dark with the smoke and cinders from many engines, labor industriously, knowing that when their day is done a home, however humble, awaits them. Engineers, firemen, passersby, one and all, work with the knowledge that when their work is over they have some spot they may call their own. But the figure, gaunt and wan, has none. He knows no settled resting place, he has no faithful friends, a vagabond he wanders here and there, outcast, degraded—a tramp.

A special TIMES reporter recently spent 24 hours with the tramps in and about Peterborough. A freight train on the C. P. R. was winding slowly into the yards. The mist of early morning was rising. The reporter climbed into a box car on the train. In a corner huddled a man. The face, grimy and dirty, was pinched and drawn. The lines of suffering and of vice were deep and distinct. The eyes were red and bloodshot, yet were keen and sharp. The hair was tangled. The cheap cotton shirt was open at the throat and the collar of the coat was torn away. The sole of one shoe was gone. The other shoe was worn and torn. Bare toes protruded through the rents and were black with dirt. A torn felt hat was on his head.

"How are you?" said the reporter.

There was no answer. The remark was repeated. A grunt greeted the repetition. The reporter sat down in the other corner at the end of the car. In the dim light could be seen the two eyes peering across the car.

"Are you a cop?" asked the tramp finally.

"No."

"Wher're yuh goin'."

"Any place."

"So am I." and again there was silence.

As the train passed the Ashburnham diamond the tramp crawled on all fours to the door of the car, peeped cautiously out, found the coast clear and jumped to the ground. The reporter followed him. The tramp hurried across the tracks, reached the edge of the yard and rapidly walked back along the railroad.

"Too risky getting out back furder," he explained. "Cops hangin' out there. But we're all right now."

He turned as he spoke, quitted the property of the railroad company and stumbled down the bank into a small gully. In this gully were more than 30 tramps. A fire built with stolen coal smouldered on the ground. The tramps sat around it on railroad ties. Two of the tramps were busy with an old tin can, filled with water which refused to balance properly in the heart of the fire. They all looked lazily at the new arrivals, then turned away. The reporters guide glanced around the ties, found a vacant spot and sat down. There was little talking. Three of the men had newspapers—two Peterborough papers and a Norwood paper; all more than a week old. The reporter sat down on the ground, the ties being full. Hardly had he settled himself when two more tramps appeared. They had been begging and as they sat down they took from their pockets bread and meat. One of them had a piece of apple pie. He divided it with his companions. None of the others seemed to pay any attention to them. Next to the reporter sat a great hulk of a man with strong arms and sturdy limbs. Beside him was a boy, not over 15 years of age.

"Rather young to be on the road," said the reporter to his neighbor, looking at the boy beyond.

"Humph! Just the age," was the reply.

"Age for what?" asked the reporter.

"For beginin', for hustlin', for workin' mush headed fools, for everything, includin' ——" and the tramp mentioned another vice.

Writers have recently told of boys being lured from their homes by tramps, who take them on the road, teach them to beg, and live on the proceeds of such beggings. If this ended the story of the boy's life with the tramp it would even then be bad enough. But, as it really is, these little fellows are ruined morally and physically by vicious practices. As the speaker mentioned the uses to which he put the boy, the latter laughed, a depraved wanton laugh, affirming the tramp's words.

"Does he travel with you?" asked the reporter of the tramp.

"Sure. He earns our livin'. Some day he'll have some un to earn his'n."

There were three other boys there. Two of them were about 17 years old, the other was about 16. All were in charge of tramps, full-grown, able bodied men, who treated the boys as personal property, to be used for any purpose.

As the sun brightened and the day broadened, the crowd of tramps around the fire began to thin out. Singly or in pairs they disappeared. The big tramp turned to the boy and said: "Skin out." The youngster hurried away, while his dictator stretched full length on the ground, filled a clay pipe with cheap tobacco and began to puff and grunt.

"Purty good kid," he said to the reporter. "Good for grub allus, an' offen ketches coin. Wouldn't trade him fer any two I know."

"Where was his home?"

"Caught him down on the Lackawanna, near Scranton. His name's Brumbaugh. Stroudsburg's where he lived."

"Has he got any parents?"

"Ain't sure. Think so."

Then he rolled over and seemed to sleep. Of the tramps that were there an hour before, only five remained. They were sleeping, save two, who were playing cassino with a greasy pack of cards. The ground in the gully had been worn smooth by tramps. The ties were covered with the initials of numerous bums. On the end of one tie was carved a cross and the bust of a young woman. Tin cans, blackened by fire, littered the ground about. Greasy pieces of old newspapers, evidently wrappers for food, lay on every side. It was a desolate place.

Returning to the yards, the reporter crossed the tracks to a switchman. "Any tramps about?" he asked.

"You're too late or too early," was the reply. "They've gone into town or out to the trestles, and won't show up until night—unless a batch comes in on a freight, and there's almost always a load of them on every train now."

Out among the trestles groups of tramps were lounging about, waiting for outgoing trains or aimlessly waiting for time to pass. These men possess a strange trait. With all their idleness and laziness and indolence, they travel more and easier and cheaper than any other class of men in the world. Travelling is their business. If they realized this, they probably would not travel, for they boast that they have no occupation. Yet the hardest task to accomplish is to do nothing. Without money, without clothing other than what they wear, without food, not knowing where they will sleep or what they will eat, or whether they will be able to sleep or eat at all, they jump from town to town, from Chicago to New York, in no more, and if

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Peterborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

BRITAIN UP IN ARMS.

THE HEATHEN CHINESE BROUGHT TO TIME WITH A JERK.

The Degradation of the Viceroy of Szechung Demanded—The Salisbury Government Acted in a Firm Manner.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Much speculation is indulged in as to the outcome of the threatening demonstration that Britain is making in Chinese waters with reference to the recent riots. The demonstration of a powerful British squadron in the Yang Tse Kiang is the sequence of the tacit refusal of the Pekin Government to satisfy the demands of the Marquis of Salisbury for the punishment of the late Viceroy of Szechung, whom British Minister O'Connor reported to be responsible for the outrages beginning in May at the mission stations at Cheng Tu, which were followed by the massacre at Kucheng. The Viceroy's term of office expiring he left Cheng Tu, and the Government tried to induce Minister O'Connor to believe that the withdrawal of the Viceroy had been enforced, and that this act on the part of China ought to satisfy the British Government.

MUST DEGRADE THE VICEROY.

Lord Salisbury, however, instructed the British minister that nothing would suffice, less than a public Imperial decree banishing him beyond the frontiers of China, with a statement that the crime for which he was punished was neglect to afford protection to the missions. This action of Lord Salisbury appears to have been prompted by the conviction that the Chinese literati, abetted by most of the higher officials, foment agitation against Europeans generally and not against the missions alone, and that the degradation of the Viceroy would be a blow to the literati and an effective example to the whole of China. The decisive attitude of England disposes of the report that the Foreign Office entertained a proposal to withdraw the missionaries to treaty ports. It is understood that the United States Government, although not actively cooperating with the British Government, has been informed of and approves the latter's plans to protect the missions, which involves the strongest practical measures in the event of the mere squadron demonstration not proving sufficient to wake up the Government at Pekin.

SUPPORTED BY THE PRESS.

The Daily News, commenting on the British Government's ultimatum to China, says:

"The Government doubtless has good reasons for its ultimatum, and it will not have cause to complain of a want of support from the country."

The Standard says: "Lord Salisbury has been patient enough. The moment for action has arrived. The British demands must be enforced if necessary by the presence of a fleet in the Yang-Tse-Kiang, if not by the occupation of Nankin."

The Standard predicts a revolution in China and the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty if the government at Pekin is rash enough to defy the Western powers.

CHINA ACCEPTS BRITAIN'S ULTIMATUM.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—It is announced that China has accepted the British ultimatum and that the Viceroy of Szechuen, who is held to have been responsible indirectly or directly for the massacre of missionaries in the territory under his jurisdiction, has been degraded.

HOLMES' TRIAL NEAR.

The Much Accused Man Will be Arraigned on Monday.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30—It was announced today that on Monday District-Attorney Graham will have Herman Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, arraigned in the Court of Oyer and Treminer, to plead to the bill of indictment recently found against him, charging him with the murder of Benjamin F. Pietzel.

After a plea shall have been entered, it will be the intention of the District Attorney to have a day fixed for the trial. Holmes feels very sore.

TO STOP THE FIGHT.

Texan Lawmakers May Declare Prize-Fighting a Felony.

Special to The Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—Very few legislators have shown up and a full quorum will hardly be on hand Tuesday. The sentiments of members heard from continue favorable to the immediate passing of a law making prize fighting a felony, and all indicate a desire to prevent the Dallas fight. Governor Culberson in his message will recommend a most rigid law and urge its immediate passage with an emergency clause. It is intimated that he may recommend a law making gambling a felony.

McCARTHY AND BALFOUR.

The Latter's Followers Support in Return for Home Rule.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—Dr. O'Sullivan, of Limerick, Ireland, one of the delegates to the Irish convention held in Chicago last week, is in the city. He made a startling announcement today to the effect that the compact had been made by Justin McCarthy and Arthur J. Balfour, by which the former promises the Government in support of his followers in return for Irish Home Rule. Dr. O'Sullivan says he had the news from McCarthy's own lips and is only afraid that the resolutions passed at the convention may interfere with the plan.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the now celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

ENGLISHMEN BEHIND.

In the International Cricket Match at Haverford.

Special to the Times

CRICKET GROUNDS, Haverford, Pa. Sept. 30.—The concluding day's play in the third international cricket match between the Gentlemen of Philadelphia and the representatives of Cambridge and Oxford was begun at 11.15 today. When stumps were drawn on Saturday Americans led the Englishmen by 157 runs. The latter scored 198 in their first innings and 49 in their second for the loss of two wickets. The Americans put together the remarkable score of 404 runs in their first inning and it is hardly probable that the Englishmen can even make enough runs to require the Americans to go to bat for their second innings. The wicket today was in first condition. When play was resumed this morning Hill, 20, not out, and Druce, 5, not out, faced the bowling of King and Clark. Hill was bowled by King. Score 61-3-29. Phillips followed and was caught by Wood off Bailey, who relieved King. Score 99-4-13. Wilson was caught by Wood off Bailey, score 111-5-4.

SHOT HER RIVAL.

A Woman's Deed While Wearing a Man's Clothes and False Whiskers.

Special to the Times.

ALBANY, Oregon, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Lottie Hiatt was shot and fatally injured at her home near Scio, a small and remote town in Lynn county. Mrs. John Hanna, 45 years old, and mother of a family, donned masculine garb and false whiskers and entered the house of Mrs. Hiatt and shot her twice. The motive was jealousy. Mrs. Hiatt, she believed, had estranged the affections of her husband. Several men who hastened to the house found on the floor a hat, a false mustache and a pair of eyeglasses. Some one present recognized the hat as the property of young Hanna and this precipitated a search for the young man, who was not found until early morning. When charged with the deed and confronted with the hat, he denied the killing, but admitted that the hat was his property, declaring further that his mother had borrowed it the evening before and that she had not returned home until 1 o'clock in the morning. The searchers immediately sought out the boy's mother, and under menacing inquiries, she broke down and confessed.

Legs of Two Boys Amputated.

QUEBEC, Sept. 30.—Two sons of Evariste Lamonte, aged 11 and 13 years, were found in the woods near St. Celestin, Que., Saturday with their legs so badly burned that amputation was necessary.

A Yankee Smirched Attache.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Evening News is indignant at the fact that Almeric Hugh Paget, an attache of the British legation at Washington, has ordered a two and a half rater, 27 feet long, and having a fin of bronze, from the Herreshoffs. The Westminster Gazette remarks: "The crop of attaches is abundant and we might find one better than this Yankee smirched one."

A Military Wheelmen's Convention.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—A call has been issued for the first annual convention of the United States military wheelmen to convene in New York Oct. 15. Topics relating to bicycle drill regulations, the sphere of the bicycle in war, proper arms for soldier cyclists and the like will be discussed, including "Should the Government establish a bicycle corps?"

Lieut.-Col. Wilson Sues Major Manley.

QUEBEC, Sept. 30.—In addition to the action for damages for $10,000 brought by Lieut.-Col. Wilson against the Toronto Telegram, he has taken out another for a similar amount against Mayor Manley, the alleged author of the libel complained of.

SHORTIS GOES TO TRIAL.

HE WILL BE SENT FROM MONTREAL TO BEAUHARNOIS.

The Case Will Begin Today—Insanity to be The Sole Plea of the Defense Who Will Admit the Circumstances Connected With the Young Man's Awful Crime.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—Cuthbert Francis Valentine Shortis, who is at present in the Montreal jail, will be placed on trial at Beauharnois Tuesday, for the murder of J. Lowe and Maxime Leboeuf, at Valleyfield, Quebec, on the night of March 1, last in the cotton Mills. The prisoner will be sent to Beauharnois today. The alleged murderer was formerly private secretary to Mr. Simpson, the manager of the mill. He was discharged from his position a short time previous to his crime, on account of his irregular habits. After that he was heard to make certain threats against the people at the mill, who, he said, had not treated him fairly. He also claimed that there was money due him, which he could obtain. Not much attention was paid to his talk or threats, and no precautions were taken to keep the man off the premises of the Montreal Cotton Mills.

On the night of the murder the paymaster of the mill, John Lowe, was busily engaged in counting out and putting in envelopes the money for the factory hands, to be paid out on the following Monday. In this work he was assisted by his two clerks, Messrs. Hugh Wilson and J. Lowe. Twelve thousand six hundred dollars were on the table. About ten o'clock Shortis knocked at the office door and asked for admission. He was told to go away, but refused to do so until he got what he alleged was due him. He was finally admitted, the clerks continuing their work. Shortis told stories and cleaned and oiled the cashier's revolver. It is well remembered how Shortis persisted in getting possession of the revolver on one pretext or another, even after Lowe had placed it in his drawer, how he cooly and deliberately shot at Hughie Wilson, and immediately turned and shot down John Lowe, son of the Mayor of Valleyfield, who thought the shooting of Wilson an accident, and rushed to the telephone to call a doctor.

The narrative of how Shortis chased Lowe to the vault, how the latter's presence of mind saved the money, how Shortis hunted Wilson out of the office and through the mill, tracing his blood stains with matches, how Watchman Leboeuf was shot down as he was entering the office door, is no doubt familiar to all readers.

PROF. PASTEUR IS DEAD.

ALL FRANCE IN MOURNING FOR THE GREAT SCIENTIST.

Touching Scenes at His Death Bed—Where he Died—The Government Will Give Him a National Funeral—Sketch of a Wonderful Career.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Prof. Louis Pasteur, the distinguished chemist and discoverer of the Pasteur treatment for the cure of rabies, is dead. Paralysis was the cause.

The following information concerning the closing hours of Prof. Pasteur's life have been obtained by the correspondent of the United Press, who has just returned from Villeneuve. Prof. Pasteur's condition became seriously worse in the evening of Friday last. Albuminuera was observed, the heart became very weak and painful and violent spasms became frequent. About nine o'clock yesterday morning Prof. Pasteur's wife asked him whether he suffered much pain. The dying man faintly whispered "Yes." This was the last word he uttered. Afterwards he was most of the time unconscious. When it was seen that the end was near, Prof. Pasteur's son, who was staying at Sansebartin was summoned, but did not arrive in time to see his father alive. Mme. Pasteur, a few near relatives, Dr. Roux and others engaged in the Pasteur institute were present at the death bed. After death Mme. Pasteur closed her husband's eyes and placed a crucifix in his hands.

WHERE THE GREAT CHEMIST LIES.

At L'Etang Park, in a room on the first floor of a ramshackle building above stables where 100 stables are kept for use in connection with the preparation of diphtheria serum, lies the remains of the great chemist. The chamber has a low ceiling and the walls are covered with cheap green paper. A small carpet is spread on the floor. There are two wicker seated chairs and an arm chair. The body lies on a simple curtainless wooden bedstead. On a plain table stands a brauched candle stick in which are lighted candles. Close by in a cupboard placed between two windows are the books M. Pasteur used to take to Villeneuve from Paris whenever he paid a visit there. The unpretensious character of the surroundings seems to throw into relief the reposeful features and strong benevolent face of the dead man. The hands are clasped on the crucifix which Mme. Pasteur placed in them when her husband died. On the white cover are betrayed many of the orders and other decorations which were conferred upon M. Pasteur during his lifetime. The members of the family watch mourning at the bedside. The body of M. Pasteur will probably be embalmed tonight.

A PUBLIC VIEW.

The public will be admitted to view the remains tomorrow. While the United Press correspondent was in the death chamber, M. Poinare, French Minister of Public Institutions, arrived. His mission was to request the family to allow the government to give the dead scientist national obsequies and to inter the body in Pantheon. M. Valery, the husband of M. Pastuer's daughter, on behalf of the family, deferred an acceptance of these offers, until M. Octave Gerrord, M. Pastuer's executors, reads the will of the dead man tonight. Nevertheless it is already settled that the body will be exposed in the library of the Pastuer Institute.

It is understood that the family desire to have the interment in the garden of the Pastuer institute and will request the Government that this be permitted. It is said that the funeral will take place on Tuesday, but as yet the day has not been fixed.

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE.

A stream of visitors today signed the register at Villeneuve. Among them were many men of science, academicians and societaires. The little telegraph office at Garches which is close to Villeneuve was kept busy the whole day receiving telegrams of condolence to Mme. Pasteur. President Faure, M. Honataux, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, the King of Belgians who is visiting Paris, M. Saussier, military governor of Paris, Dr. Lepine and the Paris students' association were among the first to send messages to the widow

WHERE HE WILL BE BURIED.

It has been decided to inter the body of M. Pasteur in the Garden of the Pasteur institute in Paris, in accordance with the wishes of the family. After a service in Notre Dame Cathedral the body will be placed temporarily in a vault at Montmarte.

SPANISH MARINES

Said to Have Been Landed on U.S. Territory to Find Fillibusterers

Special to the Times.

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 30.—Great excitement and indignation has been occasioned here by a report that marines from the Spanish cruiser Conde de Venadito have been landed on the Florida Keys, north of here, to search for fillibusters. This is considered an outrage here and a gross insult. The Keys belong to Florida, and if Spain has a right to land searching parties on the Keys it has also a right to land marines on the mainland. The insult is considered to be as outrageous as if the Conde de Venadito had landed a party to search the homes of the citizens of Key West. The State Department at Washington will be asked to investigate and demand an apology from Spain forthwith. So much indignation has been aroused by the report that it is feared that the Spanish consul will be openly insulted.

FRANK LENZ'S FATE.

Special to The Times.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 30—The executors of Frank Lenz, the bicyclist who started to wheel around the globe, have received affidavits which circumstantially prove his murder. It appears that he was slain by the natives of Tebelkain, who thought his wheel was made of silver and were excited by cupidity to obtain the treasure.

Burglars at Gorrie

GORRIE, Ont., Sept. 30.—Yesterday morning about three o'clock burglars broke into Laman's gents' furnishings establishment, carrying away a large amount of stock. This is the third time this establishment has been burglarized within a year. They also made an attempt to enter Bean's dry goods store, but having attracted attention made their escape.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 30 1895.

NOT MUCH FOR LAURIER.

Conservative newspapers blamed Wilfrid Laurier for pronouncing nothing on the school question. Now that he has made his position clear the editors of the Opposition prints will have their hands full in explaining away their leader's remarks.

At Chicoutimi Mr. Laurier told his French-Canadian auditors that if he had been in power during the past five years the school question would have peen settled. And he advised the audience not to forget that when there is a Liberal Government in power at Ottawa it will have a French-Canadian and Catholic chief.

All of which was nothing but politics Laurier in power would be able to do much less for his co-religionists than Mackenzie Bowell. John S. D. Thompson would have settled the Manitoba school question by asking the bishops one question. The dead Premier would have asked whether the hicrarchy desired it to be understood that never again should there be a Roman Catholic premier Oblige him to pass a remedial act and that would be its effect. The bishops would have seen his point.

Laurier would be in much the same position. The French-Canadians are not one respecting the school question. And it is in Mr. Laurier's supporters' ranks that most of the Catholic advocates of the Public school are to be found.

It would not be wise in Japan to disregard the request of the three European powers for the speedy evacuation of the Liao-Tung peninsula. It is entirely consistent with large statesmanship, military honor, and Japanese national pride to leave a region which is retained merely to humiliate China, and which Japan could not hold against Russia, France, and Germany. The Emperor of Japan is one of the shrewdest rulers in the world.

One of the most interesting affairs in the newspaper line is the Telephone Hirnondo, which has been running successfully for two years at Pesth, Hungary. It is the only newspaper of the kind in the world, costs 2 cents. and is valuable to persons who are unable or too lazy to use their eyes or who cannot read. It has 6,000 subscribers, who receive the news as they would ordinary telephone messages. A special wire 168 miles long runs along the windows of the houses of the subscribers, which are connected with the main line by separate wires and special apparatus which prevents the blocking of the system by an accident at any one of the stations. Within the houses long, flexible wires make it possible to carry the receiver to the bed or any other part of the room. Of the practical workings of this idea the New-York Sun says: The news is not delivered as it happens to come in, but it is carefully edited and arranged according to a printed schedule, so that a subscriber at any time knows what part of the paper he is going to hear. It begins with the night telegrams from all parts of Europe. Then comes the calendar of events for the day, with the city news and the lists of strangers at the hotels. After that follow articles on music, art and literature. The staff is organized like that of any other newspaper, and is on duty from 7.30 in the morning till 9.30 at night. After the copy has passed through the editor's hands, for the paper is subject to the same restrictions as ordinary news papers and is liable for its communications, it is given to the "speakers." These are 10 men with strong voices and clear enunciation.

A JAPANESE HOME.

LIFE OF THE PEOPLE DESCRIBED BY A NATIVE YOUNG LADY.

How the Houses Are Constructed—Interesting Interiors—Walls, Floors and Furniture—How They Keep Warm—Kitchen and Cooking.

So much is said nowadays in the world's press about our people's warlike spirit and exploits, writes a Japanese young lady educated in Europe to a friend, that you, my sisters in the west, may perhaps like to have a true description of our homes and the peaceful pursuits of our life amid the family circle.

People say our dwellings are like the Swiss chalet in outward appearance. Possibly so, if the latter is built of wood, with three substantial walls and an overhanging roof covered with tiles. The south side is always open and has only sliding doors, consisting of thin wooden frames covered over with white paper, called "shoji," to shut out the wind and cold. Along this side of the house there is a highly polished wooden veranda, and as it is every mistress' aim to keep the wood as bright and spotless as possible it is wiped over with a cloth many times a day.

At night heavy wooden shutters are put up, which are fastened on the inside by means of a hook and ring. In front of the house we have a small sliding door of lattice work. When any one wishes to enter, he stands outside and calls out, "O tano moshi masu" (I beg for honorable admittance) and then waits until some one answers from the inside, "Donata sama?" meaning who may it honorably be. The visitor thereupon gives his name and is admitted through the little door.

In the interior there are rarely any walls, the rooms being partitioned off by means of sliding doors called "karakami." These differ from the "shoji," or white paper walls, which lead to the veranda, in generally being covered with thick painted paper, silk or other materials. Instead of a door handle, we have pretty little bronze indentations on either side of the "karakami." The floors of the rooms are covered with beautiful white mats, made of many layers of rice straw fastened together, on the top of which the fine white matting is placed. The whole is 2 or 3 inches thick and is generally bound round with black glazed cotton cloth. As these mats are always made 6 feet long by 3 feet wide, the size of a room is determined by the number of mats it contains. There is no furniture in a Japanese house. Chairs are unnecessary, for everybody sits on the floor in a kneeling position, with the feet crossed underneath him. Soft silk or crape cushions filled with cotton wadding are strewn around the rooms and are always offered to a guest, but not used in a general way. At mealtimes small tables are brought in for each member of the family, on which are placed the dishes containing each one's portion of the dinner, the soup bowl, rice cup and chopsticks.

As a rule, the foreigner will find none of the many things considered indispensable for a western home to make it attractive. The sole decorations are found on one side, where a dais is raised four to five inches from the ground and made of pretty polished wood, supported by pillars of pine or cherry tree. Upon this are placed quaint curios or vases of flowers and suspended on the wall over it a silk picture called a "kakemono." These pictures are changed according to the season or special occasion. In November, for instance, a "kakemono" with the picture of a chrysanthemum will be hung up, in March one representing a branch of cherry blossoms, others for any particular function, as funerals or weddings.

The raised dais, or "tokonoma," is the only place where we put our pretty ornaments, and then only one at a time, so that none of the beauty of the article may be lost by close connection with other things. Perhaps this is the reason why foreigners call out about our rooms being so bare and comfortless. So they are to any one accustomed to move about in an apartment filled with a variety of things. The same simplicity of decoration is observed in every Japanese house, whether the owner be as rich as Crœsus or as poor as the proverbial church mouse.

As our houses are built of such light materials, we find it very difficult to keep out the cold during the months of November, December, January and February. Besides this we have no means of heating our rooms, and even if we had the wind would still penetrate through the paper "shoji." The only way we do keep warm is by wearing many thickly wadded "kimono" dresses and holding our hands over the "hibachi" brazier, containing pieces of burning charcoal. We are not, however, quite so destitute of all comforts as the foreigner thinks.

The "kotatsu" combines warmth and comfort. For this purpose a square of matting is taken out, and a good sized brazier, filled with charcoal and protected by a kind of wooden cage, is let in the hole. Over this is thrown one of the wadded quilts. Each member sits on a small cushion, places his feet against the brazier and covers himself with the quilt.

When the whole family is thus gathered round the "kotatsu," many are the tales of the great deeds of warriors of bygone ages, of fearful ghosts and monsters and such like subjects, which are told for the amusement of old and young. Here all meet together and rest from labor. The father has returned from business, the mother from her household work, and the children have finished their daily tasks, and all are free to enjoy a quiet hour.

From the sitting and reception rooms we go into the kitchen. Its floors are made of polished boards and are so constructed that they can be taken up at will. As the whole house is raised some 20 to 30 inches from the ground, the space between the floor and the ground is used to store away charcoal and other things. In the middle of the kitchen a square charcoal brazier is let into the floor, and much of the cooking is done over its fire, but the most important utensil is the "kama," or large iron boiler, in which the rice is boiled. It is placed in a stand made of clay. Wood is generally burned in the clay stand, or "hetsui," as it is inexpensive and gives an even heat. The art of boiling rice is brought to great perfection in Japan, and in most houses a servant is kept who attends exclusively to the preparing of that article of food.

Tables and chairs are conspicuous by their absence in our kitchen. In place of the former we use small boards, raised on two legs, called "mana-ita," upon which we cut up our vegetables, "okoko" (pickles) and other things, and the latter are not necessary, as every one sits on the floor.—Baltimore Sun.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

FOR THEIR MANY CRIMES WERE PRISONERS SENTENCED.

Mayor Kennedy En Route to Toronto—Detective Porter's Wild Chase After an Escaping Prisoner—Queen City Notes.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Lawbreakers were sentenced for divers crimes by Judge McDougall in the session today. Not one showed any signs of sorrow for being what they were found by the jury to be, save Henry Parsons, who, for shooting with intent was mercifully allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Fred Roots, for receiving stolen jewelry from the Goldsmiths company was sentenced to two years in the Kingston penitentiary. He asked for mercy, stated his brother had died yesterday, and promised to reform but to no purpose.

With nothing to say, James Kemp, the bicycle thief, was given four years in Kingston. He had added to his three offenses, the court stated, the crime of perjury.

James Willard was given seven years in Kingston for burglary. "You might as well give me life," he retorted, as he received his sentence. His career has been checkered and his record black—"an old jailbird," the court was forced to declare. At present he is serving a term in the Central for bicycling stealing.

George Kidd, also charged with burglary was given two years but a day in the Central.

Sydney J. Clarke, for arson, received five years in Kingston. And he has nothing to say.

George Barry, convinced of exhibiting immoral literature at the Exhibition, was allowed to remain out on bail, pending a reserved case, which was granted him.

For his unspeakable offence Convict William Foster was given fifteen years in the Kingston Penitentiary. His term at the Central expires on Tuesday next, and this he offered as a reason why he should be allowed to return to the home of his youth. In passing sentence Judge McDougall alluded to the over crowded condition of the Central Prison, where at present two convicts are in some cases occupying a single cell. It is the duty of the Legislature to furnish an immediate remedy.

The case of Frank Cable stands over to the next Sessions. John Raney, a youth, aged 12, was sent to the Boys Home at Brockville. for theft.

MR. COADY HEARD FROM.

President Shaw last night received a cable from Treasurer Coady, dated from London, stating that he had just returned from Edinburgh, that the bond suit against the city has been postponed for 30 days, that Mayor Kennedy sailed for home on Wednesday, and that Mr. Mansergh will start for Canada during the first week in November. Owing to the late arrival of the expert and the exhaustiveness with which he proposes to go into the questions submitted to him, the vote on the tunnel scheme will have to be further postponed"

HE THREATENED TO SHOOT.

Detective George Porter, of No. 4 division, had quite an exciting chase early this morning after a man named Fred Murray, who is wanted in Whitby on a charge of theft. Murray was staying at his mother's house, No. 131 Brunswick avenue, and when the officer rang the bell he heard a window in the rear open softly. Running through the house he found the window open, and his man disappearing over a back fence. Porter followed him, and the hunt continued over fences and through yards for quite a length of time. At last the detective ordered Murray to stop or he would shoot. With a yell the fleeing man's hands went up in the air, and he came to a dead standstill, half frightened to death. Murray will be taken back to Whitby today.

"SIDEWIPED" BY AN EXPRESS.

Special to The Times

TUNNELTON, W. Va., Sept. 28.—Last night the New York and St. Louis express westbound on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway was going into the tunnel, 20 miles east of here when it "sidewiped" the eastbound Baltimore passenger train. The latter train was switching to the main track when the engineer of the express mistaking a coal tippal light for the white signal light to enter the tunnel, plunged into the side of the laden coach on the Baltimore train. As the ladies coach upset the steam pipes burst. The sleeper was crowded with passengers. The front sleeper on the Baltimore train was thrown from the track. Two people were fatally injured; nine others seriously hurt by bruises and scalding.

A BUFFALO ADVENTURESS

Who Has Been Blackmailing St. Thomas Young Men.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 28.—A few months ago a stylishly dressed, prepossessing young woman, came to St. Thomas in company with Wm. Opdale, manager of a broker shop in the Bromell block. She gave her name as Lenore Mossman, and soon attracted about her a number of male admirers. Soon after coming to the city she had a falling out with Opdale, against whom she had a capias issued for his arrest, but the latter got wind of it and quietly left the city. A few days before his departure he called at police headquarters and wanted to swear out a search warrant against the woman, whom he alleged had taken his jewelry. The magistrate informed him that it would be necessary to issue a warrant for her arrest, which he declined to do. Since Opdal left the city the gay woman has been promenading the streets a good deal of her time, and soon had a number of young men (both married and single) in tow.

They were invited to visit her apartments and quite a few of them accepted the invitation. A few days after they would receive a note informing them that it would be necessary to contribute the sum of $10 to her exchequer or she would expose them. One young man, who is a clerk in the east end, was the first to settle. He received a note from the woman stating that unless the above mentioned sum was forthcoming in three days she would prosecute him. The next day a young man went to the clerk and told him the woman would drop proceedings if he gave her five dollars. The clerk handed over the money. The next day he received a summons to appear at the police court for assaulting a woman. Rather than appear in court the young man handed over $10 more and paid the costs. Yesterday a well known young man received a note from the woman, signed by the woman. The letter reveals the woman's character and places her within reach of the law for blackmail. The letter is very suggestive and is unfit for publication. In it she states that she will expect by return mail ten dollars and will allow him but little grace to settle up. But the young man is evidently not so soft as the gay Lenore imagines. The recipient of the letter placed it in the hands of his solicitor, Mr. R. H. McConnell, and intends to show the woman up.

The letter is written on one of Opdale's letter heads. He was a lecturer and in one corner of the letter head are the words "humorous, pathetic and instructive."

These two mentioned are not the only ones who have received letters from the woman of a similar nature and if proceedings are taken against her she will probably be severely dealt with.

Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGEST SIZES

EXPENSES OF A DINING CAR.

Costly Service Maintained For the Convenience of Travelers.

A modern dining car of the most approved pattern costs $15,000 to build. Next come the kitchen utensils, the table furniture, the silverware and linen, averaging about $3,000 worth to a car. Each car must have a steward, who usually gets $100 a month, and a head cook, who values himself at $75 a month. There must also be one or two assistant cooks and three or four waiters. Three hundred dollars a month is the very smallest outlay for wages, while the cost of raw food material, breaking of dishes and the board of employees is about $3,000 per month additional. An average five days' run costs very nearly $600 for food and service, so that it would take 40 persons at every meal on the run to pay the daily expenses without allowing anything for interest on the investment or for wear and tear on the furnishings. The kitchen of a dining car contains every convenience except room. There is a range capable of doing all the boiling, broiling, baking and stewing for hundreds of people, yet occupying comparatively no space at all. There is a board for the carver, a bin and table for the baker and a sink for the dishwasher, with shelves and imperishable supplies, all in an area of 5 by 12 feet at most. Every inch of space is carefully utilized. Under the car is the cellar or refrigerator, where ice, beef, mutton, poultry, milk, butter and other perishable supplies are kept.

The steward, who is in charge of all this, must be a good guesser. To be sure, the dining car is run on the principle that no money will be made anyway; that one road must run it because a competing road does; that the traveler must therefore have the best in the market for a fair price, and that it is better to throw away unused and spoiled material at the end of a trip than to run out of some necessary on the way. Yet I imagine that the steward who has the lowest average of wasted food stands highest in his employer's regard. The first thing he has to do is to make out the bills of fare for the trip. These must be approved by the head of the commissary department. The chef buys the necessary supplies, but the steward has to turn in an inventory of them at the starting point, and also a statement of what has been used en route and what is left at the end of the run. There is no method of estimating the exact number of meals that will need to be served during the run, particularly if it be a short one. Suppose it is to be made from Washington to New York. Individual methods of economy are very different. While some prefer to pay $1.25 for the extra comfort of a seat in a parlor car, there are others who think the common coach good enough and prefer to spend their dollar in the dining car. Again, there are some who frequent both parlor and diner, and others who care for neither. For a longer journey every berth in the sleeper may be occupied, and yet the dining car may be practically tenantless, or the sleeper may be nearly empty and the diner full of people from the day coach, or it may be crowded with the occupants of both. As the steward goes through the train on a tour of inspection or in giving his first call for a meal he must note the number of lunchboxes and guess from the faces and dress of the passengers how many orders he will have. But even his best judgment will be far out of the way, for the lunchbox may be for the next day's light repast, or some of the best dressed passengers may not have decided whether to patronize the dining car or not.—Kate Field's Washington.

How a Fish Breathes.

The gills of a fish are situated at the back part of the sides of the head and consist of a number of vascular membranes, which are generally arranged in double, fringelike rows, attached to the parts by the base only. In some cases these membranes are feather shaped, in others mere folds attached to the sides of the gill cavities. The fish is a cold blooded animal—that is to say, its temperature is seldom more than a degree or two higher than the water in which it lives. This being true, the creature needs but a very small amount of oxygen to keep the blood at a temperature sufficiently high to sustain life. This oxygen is supplied to the blood of the fish by respiring large quantities of water, or rather drinking large quantities of water, and respiring the air separated from it by the gills. This explains why a fish cannot live in a tank of water which has been sifted through the gills time and time again any better than a human being or other animal can in air that has been deprived of all its oxygen by being taken into lungs and expelled without being aerated. Fish that die in the stale water of aquariums may be properly said to drown, because they perish for want of air, the same thing which occasions death by drowning in man and other lung breathing animals.—St. Louis Republic.

The Order of the Garter.

An evening journal, in a dissertation on the Order of the Garter, states that it consists of 85 ordinary knights and 25 extra knights, which is quite wrong. There is no fixed number of extra knights, who are all royal personages, and there were only six of them when the queen's reign commenced, whereas there are now 23. During the last two financial years £1,320 has been paid by the public to the dean and chapter of Windsor and to the Garter officers in respect of fees and expenses in connection with the creation of three extra knights. In all other countries such payments are made by the new knights themselves, but here the taxpayers find the money, and last year the lord chamberlain received £2,800 to provide and repair insignia of the various orders of knighthood.—London Truth.

Last Letter of Emin Pasha.

Sir William Flower has communicated to the Zoological society some posthumous tidings of Emin Pasha. This was a letter concerning some zoological specimens which never arrived in England at all, having been lost at the time of Emin's murder. The letter and the journal—principally relating to observations upon birds—which accompanied it were written in a fine and minute hand, like copper plate engraving. The letter had the additional and melancholy interest of being perhaps the last that Emin Pasha wrote. He was in constant correspondence with the president of the Zoological society about matters of zoological interest and always wrote in English, of which apparently he knew nothing until he went to Africa.—New York Times.

FAVORS BLOOMERS.

Miss Willard Tells of the Progress of Temperance in Great Britain

New York, Sept. 30.—Frances E. Willard, who returned on Saturday from a lengthy stay in England, said to a reporter:

"There never was so much teetotal sentiment in England as there is to-day. The custom of omitting wine from the dinner table is growing. One of the things that helps temperance is the bicycle. I am a bicycle enthusiast, and after three years' hard work have at last induced Lady Henry Somerset to ride a wheel. The bicycle is spoiling the business of the saloons and of the low variety theatres. It is a splendid thing to abolish drink by indirection. I think the bicycle is Heaven's way of helping people to have a good time without using stimulants.

IRELAND AND INDIA.

"The British Parliament has passed a law giving practical Sunday closing in Ireland even in the big cities like Dublin. I think the public houses are open for a short time, but to all intents and purposes Sunday closing prevails. The effect of that has been good for Ireland. It has promoted the family life and has increased the prosperity of the country. The saloon is the man's club and the poor women's club is the shillelah.

"India you would think needs little temperance agitation, as the Hindoos are supposed to abhor acholic drinks. But the Englishmen in India simply swim in liquor, and the Anglo-Indian colony has gone to seed to a certain extent. This condition of demoralization is affecting the natives more or less. We want to get groups of women together who will disseminate temperance ideas, and we want the physiological effects of alcohol taught in the Indian schools. If we get the movement started in India by and by it will amount to a great deal.

FRANCE AND BLOOMERS.

"Most people have an idea that France is not a good field for temperance work, but we are already reaping fruit there. The French have begun to classify drinks, and those of an alcoholic naturd, like absinthe, they call poison drinks, A campaign of education is going to be waged among them. It is no use to tell the people of one country what the great men of another country say. They want to hear from their own great men, and the French physiologists are to be induced to write and teach the deleterious effects of alcohol. Lots of distinguished Frenchmen have stopped using intoxicants.

"Am I so much in favor of a community of masculine and feminine interests that I would like to see them dress alike? Do I favor bloomers? I don't oppose them, though I don't wear them. I am fifty-five years old, and I don't think it would be suitable, but I don't see any objection to them."

No Hope of Saving the Mariposa.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 30.—The British warship Buzzard arrived here today from Forteau, Labrador coast, where the Dominion line steamer Mariposa is ashore, and reports that it will be impossible to float her. The whole forepart of the Mariposa's bottom is torn out and the shop is full of water, there being 20 feet of water in the engine room.

Took Refuge at Long Point.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 30.—A telegram was received at the office of the Cleveland and Buffalo Steamship Company this morning saying that the steamer State of New York, for the safety of which much anxiety was felt last night, is lying under Long Point. She took refuge there to escape the big storm prevailing.

Biliousness Cured.

"For about a year I have been troubled very much with biliousness and occasional attacks of indigestion. None of the medicine that I tried gave no relief until I began to take Hood's Pills. I am now cured and have taken Hood's Pills occasionally to prevent a return of the trouble." J. J. Finch, 179 & 181 Rideau St., Ottawa, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS cure sick headache, indigestion.

ADVANCED WOMEN.

THEY ARE ABLY DEFENDED FROM A SENSELESS ATTACK.

Healthier Than Their Indolent Sisters and Possessors of the Beauty of Intellectuality—Shining Examples of Persons and Performances.

There are many people of otherwise excellent intelligence who take an insane or maudlin delight in attacking women. They turn up about once a year, as the hares do in March, and with a cacophonous howl pour out the few minims of their vial of wrath upon her devoted head. Then, with a melodramatic chuckle, they vanish into the obscurity of their alleged thought and hibernate for an indefinite period.

This time the offender is a woman, and the offense appears in the columns of The Sun in the form of what purports to be an argument that advanced women advance and agitating women agitate merely because they are not beautiful.

The cleverness and charming diction of the lady's screed render it enjoyable for the moment and sweeten the sting which it contains. It well illustrates the old saw "of serving the devil in heaven's livery." It is bad enough for men, especially those who have never been married and who are brought up by a stepmother, to decry the sex, but it is much worse when an able woman indulges in a tirade embodying the platitudes of old fogies, the opinions of dullards in whose brute brain no new idea ever burst into being, and the poetic but somewhat florid tergiversation of her own intellect. Still, however, there is a certain force to the lady's letter. Just as the temperance orator likes to have a drunkard in his audience to point out as a terrible example and to illustrate the exceeding sinfulness of gin, so the fact of the attack shows that there are women of some mentality who cannot be and will not be advanced, and to whom such things as a thorough education, a broad culture and a high moral purpose are either meaningless terms or something, like the measles, to be avoided.

There are advanced women and advanced women. Dr. Mary Walker and Miss Mary Johnson represent one tpye in their own esteem, and the correspondent of The Sun represents another, very different from the first, but equally objectionable and discordant. The true advanced woman is one who develops her intellectual nature as far as she can and wants society to do the same with all womankind by the same means as they employ in converting the boy from the farm and the forest into the university graduate, the scientist and the statesman. The advanced woman believes that life is not a mere course of enjoyment, had or pursued, but an existence which should contain some lofty moral or spiritual purpose. She believes in the efficiency of intellectual and moral effort, no matter where it is applied, whether in establishing a ragged school or a club for political study; in making a mineralogical collection or pleading the cause of temperance; in starting a Chautauqua circle or in instructing poor young women in embroidery, drawing or technical design; in founding kindergartens where little folks may be rationally developed, or in conducting trade schools where men can be made into skilled workmen. It is not a new type. There have been hundreds and thousands of such women the world over. The only thing is that these St. Johns were isolated individuals, while today their name is legion, and they are endeavoring to so improve the social world as to make their type universal. It is against this type that The Sun's correspondent kicks, with the usual accompaniment of much noise and a leveling of long ears.

There is a small amount of argument in her article, but it is buried beneath a wilderness of pleonasm, mixed metaphor and altisonant sentences. Her opening premise that all advanced women are ugly to hideousness is as false as it is foolish and could have been made only by one who recklessly fits facts to a theory, or who has never been admitted across the threshold of literary and intellectual society.

The truth is that advanced women are as a class handsomer and healthier than any other, no matter whether it be the Four Hundred or the mad army of authors of erotic literature.

Beyond mere physical comeliness they possess the beauty of intellectuality and of a finely developed moral character. These indefinable charms have always been regarded as the greatest attractions of the individual possessing them. They appeal to the world, whether it be from the face of a Goethe, a Webster and a Hawthorne or Mme. Recamier, Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Harriet Beecher Stowe. It must be admitted, however, that there are men and a few women to whom these things are unintelligible, who vote intellectuality a bore, treat culture and pedantry as one and prefer the voluptuous graces of a courtesan to the spiritual loveliness of a saint or a Madonna.

That the advancement of woman does not involve any physical deterioration, but, on the contrary, tends to develop the body, may be seen by anybody who will visit Vassar, Oberlin or the other institutions of learning whose doors are open to her sex. The scholars, and especially those in the senior year and among the alumnæ, are usually splendid specimens of vigorous young womanhood. The "sweet girl graduates" of Tennyson's poem are turned out by thousands every year in our land. They are larger, stronger and more symmetrical than are the girls who have staid at home, "come out" at 16 and been through three seasons.

They are also healthier as well. Dr. Sargent, who is the best authority on the subject and has taken the measurements and other statistics of thousands of women, asserts that college bred women are physically superior to all others of the same social class and stand far better the strain of either married or professional life.—Margherita Arlina Hamm in New York Sun.

Veils.

It is quite as important to wear clean veils as fresh under linen. But can veils be washed? some one asks. Most veils can, but when you own a mesh that will not bear cleansing discard it when it shows the least signs of soil. In certain parts of Switzerland they use the following methods of washing lace veils: If the veil is white, it should carefully be washed in lukewarm water, loosely wrung out and rinsed in cold water. It should then be half dried by being clapped between the hands and finally hung out to dry completely. If the veil is black, mix a little ox gall in warm water and pour this over the veil, afterward rinsing in cold water. For stiffening purposes a weak solution of gum called "gum water" is used in place of starch, and the drying processes are the same as for the white veil.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Between four and five o'clock this morning Dr. Andrew Stewart, residing at 1420 Q. street in this city was awakened by a noise in his room. He discovered a stranger and seizing a Winchester rifle, which stood by his bedside, fired two shots at the intruder, one shot going into the burgular's right temple and one throught his right arm. The doctor then ran down stairs and fired at two other men who were there, but they escaped from the house and have not been caught. It is not known whether he succeeded in wounding them. The man who was shot was carried to the emergency hospital where he died soon after. Dr. Stewart surrendered himself to the police, to await the action of the coroner's jury.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

The Weather.

Probs.—Fresh to strong westerly to northerly winds today; fair to cold weather today with higher temperature tomorrow.

Warmer Weather Coming.

According to the purveyor of weather, Toronto and the circumjacent districts are having a monopoly of the extreme cold. The temperature at Winnipeg today is between 60 and 65, while at high noon in that city it was but 49. The probabilities are that a rise in temperature will soon take place.

Police Court Notes.

In the Police Court yesterday morning the tramp Frank Murphy was remanded another week. Murphy is charged with carrying concealed weapons. Joseph Graham, charged with stealing some grain from Eli Stamlin, of Otonabee, was allowed to go by paying the costs which amounted to $10.

Will Be Brought Here.

The two tramps who are now awaiting trial in Cobourg jail, will be brought to Peterborough after they have been dealt with there, and tried for carrying concealed weapons, shooting with intent to kill, etc. By the time the authorities get through with them they will doubtless wish they had never entered this town.

The Season for Them.

The approaching cold weather is driving some of the unfortunates who cannot make a living outside to the shelter of the jail for the winter. Thomas Tully was in the Police Court yesterday morning. He was ordered to leave town at once, or he would be charged with vagrancy and sent to the Central for six months.

His Game was Hats.

A hat repairer visited Dr. Scott's recently and secured two silk hats he promised to repair. He returned one and told the doctor he would bring the other in a day or so but "he never came back." The Chief of Police was informed and a warrant was issued for the arrest of E. Obenchain on the charge. It was learned Obenchain went to Port Hope on Thursday evening, and the police there were notified, and they replied that the man had left for the east. Belleville and Cobourg were communicated with, and Cobourg answered that the man had left for Rochester by boat on Thursday morning. The matter will likely have to rest there.

Ontario game Laws.

Elk, moose, reindeer or caribou cannot be killed until the 1st of November 1900.

No hunting on Sundays.

"Crusting," or hunting deer while "yarding," not allowed.

Deer dogs must not be allowed at large in localities where deer are known to be.

Resumed its Sessions.

The Ministerial Association resumed work, yesterday morning and reassembled in the Y.M.C.A. parlors for the first time since the summer holidays. Rev. W. R. Young was elected president for the ensuing year, and Rev. J. J. Rae was chosen to perform the duties of secretary. The Union services for Thanksgiving Day were discussed, and it was decided to hold them this year in George street church. Rev, J. J. Rae was requested to deliver the sermon on this occasion. Mr. Smith, the new secretary of the Y.M.C.A., was introduced and asked the assistance of the Ministerial Association. It was resolved to cooperate with him in the working in the interests of the Y.M.C.A. At the November meeting of the Association Rev. Mr. Cragg will read a paper on the "Ethics of Holiness." The attendance at this, the first session of the Association, was very large, and the members begin their work this year with renewed interest.

DETECTIVE MURRAY TALKS.

He Says He is Not to Blame for the Gray Case Collapse.

Inspector John Murray, of the provincial detective department, returned on Saturday from Peterborough, where he was attending the trial of the Grays for the murder of David Scollie, says the Mail and Empire. Referring to the case, Mr. Murray said:—"When I got to Peterborough I found that only 24 out of the 48 extra jurors required for the trial had been served, and that 28 of the whole panel were from Peterborough, where sympathy naturally ran strongly in favor of the Grays. The Attorney-General's Department was communicated with, and it was decided to try the prisoners separately, so as to reduce the challenges of the defence from 40 to 20. This however, proved fatal to the Crown's case, as 20 or more witnesses who were called had to be dispensed with, because their evidence dealt chiefly with Gray, and not with Mrs. Gray, who was put on trial. I am not sorry at the result, but I cannot see why I should be blamed for extraditing the prisoners. The evidence that brought them back from Florida was carefully examined by the Deputy Attorney General. When they were brought back the magistrate considered it sufficient to send them for trial, and, further, the grand jury considered the Crown case strong enough to place accused on trial for their lives. It is a mistake to think that I ever go out of my way to hunt up a case against anyone. I do my duty, and try never to exceed it. In twenty years I have extradited 85 prisoners, and of this number only three failed to be convicted, the two Grays and Phaling, who escaped from Stratford gaol after pleading guilty before the magistrate.

CAN'T STAY AT HOME.

Mysterious Case of Cora Rhodes, Who Has Disappeared Six Times.

It was a strange story that Mrs. Rhodes, who says she lives near Lakefield, related to a reporter last night about her pretty daughter, Cora. As the poor woman spoke about the mystery, tears came to her eyes and several times she bowed her head and repeated, "I can't explain, sir; God knows, I can't." This is her story:

Cora Rhodes is a beautiful girl of 17, tall and slender, with brown hair and blue eyes, and up to last March was cheerful and happy. At that time Cora and her parents lived in Gananoque, and the mother noticed that the girl began to act strangely. She questioned her, but could get no satisfactory explanation, the daughter always changing the subject. One day her mother found a note from Cora, in which she said she was going away, and it was days before her mother found her wandering about the streets and brought her home. The girl seemed almost starved. She had not a cent of money, and her clothing was soiled and ragged.

Her mother questioned her as to where she had been, but Cora would not answer, and Mrs. Rhodes, fearing her mind was not all right, refrained from questioning her too closely, hoping that with good care she would soon be all right. All went well for a time, and then Cora disappeared again, and again her mother found her in the street, and brought her home starving, almost in tatters, and silent as to where she had been or what she had been doing.

One month ago the family moved to this county, according to the mother's story, and Cora continued her strange actions. Since March she has gone from home six times, and each time has been found in the same condition, and all kindness and persuasion could not draw a word of explanation from her.

Last Saturday she again disappeared, and nothing has been learned of her since.

In all the times that Cora has mysteriouly left her home, she has never been seen with any one, except once, and that was last Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, when some one who knew her saw her with a short, stout woman, not far from her home. The woman seemed to be compelling the girl to go along with her, and the girl appeared to be trying to resist, but lacking the power to do so.

"On Saturday evening I went out with my daughter," said Mrs. Rhodes, "and suddenly she left me and said she would be back in half an hour. I know now that I should have followed her, but she was too quick for me, and I believed she would be home as she promised.

"I think some one must have a great power over her, for she never acted this way until last March, and I think some one has such a hold over her that it has affected her mind, and she feels that she must obey the strange power. She has always been a good girl. I have never heard of her doing wrong, and I know of no male companions of hers. I have coaxed her to tell me where she goes and what happens, but she will not, and she is in such a sad, deplorable state every time I find her that my heart aches for her, and I do not care to worry her."

Situation in Texas—Fitzsimmons Arrives There.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 30.—Ex-Governor Roberts has written Governor Culberson, commending his conduct in calling the Legislature. There are grave doubts, however, about the Legislature's passing a law with the requisite two thirds vote to give it immediate effect. Inquiry sent to members as far as heard indicate that a law to take immediate effect making prize fighting a felony will go through by an overwhelming majority. It is claimed, however, by those favoring the fight that Governor Culberson should have called the Legislature immediately after Judge Hurts opinion and before the fight management had expended thousands of dollars on their building.

FRITZ ARRIVES IN TEXAS.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 30.—Bob Fitzsimmons and party arrived in San Antonio today. Fitz. was in a mood for talking, and said he would be willing to meet Corbett outside of Dallas in case the fight can't be pulled off in Dallas.

"I want to say," he continued, "that I do not like the way Brady is figuring in the affairs of the Florida Athletic Club. In regard to picking a referee, he wishes me to name my referee before October 31, so he can fix him. That is certainly his object, but I will not pick a referee until the day of the fight. Brady says if I do not pick a referee pretty quick he will substitute Maher for Corbett. I know from an inside source that Brady has an interest in the Florida Athletic Club. If anyone says he has not I will bet them $500 he has and prove it."

THE INTERNATIONAL MATCH.

Over 10,000 people saw the international cricket match at Philadelphia on Saturday between the Oxford-Cambridge eleven and the gentlemen of Philadelphia. In their first innings the Englishmen had scored 198, but the Americans were not all disposed of until they had rolled up the fine total of 404 runs, 205 more than their competitors. When play ceased for the day the visitors had scored 49 in their second innings for the loss of two wickets.

THE ETHELWYNN WINS.

The fifth and deciding race for the international challenge cup offered by the Leawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club for small boats took place on Saturday off Centre Island, L. A., between the English half rater Spruce IV. and the American yacht Ethelwynn. The latter boat won easily, coming in ten minutes and 41 seconds ahead of the Englishman. The Ethelwynn has thus succeeded in keeping the trophy on this side of the Atlantic

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co. Listen To Reason J. A. S. & CO.

If we were continuing in business would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapidity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

Because we think the plan a good one we're selling direct to the consumer, though a large wholesale concern.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish,

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A THRILLING AWAKENING

WORDS THE PASSENGERS HEARD ON THE MARIPOSA

When She Struck on the Rock—How the People Were Conveyed Ashore in a Snowstorm—A Cradle Buoy Used—The Illfated Vessel's Sails Used as a Tent For the Ladies.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, Oct. 1.

SOME of the crew of the steamship Mariposa, who arrived here Saturday on the Austrian, tell an interesting story of the wreck. "Man the lifeboats," was the loud and terrible order that awakened me from sleep at 1.48 o'clock last Tuesday morning, said the second steward of the Mariposa. "Then I hurried for provisions for the boats, and heard sounds of grinding and crashing, and a heavy rushing and breaking of water. Passengers rushed out, some in their night clothes, only to be assured that the vessel was hard aground on a rock. The big ship quivered from stern to stern for a moment, and then seemed to settle down

NEVER LOST HIS NERVE.

Capt. Cave was on the bridge and never lost his nerve. His coolness helped the the passengers, and although there was a blinding snow storm Chief Officer Willliams with four sailors was despatched in a boat to the shore where a steel hawser was fastened. A chair cradle was fixed on a pulley, and on this every passenger was sent ashore safe and sound. Ladies and children were by special orders of the captain taken first. Once on the shore more distress followed, for the snow changed to sleet and rain. Equal to the occasion, the crew of the stranded ship, by the suggestion of Captain Cave, took the ship's sails and booms, and made a tent for the ladies, where they slept the remainder of the night. Meantime willing hands were getting baggage out of the holds and landing it by pulleys.

THOSE HUMAN VULTURES.

Up to 2 p.m. the rescue work of cargo and baggage was carried on, and vigilant watch was kept on the vultures of wreckers, who hovered about everywhere. At 2 o'clock the Allan R.M.S. Sardinian was sighted, and after exchanging signals at once put into Forteau Bay, and took aboard all the passengers but one, and sailed. This one was Rev. Father Lebon, a priest, who was so excited that he missed the steamer, and came to Quebec by the Austrian, an Allan London steamer, which appeared, in company with H.M.S. Buzzard, on Wednesday at noon. The Austrian stayed by and offered every possible assistance. She brought the crew to Quebec, where most of them sailed by R.M.S. Labrador for home. Captain Cave, three officers and three engineers stayed by the ship. Her holds were full of water fore and aft, so that her double bottom must have been torn out. Captain Cave was greatly distressed, as may easily be imagined, but showed the greatest pluck and good judgment throughout the whole affair.

MOVING DEAD SLOW.

One of the engineers, named Walton, said that the ship was moving dead slow when she went ashore in the blinding storm. So thick was the darkness that they could scarcely see the main mast. In connection with the sad affair, illustrating how near together laughter and tears often are, a comical incident occurred. Captain Casgrain, of the Royal Engineers, was a passenger. While his baggage was lying on shore with other goods in charge of some sailors, up came a crowd of rough wreckers, who stole the baggage and escaped. It was only half an hour after that H.M.S. Buzzard arrived, Quickly a boat was manned with armed blue-jackets and after these thieving wreckers they went. They found them in a tent, kicking up high old jinks. One of the biggest, brawny fishermen had donned Captain Casgrain's R. E. uniform, and was strutting proudly around the fire. The blue-jackets put them to flight and recovered the baggage, after threatening severe measures to the pirates. Luckily for the Mariposa, the looting of the Mexico was not duplicated.

THE SHOCK KILLED HIM.

Mr. Alex. Frazer, Seeing his House on Fire Drops Dead.

Special to the Times

LANCASTER, Oct. 1.—Sunday morning the firebell, which was erected last week, sounded an alarm for the first time. Service was being held in Knox church at the time, and the pastor, Rev. A. Graham, told any of his congregation who could assist to leave, as the town had no brigade. Many did so including Mr. Andrew Fraser. When the latter turned the post office corner he saw a crowd around his house. The shock was too much for him and he fell. On being approached, he gasped once and expired. Mr. Fraser was a respected citizen—a retired farmer, 70 years of age and a native of Fraser's Point, Que,

INSANE, BUT ESCAPED.

How Mrs. Gayton Turned up in Her Divorce Trial.

Special to The Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 1.—When the divorce case of Mrs. Martha Gayton against her husband, Arther Gayton, was called in court, Mrs. Gayton's attorney explained to the judge that his client was confined in an insane asylum and protested against proceeding with the case. Suddenly a woman entered the room. It was Mrs. Gayton. She tottered to the side of her attorney, whispered a few words to him, and then was escorted to the judge's private room. There she went into a swoon from which she did not recover for some time. Later it transpired that Mrs. Gayton, who had been a patient in the Cleveland Insane Asylum, had escaped from that institution and had hovered about the corridors of the courthouse until her case was called.

Yellow Fever on Board.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., October 1.—The bargue Lavinia, from Pernambuco, arrived last night. Three members of the crew died of yellow fever shortly after the vessel sailed from Brazil. Nearly all the remainder of the crew were afflicted and were unable to work the ship, and she was buffetted about for two weeks until she reached a colder climate, when the fever gradually disappeared. She was quarantined today.

TO WED THE DUKE

At New York on November 14—Fifteen Millions Go With Her.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough will be married at noon on November 14 in Grace Church. Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of New York, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Huntington. William K. Vanderbilt will give his daughter away at the altar, but whether or not he will appear at the reception, which is to follow the ceremony, is another matter.

In addition to the dowry of $10,000,000 to go with Miss Vanderbilt upon her marraige with the Duke, another settlement of $5,000,000 has been made by Mr. Vanderbilt. This last sum, it is understood, will be entirely expended on Blenheim and will enable the Duke and his young Duchess to keep it up in regal state. Besides the splendid settlement it is understood that Mr. Vanderbilt will give her some superb jewels, among other things a long string of pierced diamonds like the one he presented her mother some years ago. It is two yards long and consists of large matched gems. The Duke's mother will bring the Churchill jewels over with her for her son's bride.

The future Duchess of Marlborough will be presented to the Queen by the Marchioness of Blandford at one of the spring drawing rooms.

DEATH ON THE WAVES.

A BIG STORM ON THE UPPER LAKES CAUSE MANY WRECKS.

Vessels Foundered and Driven Ashore—Lost Or Missing—Crews Met Death on the Raging Waters.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.

THERE are several reports of damage and loss of life on the lakes in the storm of Saturday and Sunday which reached here last night. Only one local fatality is reported—that of Capt. Andrew Johnson, of the schooner Raber, who was drowned off Dane Park while endeavoring to reach the land to secure a tug to save his vessel. Leaking like a sieve, the sailors worn out with two days work on the pumps, with its rotten sails blown to ribbons and its halyards streaming in the wind, the old schooner, John Raber, drove close to shore off Dane Park, Indiana, and cast anchor. Andrew Johnson, the owner, ordered out a small boat, managed by three sailors, and tried to reach the shore to secure a tug. A mile from shore the boat was tossed by a huge breaker and overturned. Johnson failed to reach the boat and last night his body lay alone and unattended on the sands awaiting a coroner's visit today. The three men stuck to the boat and succeeded in making shore. Captain Weede stayed by the ship with two sailors. They were rescued by the South Chicago lifesavers after midnight, having worked four hours.

VESSELS LOST OR MISSING.

Following are additions to the list of boats missing or lost: John Raber, schooner, ashore at Whiting, Ind.; Geo. W. Naighten, waterlogged, taken in at St. Joe, part of deck load gone; Lady Franklin, barge, ashore at Hammond's Bay, probably a total loss; Lilly May, barge, wrecked at East Whitefish Point, barge gone to pieces; City of Paris, ashore on Flat Rock, Copper Harbor; Elma, schooner, reported to have foundered in Munising Bay, and crew of eight lost: Captain John Thurston, wife and child among the lost; C. B. Jones, schooner, foundered off Whitefish Point, crew supposed to have been lost; Tug Boynton, from Sault Ste. Marie, went to the assistance of C. B. Jones, reported missing; two unknown boats ashore at Grand Island, Lake Superior: steamer Matoa and Masaba, of the Minnesota line, thought to be ashore at Keneenaw Point, Lake Superior.

THE ELMA LOST WITH ALL HANDS.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 1.—News has just reached here of the loss of the schooner Elma, Sunday off Scripture Rock with all hands on board. She steamer Birkhead left Baraga Saturday with the C. B. Jones and Elma, lumber laden. They were caught in the great gale Saturday night and the Elma broke its tow line and disappeared in the darkness. The Jones broke loose and brought up under Weitefish Point, the Birkhead finding shelter back of Grand Island Sunday afternoon. The steamer went out to look for its consorts and at the first of the massive cliffs forming the famous Pictured Rocks found the wreckage of the Elma. The crew of lost vessel numbered seven, together with a woman and child.

A COMET COMING.

The Recent Intense Heat and What it is Thought to Forerun.

Special to The Times

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The intense heat experienced during the past ten days continues without sign of abatement. M. Flammaron, in an interesting communication on the October sky, said that "since meteorological observations were first begun in France—that is to say more than two hundred years ago—there never has been a month of September so fine, so warm, dry, and so free from clouds. A special telegram from Kiel Observatory announced that the approach of the periodical comet of Faye had been discovered by Professor Javelia, of the Nice Observatory.

Without taking an alarmist view of affairs, it may be well to point out the theory so graphically developed in M. Flammarion's book, "The end of the World." In that work a collision between a comet and the earth is described with astronomical precision, and during the extraordinary phenomena that ensued there was unusual heat, the first phase of which were similar to those now prevailing in North-Western Europe.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

The Catholics Strengthened by Principal Grant and Anglican Bishops.

Special to The Times.

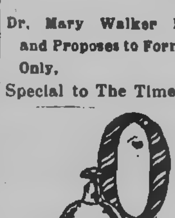
WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 1.—Replying to an address of Roman Catholics at Selkirk yesterday, Archbishop Langevin said that the cause he and all his Catholic friends had been fighting for the past five years had been greatly strengthened by resolutions passed at the conference of Anglican bishops in Montreal recently favoring Separate schools, and also by the letters of Principal Grant voicing the sentiments of the Presbyterian Church.

EDEN WITHOUT AN ADAM.

A SETTLEMENT OF WOMEN PLEDGED TO WEAR BLOOMERS.

Dr. Mary Walker Has Bought a Farm and Proposes to Form a Colony for Females Only.

Special to The Times.



OSWEGO, N.Y., Oct.1.—Dr. Mary Walker, who forty years ago preached the gospel of dress reform to the women of this country, and who was arrested in many cities for dressing and appearing in public in male attire, is the apostle of a scheme for the use of the bloomer girls.

Through Lawyer Henry C. Benedict, of this city, Dr. Mary has bought a farm containing 135 acres of land seven miles west of this city, and proposes to form a colony in which man shall have no part. Only females who will bind themselves to a life of celibacy while members of the community and to wear bloomers for life are to be eligible. They will work the farm in all its details, plant and harvest the crops, dispose of them in market and take care of the stock.

"We will live in a large, commodious farm house, for which I am having plans prepared," Dr. Walker informed me today. "Every member will have her own room. Portieres will take the place of doors. Steam will be employed for heating purposes, and there will be bathrooms and every convenience to be found in a well regulated and modern house.

BOARD AND JUDGES.

"I shall give my personal supervision to the establishment. Members, however, will elect officers twice a year to conduct it. There will be an Auditing Board to look after all accounts, an Improvement Board to look after improvements to the property and a Governing Board.

"It shall be the duty of the chairman of the latter to report all infractions of rules by members. There will be two judges chosen. One will have powers similar to a police magistrate; the other will have a position analogous to our general term. Those accused of infractions of the rules will be tried by a jury of five, and, if not satisfied with the judgments of the lower courts, they can appeal to me. I will sit as a court of last resort.

"The rules of evidence, as governing our State judiciary, will apply. There will be no imprisonments; all punishments will consist of withdrawal of privileges for a certain length of time. If we should get into our fold undesirable women, who flirt or gad about with men when they go to market or on other occasions, they will, after suitable warning, be expelled. All females of good character between the ages of fifteen and thirty-five years are eligible for membership. I am certain that the farm can be made to support fifty or seventy-five persons.

WILL SHARE IN THE PROFITS.

"Each member will have a share in the profits after the expense for board and clothing has been deducted. The remainder will go into a general fund for betterments and the purchase of adjoining lands if it is deemed necessary, and the community grows as rapidly as I believe it will. I have not decided whether it would be wise to enact an initiation fee or not. If it is so decided it will be comparatively small.

"Any member will, after three years in the community, if eligible to retire, taking with her the amount of the initiation fee, if one has been charged, and seven-eighths of her share of the earnings, the other eighth to go into the general fund.

"My first object is to educate and to turn out new women, as the newspaper men term them. They will be women who have governed themselves. I expect lots of politics in the community, and the members will soon be able to hold their own. I warrant, with some of the so-called statesmen of the present day.

"Besides, it will not be all farm work. There will be many hours each day for study, and the curriculum will be as broad and extended as that in any of our universities. There will be frequent lectures in a large assembly room that I propose to have, and current literature, politics and questions of the day will be discussed. The members can ride bicycles, and a number will be kept for their use.

GIRLS WILL RIDE ASTRIDE.

"There will be horses, but no side saddles. My girls will ride astride, as do the men, and I predict that three years of life in our institution will make the members the peers of any man physically or mentally. I will not make rules that defy all the laws of nature and exact pledges binding for life. That of dress will be the only life pledge that will be asked.

"I expect that many of those who come to us will go forth from our tutelage to enter the homes of men to become wives and mothers. When such time comes they will know how to be both, and how to raise and educate families that reflect credit upon the nation of new women.

"The site selected for the colony is a delightful one, in the very heart of the finest fruit country in New York State. Several acres of the land have been used in raising the famous Oswego county strawberries. There is a fine apple orchard, several hundred pear trees, and four acres devoted to a vineyard. It is a beautiful place, and unless all my plans fail it will be a perfect garden of Eden, but without an Adam.

"What will it be called? On January 1 next I hope to be able to announce the name. It has not yet been selected."

The doctor is enjoying good health, and her plans are being carefully made. Many prominent women of this city interested in the advancement of women have been consulted and approve of the scheme.

MANY WANT HIS DAUGHTER.

But Hip Sing Lee Seems to be a Bogus Chinaman.

Special to the Times.

SAN JOSE, CAL., Oct. 1.—Letters and telegrams continue to pour into the telegraph and post office addressed to Hip Sing Lee, the mythical Chinese merchant in whose name an advertisement recently appeared in a San Francisco paper offering flattering inducements to any respectable white man who would marry his daughter, Moi Lee. There are at present nearly 500 letters in the post office addressed to the mysterious Hip Sing Lee, all presumably in answer to the advertisement referred to.

Fired on the Mob.

BUDA PEST, October 1.—The arrest of a woman by gendarmes caused a riot at Cyula, a town in Besik county today. A mob tried to rescue the woman and attacked the gendarmes with stones. Failing to disperse the rioters the gendarmes fired a volley into the crowd killing one person and wounding eleven.

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 2 1895.

AN AUSTRIAN BILL.

The Austrian government seems to look upon habitual drunkards in a very modern way. It has prepared a bill for their treatment which empowers the authorities to open retreats for inebriates, and distinguishes between the voluntary and the compulsory detention of drunkards in those establishment. Those who enter voluntarily will not be able to leave at will, but are to be treated exactly like the compulsory inmates. The latter class may be sent to the retreat of the respective district, either by the order of a magistrate, or on the petition of the parents or children, or of the husband or wife or trustee, or of the chief of a lunatic asylum in which the drunkard may be detained. Inebriates may further be assigned to retreats by the action of the public prosecutor, or by the mayor or burgomaster of the town or village in which the habitual drunkard resides, whether he belongs to that place, district, town, or province, or not. In all four classes of cases the detention of the inebriates must be preceded by an ordinary judicial action before a court of first instance, which is bound to hear witnesses, including the drunkard himself, as well as the doctors, more especially experts on mental diseases. The term of detention will be generally for two years, but the "patient," as the inebriate is constantly called in the bill, may be released on leave after one year, but will be confined again in case the trust reposed in him should prove to have been ill placed. After the two years' term he must be released, but if he should afterwards come under the provisions of the measure he may be sentenced again for fresh terms of two years, and eventually given over to a lunatic asylum or to a hospital, as the case may require.

A big fight is promised between Cecil Rhodes and Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. The latter, it is said, will not permit the Diamond King to monopolize the lands and minerals in North Bechuanaland, of which he obtained possession by means of a carefully worded charter. Rhodes is not the man to disgorge calmly or quietly. He is at present the biggest and richest colonial statesman standing head and shoulders above anyone else in both respects. He has never met with a reverse in public life. On the other hand, Joseph Chamberlain is one of the ablest men in the British Empire, and is perhaps the strongest Cabinet Minister of the day. It will be a duel worth watching this battle between the Dictator of Brummagem and the Colossus of Rhodes.

A Western writer who is not so near to the throne as are some others, but who may speak correctly for all that, declares that Queen Victoria has recently taken again to spinning, an accomplishment in which she at one time used to be an adapt, and that during her recent stay at Osborne she seems to have interested the Princess of Wales and the latter's daughters therein. Arrangements have just been made for the starting of a spinning class at Sandringham, choice South-Down wool and fine flax having been sent to the Princess's country home for the purpose. It is curious that the Queen has never shown any taste for sewing or embroidery, whereas she is very clever with her knitting-needles or with crochet work.

A JAPANESE HOME.

LIFE OF THE PEOPLE DESCRIBED BY A NATIVE YOUNG LADY.

How the Houses Are Constructed—Interesting Interiors—Walls, Floors and Furniture—How They Keep Warm—Kitchen and Cooking.

So much is said nowadays in the world's press about our people's warlike spirit and exploits, writes a Japanese young lady educated in Europe to a friend, that you, my sisters in the west, may perhaps like to have a true description of our homes and the peaceful pursuits of our life amid the family circle.

People say our dwellings are like the Swiss chalet in outward appearance. Possibly so, if the latter is built of wood, with three substantial walls and an overhanging roof covered with tiles. The south side is always open and has only sliding doors, consisting of thin wooden frames covered over with white paper, called "shoji," to shut out the wind and cold. Along this side of the house there is a highly polished wooden veranda, and as it is every mistress' aim to keep the wood as bright and spotless as possible it is wiped over with a cloth many times a day.

At night heavy wooden shutters are put up, which are fastened on the inside by means of a hook and ring. In front of the house we have a small sliding door of lattice work. When any one wishes to enter, he stands outside and calls out, "O tano moshi masu" (I beg for honorable admittance) and then waits until some one answers from the inside, "Donata sama?" meaning who may it honorably be. The visitor thereupon gives his name and is admitted through the little door.

In the interior there are rarely any walls, the rooms being partitioned off by means of sliding doors called "karakami." These differ from the "shoji," or white paper walls, which lead to the veranda, in generally being covered with thick painted paper, silk or other materials. Instead of a door handle, we have pretty little bronze indentations on either side of the "karakami." The floors of the rooms are covered with beautiful white mats, made of many layers of rice straw fastened together, on the top of which the fine white matting is placed. The whole is 2 or 3 inches thick and is generally bound round with black glazed cotton cloth. As these mats are always made 6 feet long by 3 feet wide, the size of a room is determined by the number of mats it contains. There is no furniture in a Japanese house. Chairs are unnecessary, for everybody sits on the floor in a kneeling position, with the feet crossed underneath him. Soft silk or crape cushions filled with cotton wadding are strewn around the rooms and are always offered to a guest, but not used in a general way. At mealtimes small tables are brought in for each member of the family, on which are placed the dishes containing each one's portion of the dinner, the soup bowl, rice cup and chopsticks.

As a rule, the foreigner will find none of the many things considered indispensable for a western home to make it attractive. The sole decorations are found on one side, where a dais is raised four to five inches from the ground and made of pretty polished wood, supported by pillars of pine or cherry tree. Upon this are placed quaint curios or vases of flowers and suspended on the wall over it a silk picture called a "kakemono." These pictures are changed according to the season or special occasion. In November, for instance, a "kakemono" with the picture of a chrysanthemum will be hung up, in March one representing a branch of cherry blossoms, others for any particular function, as funerals or weddings.

The raised dais, or "tokonoma," is the only place where we put our pretty ornaments, and then only one at a time, so that none of the beauty of the article may be lost by close connection with other things. Perhaps this is the reason why foreigners call out about our rooms being so bare and comfortless. So they are to any one accustomed to move about in an apartment filled with a variety of things. The same simplicity of decoration is observed in every Japanese house, whether the owner be as rich as Crœsus or as poor as the proverbial church mouse.

As our houses are built of such light materials, we find it very difficult to keep out the cold during the months of November, December, January and February. Besides this we have no means of heating our rooms, and even if we had the wind would still penetrate through the paper "shoji." The only way we do keep warm is by wearing many thickly wadded "kimono" dresses and holding our hands over the "hibachi" brazier, containing pieces of burning charcoal. We are not, however, quite so destitute of all comforts as the foreigner thinks.

The "kotatsu" combines warmth and comfort. For this purpose a square of matting is taken out, and a good sized brazier, filled with charcoal and protected by a kind of wooden cage, is let in the hole. Over this is thrown one of the wadded quilts. Each member sits on a small cushion, places his feet against the brazier and covers himself with the quilt.

When the whole family is thus gathered round the "kotatsu," many are the tales of the great deeds of warriors of bygone ages, of fearful ghosts and monsters and such like subjects, which are told for the amusement of old and young. Here all meet together and rest from labor. The father has returned from business, the mother from her household work, and the children have finished their daily tasks, and all are free to enjoy a quiet hour.

From the sitting and reception rooms we go into the kitchen. Its floors are made of polished boards and are so constructed that they can be taken up at [illegible] the whole house is raised some 20 to [illegible] inches from the ground, the space between the floor and the ground is used to store away charcoal and other things. In the middle of the kitchen a square charcoal brazier is let into the floor, and much of the cooking is done over its fire, but the most important utensil is the "kama," or large iron boiler, in which the rice is boiled. It is placed in a stand made of clay. Wood is generally burned in the clay stand, or "hetsui," as it is inexpensive and gives an even heat. The art of boiling rice is brought to great perfection in Japan, and in most houses a servant is kept who attends exclusively to the preparing of that article of food.

Tables and chairs are conspicuous by their absence in our kitchen. In place of the former we use small boards, raised on two legs, called "mana-ita," upon which we cut up our vegetables, "okoko" (pickles) and other things, and the latter are not necessary, as every one sits on the floor.—Baltimore Sun.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

THE WALLED HERD.

STRANGE STORY OF AN INACCESSIBLE BAND OF CATTLE

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Where Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipice Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 7[illegible] miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river. They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 30 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus of the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase for point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 80 feet. The ghastly reminder of relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and bathes that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they find warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this cow garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

If we were continuing in business would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapidity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

PROF. PASTEUR IS DEAD.

ALL FRANCE IN MOURNING FOR THE GREAT SCIENTIST.

Touching Scenes at His Death Bed—Where he Died—The Government Will Give Him a National Funeral—Sketch of a Wonderful Career.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Prof, Louis Pasteur, the distinguished chemist and discoverer of the Pasteur treatment for the cure of rabies, is dead. Paralysis was the cause.

The following information concerning the closing hours of Prof. Pasteur's life have been obtained by the correspondent of the United Press, who has just returned from Villeneuve. Prof. Pasteur's condition became seriously worse in the evening of Friday last. Albuminuera was observed, the heart became very weak and painful and violent spasms became frequent. About nine o'clock yesterday morning Prof. Pasteur's wife asked him whether he suffered much pain. The dying man faintly whispered "Yes." This was the last word he uttered. Afterwards he was most of the time unconscious. When it was seen that the end was near Prof. Pasteur's son, who was staying at Sansebartin was summoned, but did not arrive in time to see his father alive. Mme. Pasteur, a few near relatives, Dr. Roux and others engaged in the Pasteur Institute were present at the death bed. After death Mme. Pasteur closed her husband's eyes and placed a crucifix in his hands.

WHERE THE GREAT CHEMIST LIES.

At L'Etang Park, in a room on the first floor of a ramsackle building above stables where 100 stables are kept for use in connection with the preparation of diphtheria serum, lies the remains of the great chemist. The chamber has a low ceiling and the walls are covered with cheap green paper. A small carpet is spread on the floor. There are two wicker seated chairs and an arm chair. The body lies on a simple curtainless wooden bedstead. On a plain table stands a branched candle stick in which are lighted candles. Close by in a cupboard placed between two windows are the books M. Pasteur used to take to Villeneuve from Paris whenever he paid a visit there. The unpretensious character of the surroundings seems to throw into relief the reposeful features and strong benevolent face of the dead man. The hands are clasped on the crucifix which Mme. Pasteur placed in them when her husband died. On the white cover are betrayed many of the orders and other decorations which were conferred upon M. Pasteur during his lifetime. The members of the family watch mourning at the bedside. The body of M. Pasteur will probably be embalmed tonight.

A PUBLIC VIEW.

The public will be admitted to view the remains tomorrow. While the United Press correspondent was in the death chamber, M. Poinare, French Minister of Public Institutions, arrived. His mission was to request the family to allow the government to give the dead scientist national obsequies and to inter the body in Pantheon. M. Valery, the husband of M. Pastuer's daughter, on behalf of the family, deferred an acceptance of these offers, until M. Octave Gerrord, M. Pastuer's executors, reads the will of the dead man tonight. Nevertheless it is already settled that the body will be exposed in the library of the Pastuer institute.

It is understood that the family desire to have the interment in the garden of the Pastuer institute and will request the Government that this be permitted. It is said that the funeral will take place on Tuesday, but as yet the day has n t been fixed.

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE.

A stream of visitors today signed the register at Villeneuve. Among them were many men of science, academicians and societaires. The little telegraph office at Garches which is close to Villeneuve was kept busy the whole day receiving telegrams of condolence to Mme. Pasteur. President Faure, M. Honataux, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, the King of Belgians who is visiting Paris, M. Saussier, military governor of Paris, Dr. Lepine and the Paris students' association were among the first to send messages to the widow

WHERE HE WILL BE BURIED.

It has been decided to inter the body of M. Pasteur in the Garden of the Pasteur institute in Paris, in accordance with the wishes of the family. After a service in Notre Dame Cathedral the body will be placed temporarily in a vault at Montmarte.

Burglars at Gorrie

GORRIE, Ont., Sept. 30.—Yesterday morning about three o'clock burglars broke into Laman's gents' furnishings establishment, carrying away a large amount of stock. This is the third time this establishment has been burglarized within a year. They also made an attempt to enter Bean's dry goods store, but having attracted attention made their escape.

ENGLISHMEN BEHIND.

In the International Cricket Match at Haverford.

Special to the Times

CRICKET GROUNDS, Haverford, Pa. Sept. 30.—The concluding day's play in the third international cricket match between the Gentlemen of Philadelphia and the representatives of Cambridge and Oxford was begun at 11.15 today. When stumps were drawn on Saturday Americans led the Englishmen by 157 runs. The latter scored 198 in their first innings and 49 in their second for the loss of two wickets. The Americans put together the remarkable score of 404 runs in their first inning and it is hardly probable that the Englishmen can even make enough runs to require the Americans to go to bat for their second innings. The wicket today was in first condition. When play was resumed this morning Hill, 20, not out, and Druce, 5, not out, faced the bowling of King and Clark. Hill was bowled by King. Score 61-3-29. Phillips followed and was caught by Wood off Bailey, who relieved King. Score 99-4-13. Wilson was caught by Wood off Bailey, score 111-5-4.

SHOT HER RIVAL.

A Woman's Deed While Wearing a Man's Clothes and False Whiskers.

Special to the Times.

ALBANY, Oregon, Sept. 30,—Mrs. Lottie Hiatt was shot and fattally injured at her home near Scio, a small and remote town in Lynn county. Mrs. John Hanna, 45 years old, and mother of a family, donned masculine garb and false whiskers and entered the house of Mrs. Hiatt and shot her twice. The motive was jealousy. Mrs. Hiatt, she believed, had estranged the affections of her husband. Several men who hastened to the house found on the floor a hat, a false mustache and a pair of eyeglasses. Some one present recognized the hat as the property of young Hanna and this precipitated a search for the young man, who was not found until early morning. When charged with the deed and confronted with the hat, he denied the killing, but admitted that the hat was his property, declaring further that his mother had borrowed it the evening before and that she had not returned home until 1 o'clock in the morning. The searchers immediately sought out the boy's mother, and under menacing inquiries, she broke down and confessed.

Unable to Land Passengers,

CHICAGO, Sept. 30—The excursion steamer Puritan, with forty passengers has returned to the city, having been unable to land at St. Joseph on account of the heavy sea which was running. Three attempts to land were made but each time the boat was caught in the trough of the sea and whirled about as though it were an eggshell. The captain said he had never seen such rough weather on the lake before. The passengers were thoroughly frightened but no one was in any way injured.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D, the great reformer, writes October 24. 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

A SUGAR CAMBINE.

An Attempt Being Made to Corner the French Market.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Oct, 1.—The United Press, though interviews with leading members or London's sugar house, learns that three weeks ago a French syndicate was formed for the purpose of buying up beet sugar and cornering the market for that commodity. The operations covered a total purchase of 400,000 tons, and has resulted in the present rise of 6d per hundred weight. The syndicate has been buying in London to sell in France, in which country alone the trade is likely to be affected. The London firms agree in expressing the opinion that the operations of the syndicate will not seriously effect the British and American markets, but they are unanimous in the belief that as the French syndicate is strongly backed financially, the corner in France is likely to be successful.

revision to later time, when more leisure will insure care and accuracy in their arrangement. I hope to have them completed and in readiness by the new year. As the changes already made will entail new and additional work on the part of the pupils and teachers, fewer promotions than usual will follow at the next examination. The shortness of the present term will tend to lessen the number still further, and beside, the state of the classes indicate that more thoroughness is demanded in the nature of the examination questions, as well as more care and stringency in the marking of the answers. As all these causes will combine to reduce the number who will pass to a minimum. I will crave the patience of the parents and the Board of Education, until time and opportunity has given for putting the classes upon a more efficient basis.

The attendance for the month of September is given below, and, all things considered seems quite satisfactory. In comparing it with that of other months it should be borne in mind that many pupils did not return from their vacations until the end of the second week, and since that time the work has been broken by the Exhibition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ALEX. WHERRY,
Public School Inspector.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

Moved by Trustees Hamilton and Law, that the Property Committee be instructed to get prices and make arrangements for the supplying of the desks required for the rooms in the South Ward school, requiring them as soon as they are ready.

Moved by Peter Hamilton, seconded by R. R. Boucher, That this Board while they appreciate the benefits to the pupils in the Collegiate Institute of gymnastics and and athletics for which they have made ample provision in the complete gymnasium in connection with the Institute and while they enter heartily into the fullest use of the same and are also pleased to find the pupils emulate and compete with each other in contests of skill in the different games with each other, wish to impress upon the Collegiate Institute staff their disapproval of all contests or matches with other Collegiate Institutes or clubs in other places and ask them in no case to encourage or aid by their countenance or assistance the occurrence of such contests.

A motion was passed making Miss Bacon a second assistant teacher in the kindergarten.

TOWN TOPICS.

We agree with the Board of Education that the pupils of the Collegiate Institute should be discouraged from engaging in athletic contests. What needs the average young Canadian with a spirit of conquest. The desire to win, to excel, to become superior should be crushed out of them. We have no more Battles of Lundy Lane, of Batoche, to fight in the future, or no more rebellions to quell. This nation is not fostering any ambitions that will require a conquering spirit in the rising generation to consummate. We have no need of strong men eager to overcome or excel. Let the rising generation grow up listless, puny, feminine. Inculcate in them a spirit of submission. Do not encourage that spirit of love of victory or of conquest that begins on the football field in friendly contest. Teach them to take no pride in muscle or physical development. Let the new woman fight the battles and win the victories. Keep the boys at the books, abolish athletic sports altogether. Instead of the game of ball at recess furnish them with problems in knitting, crochet or fancy work. By no means countenance a riotous game of hockey that would expose them to the night air and rob them of a few hours sleep. Better that they remain in their rooms and play an innocent game of poker and drink mild bitters.

Last winter the boys of the Collegiate Institute spent one night out of town playing hockey. It was a return match, too, and they fought for victory in the name of the Institute they attend. It was probably late when they crept into their several beds that night, and perhaps the lessons next day were not as well recited, but who will say that they were any the worse for the outing, or less proficient at the end of the term for it. We are prepared to say that the boys at the Collegiate Institute last term who engaged in athletics, were not behind, in class standing, those who did not take part in them. We believe in athletics in our schools and colleges and friendly athletic contests.

On Saturday morning a gentleman purchased a leg of mutton on the market and was proceeding homewards with it, when he observed a little boy whom he thought was his grandson. Calling the lad to him he said: "Take this home to your mother, my lad." The boy took the Sunday roast and scampered off with it, no doubt thinking the gentleman to be a veritable Santa Claus. When the gentleman reached home he learned that his grandson had been home all the time and that he had given the leg of mutton to a strange boy. Neither the boy or the mutton have been heard of since.

Hon. Mr. Laurier's Health.

OTTAWA, Oct 1.—James Sutherland, M. P., Liberal whip, has received word from Hon. Wilfrid Laurier that he is greatly improved in health and will be quit able to undertake the Ontario tour beginning next week. The Liberal leader suffers from a bronchial trouble frequently, but Mr. Sutherland says he is fifty per cent. better than he was twenty years ago.

He is Now in Canada.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Post Office Department today issued a fraud order against H. C. Knowles & Co. of Calais, Maine. This firm was conducted by a man who sold beer in the prohibition State. He would order large quantities of beer upon a 30-day order, sell the beer without paying for it, and decamp. He is now in Canada out of reach of the United States Government authorities.

Hamilton Has a Water Famine.

Hamilton, Oct 1.—The city is now having trouble with its waterworks system. Yesterday morning a serious break was discovered in the main pipe under the pumping-house at the point where it divides into the two mains which carry the water from the Beach to the city. The supply is entirely shut off, and the engines may be prevented from pumping for three or four days.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. MORPHINE AND WHISKY.

The Case of Barrister John Clark, of Toronto.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—It was learned last night that John Clark, the Toronto barrister, who recently married Nellie Ganthony, the actress, was taken to Bellevue hospital last Thursday, from the combined effects of morphine and whisky. At the hospital it was said that Mr. Clark was also suffering from the effects of a severe mental strain. His trouble, it is reported, seems to be that his wife was forced to return to the stage, owing to his inability to support her. The following entry was made of the case on the books at the hospital: "John Clark, aged 33; born in Ireland; occupation barrister; diagnosis morphine poisoning and alcholism; nearest friend, wife, Alda Clark." On Saturday he was able to leave the hospital having recovered from his illness. It was said last evening, at No. 36 West 25th street, where Mr. and Mrs. Clark have been boarding, that the bride and groom were no longer there, having left for the country where Mr. Clark intended to recuperate.

HE SAWED THE BARS.

Attempt of Ten Year Convict Ruddell to Get Out of Penitentiary.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—A man named Huddell, of Ottawa, serving a ten years sentence in the penitentiary, attempted to escape last night. He cut the bars in his cell, got outside, but failing to get outside the dormitory, had to return to his cell discomfited.

Huddell, who was a burglar, did not belong to Ottawa. He came here in March last year with James Hutchiscon and James O'Brien. After burglarizing the stores of Mrs. J. Martin and Baskerville Bros., they were arrested in the Palace Hotel by Detectives Flanigan and Hatton and Constable Moore. They made a desperate resistance, one of them drawing a revolver which he was only prevented from using by a lightning move of the detectives. Huddell was sentenced to ten years imprisonment and the others to seven years by Magistrate O'Gara.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the new celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

HANGING DID NOT KILL.

This Murderer Was Alive When Placed in His Coffin.

Special to The Times.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 1—Charles Meyers has been hanged at Pomeroy for the murder of Frank Sherry over two years ago. Meyers was convicted of setting fire to the Asotin hotel at Asocitin City, in which Sherry was burned to death. It was stated by some who witnessed the execution that life was not entirely extinct when the body was cut down and that if an electric battery had been applied immediately the man could have been restored, for a faint pulsation was perceptible when the body was placed in the coffin.

HE IS A COLONIAL.

Certain Britishers Are Not Pleased With His Challenge.

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 1.—Letters have been received by E. Graham Webster, of Victoria, from members of the Royal Northern Yacht Club, in London, explaining the dissatisfaction expressed by the British at the challenge of Mr. Chas. Day Rose for the America's cup all lies in the fact that Mr. Rose is not a native-born Englishman.

Charles D. Rose is a native of Montreal, his father having been Minister of Finance in the first Government after the Confederation. The coming of a colonial to the rescue son atter the Earl of Dunraven's failure to bring home the coveted cup is galling to a certain contingent of English yachtsmen.

Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

Flavor in Bread

Says Dr. Goodfellow in an English Exchange: depends largely on the fermentation, the more malt used the sweeter the bread and the more easily digested. There can be no doubt that it pays a baker to give his careful attention to the production of bread, giving a pleasant and acceptable flavor. If you want this kind of bread ask for Bates and take no other. It is the only bread in Peterborough containing malt or malt extract, for sale at all reliable grocers.

Coal Has Advanced.

As predicted in THE TIMES last week, coal has gone up in price. On Monday the price of coal at the mines in the United States was advanced eighty-five cents a ton, and in consequence the figures quoted to the consumers have taken a jump. In Canada the retail dealers have nearly all raised their prices fifty cents a ton, and at a meeting of the local dealers held last night it was resolved to advance prices to $6 a ton. Many citizens are now regretting that they did not lay in their supply of bituminous earlier in the season.

SUPERVISION COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Supervision Committee beg leave to report in reference to the matters referred to them as follows: In regard to the letter of Mr. Sutton, your committee met Mr. Sutton and Principal Smith of the Central school, and we have pleasure in stating that the matter has been amicably settled. Your committee after carefully considering the question of establishing a second kindergarten in the South ward cannot recommend them to do so at the present time.

Your committee would recommend that hereafter the fee for all pupils attending the kindergarten be 50 cents a quarter, payable in advance from January 1, 1896.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. MCKEE,
Chairman.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—The Property Committee beg leave to report that agreeable to instructions received from your Board that during the holidays they had the different schools repaired where necessary.

The girls' lunch room in the Collegiate Institute was whitewashed and some other repairs necessary, also the blackboards replated. The other schools received very little repairs which was attended to, with the exception of the North Ward school. The floor in the boys' end of the basement had to be fixed. This was effected with a wood floor and has made a great improvement on that part of the school.

The addition to the South Ward school appears to be progressing rapidly and judging from the present appearances is going to add very much to the appearance of the school as well as give us the much desired school accommodation.

In connection with this matter we think it necessary to suggest to your Board that it will be advisable to instruct the Property Committee to ask for prices and authorize us to purchase desks for the scholars and teachers for three or more rooms as may be considered necessary and to have them in readiness for the opening of the school. We have to congratulate the Board that at present all the schools are in excellent condition and furnished with the latest modern system of ventilation except the West Ward extension, feel that we should expect from the teachers and pupils the very best results.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PETER HAMILTON,
Chairman.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—Having visited all the Divisions of the Public Schools during the month just ended, I beg leave to submit for your consideration the following report of their condition and progress.

Except the first hour of each day, which has been occupied with office work, my time has been employed in examining the classes, and buildings, in teaching lessons, and in making suggestions to the teachers in cases where I thought improvement might be made in the methods or the management.

Though the time has not been sufficient in which to gain a thorough insight into the character of teaching, still I have gathered sufficient knowledge to enable me to form a fairly accurate estimate of the condition of the schools, and the style of the work being done; and I am happy to report that the school, in many respects, rank among the best I have known, and that the teachers seem, on the whole, earnest and capable. In three of the rooms, however, I found the order and discipline not good, while in two others, the character of the teaching was inferior, the methods employed being antiquated, and ill-adapted to secure the progress of the pupils in their studies. In most of the case, I attribute the defects to want of knowledge rather than to intentional neglect, and hope to be able to report decided improvement at the end of the year. I have met with but one teacher whose heart did not seem to be in the work, and it is not impossible, that my judgment in this case is premature, and that later, the interest in the work will be found entirely satisfactory.

The pupils have attained special skill in drawing and in writing. Indeed most of the work in these subjects is really excellent, and will compare favorably with that of pupils in other schools, who are much farther advanced. With the exceptions of the Divisions mentioned, the order and discipline in the rooms are excellent, and the relations between the teachers and pupils, kindly and sympathetic. In many subjects, however, the teaching is not equally good, and in a few the pupils fall below the average in efficiency when compared with other schools similarly situated. Oral reading seems, not to have received sufficient attention; at least the pupils lack both in the ability to gather the thoughts in an ordinary passage, and in the power to express themselves naturally and intelligently. In the fundamental rules of arithmetic, even a greater deficiency prevails; and it is a startling fact that the great majority of the pupils, even in the higher forms, cannot add, multiply or divide accurately. The defect is, no doubt, owing to the undue importance which has been attached to the solutions of problems in the primary classes. I have drawn the attention of the teachers to the matter, and hope for steady improvement.

So far as I am able to judge from my observations—necessarily somewhat hurried and incomplete—a tendency toward want of, thoroughness prevails in the teaching; and the pupils, though naturally quick and intelligent, have not been trained to observe, think and judge for themselves. This training can be had only when the pupils are required to see and examine for themselves, and to form their own conclusions from the facts thus gathered. A practical illustration of the truth of this is to be found in the fact that the pupils who previously attended the kindergarten are far superior in these respects, to pupils who have not had that advantage. Hitherto a lack of apparatus has prevented the teachers from adopting proper methods, and I am convinced the defect is due mainly to this cause. The tables lately furnished for the primary rooms will do much toward removing the difficulty. Some additional supplies are still needed to place these rooms on an efficient footing. For similar reasons, it is very desirable that the pupils in the more advanced classes, be trained to obtain information from the customary source—books.

Indeed such training is one of the chief ends of education. But, as libraries or works of reference are necessary to the carrying out of such plan, little can be done until these are provided. A good encyclopedia, all things considered, is best adapted to meet the wants of a school. I would respectfully suggest that one be supplied to each of the four schools, for use of teachers and pupils. Good works of the kind may now be purchased for twenty-five dollars or less, and I am sure that in no way could one hundred dollars be better expended in the interests of the children.

Now that the building in the South Ward is nearing completion, some changes in the arrangements of the boundaries of the districts will be necessary to meet the case. I have in preparation a list of the pupils of school age living in the town together with their addresses, and hope to submit a plan of arrangement for your consideration at the next meeting. I would beg to suggest, in this connection, that the new school when completed, be put on a footing equal in all respects to that of the "Central," that is with the full quota of grades from the Kindergarten to the Entrance class, and that the name be changed to "The South Central School." A further extention of the same arrangement might be made by constituting the West Ward school a feeder to the South Central, while the North Ward school performed a like office toward the "Central." I am convinced that such a distribution of the classes and teachers would, by arousing a spirit of friendly emulation, lead to more energetic work and better results. One undoubted advantage which the plan would possess would be the ease with which the boundaries could be adjusted, and the children placed in their proper classes. Should the suggestion meet with your approval, some readjustment of the teachers will be necessary, and under your direction, I will make such changes as seem advisable in the interests of all the schools.

The number of truants during the month has not been large, the practice being confined to some half dozen boys; but these are so persistant in their attempts that they have become an actual nuisance, and a menace to the welfare of the schools. They have been taken before the Magistrate and reprimanded, brought back to school and punished by the teacher, all to no purpose. Since there seems no practicable provision in the law to meet such cases, I would suggest that two or three of the worst be expelled and the schools thus relieved from the contamination of their example.

In a few instances teachers were absent from duty owing to illness. In these cases I have provided substitutes as promptly as possible, but as I purpose to report in detail at the end of the year upon the length of absence and its cause in each division, I need not here refer further to the matter.

Owing to some defects in the courses of study for the various grades, it was found necessary to raise them. The head masters and myself accordingly took the matter in hand, making such temporary alterations and additions as were most urgently demanded and leaving their final

DETECTIVE MURRAY SQUIRMS.

Editor Morning Times.

SIR,—The press everywhere in this country has been scorching Detective Murray for the stupid and wicked blunder which he made in having Mr. Thomas Gray and his wife most wrongfully indicted for murder, and no doubt every decent citizen in the country looks upon it not only as a blunder, but as a foul crime, to drag these poor people and their six small children from their home in Florida, to incarcerate them in a felon's cell, and to put them on trial for their lives, when, as it turns out, there was not a tittle of evidence against them. Detective Murray who has lived under the shadow of the gallows for twenty years, is not manly enough to admit that the accused are altogether innocent. On the contrary he sets up a cowardly, quibbling defence about the failure of the Crown, because of some mishap in the selection of the jury; whereas he should have said that there was no evidence against Thomas Gray and his wife, except that which existed in the wicked, fertile imagination of a third rate detective, and in the ignorant accusations of some unfriendly neighbours.

The accused were fortunate in having their case so forcibly and eloquently set forth by Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for defence, and everybody is pleased to admit that Mr. R. C. Clute, Crown prosecutor, discharged his duty with ability, urbanity and fairness. And when the learned judge pronounced the words "not guilty" the deafening applause of the multitude shewed that justice had been done in declaring these poor people innocent.

In looking at this case from first to last one cannot help thinking that in this country the intelligence of the "bar" and the impartiality of our judges are the only safeguards we have for our lives and for our liberty. For if a man appears in our inferior courts, he is liable to be clapped into jail on sight and were it not for the safeguards already alluded to, he might have to go farther and fare worse.

BRITISH FAIR PLAY.

INS AND OUTS.

You can still play marbles, boys.

⁂

It was regular drill night last night. The volunteers were not out after the tramps.

⁂

Are the pupils of the Collegiate Institute swaddlings that they must not engage in athletic contests that might keep them out after sunset?

⁂

Correction. In our report of the School Board last night, we omitted that a Trustee gave notice of motion, that pupils of the Collegiate Institute must have their feet warmed before retiring, during the winter.

⁂

Probably it is because the members of the School Board do not forget their own youth, but have vivid remembrance of it, that they passed the resolution last night regarding Collegiate Institute Athletic contests.

⁂

No doubt the directory boards of Yale and Harvard will pass similar resolutions to the one passed by the School Board last night, as soon as it is brought to their notice.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

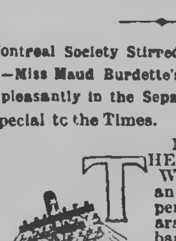
MONTREAL'S BIG SCANDAL

MRS. ARTHUR WHITNEY SEEKS A SEPARATION.

Montreal Society Stirred up Over the Affair—Miss Maud Burdette's Name Figures Unpleasantly in the Separation Proceedings.

Special to the Times.



MONTREAL, Oct 2.

THE wife of Arthur S. Whitney has entered an action in the Superior Court for separation from her husband. Miss Maude Burdette, the well known contralto, is named as the woman in the case. The marital infelicities of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney have been whispered of before, but the announcement of a lawsuit over the matter was a surprise to society.

OF DIFFERENT FAITHS

Arthur Stevens Whitney was married in October, 1892, to Miss Susan M. O'Brien, daughter of James O'Brien, the millionaire clothing contractor. The marriage evoked some comment owing to the fact that Mr. Whitney was a Protestant, while the bride was an adherent of the Roman Catholic faith. Mr. Whitney was formerly in the leather business but is now retired, although still a familiar figure in business circles. Aggressively English in type, Whitney had few friends but many acquaintances. Since their marriage the Whitneys have lived at 317 Prince Arthur Avenue, where Miss Burdette, so Mrs. Whitney alleges, was a frequent visitor by the request of her husband.

DRINK AND ADULTERY.

The plaintiff in her complaint alleges that her husband is addicted inordinately to intoxicating liquors, and under their influence grossly abuses and ill treats her. Further, she says, that he has been guilty of adultery in the plaintiff's own house, with Miss Burdette. These relations have existed for a year past much to her humiliation and latterly, so Mrs. Whitney asserts, her husband has been bringing Miss Burdette to the house almost daily. Mrs. Whitney has gone to live with her father at 846 Sherbrooke street. In her petition for separation she claims $12,000 a year alimony.

THE BEAUTIFUL MISS BURDETTE.

The fine figure and contralto voice of Miss Burdette are well known in Toronto where she spent some years. She is the daughter of Dr. Burdette, of Belleville, and has for some time been employed as soloist in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal. Miss Burdette has denied all knowledge of any wrong doing. To a reporter she said: "If you knew all the particulars of the case, you would see what a terrible injustice to me and to Mr. Whitney is being done by this story. I deny absolutely that there is a word of truth in it. I am alone here in Montreal trying to make my own living, and if the slightest scandal should once attach to my name I shall be ruined here. I can hardly believe that Mrs. Whitney has been rash enough to publicly make rush outrageous statements about her husband and me, but if she has I will make not only her, but every one connected with the spreading of the several pay very dearly for it."

BELIEVES HER INNOCENT.

Rev. Dr. Norton, rector of Christ Church has stated his complete belief in Miss Burdette's innocence. "She is," he said, "most thoroughly a sweet, pure woman. Her manner is frank and offhand and she does not pay attention to some little details of propriety. But I have perfect confidence in her."

GOULD IS OPTIMISTIC.

The Young Railway Magnate Sees Good Times Ahead for the Northwest.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—George Gould, the young multi-millionaire and railway magnate, has just returned from a ten days' trip in the Canadian Northwest. "The things I saw that impressed me most," said Mr. Gould, "were the vast crops of Spring wheat in the Northwest. Throughout North and South Dakota and Manitoba I saw thousands of acres of wheat that will easily yield from 35 to 50 bushels an acre. The growing crops presented a beautiful sight. The removal of these crops ought to test the full carrying capacity of the railroads for two years to come," Mr. Gould said that he met many pleasant people and had a very nice time. He added that he never felt better in his life, and he looked it. It was his opinion that an era of unexampled prosperity was dawning for the Northwest.

CHINA'S DECREE.

Degrading the Viceroy Decided Upon Before the Ultimatum was Received.

Special to the Times

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Sir Halliday McArtney, counsellor of the Chinese legation here, referring to the acceptance by China of the ultimatum of Great Britain, has made a statement to the effect that the punishment of the Viceroy of Szechuen for failing to protect the missionaries in his district was decided upon before the ultimatum was presented and that the Chinese minister in London received notice of the issuing of the decree at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

It is understood in official circles here that the degradation of the Viceroy of Szechuen by no means settles the matters in dispute between Great Britain and China.

A Slander Case at Chatham.

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—A crowd filled the court room to hear the preliminary examination of Thomas Hurns, a horseman, charged with circulating stories about Dr. J. P. Livewright, of Chatham, and Mrs. Bloomer, a former resident of Chatham. The stories told refer to a time when Dr. Livewright and Mrs. Bloomer were in Chicago. Hurns was sent for trial. He will attempt to prove what he said.

His Wife Proved an Alibi.

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—Harry Swanson's wife saved him from a long term of imprisonment yesterday. He was having a hearing on the charge of criminally assaulting Matilda Coleman at the St. Louis hotel on Tecumseh road. The witnesses had given strong evidence against him, but his wife proved a complete alibi and he was discharged.

Would Be a Freak or a Corpse.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 2.—Charles Chase, a one legged man, hailing from Batavia, arrived here yesterday and announced that he would jump from the upper Suspension bridge on Thursday afternoon into the river. Chase is ambitious to become a museum attraction.

HIS ROYAL NIBS ANGRY.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND HIS BROTHER HAVE A QUARREL.

A Royal Falling Out Over a Discussion on Naval Affairs—The Queen and Ex-Empress Frederick Pouring on the Oil.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—According to the general understanding in court circles here, Emperor William of Germany and his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, are on very bad terms, and Queen Victoria and ex-Empress Frederick have been doing their utmost to bring about a reconciliation between them. The Emperor and Prince Henry, it appears, recently had a warm discussion on naval affairs in general and upon the management of the Baltic and North Sea canal in particular. The Prince, it is said, differed in opinion with the Emperor and intimated that the recent mishaps in the canal were due to his Majesty's injudicious orders. This is said to have led to quite an exciting exchange of remarks.

Prince Henry has been practically banished, and he has been given a year's leave of absence. He and his wife are now at Balmoral and will probably remain there a month. They were going to Copenhagen in order to attend the royal wedding, but it is now probable that the Emperor will send some one else. They are to visit the Prince and Princess of Wales next month and will remain in England until the end of November. They will then go to Italy and Greece.

Not only the German but the foreign diplomats complain that the Emperor is surrounded by courtiers led by Count Philip von Eulenberg and his four brothers who flatter him into thinking himself omnipotent. The German people trust him less daily, fearing that in case of war he intends to follow his own designs, regardless of advice.

AS COOL AS A CUCUMBER.

SHORTIS' VERY INDIFFERENT BEARING IN THE DOCK.

Beginning of the Trial for the Valleyfield Murder of March Last—Plea of Insanity.

Special to The Times.

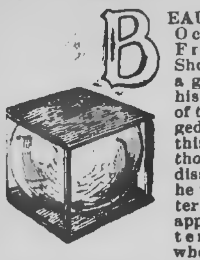

BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 2.—Cuthbert Francis Valentine Shortis has undergone a great change since his arrival at the time of the Valleyfield tragedy. Then he was thin, and looked as though suffering from dissipation. Now he he is stouter and better looking, and he appeared quite contended yesterday when he was escorted from the station to the jail by a special guard of eight constables.

He was carefully searched in the jail, and took off his necktie, remarking that it might be considered dangerous, He gave a pair of gloves to Guard Groleau, passed around some cigarettes, and remarked that the weather was cold and he was hungry, as he had no breakfast on account of taking the train from Montreal at seven o'clock. After the grand jury returned true bills against Shortis for murder and attempted murder, recess was taken.

At two o'clock the prisoner was brought into the court room. He walked firmly, with head erect, and in answer to the usual question responded, "I am not guilty, sir." His lawyers put in a plea that he was insane, and incapable of appreciating the nature of his acts at the time when he committed the crime of March 2nd last. The Crown witnesses are John Lowe, Hugh A. Wilson, Arthur Lebocuf, Dr. Sutherland, Elias Poirier, Napoleon Delisle, Dr. Lussier and Dr. Oulmet.

For half an hour Shortis stood in the dock perfectly impassive, making a strange picture with his pale face framed in the heavy growth of fair hair. The room was crowded with hundreds of men, who could have pulled him from the dock and torn him in pieces, but he smiled his contempt upon them.

He spoke pleasantly to Crown Attorney McMaster, and said nothing, and made no sign of interest until he was taken away.

STILL ANOTHER OUTRAGE,

This Time the Attack is Upon Native Christians.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Advices from Tokio, dated Sept. 17, received by the Steamer City of Peking today state that another anti-Christian outrage is reported in China. On the 23rd of August as service was proceeding in one of the chapels of the American Board of Missions in Canton, a number of roughs entered the building, vilified the native Christians, declared that the black flags had beaten the Japanese and said that a reward of $2 would be given to a Chinaman who killed a foreigner. Owing to the tumult the minister had to discontinue service, after which the mob proceeded to destroy the furniture.

ATTACK AT HOO CHONG,

News also comes from Foo Chow that at Hoo Chong near Hing Hua an attack has been made on the native christians. Sever of the latter were wounded, one fatally. Light houses were looted, and destroyed, and the cattle of the Christians were stolen. The riot is said to have resulted from a proclamation with a double meaning issued by the magistrate on the subject of the Kucheng massacre. The report adds that five appeals made to the magistrate for protection were unsuccessful.

LI HUNG'S NEW JOB.

Li Hung Chang has been appointed manager of the Imperial Chancery of Prime Minister of China. He will henceforth reside in Pekin. Opinions differ as to the significance of this step, but there seems to be little doubt that it means the great viceroy political extinction.

Fire at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 2.—Shortly after one o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in the hayloft of McRae's livery stable, on Princess street. The whole of the roof was destroyed, but the building was saved. The loss is estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000. Most of Mr. McRae's cutters were destroyed, but the buggies were saved. The cutters were upstairs.

WAVES BEAT ROUND THEM

A CREW LANDED ON A ROCK DURING THE STORM.

Perched on the Edge of a Rock the Crew of the Elma Escaped the Fury of the Raging Waters of Lake Superior.

Special to The Times.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 2.—The crew of the schooner Elma, excepting one man, who was washed away by the sea before the vessel was abandoned, were found alive by lighthouse keepers on a ledge of the Pictured Rocks, 75 feet above the water. The steamer Brickhead held the Elma, Jones and Commodore in tow until the north-west gale on Saturday came on. The tow broke up and the boats became widely separated, the Commodore going uninjured to the Soo, the Jones coming to anchor off Whitefish Point and the Elma being abandoned off Pictured Rocks. After the crew of the Elma had taken to the yawl boat they seemed to face certain destruction, being dashed against the rocks, but they succeeded in making a fortunate landing on a ledge and thence crawled far out of reach of the seas. They passed through great suffering from hunger and cold and were half dead when rescued.

JUMPED HER MASTS OUT.

Capt. Thurston tells his graphic story of their struggle for life in the icy waters of Lake Superior. "When near Pictured Rocks the tow line parted and our steering geer broke. We were wholly at the mercy of the sea, which was growing every minute. The Elma rolled so hard in the trough of the sea that she jumped the masts out and the rigging was carried away. The schooner waterlogged, and every sea swept her decks. The crew worked hard at the pumps until the schooner struck a rock about 100 feet from the shore at Miner's Castle, This was Sunday afternoon. The Elma stuck fast on top of the rock, so George M. Johnson, a sailor from Chicago got into the yawl with the lines and attempted to make a landing on the rocky cliff, which rose straight up from the water's edge, The yawl was broken quickly to pieces. Johnson lost the lines, and nearly killed by the schooner's rudder He finally managed to climb up on the rocks out of the sea.

THE MATE DASHED TO DEATH.

"Mate Clemens tied a line around his body and, jumping overboard, attempted to swim ashore. He was dashed against the rocks and instantly killed. The line about his body parted when the crew tried to pull him on board and his body was not seen again. After many trials a line was finally passed to Johnson on the rocks, but not until it was too dark to do anything toward taking us off the wreck. Johnson kept hold of the line, however, and all night paced a narrow ledge of rock until daylight. We then escaped to the rocks by fastening one end of the line around our bodies and being pulled up by those on the rocks. My three year old son, however, was kept dry by drawing the line from the rocks to the boat taut and rigging a traveller on it. A few blankets and two loaves of bread were also brought ashore; we managed to climb to a partly sheltered ledge in the rocks, 200 feet above the water.

DISCOVERED AND RESCUED.

"There we built a fire and remained until Tuesday morning, when the storm abated, and we climbed down from the place of refuge and built a raft to get provisions from the wreck. We were then discovered by the lighthouse keeper and taken to the Birckhead, which left for this port at 4 o'clock a.m. The Elma is a total loss, being all broken to pieces by pounding on the rocks. She was valued at $9,000 and carried very little insurance.

DEPUTY MINISTER BERTH

HAS W. R. SCARTH, OF WINNIPEG, GOT IT.

Rumor that He has Been Appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture and will go to Ottawa.

Special to The Times

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2.—Intelligence has been received here that W. B. Scarth has been appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture in place of John Lowe and will go to Ottawa to reside. Scarth was to get the Dominion Commissionership of Lands here, but Mr. Smith declined to give up the position and go to Ottawa unless he was given the same salary, which was refused.

NO DIVORCE FROM ANY CAUSE.

South Carolina Decides that the State Shall Never See Divorce.

Special to the Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 2.—After a debate continuing all through last night's session and through nearly all of today's, the Constitutional Convention has decided there shall never be a divorce granted in South Carolina for any cause. The vote was 82 to 49. Senator Tillman did his best to have the divorces of other States recognized in this State, but for once his appeals were heard with a deaf ear and he was voted down. The Bible was quoted from very freely during the debate. The Parliamentary clincher was put on after the matter was adopted. At 2 o'clock the long looked for and all important article on the suffrage made its appearance.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the new celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

ATHLETIC SPORTS IN OUR SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the Times.

DEAR SIR.—To say I was surprised to read in your paper that the Board of Education had by resolution asked the co-operation of the teachers of the Collegeate Institute to discourage Inter-collegeate athletic matches, is expressing my feelings very lightly. It is without exception the most absurd and most unpopular move the board has made for years. They must have passed it without giving the matter a second thought. The parents are not in favor of it. They believe in teaching their boys to love victory. Who does not? Mr. Hamilton, the mover of the motion, likes to have people know that he has the best farm implements, and he should be the last to endeavor to discourage the rising generation from having the feeling that they are the best, no matter what it is in. If a plebiscite were taken on the motion I venture to say that only about one tenth of the ratepayers will favor it. I am sure before the next meeting of the Board this motion will be given a second thought—and the motion rescinded by an unanimous vote. Thanking you Mr. Editor, for your valuable space. I remain. Yours Respectfully.

A NEW JUVENILE MAGAZINE. A NEW monthly illustrated magazine for young people has just been started by Frank Leslie's Publishing House. It is called FRANK LESLIES' PLEASANT HOURS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS, and is in every way equal to the best publications of its kind, although the price is but 10 cents. The first number (October) contains the opening chapters of a serial story for boys by Edward S. Ellis, and one for girls by Jeannette H. Walworth. There are short stories by Oliver Optic and Rebecca Harding Davis; a football story by Henry E. Haydock; bicycle stories by Max I. Harvey and A. L. Millet; an article giving some "Hints on Trapping," by F. L. Oswald; a paper telling how to turn a heap of rubbish into pretty ornaments, by Adele Beard; several illustrated poems and practical descriptions of novel tricks, games and puzzles. The editor of the new magazine is Frank Lee Farnell, who has been connected with Frank Leslie's Publishing House for a number of years, and who thoroughly understands what will please and interest the young people.

A JAPANESE HOME.

LIFE OF THE PEOPLE DESCRIBED BY A NATIVE YOUNG LADY.

How the Houses Are Constructed—Interesting Interiors—Walls, Floors and Furniture—How They Keep Warm—Kitchen and Cooking.

So much is said nowadays in the world's press about our people's warlike spirit and exploits, writes a Japanese young lady educated in Europe to a friend, that you, my sisters in the west, may perhaps like to have a true description of our homes and the peaceful pursuits of our life amid the family circle.

People say our dwellings are like the Swiss chalet in outward appearance. Possibly so, if the latter is built of wood, with three substantial walls and an overhanging roof covered with tiles. The south side is always open and has only sliding doors, consisting of thin wooden frames covered over with white paper, called "shoji," to shut out the wind and cold. Along this side of the house there is a highly polished wooden veranda, and as it is every mistress' aim to keep the wood as bright and spotless as possible it is wiped over with a cloth many times a day.

At night heavy wooden shutters are put up, which are fastened on the inside by means of a hook and ring. In front of the house we have a small sliding door of lattice work. When any one wishes to enter, he stands outside and calls out, "O tano moshi masu" (I beg for honorable admittance) and then waits until some one answers from the inside, "Donata sama?" meaning who may it honorably be. The visitor thereupon gives his name and is admitted through the little door.

In the interior there are rarely any walls, the rooms being partitioned off by means of sliding doors called "karakami." These differ from the "shoji," or white paper walls, which lead to the veranda, in generally being covered with thick painted paper, silk or other materials. Instead of a door handle, we have pretty little bronze indentations on either side of the "karakami." The floors of the rooms are covered with beautiful white mats, made of many layers of rice straw fastened together, on the top of which the fine white matting is placed. The whole is 2 or 3 inches thick and is generally bound round with black glazed cotton cloth. As these mats are always made 6 feet long by 3 feet wide, the size of a room is determined by the number of mats it contains. There is no furniture in a Japanese house. Chairs are unnecessary, for everybody sits on the floor in a kneeling position, with the feet crossed underneath him. Soft silk or crape cushions filled with cotton wadding are strewn around the rooms and are always offered to a guest, but not used in a general way. At mealtimes small tables are brought in for each member of the family, on which are placed the dishes containing each one's portion of the dinner, the soup bowl, rice cup and chopsticks.

As a rule, the foreigner will find none of the many things considered indispensable for a western home to make it attractive. The sole decorations are found on one side, where a dais is raised four to five inches from the ground and made of pretty polished wood, supported by pillars of pine or cherry tree. Upon this are placed quaint curios or vases of flowers and suspended on the wall over it a silk picture called a "kakemono." These pictures are changed according to the season or special occasion. In November, for instance, a "kakemono" with the picture of a chrysanthemum will be hung up, in March one representing a branch of cherry blossoms, others for any particular function, as funerals or weddings.

The raised dais, or "tokonoma," is the only place where we put our pretty ornaments, and then only one at a time, so that none of the beauty of the article may be lost by close connection with other things. Perhaps this is the reason why foreigners call out about our rooms being so bare and comfortless. So they are to any one accustomed to move about in an apartment filled with a variety of things. The same simplicity of decoration is observed in every Japanese house, whether the owner be as rich as Crœsus or as poor as the proverbial church mouse.

As our houses are built of such light materials, we find it very difficult to keep out the cold during the months of November, December, January and February. Besides this we have no means of heating our rooms, and even if we had the wind would still penetrate through the paper "shoji." The only way we do keep warm is by wearing many thickly wadded "kimono" dresses and holding our hands over the "hibachi" brazier, containing pieces of burning charcoal. We are not, however, quite so destitute of all comforts as the foreigner thinks.

The "kotatsu" combines warmth and comfort. For this purpose a square of matting is taken out, and a good sized brazier, filled with charcoal and protected by a kind of wooden cage, is let in the hole. Over this is thrown one of the wadded quilts. Each member sits on a small cushion, places his feet against the brazier and covers himself with the quilt.

When the whole family is thus gathered round the "kotatsu," many are the tales of the great deeds of warriors of bygone ages, of fearful ghosts and monsters and such like subjects, which are told for the amusement of old and young. Here all meet together and rest from labor. The father has returned from business, the mother from her household work, and the children have finished their daily tasks, and all are free to enjoy a quiet hour.

From the sitting and reception rooms we go into the kitchen. Its floors are made of polished boards and are so constructed that they can be taken up at will. As the whole house is raised some 20 to 30 inches from the ground, the space between the floor and the ground is used to store away charcoal and other things. In the middle of the kitchen a square charcoal brazier is let into the floor, and much of the cooking is done over its fire, but the most important utensil is the "kama," or large iron boiler, in which the rice is boiled. It is placed in a stand made of clay. Wood is generally burned in the clay stand, or "hetsui," as it is inexpensive and gives an even heat. The art of boiling rice is brought to great perfection in Japan, and in most houses a servant is kept who attends exclusively to the preparing of that article of food.

Tables and chairs are conspicuous by their absence in our kitchen. In place of the former we use small boards, raised on two legs, called "mana-ita," upon which we cut up our vegetables, "okoko" (pickles) and other things, and the latter are not necessary, as every one sits on the floor.—Baltimore Sun.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

THE WALLED HERD.

STRANGE STORY OF AN INACCESSIBLE BAND OF CATTLE.

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Where Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipice Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 71 miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river. They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 80 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus for the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase to a point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 30 feet. The ghastly reminder and relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and reaches that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they lie for warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this new garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

A SUGAR CAM BINE.

An Attempt Being Made to Corner the French Market.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The United Press, though interviews with leading members or London's sugar house, learns that three weeks ago a French syndicate was formed for the purpose of buying up beet sugar and cornering the market for that commodity. The operations covered a total purchase of 400,000 tons, and has resulted in the present rise of 6d per hundred weight. The syndicate has been buying in London to sell in France, in which country alone the trade is likely to be affected. The London firms agree in expressing the opinion that the operations of the syndicate will not seriously effect the British and American markets, but they are unanimous in the belief that as the French syndicate is strongly backed financially, the corner in France is likely to be successful.

He is Now in Canada.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Post Office Department today issued a fraud order against H. C. Knowles & Co. of Calais, Maine. This firm was conducted by a man who sold beer in the prohibition State. He would order large quantities of beer upon a 30-day order, sell the beer without paying for it, and decamp. He is now in Canada out of reach of the United States Government authorities.

WHAT DURANT SAYS.

He's Not Afraid to go on the Stand—He Places His trust in the Lord.

San Francisco, Oct. 1st.—Durant was asked in prison, whether going upon the stand would not be a severe ordeal. "I don't dread it in the least," was the answer. "I have my one simple story—the truth, to tell. That is all I can do. I have seen what a cross-examination is and I don't know whether I will stand or fall under it. I am trusting to a higher power than mine."

He had received, he said, much spiritual consolation during his imprisonment. It was that, he believed, which had upheld him throughout the trial, and all that had preceded it. "I asked the Lord to help me to avoid any show of weakness and he has given the moral strength I needed. He has preserved my physical health. There is no denying that I have been severely tried," he went on, "but by a strength greater than mortal I have been supported and led. I feel no anxiety. I don't worry about the future. I am simply enduring what comes from day to day and trusting that only what I deserve shall be meted to me."

HE TALKS LIKE BIRCHALL.

In an interview with an evening paper Durant has expressed his disgust at the witnesses who have testified for the prosecution against himself for the murder of Blanche Lamont. He said it was strange to him that some of them had not been struck dead. He expressed confidence in his ultimate acquittal.

In the opinion of many lawyers the defence has opened a door for the admission of Williams' evidence in this case, but the district attorney says he is satisfied he has put in a very strong case, and does not like to take the chance of introducing the testimony that might be declared irrelevent by the Supreme Court.

THE ALIBI HAS FAILED.

The alibi the defence expected to prove has failed, and they are now trying to pick flaws in the prosecution. Durant's hopes now rest on the ability of his lawyers to so manipulate proceedings as to create a doubt in the mind of a juror, so as to secure a disagreement.

The last has not been heard of the roll-call which was introduced in evidence by the attorney of Theodore Durant on Thursday. The roll-call was introduced to show that the accused attended Dr. Cheney's lecture on the fatal afternoon of April 3. The development of the fact in the course of Dr. Gray's testimony that the record from that date was not in reality original, has given the prosecution an opportunity to follow up the matter, and possibly show that a deliberate attempt has been made on the part of somebody to shield Durant.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Fatal Accident at a Fire in Joliette—House and Contents Near Dundas Burned.

Hamilton, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—A fire in Mr. H. Hooper's seat factory, 174 Hunter street west did $500 damage yesterday morning. Owing to the existence of a tunnel excavation the firemen were much hampered in their work.

Joliette, Que., Oct. 2.—A fire which broke out in the tannery belonging to Mr. Henrichon at an early hour on Sunday morning totally destroyed the large establishment, together with the Henrichon residence adjoining, both valuable pieces of property. The loss will be between $15,000 and $17,000. There is some insurance. An electric wire was broken by the firemen, and the wires were hanging down into the street. Mr. August Lanctot unthinkingly grasped the wires to place them out of the way, and was instantly killed. The deceased leaves a large family in destitute circumstances.

Dundas, Ont., Oct. 2.—On Sunday afternoon fire broke out in Mr. Frank Cornel's house on the second concession, West Flamboro, and in less than half an hour had destroyed the house and contents, only a very little saved. There was a small insurance, and the loss is not known. The fire is said to have started from the chimney.

Red Cloud, Neb., Oct. 2.—The Red Cloud Roller Mill elevator and warehouse, one of the largest plants in the State, were totally destroyed by fire last night. Loss $40,000, with insurance on building and machinery.

A BODY IN THE BOX.

Another Case of the Maxwell-Prelles Type—Sydney's Mystery.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—The steamer Alameda brings the news of a shocking murder committed at Sydney, the victim being a young woman whose identity has not been disclosed. On the night mentioned a buggy occupied by three men stopped at Cowper Wharf, unloaded a dry goods box, and were then quickly driven away. Henry Jackson, a watchman, saw the buggy arrive and leave, and becoming suspicious, hurried across the wharf and examined the box. A peculiar odor arose from it and Jackson summoned the police. The lid was pried off and the body of a young woman revealed. It had been crushed into the box and was terribly bruised. The box had been flooded with carbolic acid, and that chemical had also been freely sprinkled over the face and body. The body was taken to the morgue, where a further examination showed that it had been mutilated by some person evidently possessed of a knowledge of anatomy. The young woman was only 24 years old, and is believed to have been a laundress.

CHICAGO HELPS CUBA.

Arms and Ammunition Being Collected in the Windy City.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Arms and ammunition for the Cuban patriots are being collected in Chicago. State Senator E. T. Noonan, who is authority for this statement, says the Cubans, through their fellow countrymen and sympathizers here, have already received the promise of more than 100 Winchester rifles of 44 calibre to be delivered at any time, and that they are only waiting for an opportunity to ship them before they ask for the delivery. It is claimed this is only a beginning, and that the patriots expect to procure in Chicago a large amount of both rifles and ammunition. The effort is being made to secure as many rifles as possible and distribute them to all of the Cuban sympathizers.

WILL DE SCRAP COME OFF

GOVERNOR CULBERSON OF TEXAS SAYS NOT BY A LONG SHOT.

The Texas Legislature is Now in Session and the Governor Has Sent Down a Red Hot Message on the Evils of Prize Fighting.

The sports who have intended witnessing the big prize fight, billed to come off at Dallas, Tex., on the last day of this month may be saved the trouble of journeying down to the Lone Star State, as the indications now point strongly to the conclusion that before the week is out the legislators of Texas will have passed a bill that will make both Corbett and Fitzsimmons, their abettors and backers guilty of felony if they attempt to bring the battle off in that State. Both the Senate and Legislature are now sitting in special session at Austin in answer to the summons of Governor Culberson, and it is proposed to put through a measure which will be operative as soon as it has passed the Upper and Lower Houses, declaring against prize fighting and fixing the penalty for such offence at not less than two and not more than five years imprisonment.

When the Senate and Legislature assembled on Tuesday there was a quorum in both houses, but a number of members had not yet arrived. The Governor's message was laid before the two bodies. It was short and decisive as to his attitude concerning prize fighting in general, and the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in particular. There appears to be little doubt that the bill will be promptly passed by the Senate, but the result in the House is full of uncertainty, as under the rules a two thirds vote is necessary to pass an emergency bill. There were 34 absentees in the House, including half a dozen who have either resigned or been appointed to other positions since last session. The Governor's message wound up in these strong and decisive words:

"The public interests require that this exhibition should be suppressed. Discountenanced by Mexico and the Territories, outlawed and driven from every State, it is proposed to assemble a horde of ruffians and gamblers and offer here this commanding insult to public decency. Your prompt and resolute action will spare this State the ignominy. It will do another thing. It will recall to the great city of the State, inhabited by a manly and generous and enlightened people, the wholesome and assuring truth now obscured by anger and misconception, for which it will hereafter thank you, that no part of its material prosperity, no part of its social and intellectual and industrial progress, no part of its splendid destiny is bound up in an endeavor to hold within its limits one of the most disgraceful orgies ever permitted to discredit and dishonor Texas. Impelled by a sense of duty to exert every Executive power to avert this calamity, you have been called in special session, and the responsibility for the consequences is now divided with you, That you will meet it as it becomes the representatives of the whole people, anxious and ready to protect the fair name of the State, is not doubted."

The Florida Aehletic Club, who have been instrumental in arranging the big fight, are frightened and operations on the mammoth amphitheater have ceased pending the fate of the bill in the Legislature.

WANTS DURANT HANGED.

A Y.M.C.A. Young Man in San Francisco Gets Into Trouble.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—When the Durant trial was resumed this morning Judge Murphy announced that one of the jurors had told him that some one had spoken to him about the case. Juror Trumen was then called to the stand. He stated that on Thursday last while reading with Juror Crocker on a car. Henry J. McCoy, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who entered the car said to him: "If you don't hang him (meaning Durant) we will hang you." Truman said the remark was probably made in an off hand manner but he thought it his duty to bring the matter to the attention of the court. Judge Murphy issued an order for McCoy to be brought before him on Thursday. During the examination of witnesses this morning the prosecution brought out the fact that members of the Signal corps, to which Durant belonged, had contributed to a fund for the prisoner's defence.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Flavor in Bread

Says Dr. Goodfellow in an English Exchange: depends largely on the fermentation, the more malt used the sweeter the bread and the more easily digested. There can be no doubt that it pays a baker to give his careful attention to the production of bread, giving a pleasant and acceptable flavor. If you want this kind of bread ask for Bates and take no other. it is the only bread in Peterborough containing malt or malt extract, for sale at all reliable grocers.

Will Get Good Weather.

The people who put on heavy underwear will be nice and warm for the next few days, according to the weather man. The meteorological sharp says that Toronto is going to enjoy an excellent quality of balmy atmosphere for some days. In Quebec city the thermometer is about 65 in the shade, in Montreal about the same, and in the eastern section of the province a little lower. Toronto has had hard luck in the matter of weather lately, for farther east it has been mild. The cold wave seems to have travelled south east, for in Philadelphia and Washington today the overcoat is the popular wear.

Nearly a Fatal Accident.

While assisting at a barn raising yesterday on the farm of Mr. Isaac Watson, near Reaboro, a young man named Fred Graham met with a painful accident, and had a very narrow escape from fatal injury. With a number of others he was helping to raise a brace of the purline place to its place, and quite unexpectedly the heavy stick of 4x4 timber slipped off the pikes when up about 20 ft. and fell butt downward. Graham was directly underneath and his fellow workmen expected to see him crushed to the earth, but by throwing himself backward he saved his head and the heavy stick struck his right foot instead, almost severing the two middle toes and badly crushing a couple of others. The barn being built by Mr. Watson is of very large proportions, and will replace the one destroyed by lightning a short time ago.

A Few Bear Stories.

Edward Norris, who teaches the school of S.S. No. 3, Wood, Muskoka, had a stirring adventure with a bear on Friday last. He boards at Mr. James Patterson's and after school in the afternoon took his rifle and strolled towards Mr. J. Drummond's place. On the way he met a she bear and two well grown cubs, and at once decided to bag some big game, this being the first opportunity, although he had often carried a gun in search of something tangible. The bear showed fight and came towards Norris, who stood his ground. Seizing a favorable moment, when the bear partly turned her side to him, Norris aimed at a vital part and succeeded in killing at the first shot. One of the cubs was also shot, but the other one escaped. The she bear was a monster and tipped the scales at over 300 pounds.

Charles Henderson of Bracebridge, a bush ranger, while on a raft of logs on the Wahnapitae, saw a bear digging roots on the shore. Henderson tried to frighten away the animal but the bear showed a disposition to interview his human antagonist at close quarters. Henderson accepted the challenge and met the bear with a pike pole, two blows from which settled bruin. The bear had a very fine coat of fur for the season.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A Gun Unexpectedly Goes Off On Its Owner's Lap.

Tuesday morning, Mr. W. Davey and Mr. M. McConnell, of Bobcaygeon, drove out to the old depot, in Galway, to shoot partridge. They had shot a few as they went along the road, and were nearing the depot, McConnell sitting on the left, with his gun on his lap, being on the alert for birds, and Mr. Davey driving, having his gun resting on the bottom of the buggy, with the muzzle against his upper watch pocket. Suddenly they were both startled by the explosion of Mr. Davey's gun, which toppled out of the buggy with the recoil and each man exclaimed "you're shot!" The charge tore a piece out of Mr. Davey's waistcoat, blackened his watch and ploughed a few inches in width out of the fleshy part of his right arm. Mr. McConnell received several grains of powder in his whiskers near his ear. The wound in his arm did not bleed much, and they at once drove home and received medical attendance. The injury is not serious, but it was a mighty narrow escape. The slightest variation in the slant of the gun would have severed the artery in Mr. Davey's arm, who would have probably bled to death, whilst McConnell would have been instantly killed by the charge entering his head.—Independent.

A Presentation.

Rev. Carl Smith and Mrs Smith arrived last night and will reside on Rubidge street. Rev. Smith is St. John's new curate, and before leaving Lindsay he was made a recipient of a presentation, of which the Post says; "Last evening the congregation of St. Paul's church took advantage of the presence of Rev. Carl Smith at the temperance society entertainment in the school room to present him with a number of theological works as a slight token of their regard and regret at his impending departure to another field. The presentation was made by Mr. J. H. Knight, who with much feeling voiced the general regret of all at the approaching severance of the pleasant ties that have existed for the past two years between Mr. Smith and every member of the congregation. That Mr. Smith regrets leaving the good people of St. Paul's was amply borne out in his reply. At the close of the entertainment the people flocked about Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and the latter was made to feel that she also occupied a warm place in the hearts of St. Paul's congregation.

WEDDING BELLS.

The Marriage of Miss A. Hall to Mr. J. Spiers, M.D.

A very pleasing ceremony took place last night at the residence of Mr. Richard Hall, when his daughter, Miss Annie Hall, was married to Mr. J. Spiers, M.D., of Montreal.

The nuptials were solemnized in the presence of a large number of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom, and the words that made the happy couple one, were spoken by the Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

The bride was assisted by Miss Laura Davidson, town, as bridesmaid, and Mr. E. Gregory, of Lindsay, acted in the capacity of groomsman. The wedding ceremony was both impressive and beautiful.

The newly wedded pair were the recipients of many magnificent and costly presents. They left on the 11.40 train for Montreal, which will be their future home, amid the warm congratulations and well wishes of a host of friends.

THEIR NEW QUARTERS.

Messrs. Pete Simons & Co. Have a Splendid Establishment.

Messrs. Pete Simons & Co. can boast of one of the finest tailoring establishments in Peterborough. Their new quarters on George street, two doors south of the old stand, are beautifully fitted up, large and spacious, and capitally adapted for their business. This reliable tailoring firm are not destined to second place, and they have met the exigencies of the times, and branched out into splendid new quarters that do them credit, and speak volumes for their enterprise.

The new store is stocked with splendid new goods and they now show full lines of imported and domestic suitings, overcoatings and trouserings, gents' furnishings, etc.

Mr. Simons is undoubtedly one of the best cutters in the Province, and if you go to him you get a fit, and not only this, but the very best workmanship is put into the order and the goods are the best value obtainable for the money anywheres.

By honest dealing, cheap prices, quality of goods, and excellent workmanship, Messrs. Pete Simons & Co., have built up a large trade in town and county, and they are bound to succeed.

Railway Notes.

It was reported that the G.T.R. had lost a flat car at the Davey fire, but such is not the case. The car left the tracks and the top of it was pulled off the trucks, but the next morning it was replaced, and with the exception of being a little burnt on one side the car is in first class condition.

G.T.R. Brakeman Ramsey met with a painful accident in the G.T.R. yards. He was in the act of coupling cars when he got his hand caught in the coupler. Dr. Kempt was called and it was found that his first finger was broken and the second one badly smashed. He will not be able to attend to his duties for some time.

THE MASON CASE.

From the Osgoode Hall report in the Toronto Mail and Empire, we clip the following:

Mason v. Town of Peterborough.—Moss, Q. C., and E. B. Edwards (Peterborough), for defendants, appealed from judgment of Ferguson, J., at the trial in favor of plaintiff for $750 damages and costs, sustained by plaintiff owing to alleged breach by defendants of their statutory duty to keep in repair the sidewalk on Murray street, in the Town of Peterborough. Watson, Q. C., for plaintiff, opposed appeal. Appeal dismissed with costs.

This is the closing act of a costly and shameful blunder on the part of the Town and the Town Solicitor. The Town will now hand over $750 (and interest) to the plaintiff, and the costs of the several trials and three motions, which will amount to about $3,000. There is of course, the supreme court yet, as a last resort, but it is not probable that the Council will listen to further appeal, even if so advised by the town solicitor, and for the latter's own sake, we hope he will not test the ratepayers' faith in his sanity, by advising this last course.

In 1892 the Mason claim against the town could have been settled for $250. Now, the sum of $4,000 will just about pay for the fanatical didoes of the town solicitor in his blind rush from one court to another with this case. This journal fought against the suicidal appeals, and as the adverse decisions from time to time rolled up the costs until the principal was doubled and trippled, we urged the council to settle the case and pay a manifestly just claim without further litigation.

The Council, however, followed the advice of the Town Solicitor, and the case was buffetted through the courts. At every stage his contentions were overruled and virtually the town had not a leg to stand on against the claims of the plaintiff, for the Murray street sidewalk was not in repair, and the Council had received a notification of its condition.

The Town Solicitor blundered, and the town's representatives blundered in acting upon his advice, although the latter may be exonerated on the premises that if the town's legal advisor's advice is not to be acted upon, what is the use of having a town solicitor at all. As far as the Mason case is concerned the town would have been several thousands of dollars better off without one (this applies to some other cases as well.)

Had it not been for this blind blundering obstinacy, the Mason case could have been settled for a few hundred dollars. The question now is—and one that the ratepayers will seriously consider when called upon to pay these costs—is it wise for the town to longer retain in its service, a man who has not displayed prudence in the handling of the town's legal affairs—a man who has been conspicuously unfortunate in everything pertaining to the legal affairs of the town?

The public generally, may not be aware that had the town been successful in this case, the town solicitor would have come in for a share of the costs. This is a rule that places a lawyer in a position where, personally, he has nothing to lose, but everything to gain, in prolonged litigation.

Incendiary Fires.

Fraserville had a big blaze on Sunday morning about three o'clock and the losers were Mr. Jos. Bullied and Mr. John Bothwell. The fire was first discovered on Mr. Bothwell's property. He is the village blacksmith and flames were noticed proceeding from his shop and a barn near at hand, both fires started simultaneously. The flames were beyond control and soon the two buildings were consumed, along with the stable. Mr. Bothwell's loss is $1,000, with an insurance of $225. The barns and sheds owned by Mr. Jos. Bullied, village hotel keeper, and adjacent to Mr. Bothwell's property, became ignited and was soon in a blaze. They were destroyed, along with some straw, poultry and a pig. Through the efforts of the G. T. R. section men and the villagers the hotel was saved. Mr. Bullied's loss is $500; insurance $100. The villagers believe the fires were of an incendiary origin, as the circumstances are suspicious, two fires being found in different places at the same time.

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Peterborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

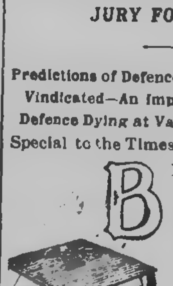
TWELVE JURORS CHOSEN.

IT TOOK TWO DAYS TO SELECT A JURY FOR SHORTIS.

Predictions of Defence Before Judge Belanger Vindicated—An Important Witness For the Defence Dying at Valleyfield.

Special to the Times.



BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 3.—Great as was the interest shown yesterday in the Shortis trial it is even greater today, and some time before the court opened an immense throng of people gathered around the door and fought for admission.

In order not to lose their places many of them brought food, and a refreshment stall has been opened by an enterprising old woman in the lower corroidor of the court.

Within the center portion of the court room there are a number of privileged visitors, including Mrs. Donald Mcmaster, wife of the Crown Prosecutor.

Mr. J. K. Elliott, who was for 25 years Crown prosecutor in the district, has been engaged for the defence, for whom the following formidable array are ranged to the right of the prisoner: Messrs. Greenshields, St. Pierre, Foster and Elliott.

His Honor took his seat at 10 15 a.m. and immediately the prisoner, bearing himself still with that remarkable sang froid, was brought into court, and stepped lightly into the box, smiling and bowing for a moment to his father and mother, whom he had not seen this morning previously.

Mr. Macmaster at once arose and made a motion that all the latter portion of the plea put in by the defence should be struck out.

The words he objected to were: "And was at the time suffering from unconsciousness and disease of mind, by which a predetermination of his will was excluded: that he was in a state of madness and was insane."

He explained at length the law on the matters and asked that the simple plea "That at the time of the commission of the act alleged in the indictment the prisoner was laboring under natural imbecility and disease of the mind to such an extent that rendered him incapable of appreciating the nature and quality of the act and of knowing that such an act was wrong," should be admitted.

His Honor ruled against Mr. Macmaster stating that he would allow the plea in full. This was at once considered a great point in favor of the defence.

Mr. Greenshields asked that a mixed jury should be allowed and His Honour replied in the affirmative.

Mr. St. Pierre objected to the indictment. It was bad in law he said because there could be no two counts on the same charge and in the one indictment. It would deprive the accused of a right which he should enjoy in having the privilege of challenging jurors in each case.

Mr. St. Pierre was proceeding with quotations at length, when His Honor remarked that it was unnecessary, as he was inclined to grant the request.

Mr. Macmaster was sorry his Honor had spoken thus before hearing him, but he would not press opposition to the objection.

"Score two." came audibly from the defence.

ELEVEN JURORS CHOSEN.

BEAUHARNOIS, Oct. 3.—Up to five o'clock tonight the opinion existed among those unacquainted with the district of Beauharnois and the feeling with regard to the Shortis murder that the defence, when making application for a change of venue from this district, when doing so from some other than real motive indicated in in their proceedings.

The regular panel of forty jurors was summoned, and after close work, from ten o'clock this morning up to five o'clock this evening, when each man was tried upon his oath as to his prejudices and his impartiality, only eleven were found.

The result was that at the close of the court the Crown were obliged to ask the court to issue special instructions to the sheriff to go into byways and highways during the night time and gather fifteen more jurors, from which they may perhaps be able to find one that will complete the list of jurors. A great deal of excitement is prevailing tonight as to whether that that juror can be found in this district or not, and should it happen that out of fifteen to be summoned no competent juror can be discovered it will be too late for the Crown to make application for another list, and the whole proceedings up to this time will have been in vain.

The following are the gentlemen who compose the eleven so far chosen: Chas. A. McHardy, Hinchinbrooke; Alex. Watson, Elgin; W. Finney, Godmanchester; A. A. Smalll, Elgin; George Leggett, Hinchinbrooke; Joseph Daoust, St. Etienne; Soseph Bourdon, St. Etienne; R. Cardinal, St. Martine; C. Demers, St. Antoine; P. Boyer, St. Antoine; T. Dore, St. Urbain.

SHORTIS TALKS ON THE JURY.

At the close of the day's proceedings I succeeded in having an interesting chat with the famous prisoner. He maintains his remarkable demeanor and his absolute indifference to the proceedings may be easily judged by the following conversation and by the fact that not once during the entire proceedings did he glance at judge or jury, not even when a juryman was about to be sworn and the clerk demanded "Juryman, look upon the prisoner; prisoner, look upon the juryman."

"How are they treating you here?" was asked.

"Splendid; but what a damn farce this is. I want some Pears soap. The soap I get here is all right for washing clothes, but not fit for a Christian."

"They're getting along slow, aren't they?"

"Some one seems to enjoy it, but as it doesn't concern me, why let them alone. By the way, will you send the TIMES, and tell mother, if you can get a word with her, to send me some more soap."

In this manner he rambled on, without rhyme or reason. Again and again he confessed absolute disdain for those who were partaking in his trial.

IMPORTANT WITNESS DYING.

A telegram has just been received stating that Robert McGuinness, step father of Shortis' sweetheart, Miss Anderson, is dying of typhoid pneumonia in Valleyfield. McGuinness is considered the most valuable witness the defence has, and the news has caused much alarm among the prisoner's friends. It is likely that as soon as the court opens tomorrow morning the defence counsel will move for a commission to take the statement of Mr. McGuinness.

THE TWELFTH JUROR.

BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 3.—After a long night's journey over hill and dale, on foot and sometimes on horseback, Sheriff Legarge turned up bright and smiling in the crowded court room this morning. All night he had spent in personally visiting the homes of men in different parts of the country who were eligible to sit on the jury. It required only one man to complete it, but to get this one man it was deemed advisable to summon at least fifteen, and these were hard to find. After a panel of fifty had already been exhausted they were found, however, and some happy, some sullen, some cursing, they turned up at 10 this morning and the clerk proceeded with the drawing.

David Elliott was the first man called, and, as it was understood that he was a professed Christian and prepared to deal out justice, it was thought that the jury would at once be made complete. In answer to a question, Elliott exclaimed, "If he was insane or sane, I'd swing him anyway." "Step down, sir," sternly said the judge, and Elliott got out of sight quickly. Six others were then sworn and questioned, but none were accepted until John Cunningham of Howick declared his willingness to fairly and honestly try the prisoner. He took the oath and then after two days anxious labor the jury was completed.

SETBACK FOR BRUISERS.

PRIZE FIGHTING MADE A FELONY IN THE STATE OF TEXAS.

Both Houses Were Unanimous in the Passage of the New Law—If Corbett and Fitzsimmons Fight at Dallas They Will Pay the Penalty in Prison.

Special to The Times.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 3—Corbett and Fitzsimmous must find another place than Texas in which to pull off their fight for the championship of the world. The Legislature today by a vote that was practically unanimous in the senate and only a little less in the house, passed the bill prohibiting prize fighting. The vote by which the bill was carried furnished the strongest proof of the sentiment of the State. The only rallying part in the minority was opposition to the emergency clause, which puts the bill into immediate effect. Some of the members regarded this as an injustice to the citizens of Dallas, who had spent large sums in anticipation of the fight and opposed it for that reason alone. Their arguments were not effective, however, and the vote in the house on the final passage of the bill showed but five members in opposition with 107 in its favor.

IN THE SENATE.

In the Senate the bill was carried with only one negative vote in the 27 that were cast. The Senate made quick work of the measure. It had taken a recess until 3.30 o'clock this afternoon in order that the Dallas people might be given a full hearing by the judiciary committee. Within fifty five minutes of reassembling the bill had passed. The work in the House was not so expeditious. The House is the larger body and several members desired to be heard upon the Senate bill, which was substituted for the House bill then pending.

WHAT EHE LAW IS.

A number of amendments were offered. Several were adopted but these do not change the measure except to make it still more effective. As a result of these amendments the bill will be returned to the Senate tomorrow but its adoption in amended form will be detained no longer than necessary to call the roll. It will then be sent to the governor and when his signature shall have been attached it will become law. The bill makes prize fighting a felony and imposes a punishment upon the principals of imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of not less than two and not more than five years.

"ARION'S" ESCAPE

From Death — A Canadian High Wire Walker's Peril.

Special to The Times.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 3.—A high-wire artist named D. H. McDonell, of Owen Sound, travelling under the professional name of Arion, the "wizard of the high wire," had a narrow escape at Harrison park Tuesday afternoon. The performance on Monday had been prevented by a defect in the apparatus, and Arion was busy making repairs. Having finished these he attempted a test. On going on to the wire Arion puts on a helmet covered with incandescent lights. He also adjusts a belt holding about twenty lights to his waist. To bring out the light there must of necessity be a current. This is secured by means of a trolley, or overhead wire, on which a wheel runs. To this vessel is attached a wire, which Arion holds, thus carrying the 500 volts current into his body. When walking on the wire the sparks splash from his feet with the same lustre as is produced by the trolley on a street car when the motorman is placing it on the wire. In other words, the wire on which he walks bears the same relation in Arion's act as does the street car rails in propelling a motor car. The narrowly-averted accident, however, was due to Arion's bicycle. He was riding along the wire when the spokes in the machine melted and the wheel came down. The rider clung to the wire, however, and saved himself. He was on again last night, and, while there was no light in his front wheel, the rear wheel worked perfectly.

THREE WERE KILLED.

A Michigan Central Train Dashes into a Rig at Essex.

Special to the Times

ESSEX, Oct. 3.—A terrible accident happened at the M.C.R. crossing here about 2 30 p.m. today. Thomas and William Mooney, aged 19 and 17 respectively, and their father, Edward, together with the hired man, Dennis Burke, and a Miss Jones were driving to the fair, and when on the crossing were struck by No. 31 express going west. The crossing is on Main street and at a very busy part of the town. The flagman was away and though the town by-law limits the rate to 20 miles an hour, the train was going at forty miles an hour. The whistle was blown but the people had not time to get off the track before being struck. Thomas and Wm. Mooney and Dennis Burke were killed instantly. The father and Miss Jones were slightly hurt but will recover. The horse escaped with a few bruises, but the rig was demolished. All the unfortunate people are widly known and highly respected farmers of Sandwich South, living about two miles north of Maidstone. An inquest is being held.

IT WAS THEIR FAULT.

THE ARMENIANS DELIBERATELY FOMENTED THE TROUBLE.

Beaten Unto Death—Many Willing to Sacrifice Themselves for the Cause—But Little Sympathy for Them.

Special to The Times

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3—To add to the state of terror prevailing here there was a third slight earthquake shock experienced here yesterday. This with the rioting and bloodshed, the imprisonment of about 500 Armenians, the killing of prisoners in cold blood, and the troops under arms at all points; is well calculated to excite the most phlegmatic Turk. The rioting and blood letting which began on Monday, was renewed on Tuesday evening, in spite of all the precautions taken by the authorities. On Tuesday the principal rioting was the work of the Softas, Mahomedan theological students, who chased and beat with bludgeons every Armenian they met. During Tuesday night a mob of Softas and Turks attacked the house of a leading Armenian, Kasim Pasha, storming the building and threatening its destruction and killing several persons who were unable to escape from it in time. This mob also sacked a cafe frequented by Armenians, and twenty of these unfortunate people who were found there were beaten to death with bludgeons. To the disgrace of the authorities not a single policeman appeared on the scene and no attempt was made to save the lives of the Armenians.

ARMENIANS PANIC STRICKEN.

Naturally, the Armenians of Constantinople and its vicinity are panic stricken and put no faith in the assurances of protection from further violence at the hands of the Turkish mobs. Many of them sought refuge in the churches where they were earnestly addressed by their clergy who enjoined them to be calm and to give the Turks no further opportunities for attacking them. The Armenian churches are now watched by the police, but the greatest uneasiness prevails, and the members of the other religious denominations fear that the fanaticism of the Turks may extend in other directions. The Armenians have the sympathy of the foreigners here, but the fact that they are armed, in spite of their pacific announcements, is condemned by their best friends and lends color to the statements of the Turkish officials who claim that the Armenian agitators organized a revolt against the Sultan's authority, and that the attempt to present a petition to the Grand Vizier, on Monday last, which led to the first rioting and bloodshed, was nothing more than a pretext which was to serve as the signal for an Armenian outbreak.

THE OUTLOOK CONTEMPLATED.

That the Armenians contemplated some such attempt to call attention to their grievances has been known for a long time past, and the Associated Press correspondent in Armenia, months ago, drew attention to this, saying that he had conclusive evidence that the Armenian revolutionary committee was preparing a demonstration at Constantinople and that any number of Armenians were willing thus to sacrifice themselves for the ultimate benefit of their unhappy compatriots. On the other hand, the partisans of the Armenians assert that the latter only armed themselves against the Turks. The authorities have stationed troops and police at every threatened point and it is asserted this morning that there is no danger of any further disturbances. This, however, is not generally believed.

NOT FAVORABLE TO THE ARMENIANS.

LONDON, Oct. 3,—The dangerous state of affairs at Constantinople is the sensation of the day here and all the despatches from that city are read with the greatest eagerness. Many important messages are known to have been received at the British Foreign Office, from Sir Phillip Currie, the British Ambassador at Constantinople and the feeling here is not entirely favorable to the Armenians. In spite of the assurances to the contrary of the Armenian Committee, of this city, the belief prevails in official circles here that the rioting at Constantinople was a deliberately planned uprising, brought about by the American agitators, who are desirious of forcing the hands of the powers in order to bring about direct interference upon the part of Great Britain, France and Russia in the administration of Armenia.

A BRAKEMAN KILLED.

John Cameron, of Toronto, Horribly Mangled at Unionville.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—A brakeman on the Grand Trunk railway, whose home was at 153 Tecumseh street, was terribly injured on Wednesday night at 8.10 o'clock at Unionville, and died this morning at the General Hospital here. He was braking on a freight train going east, which was side tracked at Unionville to allow the Montreal express to pass. He seems to have leaped from his own train before the wheels of the approaching express. He was knocked down and the engine and five cars passed over his body. His left leg and arm was severed and his right leg horribly lacerated. He was brought to the city on the express. Dr. Riordan and the unfortunate man's wife were summoned. After two hours Cameron still lived, and his wife having been forced from his side to return to a dying child at home, he was removed to the hospital. He leaves two children.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the new celebrated case of G. H. [illegible], who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 4 1895.

A DIFFICULT POSITION.

Lord Salisbury is at the present moment, with respect to Turkey, in a very peculiar position. He has, both in London and Constantiople, used some very stronge language with respect to the Armenian outrages. He has urgently requested the Sultan to institute reforms in Armenia. He, too, has been careful to let not only the British nation but the whole civilized world know what are his opinions and his intentions with regard to Armenia. He is ostensibly backed up by France and Russia.

The Sultan has listened to Lord Salisbury gravely and politely. He may have protested a little, though if he has it has been very gently. But he has done nothing. He has not taken a single step towards carrying out the reforms which the British Premier has advocated so strongly and so publicly. The Sultan's inertia seems to be invincible. Nothing can induce him to move. It is said that his inaction is approved secretly by Russia, and that it is not altogether displeasing to France. What is Lord Salisbury to do? After saying so much as he has said and leading the people to believe that the Sultan would be deaf to his exhortations, is he now to withdraw and leave the unhappy Armenians to their fate? It is believed that he has gone too far to retreat with dignity, that British prestige will suffer if he permits the Sultan to disregard his protests. Yet England incurs a fearful responsibility if she by means of a display of force tries to bring the Sultan to reason. Europe, it is said, is in such an inflammable condition that a spark may cause a conflagration, and would Lord Salisbury, for the sake of a few Armenians, be justified in running the risk? There is no doubt that if he took vigorous measures to bring the Sultan to reason he would have the hearty support of the whole British nation, but who is to tell what enemies he may make for Great Britain if he take the initiative, or how she will come out of the struggle if a hostile demonstration against Turkey results in a European war?

We cannot entertain the opinion expressed by the doctor of divinity who addressed the Baptist Ministerial Conference on Monday, that the devil has ever thought he could conquer the Almighty. If he ever thought so, he must be a fool and a hopeless one. We leave it to the devil's friends, or to any one whose scorn for him is less than ours, to speak in his behalf; but we feel sure that no created being knows better than Old Nick the foolery of contending with omnipotence, which can at any moment destroy him and all his imps, so that their deviltries shall be ended forever. We cannot answer the old question why the devil is not killed; but certainly he would not live in misery if he had any chance of fighting his way out of it. All the Scriptural accounts of Satan lead us to believe that he knows more than the Rev. Dr. TYLER gives him the credit for knowing.

Emperor William frequently goes about his capital in disguise, mixing incognito with all classes of his subjects. In the guise of a sailor he passed a day and a night in visiting the saloons frequented by sailors and common soldiers, discussing with the men whom he met the hardships and difficulties of their lot. He listened attentively to the stories and asked numbers of questions. He did not close his investigation until late at night in a low saloon he found himself among a company of drunken sailors who insisted on his dancing with them. His majesty drew the line at this and abruptly quitted the place, guarded by a couple of men who until that moment had appeared to be his half-intoxicated companions.

WAITING ORDERS IN THE NAVY.

A Species of Suspended Animation That Officers Do Not Like.

When the ordinary citizen meets a naval officer in New York, the former usually has some curiosity as to what ship the man-of-war's man belongs to and is often a little astonished to learn that he belongs to none. The idea that a sailor is always at sea, or just ashore, or about going to sea, is strongly rooted in the public mind, and the landsman is even more astonished to learn that a naval officer may be neither at sea nor on shore duty, but unemployed. There are all sorts of reasons why men should be unemployed, and the record of every commissioned officer shows that a considerable percentage of his time was thus occupied. The naval orders from week to week report this or that officer on leave, with permission to leave the United States, which means nine times out of ten that the officer in question is about to take a vacation in Europe.

Much of every naval officer's time of idleness, however, is involuntary, or at least not directly sought on his part. After every cruise or tour of shore duty an officer usually has a period of waiting orders. This may be with a view to giving him a chance to catch his breath, as the phrase is in the navy, it being supposed that a man's respiration on duty is a bit hurried through the exigencies of the service. Such a time of idleness may endure for ten days or for six weeks or more, but the waiting officer must never be out of reach of orders, and must be ready if need be to start for his new post in 24 hours. He always keeps open his lines of communication with Washington, for a failure to respond promptly to orders may mean a court martial, and will certainly do him harm at the navy department. Few naval officers court a long term on waiting orders, for it means reduced pay and always the haunting sense of responsibility resulting from the necessity of being ready to go at once when the summons comes. No positive engagement can be made 24 hours ahead, and the officer must always keep pretty close to the skirts of civilization and a telegraph office. The department must know of his movements if they carry him far from his recorded address.

Waiting orders are not so frequent or so long enduring as they once were, now that the navy has begun to catch up with the size of the officers' list. But it is not always easy even now to assign a man to new duty. There are occasions, however, when an officer just relieved from a post is seized and packed off to foreign parts in 48 hours. If the need be really pressing, the new assignment is accepted without grumbling, but if it seems to be something short of essential there is likely to follow a cautious protest and a strong effort to escape from it. The trouble at the New York navy yard to find a captain for the ship that was to take Frederick Douglass to Haiti is historic. Mr. Douglass, by the way, was extremely popular in the wardroom of that ship.

There are in the navy, as in the army, men who are able constantly to secure pleasant posts ashore in or about Washington or New York. There is some bitterness on this score in the navy, though the thing hardly amounts to a scandal.—New York Sun.

A Curious Feat.

A curious feat was one performed by an electrician. He was coming home from South America after assisting in cable laying. The ship called at Lisbon, anchoring at the mouth of the Tagus. On weighing anchor up came a damaged cable on the flukes. The captain was about to cut the cable and run, but the electrician begged for five minutes' delay. It was granted. He took a bearing of the spot, improvised a battery and contrived to speak to the Lisbon office. Aware of the fault, the office was on the alert, and he received its thanks upon his tongue by the taste of the wire whenever the current passed. This ingenious feat probably saved the company several thousand pounds. Repairing expeditions are very costly, sometimes amounting to £35,000 and even £40,000. The tiny teredo will bore holes in a cable that costs £15,000 and £20,000 to repair.—London Standard.

High Aerial Navigation.

Beyond 29,000 feet above sea level, the height reached by Glaisher in 1862, man has never been able to navigate the air. Various problems concerning the regions farther away (higher up)—such as temperature, pressure, moisture and composition of the air—have been leading subjects of discussion among the physicists for years. In 1893 M. Hermite adopted the plan of sending up balloons fitted out with self registering instruments. These balloons have been brought up to what is considered perfection. They are very light, the average capacity being only 150 cubic feet of gas. With these a systematic exploration of the upper regions of the air is being made, and it is said that some of them have attained a height of 36,000 feet.—St. Louis Republic.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

THE WALLED HERD.

STRANGE STORY OF AN INACCESSIBLE BAND OF CATTLE

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Wher Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipic Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safet; Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 7 miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it ere is one method of escape, but to trav- that road means death to the adventur- s one. CRIBE FOR THE TIMES.

HIS ROYAL NIBS ANGRY.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND HIS BROTHER HAVE A QUARREL.

A Royal Falling Out Over a Discussion on Naval Affairs—The Queen and Ex-Empress Frederick Pouring on the Oil.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—According to the general understanding in court circles here, Emperor William of Germany and his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, are on very bad terms, and Queen Victoria and ex-Empress Frederick have been doing their utmost to bring about a reconciliation between them. The Emperor and Prince Henry, it appears, recently had a warm discussion on naval affairs in general and upon the management of the Baltic and North Sea canal in particular. The Prince, it is said, differed in opinion with the Emperor and intimated that the recent mishaps in the canal were due to his Majesty's injudicious orders. This is said to have led to quite an exciting exchange of remarks.

Prince Henry has been practically banished, and he has been given a year's leave of absence. He and his wife are now at Balmoral and will probably remain there a month. They were going to Copenhagen in order to attend the royal wedding, but it is now probable that the Emperor will send some one else. They are to visit the Prince and Princess of Wales next month and will remain in England until the end of November. They will then go to Italy and Greece.

Not only the German but the foreign diplomats complain that the Emperor is surrounded by courtiers led by Count Philip von Eulenberg and his four brothers who flatter him into thinking himself omnipotent. The German people trust him less daily, fearing that in case of war he intends to follow his own designs, regardless of advice.

CHINA'S DECREE.

Degrading the Viceroy Decided Upon Before the Ultimatum was Received.

Special to the Times

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Sir Halliday McArtney, counsellor of the Chinese legation here, referring to the acceptance by China of the ultimatum of Great Britain, has made a statement to the effect that the punishment of the Viceroy of Szechuen for failing to protect the missionaries in his district was decided upon before the ultimatum was presented and that the Chinese minister in London received notice of the issuing of the decree at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

It is understood in official circles here that the degradation of the Viceroy of Szechuen by no means settles the matters in dispute between Great Britain and China.

WAVES BEAT ROUND THEM

Perched on the Edge of a Rock the Crew of the Elma Escaped the Fury of the Raging Waters of Lake Superior.

Special to The Times.

AULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 2.—The crew of the schooner Elma, excepting one man, who was washed away by the sea before the vessel was abandoned, were found alive by lighthouse keepers on a ledge of the Pictured Rocks. 75 feet above the water. The steamer Birckhead held the Elma, Jones and Commodore in tow until the north-west gale on Saturday came on. The tow broke up and the boats became widely separated, the Commodore going uninjured to the Soo, the Jones coming to anchor off Whitefish Point and the Elma being abandoned off Pictured Rocks. After the crew of the Elma had taken to the yawl boat they seemed to face certain destruction, being dashed against the rocks, but they succeeded in making a fortunate landing on a ledge and thence crawled far out of reach of the seas. They passed through great suffering from hunger and cold and were half dead when rescued.

JUMPED HER MASTS OUT.

Capt. Tauraton tells his graphic story of their struggle for life in the icy waters of Lake Superior. "When near Pictured Rocks the tow line parted and our steering geer broke. We were wholly at the mercy of the sea, which was growing every minute. The Elma rolled so hard in the trough of the sea that she jumped the masts out and the rigging was carried away. The schooner waterlogged, and every sea swept her decks. The crew worked hard at the pumps until the schooner struck a rock about 100 feet from the shore at Miner's Castle. This was Sunday afternoon. The Elma stuck fast on top of the rock, so George M. Johnson, a sailor from Chicago got into the yawl with the lines and attempted to make a landing on the rocky cliff, which rose straight up from the water's edge, The yawl was broken quickly to pieces. Johnson lost the lines. and nearly killed by the schooner's rudder He finally managed to climb up on the rocks out of the sea.

THE MATE DASHED TO DEATH.

"Mate Clemens tied a line around his body and, jumping overboard, attempted to swim ashore. He was dashed against the rocks and instantly killed. The line about his body parted when the crew tried to pull him on board and his body was not seen again. After many trials a line was finally passed to Johnson on the rocks, but not until it was too dark to do anything toward taking us off the wreck. Johnson kept hold of the line, however, and all night paced a narrow ledge of rock until daylight. We then escaped to the rocks by fastening one end of the line around our bodies and being pulled up by those on the rocks. My three year old son, however, was kept dry by drawing the line from the rocks to the boat taut and rigging a traveller on it. A few blankets and two loaves of bread were also brought ashore; we managed to climb to a partly sheltered ledge in the rocks, 200 feet above the water.

DISCOVERED AND RESCUED.

"There we built a fire and remained until Tuesday morning, when the storm abated, and we climbed down from the place of refuge and built a raft to get provisions from the wreck. We were then discovered by the lighthouse keeper and taken to the Birckhead, which left for this port at 4 o'clock a.m. The Elma is a total loss, being all broken to pieces by pounding on the rocks. She was valued at $9,000 and carried very little insurance.

NO DIVORCE FROM ANY CAUSE.

South Carolina Decides that the State Shall Never See Divorce.

Special to the Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 2.—After a debate continuing all through last night's session and through nearly all of today's, the Constitutional Convention has decided there shall never be a divorce granted in South Carolina for any cause. The vote was 86 to 49. Senator Tillman did his best to have the divorces of other States recognized in this State, but for once his appeals were heard with a deaf ear and he was voted down. The Bible was quoted from very freely during the debate. The Parliamentary clincher was put on after the matter was adopted. At 2 o'clock the long looked for and all important article on the suffrage made its appearance.

Would Be a Freak or a Corpse.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 2.—Charles Chase, a one legged man, hailing from Batavia, arrived here yesterday and announced that he would jump from the upper Suspension bridge on Thursday afternoon into the river. Chase is ambitious to become a museum attraction.

SHORTIS' VERY INDIFFERENT BEARING IN THE DOCK.

Beginning of the Trial for the Valleyfield Murder of March Last—Plea of Insanity.

Special to The Times.

BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 2.—Cuthbert Francis Valentine Shortis has undergone a great change since his arrival at the time of the Valleyfield tragedy. Then he was thin, and looked as though suffering from dissipation. Now he he is stouter and better looking, and he appeared quite contended yesterday when he was escorted from the station to the jail by a special guard of eight constables.

He was carefully searched in the jail, and took off his necktie, remarking that it might be considered dangerous, He gave a pair of gloves to Guard Groleau, passed around some cigarettes, and remarked that the weather was cold and he was hungry, as he had no breakfast on account of taking the train from Montreal at seven o'clock. After the grand jury returned true bills against Shortis for murder and attempted murder, recess was taken.

At two o'clock the prisoner was brought into the court room. He walked firmly, with head erect, and in answer to the usual question responded, "I am not guilty, sir." His lawyers put in a plea that he was insane, and incapable of appreciating the nature of his acts at the time when he committed the crime of March 2nd last. The Crown witnesses are John Lowe, Hugh A. Wilson, Arthur Leboeuf, Dr. Sutherland, Elias Poirier, Napoleon Delisle, Dr. Lussier and Dr. Oulmet.

For half an hour Shortis stood in the dock perfectly impassive, making a strange picture with his pale face framed in the heavy growth of fair hair. The room was crowded with hundreds of men, who could have pulled him from the dock and torn him in pieces, but he smiled his contempt upon them.

He spoke pleasantly to Crown Attorney McMaster, and said nothing, and made no sign of interest until he was taken away.

A Slander Case at Chatham.

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—A crowd filled the court room to hear the preliminary examination of Thomas Hurns, a horseman, charged with circulating stories about Dr. J. P. Livewright, of Chatham, and Mrs. Bloomer, a former resident of Chatham. The stories told refer to a time when Dr. Livewright and Mrs. Bloomer were in Chicago. Hurns was sent for trial. He will attempt to prove what he said.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGEST SIZ

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst. D. D, the great reformer writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

HOW CHINA REGARDS IT.

The British Ultimatum Viewed From the Oriental End of the Glass.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Herald's London correspondent says, with regard to Chinese official opinion in the matter of the English ultimatum, he is in a position to state the following on the highest authority: "China yields to force, acting under very prudent advice, but she looks upon the case of the Viceroy's punishment from the same point of view as England would if Chinese subjects had been murdered in the streets of London—where, as a matter of fact, they are apt to be insulted and made fun of by the ignorant—and China were to call upon England to disgrace Lord Salisbury.

"The Chinese have no police force in their towns, as such is not needed, Thus the authorities were unfortunately unprepared for an outbreak of so disgraceful a character, which only could have taken place under exceptional circumstances, caused by popular excitement due to China's recent great disaster's." This is the Chinese version. More is likely to be heard in the near future respecting the political aspect of missionary activity in China.

ENDED HIS WEARY LIFE.

EDWARD BLACKHILL COMMITTS SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.

Put a Bullet Through His Head in the Bathroom—Despondency Owing to Business Troubles the Cause.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 3—At 10 20 this morning Edward Blackhill, a well known citizen took his life by shooting himself in the bathroom at his residence, 93 Wood street.

At the hour named his daughter heard the report of a pistol, and on rushing in was met by the awful sight of her father lying on the floor, a revolver near him and blood issuing from a wound on his head. Police Sergeant McFarlane, who lives next door, was informed of the terrible affair, and Dr. James Caven, of Carlton street, was hastily summoned. Mr. Blackhill, however, had died before his arrival. Coroner Atkins, who had been notified, paid a visit to the house and saw the body. A warrant for an inquest was issued, but the coroner said that it was only for the purpose of making some informal inquiry and that no inquest would be held.

The deceased has been a resident of this city for many years. About twenty years ago he was employed as foreman in the business conducted by Adam Miller, on Wellington street, near Jordan, now the W. J. Gage Co. Many years ago he turned his attention to the improvement of machinery for book-binding and so successful was he in this that he relinquished his ordinary occupation for that of an inventor. He has had a book-binding establishment at 32-34 Lombard street for some time, but the business lay mostly in the hands of his sons.

Of late he has been attacked by fits of deep despondency, induced by business worry, and this is deemed the only motive for his rash deed.

Mr. Blackhall has also established a book-binding business in Buffalo. He has long been a prominent Mason. His health for a month or so has been far from good.

Weak and Nervous

Whenever the body has been weakened by disease, it should be built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"About two years ago I suffered with a very severe attack of inflammation of the bowels. When I began to recover I was in a very weak and nervous condition, and suffered intensely with neuralgia pains in my head, which caused loss of sleep, and having no appetite, I

Became Very Thin

and weak. Fortunately a friend who had used Hood's Sarsaparilla with great benefit, kindly recommended me to try it. I did so and a perfect cure has been effected. I am now as well as I ever was, and I would not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house for anything." MRS. G. KERN, 245 Manning Ave., Toronto, Ont.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION

ginated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

He Created Excitement.

He was placed in the cells before he did any harm.

The Latest Swindle,

A very clever swindler is going the rounds. He will call at a house with a patent can-opener and a glass cutter combined, which he offers to sell the lady of the house at $3 per dozen, claiming buying a dozen secures the purchaser the county agency. After disposing of the goods he disappears and he is never heard of again.

New Place of Worship.

The hall lately occupied by the Peterborough Business College, Water street, is undergoing a complete renovation as the Bethany Mission and Christian Alliance has leased the premises, and will make their formal opening next Sunday. Rev. J. R. Zimmerman, pastor of the Bethany Mission will conduct both services. The hall will be lighted by 6 36-candle power lights put in by Greer and Bradburn.

Flavor in Bread

Says Dr. Goodfellow in an English Exchange: depends largely on the fermentation, the more malt used the sweeter the bread and the more easily digested. There can be no doubt that it pays a baker to give his careful attention to the production of bread, giving a pleasant and acceptable flavor. If you want this kind of bread ask for Bates and take no other. it is the only bread in Peterborough containing malt or malt extract, for sale at all reliable grocers.

A New Style of Locomotive.

The G.T.R. has lately been trying a new style of locomotive fitted with patent devices, the most important of which are two cylinders, one 19 and the other 20 inches, and so arranged that the steam is used in the larger one after it has done its work in the smaller. When tested the engine drew 46 loaded cars from Brockville to Montreal with a consumption of four and a half tons of coal. An ordinary engine hauling half that number of cars the same distance uses five tons of coal.

Broke Into a Store.

Sometime Wednesday night burglars entered the store of Madill Bros., at Lakefield, and removed a large quantity of goods. They secured entrance by the back door of the shop. The door was bored to an extent that the persons were enabled to pass their hands through and reach the lock. Once inside they had everything to themselves and when the shop was opened next morning it was discovered that a quantity of dry goods, boots, gloves, overcoats and suits were missing. The robbery created a great deal of excitement in the village.

It Takes a Heap of Grub.

The Gilmour camp which is situated about 105 miles from Peterboro in the back woods, has a large number of men at work. Mr. John J Howden, of 461 George street, who has been away for the past three weeks, has the contract every year to supply this camp with meat, and is at present buying up cattle about 50 miles north of here and will have to drive them about 65 miles to the camp where he will kill and get them ready for use. This camp will consume at least 80 ton of meat, or 400 head of cattle, which includes the drives as well. Mr. Howden is expected home this week.

The Folly of it.

The folly of bonusing industries is once more exemplified in the sudden collapse of the Peterborough Carbon Works, by which the town is a heavy loser and also a large number of gentlemen who were induced to take stock in the concern. It seems strange in the light of wide spread experience that communities or individuals can be caught so frequently, but it seems stranger still that only kiteflyers are capable of successfully floating such schemes. Anything bearing the stamp of solidity or necessity is sure to receive the cold shoulder from those who rush headlong into the most transparent fakes. It has always been the way and ever will be.—Colborne Express.

New Time Table.

It is proposed by the Grand Trunk Railway authorities to revert to the former train service on the division between Peterborough and Belleville, says the Campbellford Herald. That means the cancellation of the night train from the west, and also the mixed train arriving here at 5 o'clock. Instead of the passenger train from Peterborough arriving here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, as formerly, Mr. R. W. Gaudrie, station agent, has intimated that an improvement might be made in having this train leave Peterborough immediately after the arrival there of the train from Toronto, so that it would be due here about 1.40, and be more than one hour earlier with the daily papers from the west. This latter change may be embodied in the new time table which may be issued in a week or ten days.

WANTS $10,000!

A Writ Issued Against Miss Abbie Duggan For That Amount.

HER HUBBY'S AFFECTIONS

WERE ALIENATED BY MISS DUGGAN ALLEGES MRS. A. B. APPLEBEE AND SHE SUES FOR DAMAGES —DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

A legal proceeding, the first step in a sensational law suit, was instituted on Wednesday when Messrs. Dumble & Johnson, acting for Mrs. A. B. Applebee, issued a writ for damages against Miss Abbie Duggan, of Peterborough. The claim is for alienating her husband's affections, and the amount of damages that Mrs. Applebee asks is $10,000. Mrs. Applebee has complied with the other necessary legal requirements and in a few days will file particulars and pleadings.

The suit will create a genuine sensation in society circles, owing to the high standing of the parties interested, and the development of the case will be awaited with interest.

The marital infelicities of the Applebee's has not been a secret to their friends, but the developments of Wednesday will be a surprise, for it was known that Mr. Applebee was on the aggressive, and had sued for divorce from his wife. The action of Mrs. Applebee was not expected.

Mr. A. B. Applebee, is the well known hide buyer. The Applebee's had a beautiful home in Peterborough, and three children blessed their union, which apparently was a most happy one, and up to a year ago no one ever suspected that they did not live happily together. Their oldest child is about 11 year's old, and the youngest about 7. From all appearances their's was a happy, cheerful home.

About a year ago Mr. Applebee went to North Dakota for the purpose of suing for a divorce from his wife. The law required that he should reside there 90 days before making application, and at the expiration of that time he began the suit, alleging abuse and infidelity on the part of his wife, as the grounds upon which the action was based. When the suit came up, witnesses from California, Chicago, Buffalo, Peterborough and other places, gave evidence for the applicant, but the charges were not sustained and the divorce was refused. There was absolutely no evidence to show abuse or infidelity on the part of Mrs. Applebee.

Applebee then returned to Peterborough. Mrs. Applebee was turned out of the house, so it is alleged by neighbors, and Applebee took two of the children and left her with the other one alone and unprovided for. He is now in Fargo, North Dakota, suing for a divorce before another judge on the grounds of desertion, and serving the 90 days residence necessary to the application.

Applebee is widely known in Peterborough and this county. Some years ago he ran for the council in No. 4 ward and was defeated.

Miss Duggan is a well known and respected lady, living at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets. She has very influential connections, and the action against her will be a great surprise to her many firm friends. She was one of the heirs of the late Mrs. Nicholls and came in for a large portion of her wealth. The pleadings which Mrs. Applebee's lawyers will file in a few days will set forth in just what particular the defendant in the action is held responsible for the alleged alienation of the husband's affections. Messrs. Stratton & Hall are acting for Miss Duggan.

It will be gratifying to the Messrs. Gilmour & Co. to learn that their "drives" are making such progress, the head block being now at Heeley Falls. In conversation with their agent, Mr. P. M. CAN STILL DAM IT.

Board of Health Will Not Order the Removal of Whyte's Dam.

The Board of Health considered the evidence in the Whyte's dam case last night and decided that the dam was not a menace to health. The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, that this Board, having considered the evidence submitted regarding the complaint in the petition respecting the dam known as Whyte's dam, cannot take any action in the matter, as the evidence is not sufficient, in the opinion of the Board to sustain the complaint.

There were present at the meeting Mr. J. J. Hartley, Chairman, and Messrs. H. Denne, Adam Hall, C. Stapleton, R. Innis, B. Shortly and Mayor Kendry.

The Board was in session about an hour. The review of the evidence was held privately, the press being excluded.

IN MATRIMONIAL BONDS.

This afternoon, at the residence of the bride's brother, Dr. Herbert Burnham, the lives and fortunes of Miss Georgina Burnham and Rev. J. L. Gilmour were united by the marriage ceremony performed by Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, chancellor of McMaster University. The wedding was solemnized at No. 214 John street, before a large assembly of friends and relatives. The bride was attended by her three nieces who were prettily gowned, and carried large bouquets.

A reception was held after the marriage, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour left for a trip through the Eastern States. They will then return to Brockville, where Mr. Gilmour is pastor of the Baptist church.—Toronto Telegram.

The bride is the sister of Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, of town. A number of relatives from Peterborough attended the nuptials.

THE COUNTERFEIT CASES.

The Murphy Family On Trial for Passing Counterfeit Coin at Lindsay.

The trial of the members of the Murphy family on the charge of making and passing counterfeit coin, is in progress before the Hon. Justice Meredith at the assize court at Lindsay. True bills were returned by the grand jury against Frederick, Richard and Allen Murphy on separate charges of passing bogus money, that against Wellington Murphy is under consideration today. A true bill was also brought in against Jeremiah Murphy and his four sons on the one general charge of making counterfeit coin or having knowledge thereof. Fred Murphy was tried yesterday morning and convicted of passing bad money on Mr. Fleming, the jury recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court. Mr. Riddell for the crown, and Mr. Stone for the defence. The case against Allan Murphy occupied the afternoon. He was charged with attempting to pass a bogus quarter at the store of George Fox. Prisoner stated, in defence, that he got it from a buyer of frogs' legs in town. Quite a sensation was created in court when Mrs. Elliott, of Mount Horeb, was giving supplementary evidence. Mrs. Murphy and the two Miss Murphy's took the floor and began hurling invectives at the witness. The youngest woman shouted, as she was taken through the door, "I can whip any man in the court room!" Barrister Stone was invited by Justice Meredith to apologize to the court for an insinuation made against the jury. At eight o'clock last evening, when the court resumed, the jury entered and returned a verdict of guilty against Allan Murphy. Mr. E. B. Stone is defending the Murphys.

INS AND OUTS.

⁂

The School Board should take a day off and attend the Collegiate Institute sports this afternoon.

⁂

Mr. Owens can still continue to dam Whyte's pond, while the residents in that vicinity will continue to damn the dam.

⁂

Dear Ratepayers — The costs in the Mason case amount to a sum of money that would have built bath houses all around the Little Lake, and furnished each with a cake of scented soap and silver-plated clothes hooks to hand your chest protectors on.

⁂

It now appears that the policeman who escaped from the tramps at Curtis' Cut deny that the gun shown in THE TIMES office window is the identical weapon that bored the bullet holes through Constable Moore's hat.

⁂

⁂

The Provincial Government found B. B. Osler's eloquence dangerous, and retained his services for Crown cases. Peterborough should retain the services of Mr. G. H. Watson, Q.C., who has worsted the town in the sewer arbitration and Mason case.

A Runaway.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dunlap, and their niece, Miss Ella Padget, of North Monaghan, were driving into town when the axle of their buggy broke and all three were precipitated into the road. Miss Padget, who was driving still held on to the reins, was dragged along the road for more than a quarter of a mile, the horse having taken fright from the accident. Mr. Pain, who was working in his field, saw the girl's perilous position and hastened to her rescue. He extricated the young lady and found that she was not seriously hurt but badly shaken up and bruised. In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap, who had received but slight injuries, came up, and Mr. Pain gave the young lady in to their charge, and turned his attention to the horse, it having ran away again. Mr. Pain went after the animal and found it about three miles from his place.

After the Tramps

Constable Moore went to Bowmanvile yesterday morning, where he will attend the trial of the tramps, St. Clair and Henderson, before Police Magistrate Haines in that town today. If the fellows are discharged the county constable will arrest them and bring them to town. Mr. Moore brought the warrants to Bowmanville with him. Walter St. Clair will be charged with the serious crime of attempting to detain officers and unlawfully shooting at Constable Moore. The prisoner is liable to a life sentence in the Penitentiary if found guilty. St. Clair is the man whom Mr. Moore identified at Cobourg as the tramp who aided in the escape of his companions at Curtis Cut on September 16th. William Henderson, a companion, is charged with escaping from an officer, while in custody, on a serious charge.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or chock, it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

THE SHORTIS TRIAL.

Prisoner Has an Enormous Appetite and Eats Voraciously.

COOL AND UNCONCERNED.

JOHN LOWE TELLS THE STORY OF THE SHOOTING—THE SEARCH FOR SHORTIS IN THE DARK —THIRD DAY OF TRIAL.

Special to the Times

BEAUHARNOIS, Que. Oct. 4.—At 9.30 this morning the Shortis jury filed into the box. John Cunningham, the juryman whose illness upset the court yesterday afternoon, was much better and took his place with the rest. The court room is crowded more than ever, and women are fighting for admission as though a circus performance was in progress. Farmers' wives and daughters from as far as fifteen miles were here at nine o'clock, and the moment the court room doors were opened they rushed in and took the best seats obtainable.

THE MURDERER'S BIG APPETITE.

Shortis looks better than he has since the trial commenced. The story of the prisoner's consumptive condition was read with the greatest of interest and marked surprise by the doctors who are to be called for the defence. It was not intended that the news, which was published yesterday, should be given out until later on. It might be mentioned here that the prisoner is remarkably well. At one of his meals yesterday he consumed a quart of oysters, four eggs, and a quantity of toast and tea. Among the medical men who will be called for the defence and who are in court this morning are Dr. Daniel Clarke, Toronto Insane Asylum; Dr. C. K. Clarke, Insane Hospital, Kingston and Dr. Anglin, late of Verdun.

COOL AND UNCONCERNED.

Constable Perrier, of Valleyfield, was first called to produce the revolvers, cartridges, chisel, pair of suspenders, necktie piece of the telephone receiver and a small bottle. When the exhibits were laid on a table the prisoner lowered his gaze, and for five minutes stared at the instrument he had used in the slaying. Then he resumed his unconcerned manner as Perrier told from whom he had received the various articles.

John Lowe, the cashier of the mill, was then recalled, and proceeded with his story of the shooting. He told in a clear and concise manner of how Shortis came into the office, of his successful efforts to get the witness' revolver, the shooting of Wilson and Loy and of his (Lowe's) escape by rushing with Arthur Leboeuf into the vault. Lowe continued:

HE WANTED TO BE SHOT.

"Shortis said, 'Come out,' and I replied, 'For God's sake, go home, go away; you have done enough tonight,' and Shortis replied, 'All right.' He then went to the outer door and slammed it, coming back on tip-toes to the vault doors. I next heard the cocking of a revolver at the vault door, and it was soon after this that he met Maxime Leboeuf, the watchman, and killed him."

Mr. Lowe told of the mill, of his release from the vault by giving Mr. Smith the combination, and of how Shortis, who was then in custody, said, "For God's sake, Lowe, shoot me." "We will do better than that for you," replied Lowe.

The witness told of the searching of Shortis and how a second revolver was found attached to a handkerchief around the prisoner's neck. Among the clerks in the office there was a friendly feeling. Mr. MacMaster took his seat and handed the witness over to Mr. Greenshields. "Shortis," said the witness, "was learning the business under Mr. Simpson's supervision. Simpson told Shortis that if he did not leave a certain house in Valleyfield, he would have to leave the mill. He was afterwards discharged."

WILSON TELLS HIS STORY.

Nothing new was elicited from the witness, and as the clock struck noon, the clerk of the court called Hugh A. Wilson, As the young man who so nearly lost his life at the hands of the prisoner entered the witness box there was intense excitement. Shortis' face became almost scarlet as Wilson met his eyes. Wilson's story has never been told before, at least not for publication. His efforts in his fight for life have been written of, but never from anything he had said To the jury he first told of his position in the mill, and the arrival of Shortis on the night of the tragedy. Coming to actual shooting, the scene was graphic in the extreme. He said, "Shortis turned suddenly, and, pointing the revolver at me, shot me here" (pointing to his left cheek bone). "The bullet ploughed through my cheek and split on the teeth, three of which were broken. A small piece of it entered my tongue. Here it is," and he produced the lead which had been buried in his tongue for two months. "He then turned and shot Loy dead, and Lowe and Lebouef got in the safe. I cried, 'Don't shoot, don't shoot!' and as I went to the window near the telephone he shot again, the bullet missing me and going through the window. We heard some one coming, and he said, 'Maxime, what is the matter?' He went round the counter and I tried to get in the safe. Failing in this, I turned and went to the manager's office. Just as I entered I saw him some yards away raise a pistol and he shot a man, whom I presume, was Lebouef. I went into the manager's office and closed the door.

SEARCHING IN THE DARK FOR SHORTIS.

Wilson continued, "When I got about ten feet into the mill, another shot was fired at me. Soon after this I fell down after hearing a struggle at the entrance. Shortis came back to me carrying a lantern, as soon as he found me he fired again but the bullet entered just below the collarbone and passed under the lungs. Shortis again left me and went to the entrance and heard shots fired. I crawled at once through the mill and then got under a bench where I laid for some time. When Shortis came back into the mill, and got within 25 feet of me, but did not find me. He was searching for me as I could see him lighting matches every few moments. He went away and soon returned, and as he got near me said: 'Wilson, Wilson, for God's sake where are you,' but I did not reply.

SHORTIS KNOCKED THE DOOR IN.

"Hardly had I done this when Shortis came rushing to the door, tried it, and then kicked out a panel and got in. I succeeded in getting past him somehow, just how I don't know. I hastened through the outer office, and as I was going into the mill he came near me and snapped the revolver, but it did not go off. As I got into the darkness of the mill I passed some one whom I think was Maxime Lebouef crawling back to the entrance where he had first been shot." Here Shortis put his hands in his pockets for the first time and showed undoubted interest in the story, following closely witnesses' description of the scene as he pointed to the drawing of the premises nailed to the wall near the jury.

HOW WILSON GOT AWAY.

"He went and I crawled some distance to the side of the wall, where there was another bench. I shortly afterwards recovered my strength sufficiently to pass through the two long weave rooms to the door of the old mill, and, going through the carpenters' rooms, I reached the pipe room, where I met Napoleon Delisle, who supported me into the boiler house. I managed to murmur 'doctor' to him, and he left me to find one. Delisle came back with Dr. Sutherland, and I told him I was shot and that Shortis shot me. I told him Johnny Loy was lying dead in the office and I thought Maxime Lebouef was dead, too. I was taken home and confined there for two months."

This concluded Wilson's evidence and as the counsel for the defence had no questions to ask, the court adjourned for luncheon.

SEIZED FOR SMUGGLING.

"Gatling Gun" Howard Defends His Actions in Labrador.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—Capt. "Gatling Gun" Howard has explained his seizures in the Labrador district. He says that on his way to Gaspe in the spring he was told that he would not come back alive if he did his duty as a customs officer on that coast, but he answered pretty strongly that he would do his duty. On his arrival off the north shore he found 140 Newfoundland fishing smacks, of which many had no papers of clearance or shipping certificates. They were liable to seizure, but he only ordered them off the coast.

These vessels were simply certificated by the Newfoundland Government for fishing in Newfoundland waters. Capt. Howard says that he had not the slightest trouble with any of these, and was even thanked for correcting their papers. The schooner Telegram was seized because it had an illegal clearance from Carbonear to Bras d'or. The Crawford was seized when fitting out for the West India trade; the Annie had a domestic fishing license made out on a foreign clearance form and was landing Newfoundland goods in Onabee: the Foaming Billow was seized for smuggling. Capt. Howard made all the seizures in a sail boat, assisted by one man.

MURDERING PRISONERS.

FIVE ARMENIANS KNOWN HO HAVE BEEN KILLED BY TURKS

While Within the Prison Walls—Great Excitement will Prevail at Constantinople—Does the U. S. President Desire Trouble on Account of the Monroe Doctrine?

Special to The Times.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—The reports that the Armenians who were arrested for taking part in Monday's and Tuesday's rioting were killed after being taken into custody, have been confirmed. It is known to a certainty that five of the prisoners were so killed, and it would excite no surprise to hear that others met their death in the same manner Eye-witnesses of the rioting say that the Armenians did not discharge their firearms until Major Severet Bey ordered the police to fire upon them.

Turkish officials view the troubles as being the direct outcome of the agitation in Europe, especially in Great Britain, in favor of the Armenians as against the Turks.

Over 500 Armenians are in prison.

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Standard will tomorrow publish a despatch from Constantinople saying that on Wednesday a large number of shops were entirely closed and the streets were patrolled by the police. The whole city is virtually in a state of siege. The despatch adds that a witness of the occurrence states that a respectable looking American was arrested by two guardians on Tuesday, while walking in the Galata quarter. When he protested against being arrested the gendarmes immediately ripped his body open with their swords. No such terror has prevailed since the Greek Revolution.

A YANKEE FAD.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Westminster Gazette, in an article under the caption, "Turn About is Fair Play, says: "The other day Lord Salisbury sent an ultimatum to China and now, according to despatches received from Washington, Ambassador Bayard has been instructed to notify Great Britain that unless the Venezuelan question is submitted to arbitration within 90 days, the United States will enforce the Monroe doctrine. It is to be hoped that if settlement of the question can be hurried up Lord Salisbury will do it, but surely President Cleveland cannot wish to rush us out of just claims."

The St. James Gazette say: "Isn't it awful; but it might be still more awful if we only know exactly what the blessed Monroe doctrine was, or what on earth the United States Government has got to do with a quarrel between Great Britain and another independent state."

CORBETT AND FITZ.

The Place of the Fight May be Announced Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Special to The Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—President Dan Stuart, of the Florida Athletic Club, has wired the Associated Press from Dallas as follows: "Everything looks favorable for arrangements being completed within twenty-four hours. At present no one knows which way my face is turned, but when I give the location out I am certain I have it clinched."

Unless the bill is passed, there is nothing here to prevent the mill being pulled off. A representative of Dan Stuart has been here, and the general impression is that an attempt will be made to secure a place two miles below here.

The G. O. M. Writes About the Liquor Traffic and its Several Phases.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to the Temperance Congress, in which he says: "While profoundly sensible of the immense importance of the liquor question, I cannot pretend that I have mastered its difficulties. I see it clearly in certain of its aspects, but as a whole it baffles me. I have no doubt that the local option principle is sound, but they must be of very sanguine temperament who believe that it is sufficient to dispose of the entire question. The method of the sale of liquor for public account, which exists in certain parts of Scandinavia, presents great advantages, and if adopted here, ought to be adopted in its best form. The plan of free trade with strict police supervision and adequate taxation was unfortunately refused a fair trial in Great Britain. Of the scheme of mere limitation by reducing the number of licenses, I have a poor opinion."

Lord Rosebery's Visit

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Lord Rosebery's rumored visit to Canada is now explained. The present Governor General of the Dominion, the Earl of Aberdeen, is not only an old friend and Ministerial colleague, but also the brother in law of Lord Tweedmouth, the late Liberal whip. Lord Aberdeen wrote to Lord Rosebery a most tempting and kindly invitation to come over and see how Canada had gone ahead since he was last there. Lord Rosebery replied: "I wish with all my heart that I could go, but my doing so is very problematical."

She Marries the Rev. Father.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 4.—Maud Steidel, the girl who was arrested in Chicago, and Father Dominick Wagner, under arrest for her abduction, are to be married here today, and legal proceedings will be dropped. Father Wagner agrees to give the girl $6,000 in cash and $4,000 in real estate to escape prosecution.

May Have Gone Down.

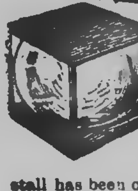
LONDON, Oct. 4.—A large two masted steamer, with one white banded funnel, making heavy weather, was seen this morning four miles off Graystone, heading for Plymouth. The steamer suddenly vanished, and it is supposed that she foundered!

TWELVE JURORS CHOSEN.

IT TOOK TWO DAYS TO SELECT A JURY FOR SHORTIS.

Predictions of Defence Before Judge Belanger Vindicated—An Important Witness For the Defence Dying at Valleyfield.

Special to the Times.



BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 3.—Great as was the interest shown yesterday in the Shortis trial it is even greater today, and some time before the court opened an immense throng of people gathered around the door and fought for admission.

In order not to lose their places many of them brought food, and a refreshment stall has been opened by an enterprising old woman in the lower corroidor of the court.

Within the center portion of the court room there are a number of privileged visitors, including Mrs. Donald Mcmaster, wife of the Crown Prosecutor.

Mr. J. K. Elliott, who was for 25 years Crown prosecutor in the district, has been engaged for the defence, for whom the following formidable array are ranged to the right of the prisoner: Messrs. Greenshields, St. Pierre, Foster and Elliott.

His Honor took his seat at 10 15 a.m. and immediately the prisoner, bearing himself still with that remarkable sang froid, was brought into court, and stepped lightly into the box, smiling and bowing for a moment to his father and mother, whom he had not seen this morning previously.

Mr. Macmaster at once arose and made a motion that all the latter portion of the plea put in by the defence should be struck out.

The words he objected to were: "And was at the time suffering from unconsciousness and disease of mind, by which a predetermination of his will was excluded: that he was in a state of madness and was insane."

He explained at length the law on the matters and asked that the simple plea "That at the time of the commission of the act alleged in the indictment the prisoner was laboring under natural imbecility and disease of the mind to such an extent that rendered him incapable of appreciating the nature and quality of the act and of knowing that such an act was wrong," should be admitted.

His Honor ruled against Mr. Macmaster stating that he would allow the plea in full. This was at once considered a great point in favor of the defence.

Mr. Greenshields asked that a mixed jury should be allowed and His Honor replied in the affirmative.

Mr. St. Pierre objected to the indictment. It was bad in law he said because there could be no two counts on the same charge and in the one indictment. It would deprive the accused of a right which he should enjoy in having the privilege of challenging jurors in each case.

Mr. St. Pierre was proceeding with quotations at length, when His Honor remarked that it was unnecessary, as he was inclined to grant the request.

Mr. Macmaster was sorry his Honor had spoken thus before hearing him, but he would not press opposition to the objection.

"Score two." came audibly from the defence.

ELEVEN JURORS CHOSEN.

BEAUHARNOIS, Oct. 3.—Up to five o'clock tonight the opinion existed among those unacquainted with the district of Beauharnois and the feeling with regard to the Shortis murder that the defence, when making application for a change of venue from this district, when doing so from some other than real motive indicated in in their proceedings.

The regular panel of forty jurors was summoned, and after close work, from ten o'clock this morning up to five o'clock this evening, when each man was tried upon his oath as to his prejudices and his impartiality, only eleven were found.

The result was that at the close of the court the Crown were obliged to ask the court to issue special instructions to the sheriff to go into byways and highways during the night time and gather fifteen more jurors, from which they may perhaps be able to find one that will complete the list of jurors. A great deal of excitement is prevailing tonight as to whether that that juror can be found in this district or not, and should it happen that out of fifteen to be summoned no competent juror can be discovered it will be too late for the Crown to make application for another list, and the whole proceedings up to this time will have been in vain.

The following are the gentlemen who compose the eleven so far chosen: Chas. A. McHardy, Hinchinbrooke; Alex. Watson, Elgin; W. Finney, Godmanchester; A. A. Smaill, Elgin; George Leggett, Hinchinbrooke; Joseph Daoust, St. Etienne; Joseph Bourdon, St. Etienne; R. Cardinal, St. Martine; C. Demers, St. Antoine; P. Boyer, St. Antoine: T. Dore, St. Urbain.

SHORTIS TALKS ON THE JURY.

At the close of the day's proceedings I succeeded in having an interesting chat with the famous prisoner. He maintains his remarkable demeanor and his absolute indifference to the proceedings may be easily judged by the following conversation and by the fact that not once during the entire proceedings did he glance at judge or jury, not even when a juryman was about to be sworn and the clerk demanded "Juryman, look upon the prisoner; prisoner, look upon the juryman."

"How are they treating you here?" was asked.

"Splendid; but what a damn farce this is. I want some Pears soap. The soap I get here is all right for washing clothes, but not fit for a Christian."

"They're getting along slow, aren't they?"

"Some one seems to enjoy it, but as it doesn't concern me, why let them alone. By the way, will you send the TIMES, and tell mother, if you can get a word with her, to send me some more soap."

In this manner he rambled on, without rhyme or reason. Again and again he confessed absolute disdain for those who were partaking in his trial.

IMPORTANT WITNESS DYING.

A telegram has just been received stating that Robert McGuinness, step-father of Shortis' sweetheart, Miss Anderson, is dying of typhoid pneumonia in Valleyfield. McGuinness is considered the most valuable witness the defence has, and the news has caused much alarm among the prisoner's friends. It is likely that as soon as the court opens tomorrow morning the defence counsel will move for a commission to take the statement of Mr. McGuinness.

THE TWELFTH JUROR.

BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Oct. 3.—After a long night's journey over hill and dale, on foot and sometimes on horseback, Sheriff Lagarge turned up bright and smiling in the crowded court room this morning. All night he had spent in personally visiting the homes of men in different parts of the country who were eligible to sit on the jury. It required only one man to complete it, but to get this one man it was deemed advisable to summon at least fifteen, and these were hard to find. After a panel of fifty had already been exhausted they were found, however, and some unhappy, some sullen, some cursing, they turned up at 10 this morning and the clerk proceeded with the drawing.

David Elliott was the first man called, and, as it was understood that he was a professed Christian and prepared to deal out justice, it was thought that the jury would at once be made complete. In answer to a question, Elliott exclaimed, "If he was insane or sane, I'd swing him anyway." "Step down, sir," sternly said the judge, and Elliott got out of sight quickly. Six others were then sworn and questioned, but none were accepted until John Cunningham of Howick declared his willingness to fairly and honestly try the prisoner. He took the oath and then after two days anxious labor the jury was completed.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the new celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

Still at It.

HAVANA, Oct. 3.—General Lequer reports that the troops under his command engaged in battle on Oct. 1 with a force of rebels, under the leadership of the bandit Matagas, in the Remedios district. Five rebels were killed, and two Government troops were wounded oth Houses Were Unanimous in the Passage of the New Law—If Corbett and Fitzsimmons Fight at Dallas They Will Pay the Penalty in Prison.

pecial to The Times.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 3. —Corbett and Fitzsimmons must find another place than Texas in which to pull off their fight for the championship of the world. The Legislature today by a vote that was practically unani ous in the senate and only a little less in e house, passed the bill prohibiting rize fighting. The vote by which the bill as carried furnished the strongest proof the sentiment of the State. The only llying part in the minority was opposi on to the emergency clause, which puts e bill into immediate effect. Some of the embers regarded this as an injustice to e citizens of Dallas, who had spent large ms in anticipation of the fight and pposed it for that reason alone. Their rguments were not effective, however, d the vote in the house on the final pas ge of the bill showed but five members in pposition with 107 in its favor.

IN THE SENATE.

In the Senate the bill was carried with ly one negative vote in the 27 that were st. The Senate made quick work of the easure. It had taken a recess until 3.30 clock this afternoon in order that the allas people might be given a full hearing the judiciary committee. Within fifty e minutes of reassembling the bill had ssed. The work in the House was not expeditious. The House is the larger dy and several members desired to be ard upon the Senate bill, which was bstituted for the House bill then pend g.

WHAT EHE LAW IS.

A number of amendments were offered. everal were adopted but these do not ange the measure except to make it still ore effective. As a result of these amend ents the bill will be returned to the enate tomorrow but its adoption in mended form will be detained no longer an necessary to call the roll. It will en be sent to the governor and when his gnature shall have been attached it will come law. "ARION'S" ESCAPE rom Death — A Canadian High Wire Walker's Peril.

pecial to The Times.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 3.—A high-wire rtist named D. H. McDonell, of Owen ound, travelling under the professional ame of Arion, the "wizard of the high ire," had a narrow escape at Harrison rk Tuesday afternoon. The performnce on Monday had been prevented by defect in the apparatus, and Arion as busy making repairs. Having fin hed these he attempted a test. On oing on to the wire Arion puts on a elmet covered with incandescent lights. e also adjusts a belt holding about wenty lights to his waist. To bring ut the light there must of necessity be current. This is secured by means of trolley, or overhead wire, on which wheel runs. To this vessel is attached a ire, which Arion holds, thus carrying e 500 volts current into his body When alking on the wire the sparks splash from is feet with the same lustre as is produced y the trolley on a street car when the otorman is placing it on the wire. In ther words, the wire on which he walks ears the same relation in Arion's act as oes the street car rails in propelling a otor car. The narrowly-averted accident, owever, was due to Arion's bicycle. He as riding along the wire when the spokes the machine melted and the wheel ame down. The rider clung to the wire, owever, and saved himself. He was on gain last night, and, while there was no ght in his front wheel, the rear wheel orked perfectly.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Michigan Central Train Dashes into a Rig at Essex.

Special to the Times

ESSEX, Oct. 3.—A terrible accident happened at the M.C.R. crossing here about 2.30 p.m. today. Thomas and William Mooney, aged 19 and 17 respectively, and their father, Edward, together with the hired man, Dennis Burke, and a Miss Jones were driving to the fair, and when on the crossing were struck by No. 31 express going west. The crossing is on Main street and at a very busy part of the town. The flagman was away and though the town by-law limits the rate to 20 miles an hour, the train was going at forty miles an hour. The whistle was blown but the people had not time to get off the track before being struck. Thomas and Wm. Mooney and Dennis Burke were killed instantly. The father and Miss Jones were slightly hurt but will recover. The horse escaped with a few bruises, but the rig was demolished. All the unfortunate people are widly known and highly respected farmers of Sandwich South, living about two miles north of Maidstone. An inquest is being held.

A BRAKEMAN KILLED.

John Cameron, of Toronto, Horribly Mangled at Unionville.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—A brakeman on the Grand Trunk railway, whose home was at 155 Tecumseh street, was terribly injured on Wednesday night at 8.10 o'clock at Unionville, and died this morning at the General Hospital here. He was braking on a freight train going east, which was side tracked at Unionville to allow the Montreal express to pass. He seems to have leaped from his own train before the wheels of the approaching express. He was knocked down and the engine and five cars passed over his body. His left leg and arm was severed and his right leg horribly lacerated. He was brought to the city on the express. Dr. Riordan and the unfortunate man's wife were summoned. After two hours Cameron still lived, and his wife having been forced from his side to return to a dying child at home, he was removed to the hospital. He leaves two children.

The Folly of it.

The folly of bonusing industries is once more exemplified in the sudden collapse of the Peterborough Carbon Works, by which the town is a heavy loser and also a large number of gentlemen who were induced to take stock in the concern. It seems strange in the light of wide spread experience that communities or individuals can be caught so frequently, but it seems stranger still that only kiteflyers are capable of successfully floating such schemes. Anything bearing the stamp of solidity or necessity is sure to receive the cold shoulder from those who rush headlong into the most transparent fakes. It has always been the way and ever will be.—Colborne Express.

HOW CHINA REGARDS IT.

The British Ultimatum Viewed From the Oriental End of the Glass.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Herald's London correspondent says, with regard to Chinese official opinion in the matter of the English ultimatum, he is in a position to state the following on the highest authority: "China yields to force, acting under very prudent advice, but she looks upon the case of the Viceroy's punishment from the same point of view as England would if Chinese subjects had been murdered in the streets of London—where, as a matter of fact, they are apt to be insulted and made fun of by the ignorant—and China were to call upon England to disgrace Lord Salisbury.

"The Chinese have no police force in their towns, as such is not needed, Thus the authorities were unfortunately unprepared for an outbreak of so disgraceful a character, which only could have taken place under exceptional circumstances, caused by popular excitement due to China's recent great disaster's." This is the Chinese version. More is likely to be heard in the near future respecting the political aspect of missionary activity in China.

SIXTY POUNDS OF POWDER.

Exploded by a Fool Who Put a Lighted Match in the Box.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—At Lemont yesterday afternoon, three men were eating their dinners in the shade of a powder-box on section 5, and began to smoke. One man thrust a lighted match in a crack of the box and exploded sixty pounds of powder. The men were blown twenty feet away and frightfully burned. One man, whose back was a sheet of flames, plunged into a pool of water. When drawn out some of the flesh from his back remained in the water. The ribs of another were bared, and none of the men can recover. They were taken to the County Hospital last night.

ENDED HIS WEARY LIFE.

EDWARD BLACKHILL COMMITTS SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.

Put a Bullet Through His Head in the Bathroom — Despondency Owing to Business Troubles the Cause.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—At 10 20 this morning Edward Blackhill, a well known citizen took his life by shooting himself in the bathroom at his residence, 93 Wood street.

At the hour named his daughter heard the report of a pistol, and on rushing in was met by the awful sight of her father lying on the floor, a revolver near him and blood issuing from a wound on his head. Police Sergeant McFarlane, who lives next door, was informed of the terrible affair, and Dr. James Caven, of Carlton street, was hastily summoned. Mr. Blackhill, however, had died before his arrival. Coroner Aikins, who had been notified, paid a visit to the house and saw the body. A warrant for an inquest was issued, but the coroner said that it was only for the purpose of making some informal inquiry and that no inquest would be held.

The deceased has been a resident of this city for many years. About twenty years ago he was employed as foreman in the business conducted by Adam Miller, on Wellington street, near Jordan, now the W. J. Gage Co. Many years ago he turned his attention to the improvement of machinery for book-binding and so successful was he in this that he relinquished his ordinary occupation for that of an inventor. He has had a book-binding establishment at 32-34 Lombard street for some time, but the business lay mostly in the hands of his sons.

Of late he has been attacked by fits of deep despondency, induced by business worry, and this is deemed the only motive for his rash deed.

Mr. Blackhall has also established a book-binding business in Buffalo. He has long been a prominent Mason. His health for a month or so has been far from good.

DURANT'S ALIBI IS BAD.

The Students at Cooper College Did not Remember His Presence.

Special to The Times.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—To-day's session of the Durant case was taken up by the defence in an attempt to verify the roll call at the lecture at Cooper College on the afternoon of April 3, on which day, Durant mainly depends to show that he was not in Blanche Lamont's company at the time of the murder. The entire senior class to which Durant belonged was subpœnœd and nearly all its members were examined to-day. The questions propounded by Durant's counsel directed to show whether any of his classmates had answered for him, whether they had heard anyone answer for him, and if they remembered anyone except the lecturer and the member who called the roll as being present on that afternoon.

The answer in each case was in the negative. Counsel for the defence this afternoon announced in court that Durant would testify that he himself had answered the roll call.

IT WAS THEIR FAULT.

THE ARMENIANS DELIBERATELY FOMENTED THE TROUBLE.

Beaten Unto Death—Many Willing to Sacrifice Themselves for the Cause—But Little Sympathy for Them.

Special to The Times

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—To add to the state of terror prevailing here there was a third slight earthquake shock experienced here yesterday. This with the rioting and bloodshed, the imprisonment of about 500 Armenians, the killing of prisoners in cold blood, and the troops under arms at all points; is well calculated to excite the most phlegmatic Turk. The rioting and blood letting which began on Monday, was renewed on Tuesday evening, in spite of all the precautions taken by the authorities. On Tuesday the principal rioting was the work of the Softas, Mahomedan theological students, who chased and beat with bludgeons every Armenian they met. During Tuesday night a mob of Softas and Turks attacked the house of a leading Armenian, Kasim Pasha, storming the building and threatening its destruction and killing several persons who were unable to escape from it in time. This mob also sacked a cafe frequented by Armenians, and twenty of these unfortunate people who were found there were beaten to death with bludgeons. To the disgrace of the authorities not a single policeman appeared on the scene and no attempt was made to save the lives of the Armenians.

ARMENIANS PANIC STRICKEN.

Naturally, the Armenians of Constantinople and its vicinity are panic stricken and put no faith in the assurances of protection from further violence at the hands of the Turkish mobs. Many of them sought refuge in the churches where they were earnestly addressed by their clergy who enjoined them to be calm and to give the Turks no further opportunities for attacking them. The Armenian churches are now watched by the police, but the greatest uneasiness prevails, and the members of the other religious denominations fear that the fanaticism of the Turks may extend in other directions. The Armenians have the sympathy of the foreigners here, but the fact that they are armed, in spite of their pacific announcements, is condemned by their best friends and lends color to the statements of the Turkish officials who claim that the Armenian agitators organized a revolt against the Sultan's authority, and that the attempt to present a petition to the Grand Vizier, on Monday last, which led to the first rioting and bloodshed, was nothing more than a pretext which was to serve as the signal for an Armenian outbreak.

THE OUTLOOK CONTEMPLATED.

That the Armenians contemplated some such attempt to call attention to their grievances has been known for a long time past, and the Associated Press correspondent in Armenia, months ago, drew attention to this, saying that he had conclusive evidence that the Armenian revolutionary committee was preparing a demonstration at Constantinople and that any number of Armenians were willing thus to sacrifice themselves for the ultimate benefit of their unhappy compatriots. On the other hand, the partisans of the Armenians assert that the latter only armed themselves against the Turks. The authorities have stationed troops and police at every threatened point and it is asserted this morning that there is no danger of any further disturbances. This, however, is not generally believed.

NOT FAVORABLE TO THE ARMENIANS.

LONDON, Oct. 3,—The dangerous state of affairs at Constantinople is the sensation of the day here and all the despatches from that city are read with the greatest eagerness. Many important messages are known to have been received at the British Foreign Office, from Sir Phillip Currie, the British Ambassador at Constantinople and the feeling here is not entirely favorable to the Armenians. In spite of the assurances to the contrary of the Armenian Committee, of this city, the belief prevails in official circles here that the rioting at Constantinople was a deliberately planned uprising, brought about by the American agitators, who are desirous of forcing the hands of the powers in order to bring about direct interference upon the part of Great Britain, France and Russia in the administration of Armenia.

BACK ON THE TEUTONIC.

Valkyrie's Crew Sail for Old England—A Chat With Designer Watson.

Special to The Times.

New York, Oct. 3.—The White Star line steamer Teutonic, which sailed for Liverpool at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bore away the remaining members of Lord Dunraven's party and of the Valkyrie's crew.

Designer Watson, who was seen shortly before the sailing of the ship, said he was very pleased with his visit and would like to prolong it. He did not think he would be able to come over to witness the races next year, but he might be able to do so if they were held as late in the season, as they had been held this year.

In reply to a question about the Valkyrie's performance he said :—"Well I am quite satisfied with her. She did as well as I expected her to do. The weather was heavier than I expected her to meet and there was more sea. There was a great deal of interference from the excursion boats, and she got by far the most of it."

"Do you think she can be tuned up so as to beat the Defender if she meets her next season?"

"Well, we can tell better when that time comes. The Defender is certainly a very fast boat."

"What do you think of the decision of the Regatta Committee of the New York Yacht Club on the protest in the second race?"

"I have no criticism to make concerning it. I have confidence in the fairness of the committee."

"What do you think of Mr. Rose's chances for next year?"

"Well, now," said Mr. Watson, "you must excuse me from speaking about that. You know I am not to design that boat. But she will have to be fast to beat the Defender."

Captains Cranfield and Sycamore, in full yachting uniform, stood on the second cabin promenade deck surrounded by a group of the Valkyrie's sailors. Both the captains were in very good humor. "Are you coming back next spring?" they were asked. "We don't know," said Captain Sycamore. "We don't know anything about it. If Lord Dunraven decides to race Valkyrie here. I suppose we will. It all depends upon what plans he makes, and there is plenty of time for him to make them. All we know is we are going home now, and right glad of it we are."

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

PETERBOROUGH. OCTOBER 5 1895.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

A Very Large Attendance of Members—A Spirited Discussion on "Are We Improving?"—A Large Amount of Business Transacted.

The attendance at the Hall of Wisdom last night was unusually large. Amongst the members present were Bros. Cautious Miller, Gingerale Kennaley and Lemonade Gall, Keene; Mariner Scollard, Saw Mill Young and W. McFarlane (President of the Young's Point Liver Complaint Society), Young's Point; Boneyard Walker, Razor Reynolds and Big Bass Wilmot, Port Hope; Spiritual Munro, Sauvity Madill and Flowery Bell, Lakefield; Binder Twine O'Connor, Bass Wood Whibbs and Twoforty O'Brien, Slopeville, and many others.

A WEATHER FORECAST.

Prof. Slabs, the Club's authorized weather prophet, being called upon for his report, handed in the following predictions:

"Along about the middle of this month there will be great atmospheric disturbances in the Rocky Mountains and many grizzly bears will be upset and killed.

"About the end of October look out for a hurricans which will blow all the old hats and pillows out of the windows on George street.

"There won't be any earthquakes in November. That is, I don't see any signs of any, although it will be just as well to be on the lookout.

"I predict on early winter, and a hard one—not because I am working in a coal yard, but for the reason that the goose bone has already began to turn dark and because the corn husks are unusually thick."

The report was accepted and placed on file, and the President privately instructed Piledriver Riley to ascertain whether the weather prophet got a commission on coal.

PERMANENTLY CRIPPLED.

Bro. Snowden then offered a resoultion to the effect that all fines collected during the next year for spitting on the stove, be set aside to establish an asylum for persons who have been permanently cripple by trying to make forty without a king.

The resolution was seconded by Bro. E. Brown, Harry Allen and several other members, but the Chair explained that it would have lay on the table for two weeks under the rules, and he would think it over.

FAVOURABLE.

The Committe on "Lunatic Asylums and Causes Thereof," signified their willingness to report on the following querys presented by the Provincial Board of Health: "Are the Lunatics Increasing?"

Bro. Bombshell McNaughton, Chairman of the Committee, reported that his committee had made faithful and diligent enquiry and looked up all the authorities and had the deep satisfaction of being able to report that lunacy was decreasing very rapidly. It was a glorious fact that not more than twenty-two per cent of the members of this Club were mentally unbalanced. Our brother, therefore, was not only a very level-headed citizen, but his mind was nailed down to stay, and his philosophy was something to boast of.

On motion of Jamfed Jones, who once worked in an insane asylum for a year at running the steam heating, the report was accepted and adopted, and Sir Richard complimented the committee on its vigorous work.

HE MAY.

The Secretary then read the following:

BURLEIGH FALLS, ONT.

President McBride:

DEAR SIR—At a recent meeting of the Little Hatchet Club, of this place, you were elected (without a dissenting voice) an honorary member of our club, with the rank of "Board-Ax." Our object is the economical use of the truth, and our motto is contained in that beautiful line of Horace (not Greeley): "Non Truistum Ibec Lias accipos hoc." Freely translated, it means: "Never waste truth when a lie will fit better." Our seal is a little hatchet, regardant with a cherry tree couchant.

Given under my hand and seal this 3rd Oct. A. D. 1895.

Yours fraternally.
SINCERITY HOLMES,
President, F. A. (Foot Adze.)
LOCK GATE FULLER, Secretary, C. C. (Cold Chisel).

"I am not quite clear on this letter either," replied the President. I reckon I shall carry it home with me to-night and try and arrive at the facts in the case, and if it is all right, I will accept the honor."

A LECTURE.

The President announed that the first lecture of the Autumn Series would be delivered, by Hon. Helarious Davis, of Norwood, who was now waiting in the ante-room. He was celebrated for his talks on hygenie, and probably knew as much about the laws of health as any man in America. He had been in town three days, and during that time had visited many families and given them hints of the greatest value. He was the only orator who had come here during the past year with cash enough in his pocket to pay a day's board, and the only one not compelled to borrow a white shirt and a paper collar of some member of the club.

HE ENTERS.

The honorable gentleman was introduced by the visiting committee in one time and three motions. Like all great philosophers his shoes were down at the heel, his elbows frayed, his knees out of true, and his general appearance proved a carelessness on his part as to whether he got right-up end first or not in the morning. He was received with enthusiastic applause, during which Tiedup Garley managed to give Bro. C. LeBrun a vigorous kick and lay it to accident. As he bowed his applause two buttons were heard to strike the wall behind him and his collar made a determind effort to rise above his ears.

HE BEGINS.

"My friends," begin the honorable in a voice rich with anticipation of the coming free lunch season, "we go to bed at night. If we have no money we go to bed along about half-past 9 o'clock. If we have a soiree on hand it may be two hours later. If I ask you what you go to bed for you answer to sleep. What do you sleep for? You reply that it is because nature intended you to. Yes, but why did she? You can't tell. You tumble into bed and lay there on your backs and snooze and snore and dream of bidding 40 without a king, and when morning comes you fall out and kick the dog and jaw the children and wish you were rich and didn't have to go to work. [Yells of applause.] Nature meant that you should lie down in sleep to give the body a rest—to let all the muscles relax, the nerves grow quiet, the brain cease its tremendous efforts for awhile. My world renowned tonic, which can be had in the ante-room after this meeting adjourns at two-bits a bottle, every bottle warranted to hold half a pint, will bring about this happy result. No cure no pay."

The orator paused here to imbige a glass of water, and a puzzled look crept into the Sir Richard's face. He was observed to make a signal to Bro. Mervin, and that gentleman nodded as if he understood.

"We have the back-ache," continued the orator—"the back-ache, the colic, pains in the chest, fits of melancholy, bad dreams, sudden desire to jump off the tower of the Opera House. We have such things, and we never stop to inquire the reason. We just go right along suffering, laying our sad conidtion to the Town Solicitor and the town police force and never supposing there is a certain and cheap cure right at hand. [Sensation.] My freinds, I have the proud satisfaction to tell you that I am the inventor, proprietor and sole agent on this globe for the "Wellington Cholera Preventative and Lightning Corn Resolver" and after this meeting is over my remedy can be had by any of the gentlemen present at the usual price of two bits a box—warranted purely vegetable or money refunded." [High old applause.]

As the speaker stopped to take another pint of water there was a broad grin on almost every face, and this was increased by the uneasy movement of the President. It was plain to be seen that he had been taken in and done for again, and that he was arranging some sort of programme with Piledriver Riley, who has long held the position of Kicker of the club.

"My friends," pathetically continued the honorable, after the water had been put away behind his nankeen vest, "you are walking along the street, and are sudduenly taken with a crick in the back, and can not go on down to the Ontario bank and draw out $50. You get up in the morning feeling sleepy. You don't care two cents whether you have quail on toast or turkey on sweet cake for breakfast. You wake up in the night with a cold sweat starting out, violent beating of the heart, and fear in your soul that a band of anarchists is hidden under the bed to take your life. On certain occasions you sit down with a piece of chalk and a shingle to figure up how much a year it will cost you to rent forty postoffice boxes at $4 each. You are struck. The figures dance away from you. Your eyes blur and you jump up in alarm if the dog howls in the back yard. You go right along just the same, however, never stopping to inquire into the natural causes, and the first thing you know your friends are gathered around your bedstead to see you expire. [Decided sensation all over the hall.] My freinds, it gives me the utmost pleasure to be able to inform you on this auspicious occasion that I am the sole owner of what is called 'The Wellington Cure-All Plaster,' which I warrant to be composed of sixteen different roots and the best South African tar. These plasters sell at twenty cents each, or six for a dollar, and our member had one on the small of his back when he first entered Parliament. After this meeting is ambuscaded I shall be most happy to see you in the ante-room, and I——"

At this point Piledriver interruped the speaker to say that a man wanted to see him on very important business.

"Exactly," replied the honorable, "My freinds, I will retire for a moment and ascertain his business. My address is only half concluded."

He retired in good order, smiling and bowing as he passed down the aisle, but he never came back. Two minutes later his voice was heard saying:

"Boy, be careful where you put that foot of yours! I don't allow nobody to fool with me."

Weak and Nervous

Whenever the body has been weakened by disease, it should be built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"About two years ago I suffered with a very severe attack of inflammation of the bowels. When I began to recover I was in a very weak and nervous condition, and suffered intensely with neuralgia pains in my head, which caused loss of sleep, and having no appetite, I and weak. Fortunately a friend who had used Hood's Sarsaparilla with great benefit, kindly recommended me to try it. I did so and a perfect cure has been effected. I am now as well as I ever was, and I would not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house for anything." MRS. G. KERN, 245 Manning Ave., Toronto, Ont.

And a little later:

"I never skipped a town yet, and I won't begin now?"

Then the Hall of Wisdom jarred and vibrated, and the plaster fell in spots, and the stove door swung wide open. Something bumped on the stairs and fell into the alley, followed by a racket as if a dray-horse was galloping for his life. In three or four minutes Piledriver Riley returned, the right leg of his trousers split to the knee, and his breath coming hard, and as he sat down the President arose and said:

"My freinds, the difference between a philosopher and a fakir is sometimes so powerful fine that the best of men are deceived. It's my opinion that we got hold of the wrong animal, but there's no great harm done. I recokn he won't bother us no more and perhaps he has left us a few grains of wheat among the chaff."

THE CLOSE.

The Janitor was authorized to repair five new leaks in the roof, and the meeting fell asunder for one week.

THE LAKEFIELD BURGLARY.

The News Gives an Account of the Affair—The Suspects.

The men who robbed the store of Messrs. Madill Bros., at Lakefield are thought to be tramps, a large number of whom infest the county between here and Lakefield. The particular tramps are supposed to have headed for Peterborough. The Lakefield News gives the following account of the robbery:

"It has been a long time since the quiet of our village has been disturbed by burglars, but on Thursday morning last it was broken by the report the burglars had entered the store of Messrs. Madill Bros. dry goods and clothing, and taken quite a quantity of valuable goods. On examination of the premises it was found that the burglars had tried to effect an entrance through the back door first, as they had cut a hole through one of the panels with a brace and bit large enough to get a man's hand throught, but the door was firmly secured with an iron bar and it resisted their efforts to open it. After attempting to raise a window without success, they went around to the front door and were successful in prying it open with a chistle, breaking the catch of the lock completely off. They then entered and rummaged the store over, taking what they wanted. On an examination of the store when it was opened in the morning, it was found they had carried off a considerable quantity of goods, consisting of overcoats, ready-made clothing, boots, hats, silk handkerchiefs, gloves, &c. Only about $3 was taken in money, which had been left in the till over night. After taking the goods from the store the burglars proceeded to the G.T.R. section tool house which they broke open and took a "jumper" from it, riding as far as Ashburnham, where they got off, but left a shoe box on it which led to the discovery of how they got away from that village. The tools which were used to break into the store were stolen from Mr. J. G. Brown's canoe factory the night before. There are supposed to be four men in the gang, as four suspicious-looking characters were seen in the village the night before and not since. The burglars proceeded very coolly with their work, as they toob good care to pick out everything that fitted them. The police in Peterborough were communicated with and are on the lookout for them.

FRASERVILLE NOTES.

Correspondence Morning Times.

Mr. George Trotter is about to have his house bricked.

Mr. T. Hutchins has grown a squash this year which measures 6 feet 4 inches in circumference. This beats Jack Lightfoot's big turnip.

Fraserville was the scene of a big fire last Sunday morning, which reduced to ashes Mr. J. R. Bothwell's blacksmith shop and outbuildings also Mr. James Bulliard's large driving sheds and stables. Mr. Bulliard's loss will be about $500, partially covered by $100 dollars insurance, Mr. Bothwell's loss is placed at $1,000 and covered by only $275. It is undoubtedly the work of an incendiary as the fire started in two different points at once.

$100 REWARD.

A reward of the above sum is offered for information that will lead to arrest and conviction of the person or persons who started the recent fire in Fraserville.

The strength and pure blood necessary to resist the effects of cold seasons are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have for the last 25 years of my life been complaining of a weakness of the lungs and colds in the head, especially in the winter. Last fall I was again attacked. Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. I can positively say that I have not spent a winter as free from coughs or pains and difficult breathing spells for the last 25 years as was last winter. I can lie down and sleep all night without any annoyance from cough or pain in the lungs or asthmatic difficulty." E. M. CHAMBERS, J. P., Cornhill, N. B.

THE T. EATON Co., (LIMITED)

190 YONGE STREET, Oct. 5, 1895.

New Millinery:

Not new a month ago, but new now. Direct importations of late novelties every week. You can figure that this stock is always from 30 to 60 days ahead of the market.

Shoppers are largely interested just now in.

—Ostrich Feather Trimmings
—White Ostrich Boas
—Black Ostrich Boas
—Ostrich Neck Ruffles

We're busy as can be in the millinery workroom. Hats and Bonnets trimmed to order in any desired style. Just at present we must ask you to give us all the time you can.

Stylish Clothing:

We're clothiers now as much as anything. Selling more men's and boys' clothing than any store in Toronto.

The stock is big but not lumbersome. All the newest styles are here in—

—Men's Suits
—Men's Pants
—Men's Overcoats
—Boy's Suits
—Boy's Pants
—Boy's Reefers

Extremely low prices as a matter of course and no old stock. Elsewhere there are tons of old clothing masquerading as new. That means you can't be too careful in buying.

Fine Shoes:

Our policy in regards to shoes has given a fixed meaning to the words—dry goods profits. The public understands us. We never juggle with words. Shoes at dry goods prices is a trade-mark for everybody's appreciation.

The idea covers all fine shoes, including well-known American makes. The stock represents a complete, unique, concrete collection of stylish footwear in sizes for men, women and children.

Our contention is that anybody can buy shoes here at any time and get better satisfaction than is possible elsewhere. Perhaps we're mistaken. But would business grow and grow if our claim had no foundation in fact.

Extra Good:

This list is good enough to repeat. The items have been printed before, but we're making more garments fast as we sell them:

—Children's Eiderdown Flannelette Short Coats, sizes 1 to 4 years, lined with white flannelette and trimmed with white angora fur, at........	$1.00
—Children's All-wool Eiderdown Short Coats, sizes 1 to 4 years, colors cream, fawn and grey, lined with white flannelette and trimmed with white angoro fur, at........	2.00

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

We Are Healthy.

At the Board of Health meeting last night, Dr. Clark, Medical Health Officer, reported that the town was in a very satisfactory sanitary condition and that there had been very few cases this year of infectious diseases.

He Created Excitement.

A man named Finn, who suffers from temporary fits of insanity created considerable excitemet on George street yesterday afternoon by marching up and down the street wildly waving his arms and uttering loud denunciations against the people of the town. He was placed in the cells before he did any harm.

The Latest Swindle.

A very clever swindler is going the rounds. He will call at a house with a patent can-opener and a glass cutter combined, which he offers to sell the lady of the house at $3 per dozen, claiming buying a dozen secures the purchaser the county agency. After disposing of the goods he disappears and he is never heard of again.

New Place of Worship.

The hall lately occupied by the Peterborough Business College, Water street, is undergoing a complete renovation as the Bethany Mission and Christian Alliance has leased the premises, and will make their formal opening next Sunday. Rev. J. R. Zimmerman; pastor of the Bethany Mission will conduct both services. The hall will be lighted by 6 36 candle power lights put in by Greer and Bradburn.

A New Style of Locomotive.

The G.T.R. has lately been trying a new style of locomotive fitted with patent devices, the most important of which are two cylinders, one 19 and the other 20 inches, and so arranged that the steam is used in the larger one after it has done its work in the smaller. When tested the engine drew 40 loaded cars from Brockville to Montreal with a consumption of four and a half tons of coal. An ordinary engine hauling half that number of cars the same distance uses five tons of coal.

Broke Into a Store.

Sometime Wednesday night burglars entered the store of Madill Bros., at Lakefield, and removed a large quantity of goods. They secured entrance by the back door of the shop. The door was bored to an extent that the persons were enabled to pass their hands through and reach the lock. Once inside they had everything to themselves and when the shop was opened next morning it was discovered that a quantity of dry goods, boots, gloves, over coats and suits were missing. The robbery created a great deal of excitement in the village.

It Takes a Heap of Grub.

The Gilmour camp which is situated about 105 miles from Peterboro in the back woods, has a large number of men at work. Mr. John J Howden, of 461 George street. who has been away for the past three weeks, has the contract every year to supply this camp with meat, and is at present buying up cattle about 50 miles north of here and will have to drive them about 65 miles to the camp where he will kill and get them ready for use. This camp will consume at least 80 ton of meat, or 400 head of cattle, which includes the drives as well. Mr. Howden is expected home this week.

A Runaway.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dunlap, and their niece, Miss Ella Padget, of North Monaghan, were driving into town when the axle of their buggy broke and all three were precipitated into the road. Miss Padget, who was driving still held on to the reins, was dragged along the road for more than a quarter of a mile, the horse having taken fright from the accident. Mr. Pain, who was working in his field, saw the girl's perilous position and hastened to her rescue. He extricated the young lady and found that she was not seriously hurt but badly shaken up and bruised. In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap, who had received but slight injuries, came up, and Mr. Pain gave the young lady in to their charge, and turned his attention to the horse, it having ran away again. Mr. Pain went after the animal and found it about three miles from his place.

New Time Table.

It is proposed by the Grand Trunk Railway authorities to revert to the former train service on the division between Peterborough and Belleville, says the Campbellford Herald. That means the cancellation of the night train from the west, and also the mixed train arriving here at 5 o'clock. Instead of the passenger train from Peterborough arriving here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, as formerly, Mr. E. W. Gaudrie, station agent, has intimated that an improvement might be made in having this train leave Peterborough immediately after the arrival there of the train from Toronto, so that it would be due here about 1.40, and be more than one hour earlier with the daily papers from the west. This latter change may be embodied in the new time table which may be issued in a week or ten days.

Nearly a Fatal Accident.

While assisting at a barn raising yesterday on the farm of Mr. Isaac Watson, near Reaboro, a young man named Fred Graham met with a painful accident, and had a very narrow escape from fatal injury. With a number of others he was helping to raise a brace of the purline place to its place, and quite unexpectedly the heavy stick of 4x4 timber slipped off the pikes when up about 20 ft. and fell butt downward. Graham was directly underneath and his fellow workmen expected to see him crushed to the earth, but by throwing himself backward he saved his head and the heavy stick struck his right foot instead, almost severing the two middle toes and badly crushing a couple of others. The barn being built by Mr. Watson is of very large proportions, and will replace the one destroyed by lightning a short time ago.

WANTS $10,000!

A Writ Issued Against Miss Abbie Duggan For That Amount.

HER HUBBY'S AFFECTIONS

WERE ALIENATED BY MISS DUGGAN ALLEGES MRS. A. B. APPLEBEE AND SHE SUES FOR DAMAGES —DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

A legal proceeding, the first step in a sensational lawsuit, was instituted on Wednesday when Messrs. Dumble & Johnson, acting for Mrs. A. B. Applebee, issued a writ for damages against Miss Abbie Duggan, of Peterborough. The claim is for alienating her husband's affections, and the amount of damages that Mrs. Applebee asks is $10,000. Mrs. Applebee has complied with the other necessary legal requirements and in a few days will file particulars and pleadings.

The suit will create a genuine sensation in society circles, owing to the high standing of the parties interested, and the development of the case will be awaited with interest.

The marital infelicities of the Applebee's has not been a secret to their friends, but the developments of Wednesday will be a surprise, for it was known that Mr. Applebee was on the aggressive, and had sued for divorce from his wife. The action of Mrs. Applebee was not expected.

Mr. A. B. Applebee, is the well known hide buyer. The Applebee's had a beautiful home in Peterborough, and three children blessed their union, which apparently was a most happy one, and up to a year ago no one ever suspected that they did not live happily together. Their oldest child is about 14 year's old, and the youngest about 7. From all appearances their's was a happy, cheerful home.

About a year ago Mr. Applebee went to North Dakota for the purpose of suing for a divorce from his wife. The law required that he should reside there 90 days before making application, and at the expiration of that time he began the suit, alleging abuse and infidelity on the part of his wife, as the grounds upon which the action was based. When the suit came up, witnesses from California, Chicago, Buffalo, Peterborough and other places, gave evidence for the applicant, but the charges were not sustained and the divorce was refused. There was absolutely no evidence to show abuse or infidelity on the part of Mrs. Applebee.

Applebee then returned to Peterborough. Mrs. Applebee was turned out of the house, so it is alleged by neighbors, and Applebee took two of the children and left her with the other one alone and unprovided for. He is now in Fargo, North Dakota, suing for a divorce before another judge on the grounds of desertion, and serving the 90 days residence necessary to the application.

Applebee is widely known in Peterborough and this county. Some years ago he ran for the council in No. 4 ward and was defeated.

Miss Duggan is a well known and respected lady, living at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets. She has very influential connections, and the action against her will be a great surprise to her many firm friends. She was one of the heirs of the late Mrs. Nicholls and came in for a large portion of her wealth. The pleadings which Mrs. Applebee's lawyers will file in a few days will set forth in just what particular the defendant in the action is held responsible for the alleged alienation of the husband's affections. Messrs. Stratton & Hall are acting for Miss Duggan.

For miles along the line of the Central Ontario Railway bush fires are raging and in many cases the fences along the railway have been levelled. The fences are set by the train, the grass and underbush along the road being as dry as tinder from the long continued drought.

Ten tons of grapes have been picked from Mr. Thos. Stillman's vineyard in Seymour west, this season, and there is yet nearly a ton remaining on the vines. He has sold the greater part of this large yield and will be able to dispose of the entire lot. He has also made 250 gallons of wine. The crop is the product of fourteen hundred vines.

It will be gratifying to the Messrs. Gilmour & Co. to learn that their "drives" are making such progress, the head block being now at Heeley Falls. In conversation with their agent, Mr. P. M. Gunter, we learn that he is determined to push the logs through to Trenton this fall. The drive in all contains 23,000,000 feet, board measure. The last block has arrived at Burleigh Falls.

The following letter was written by a Chinaman in China, who desired the daughter of a neighbor as a wife for his son: "On my knees I beg you not to despise this cold and common request, but listen to the words of the matrimonial agent, and give your honorable daughter to my slave of a son, so that the pair, bound by silken threads, may have the greatest joy. In the beautiful springtime I shall offer wedding presents and give a couple of geese, and let us hope for a long and continuous fortune and look forward through endless generations to the fulfillment of genuine love. May they sing of plenty and have every joy. On my knees I beg you to consider my proposal favorably and throw the mirror like glance of your eyes on these lines."

DETECTIVE MURRAY SQUIRMS.

Editor Morning Times.

SIR,—The press everywhere in this country has been scorching Detective Murray for the stupid and wicked blunder which he made in having Mr. Thomas Gray and his wife most wrongfully indicted for murder, and no doubt every decent citizen in the country looks upon it not only as a blunder, but as a foul crime, to drag these poor people and their six small children from their home in Florida, to incarcerate them in a felon's cell, and to put them on trial for their lives, when, as it turns out, there was not a tittle of evidence against them. Detective Murray who has lived under the shadow of the gallows for twenty years, is not manly enough to admit that the accused are altogether innocent. On the contrary he sets up a cowardly, quibbling defence about the failure of the Crown, because of some mishap in the selection of the jury; whereas he should have said that there was no evidence against Thomas Gray and his wife, except that which existed in the wicked, fertile imagination of a third rate detective, and in the ignorant accusations of some unfriendly neighbours.

The accused were fortunate in having their case so forcibly and eloquently set forth by Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for defence, and everybody is pleased to admit that Mr. R. C. Clute, Crown prosecutor, discharged his duty with ability, urbanity and fairness. And when the learned judge pronounced the words "not guilty" the deafening applause of the multitude shewed that justice had been done in declaring these poor people innocent.

In looking at this case from first to last one cannot help thinking that in this country the intelligence of the "bar" and the impartiality of our judges are the only safeguards we have for our lives and for our liberty. For if a man appears in our inferior courts, he is liable to be clapped into jail on sight and were it not for the safeguards already alluded to, he might have to go farther and fare worse.

BRITISH FAIR PLAY.

DETECTVE MURRAY TALKS.

He Says He is Not to Blame for the Gray Case Collapse.

Inspector John Murray, of the provincial detective department, returned on Saturday from Peterborough, where he was attending the trial of the Grays for the murder of David Scollie, says the Mail and Empire. Referring to the case, Mr. Murray said:—"When I got to Peterborough I found that only 24 out of the 48 extra jurors required for the trial had been served, and that 28 of the whole panel were from Peterborough, where sympathy naturally ran strongly in favor of the Grays. The Attorney-General's Department was communicated with, and it was decided to try the prisoners separately, so as to reduce the challenges of the defence from 40 to 20. This however, proved fatal to the Crown's case, as 20 or more witnesses who were called had to be dispensed with, because their evidence dealt chiefly with Gray, and not with Mrs. Gray, who was put on trial. I am not sorry at the result, but I cannot see why I should be blamed for extraditing the prisoners. The evidence that brought them back from Florida was carefully examined by the Deputy Attorney General. When they were brought back the magistrate considered it sufficient to send them for trial, and, further, the grand jury considered the Crown case strong enough to place accused on trial for their lives. It is a mistake to think that I ever go out of my way to hunt up a case against anyone. I do my duty, and try never to exceed it. In twenty years I have extradited 85 prisoners, and of this number only three failed to be convicted, the two Grays and Phaling, who escaped from Stratford gaol after pleading guilty before the magistrate.

CAN'T STAY AT HOME.

Mysterious Case of Cora Rhodes, Who Has Disappeared Six Times.

It was a strange story that Mrs. Rhodes, who says she lives near Lakefield, related to a reporter last night about her pretty daughter, Cora. As the poor woman spoke about the mystery, tears came to her eyes and several times she bowed her head and repeated, "I can't explain, sir; God knows, I can't." This is her story:

Cora Rhodes is a beautiful girl of 17, tall and slender, with brown hair and blue eyes, and up to last March was cheerful and happy. At that time Cora and her parents lived in Gananoque, and the mother noticed that the girl began to act strangely. She questioned her, but could get no satisfactory explanation, the daughter always changing the subject. One day her mother found a note from Cora, in which she said she was going away, and it was days before her mother found her wandering about the streets and brought her home, The girl seemed almost starved. She had not a cent of money, and her clothing was soiled and ragged.

Her mother questioned her as to where she had been, but Cora would not answer, and Mrs. Rhodes, fearing her mind was not all right, refrained from questioning her too closely, hoping that with good care she would soon be all right. All went well for a time, and then Cora disappeared again, and again her mother found her in the street, and brought her home starving, almost in tatters, and silent as to where she had been or what she had been doing.

One month ago the family moved to this county, according to the mother's story, and Cora continued her strange actions. Since March she has gone from home six times, and each time has been found in the same condition, and all kindness and persuasion oculd not draw a word of explanation from her.

Last Saturday she again disappeared, and nothing has been learned of her since.

In all the times that Cora has mysteriously left her home, she has never been seen with any one, except once, and that was last Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, when some one who knew her saw her with a short, stout woman, not far from her home. The woman seemed to be compelling the girl to go along with her, and the girl appeared to be trying to resist, but lacking the power to do so.

"On Saturday evening I went out with my daughter," said Mrs. Rhodes, "and suddenly she left me and said she would be back in half an hour. I know now that I should have followed her, but she was too quick for me, and I believed she would be home as she promised.

"I think some one must have a great power over her, for she never acted this way until last March, and I think some one has such a hold over her that it has affected her mind, and she feels that she must obey the strange power. She has always been a good girl. I have never heard of her doing wrong, and I know of no male companions of hers. I have coaxed her to tell me where she goes and what happens, but she will not, and she is in such a sad, deplorable state every time I find her that my heart aches for her, and I do not care to worry her."

THE TRENT CANAL.

The skeptics who doubted if the canal would ever be started, would have their minds made clear on that subject if they paid a visit to where work is being pushed at a rapid rate. Where work is commenced is about four miles from Lakefield, and there are now over 100 men employed and 50 teams, engaged in dragging, scraping, wheeling, stumping, carting, and clearing the earth off the rock preparatory to blasting.

As the line of the canal crosses what is known as the River Road on the east side of the Otonabee, a new road is being constructed for the use of the public before the old one is torn up. Over a mile of the new thoroughfare has been substantially constructed of broken stone on a raised highway through which culverts are pierced at intervals. Some big "fillings" have to be made before this new road is completed and a gang of men is at work on one of them now at about a mile and a half above Nassau. The road itself begins about half a mile above the village.

At present a gang of over a hundred men are engaged in "stripping" to get at the rock beneath the surface in order that the work of blasting can be carried on during the winter months. The rock so obtained will be used for the construction of the first lock just above the Red Mills. The scene presented to the visitor is one of great activity, for coupled with the swish of falling trees, are the shouts of the men encouraging their teams in the laborious work of stumping and scraping, and the clattering proceeding from the blacksmith shop, which has been erected just here, together with the carpenter shop, store house and boarding house for the men.

There are five foremen in charge of this first gang of men, of whom Mr. M. Buchanan is the chief.

BY A MANIAC.

A Lindsay Young Lady Nearly Killed in Ops Township.

A terrible assault case, nearly resulting in the death of Miss O'Neill, daughter of J. R. O'Neill, of Lindsay, took place in Ops township, a few miles from there, on Wednesday last. Miss O'Neill was visiting at the house of a Mr. Roddy, a well to do farmer, and during his absence in the field plowing she was attacked by young Roddy who is about 20 years of age and beaten in a severe manner, being almost killed.

Roddy first knocked his victim down with a chair and then kicked and pounded her about the body, leaving her insensible. Her head and face were severely cut and bruised, and Dr. Poole who was called, found it necessary to put several stitches in the wounds. Young Roddy has been observed to be mentally unbalanced for some days past and was being closely watched. It is a religious craze. He was bound hand and foot by the neighbors, and on Thursday brought to Lindsay by Chief Bell and lodged in jail.

CAN STILL DAM IT.

Board of Health Will Not Order the Removal of Whyte's Dam.

The Board of Health considered the evidence in the Whyte's dam case last night and decided that the dam was not a menace to health. The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, that this Board, having considered the evidence submitted regarding the complaint in the petition respecting the dam known as Whyte's dam, cannot take any action in the matter, as the evidence is not sufficient, in the opinion of the Board to sustain the complaint.

There were present at the meeting Mr. J. J. Hartley, Chairman, and Messrs. H. Denne, Adam Hall, C. Stapleton, R. Innis, B. Shortly and Mayor Kendry.

The Board was in session about an hour. The review of the evidence was held privately, the press being excluded.

IN MATRIMONIAL BONDS.

A Brockville Pastor Marries Miss Georgina Burnham.

This afternoon, at the residence of the bride's brother, Dr. Herbert Burnham, the lives and fortunes of Miss Georgina Burnham and Rev. J. L. Gilmour were united by the marriage ceremony performed by Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, chancellor of McMaster University. The wedding was solemnized at No. 214 John street, before a large assembly of friends and relatives. The bride was attended by her three nieces who were prettily gowned, and carried large bouquets.

A reception was held after the marriage, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour left for a trip through the Eastern States. They will then return to Brockville, where Mr. Gilmour is pastor of the Baptist church.—Toronto Telegram.

The bride is the sister of Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, of town. A number of relatives from Peterborough attended the nuptials.

There was a largely attended meeting of the Thistle division of the Curling Club last night for the purpose of preparing for the curling season. The following officers were elected:

Patroness—Mrs. C. McGill.
Patron—C. McGill, Esq.
President—Mr. F. B. McKee.
Vice-President—Mr. H. LeBrun.

After the Tramps

Constable Moore went to Bowmanvile yesterday morning, where he will attend the trial of the tramps, St. Clair and Henderson, before Police Magistrate Haines in that town today. If the fellows are discharged the county constable will arrest them and bring them to town. Mr. Moore brought the warrants to Bowmanville with him. Walter St. Clair will be charged with the serious crime of attempting to detain officers and unlawfully shooting at Constable Moore. The prisoner is liable to a life sentence in the Penitentiary if found guilty. St. Clair is the man whom Mr. Moore identified at Cobourg as the tramp who aided in the escape of his companions at Curtis Cut on September 16th, William Henderson, a companion, is charged with escaping from an officer, while in custody, on a serious charge.

WITH THE SPORTS.

BRAMPTON, Oct. 2—The first match in finals for the intermediate championship of the Canadian Lacrosse Association was played here today between Orillia and Wiarton. The local interest was confined to a few of the most pronounced lacrosse enthusiasts. The visiting teams however, each brought quite a contingent of their respective admirers. There were perhaps all told about 300 spectaters present. Dr. Roberts, president C.L.A., acted as referee while W. J. Peaker, president, and Dr. Heaggie, captain of the Excelsoirs, acted as umpires.

Orillia got the ball on the draw and sent it on Wiarton's goal, but it was quickly returned. After a brief skirmish the ball was passed to Hearn who scored in two minutes.

In the second game Wiarton failed to score, missing three shots on the Orillia flags, and the game was scored by Newton for Orillia in 10 minutes.

In this game Robert Went of Orillia was severely hurt by being sandwiched between two Wiarton players on the bicycle track. Time was called and Went was taken to his hotel in a cab, bleeding from nose, ears and mouth.

Wiarton now wakened up and did some very effective work, scoring the third and fourth games in 2½ and 1 minute respectively, Bryan scoring in both cases.

Wiarton appeared to be doing the best work in the fifth game, but played in hard luck. The ball was finally dropped in front of Wiarton's goal and scooped through by Newton in 9 minutes.

The sixth game also went to Orillia in 8 minutes, Kearns scoring; thus Orillia won, 4 to 2

Georgetown plays Orillia at 2 tomorrow, which will decide the championship. The G.N.W. Telegraph Company had a special wire on the grounds and wired a summary of the match to Wiarton and Orillia as the game progressed.

It is understood that Chairman George H. Orr, of the Racing Board of the C. W. A., proposes to restore the amature standing of all the Canadian class B men at the end of the season. This move is made so that the 'cyclist who rode in class B this year and who wishes to start in the Simon Pure races next season will be eligible. The Board have discussed this proposition on more than one occasion, and in view of a professional class next year are making this move, for several of the riders in class B who take an active interest in other sports and both to go into the professional ranks and buck up against all the big racers.

A Pittsburg paper gives the following specimen of "Arlie" Latham's coaching in a recent National League game played in that city: "Oh, As I live, here comes my old friend and college chum, Eddie Burke, from Burkeville. How are you, old pard? How's Sally Jones and all the rest of the gals? You and myself are tied for batting honors, aint we?—both got 105. Wait good people, until you see him hit the ball. Oh, Eddie, my little 85-pound bedfellow. New York released you, didn't they? Guess you were to good for that man Doyle; maybe he thought his own job was in danger. Hit her out, Eddie, just as if I wasn't there. Wow! Wow! There she comes; smash it! (Eddie makes a daring pass at an inshoot, missing it by 13 inches.) Oh, Ed, Ed! Gaze into my eyes. What do you read there. Love, my boy; love and faith. Hit the ball. Eddie as you love me. Here comes a good one. Nail it quick. (Eddie swung wild, and Latham goes three feet in the air, coming down on his neck; he rises up, gazes around blankly.) Where's the ball, Eddie? What, didn't hit it! There's something wrong! It only takes one. Let her go! (Burke singles over second; scoring Smith; Latham turns 17 handsprings without stopping). Oh! Oh! Wow! what did I tell you, people? What do you think of that hit, anyway? Just as easy. One of those little nanky panky hits. One of those little one handed fellows that I used to make. Shoo, Eddie, you scamp, ain't you ashamed of yourself? One of those little one handed dabs. Hey—well! well!"

THE COUNTERFEIT CASES.

The trial of the members of the Murphy family on the charge of making and passing counterfeit coin, is in progress before the Hon. Justice Meredith at the assize court at Lindsay. True bills were returned by the grand jury against Frederick, Richard and Allen Murphy on separate charges of passing bogus money, that against Wellington Murphy is under consideration today. A true bill was also brought in against Jeremiah Murphy and his four sons on the one general charge of making counterfeit coin or having knowledge thereof. Fred Murphy was tried yesterday morning and convicted of passing bad money on Mr. Fleming, the jury recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court. Mr. Riddell for the crown, and Mr. Stone for the defence. The case against Allan Murphy occupied the afternoon. He was charyed with attempting to pass a bogus quarter at the store of George Fox. Prisoner stated, in defence, that he got it from a buyer of frogs' legs in town. Quite a sensation was created in court when Mrs. Elliott, of Mount Horeb, was giving supplementary evidence. Mrs. Murphy and the two Miss Murphy's took the floor and began hurling invectives at the witness. The youngest woman shouted, as she was taken through the door, "I can whip any man in the court room!" Barrister Stone was invited by Justice Meredith to apologize to the court for an insinuation made against the jury. At eight o'clock last evening, when the court resumed, the jury entered and returned a verdict of guilty against Allan Murphy. Mr. E. B. Stone is defending the Murphys.

Bird Foods Explained . . .
Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

Police Court Notes.

In the Police Court yesterday morning young Ephriam Green was before the Magistrate on a charge of trespassing on the property of Mrs. J. H. Dixon. He admitted that he went into the orchard to get apples. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $10 or 30 days. The man named Finn, who in a fit of insanity created consternation on George street on Thursday afternoon, was remanded until this morning. He talked wildly in court.

Flavor in Bread

Says Dr. Goodfellow in an English Exchange: depends largely on the fermentation, the more malt used the sweeter the bread and the more easily digested. There can be no doubt that it pays a baker to give his careful attention to the production of bread, giving a pleasant and acceptable flavor. If you want this kind of bread ask for Bates and take no other. It is the only bread in Peterborough containing malt or malt extract, for sale at all reliable grocers.

The Tramps Frightened Them.

A young woman rushed breathless into the police station last night and informed the police that tramps were at the back door of Mr. Montgomery's house where she was staying, and wanted food and a cup of tea. The police went down to investigate, but the tramps had flown when they arrived. It seems the men had rudely thumped on the back door of the kitchen and roughly demanded something to refresh their inner man. Mrs. Montgomery and the young woman being alone, were very much frightened.

Enterprising cash, wholesale and retail salesmen wanted, to sell the winners of gold medals and diplomas, the World's Fair champion plow "Self Defence" and the Johnston patent plow guard and underscore, plowshares and all kinds of agricultural implement repairs, etc. We can give most thorough protection and claims of argument in this line, which cannot be offered by others, as we are sole proprietors of very many late and most valuable patent claims on all kinds of plows. Tramps Sent for Trial

The two tramps implicated in obstructing the brakesman of a G.T.R. train in his duties, and who were remanded for a week appeared in court at Bowmanville yesterday before Police Magistrate Haines. After hearing the evidence of the conductor, brakesman and fireman, the Magistrate deemed there was sufficient evidence to prove their guilt, and accordingly committed them for trial at Cobourg. One of the prisoners, W. St. Clair, turns out to be the leader of the gang who took the prisoners away from the constables at Curtis' Cut some two weeks ago. He is also wanted at Kingston for being implicated in a robbery. Two others of the gang have also been captured, and all will doubtless get their just deserts.

Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. Shirley Onderdonk, son of the famous Chicago contractor of that name who is constructing six miles of the Trent Valley canal between Balsam lake and Lake Simcoe, was at the Walker house last evening, says the Mail and Empire. Mr. Onderdonk, jr. is on his way from the scene of operations to Chicago. He stated that the construction of the section for which his father holds the contract is proceeding very satisfactorily, and it will be completed next year. The contract is the most difficult on the whole route, consisting almost entirely of rock cutting at a depth of 83 feet. Six derricks of 45 horse-power each are being used for this work, and a full complement of 450 men is employed. At the point of the intersection with the Talbot river, a huge basin and lift lock are being constructed. The latter will have a fifty feet drop. Beyond this, the Talbot river will be utilized as far as practicable in the direction of Lake Simcoe. In regard to the charge made that Italian workmen were being employed, to the determent of Canadian labourers, Mr. Onderdonk stated that a few Italians were employed on bog work, where no other men would venture, but on the rest of the contract Canadians were engaged entirely.

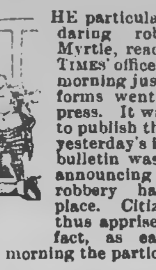
The Arrest of the Myrtle Robbery Perpetrators Expected.

SUSPECTS WELL KNOWN.

DETECTIVES HOT ON THE TRIAL OF THE MEN WHO SANDBAGGED OPERATOR COURTNEY—MONEY MAY BE RECOVERED.



THE particulars of the daring robbery at Myrtle, reached THE TIMES' office yesterday morning just after the forms went down to press. It was too late to publish the facts in yesterday's issue, so a bulletin was put out announcing that the robbery had taken place. Citizens were thus apprised of the fact, as early as 7 o'clock. This morning the particulars are given:

Mr. Courtenay, a young man, is the operator, at Myrtle, a small village on the main line of the C.P.R. About 1.30 yesterday morning he went to change the semaphore, and while in this act was sandbagged into unconsciousness.

Myrtle station is a lonely, quiet place at night and the robbers no doubt were acquainted with this fact. The night operator's experience yesterday morning was a terrible one. For at least two hours he lay bound in ropes and gagged and insensible in the rear room of the station, and his assailants in the meantime got the money orders and the operator's watch and money and decamped.

Courtney, as far as can be learned, last remembered his actions when pulling the semaphore at the station about 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning, and when he was found later by Conductor Carson he was insensible. He looked like a dying man, Conductor Carson said. His eyes were rolling and he could not regain his senses for some minutes.

Between Oshawa and Myrtle is a stage line, and the people between these points do an extensive business in express orders through the Dominion Express Company. There was $2,000 in the Dominion Express Company's safe, and after sandbagging the operator into unconsciousness, the robbers opened the safe and took out the money amounting to exactly $2,000. They then opened the C. P. B. till, which contained $40, and searched the operator who had $35 and a gold watch and chain. They secured this and then made off. There is no clue to their identity.

When Conductor Carson arrived at Myrtle at 4 o'clock, Courtney was bound and gagged. His limbs were tied with ropes and his mouth was crammed full of dirty, greasy waste cotton. He remembered absolutely nothing, nor knew how he came to be in the position he was, and when released from his bonds, did not know that a robbery had been committed.

The operator Courtney, did not know the combination to the Express Company's safe. The combination was known to the company's agent, who drives the stage. It is very infrequent that such a large amount is kept in the safe, and the perpetrators of the deed evidently knew that on this particular night the safe contained this sum of money. The circumstances tend to the belief that the affair was carefully planned, and suspicion already rests on a party.

Conductor Carson then came on through with his train and Detective Jamieson, of the C.P.R., receiving information of the affair, went up to Myrtle early in the morning. He passed through to Smith's Falls at noon. When Detective Jamieson left Myrtle Mr. Courtney had recovered consciousness but was unable to give the slightest clue as to his assailants, having been struck down from behind when totally unaware of their presence, they being able to approach him easily as the noise occasioned by the adjusting of the semaphore effectually drowned the sound of their stealthy footsteps. At present the night operator is confined to his bed from the effects of the terrible blow he received over the left ear, but it is not thought that any permanent injuries will result.

The quiet little village of Myrtle is thrown into great excitement over the robbery, which is the first of its kind in years. Developments are expected at any time.

HAVE GOT A CLUE.

MYRTLE, Oct. 4.—Your correspondent is informed that Detective Jamieson has a clue as to who the parties were who sandbagged Operator Courtney early this morning and robbed the safe. The parties suspected are well-known men, and their arrest, which will likely take place today, will create a sensation. It is believed that the money will be recovered.

A NEW SECRETARY.

Mr. Knapman Succeeds Mr. Hay to the Board of Trade Secretaryship.

The Board of Trade was held last night with President Shortly presiding. There were present Messrs. Knapman, Dobbin, Fair, Neill, Macdonald, Davis, Mercer, Campbell and Meldrum.

President Shortly briefly addressed the Board. He hoped that now the holidays were over the Board would get down to work, and carry out the purposes of the Board—the building up of the solid interests of the town.

Secretary Hay had notified him that he hadn't the time to devote to the duties of secretary and had asked to be relieved of the duties of the office. While the appointment of a permanent secretary would not be made until Mr. Hay's resignation was formally sent in, the necessity for a temporary secretary was apparent, and in consultation with the executive, it had been decided to ask Mr. J. S. Knapman to take the position which would be made permanent as soon as Mr. Hay's resignation was received. President Shortly then spoke of the lowness of the funds of the Board. Last year's membership fees had not been paid. The secretary would call upon the members forthwith. He would like to see the Board financially strong, as the success of the efforts of the Board depended upon that.

Mr. Knapman was then unanimously elected secretary, and made a suitable acknowledgment.

THE LOCK WORKS.

The talked of removal of the Lock Works was then taken up. In the opinion of the members of the Board, it would be a calamity for the town to allow manufacturing industries to leave without making an effort to retain them.

The manufacturers' committee had held a conference with some of the stock holders and had passed the following resolution as the result of information gleaned:

Having heard explanations from representatives of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company regarding the question of exemption from taxes, the manufacturers' committee beg leave to report to the Board of Trade and recommend that the Board take action towards inducing the Town Council to grant the Company exemption from taxes on buildings and machinery for a period of 10 years.

For the information of the Board the committee submitted the following important facts obtained from the Company's works:

In 1895 the Lock Works spent $46,220 in Peterborough, as follows: Number of heads of families employed 36; average number of hands employed 100.

Wages and salaries	$40,000
Newspaper accounts	1,200
Wood cases	800
Cartage	200
Wood	1,384
Peterborough Carbon Co	2,500
	$46,220

The members of the Board discussed the matter at length and passed the resolution. It was also decided to lay the matter and the resolution before the Council on Monday night, and the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to wait on the Council and urge that the exemption be granted.

Messrs. Meldrum, Dumble, Fair, R. Neill, B. F. Ackerman, J. Hampden Burnham, John Gilchrist, W. H. Hill, R. Mulholland, H. S. Macdonald, R. P. Gough, H. LeBrun, R. B. McKee, J. M. Irwin, Manston, R D. Hamilton, A. Mercer, B. Shortly and J. S. Knapman.

In speaking to the resolution Mr. Meldrum said it would be a great folly to allow the Lock Works to remove from Peterborough. Take the manufacturies away and Peterborough would be a village in four or five years.

It is the opinion of the Board that the Lock Works will remain if exempted for 10 years. At least it would show the stockholders that the town did not want them to leave, and it would be the first step towards coming to terms.

THE TRENT CANAL.

Mr Meldrum brought to the notice of the Board that the proposed route of the canal through Douro to the Little Lake would be of little benefit to Peterborough. It might be well worth while to petition the Government to take the river route which would furnish Peterborough with splendid water power. The Government would then have the care of the waterworks dam and the one below it, and in case the town ever purchased the waterworks this would be a good thing for the town. The Government could lease the water power and another advantage of using the river route would exist in the fact that then the Government would do away with damage claims, which would otherwise pour in when the water in the river was lowered by reason of its being diverted by the canal.

The Board will discuss this matter at another meeting.

A Russian tramp from Chicago applied at the police station last night for lodgings.

The police were called upon last night to put a stop to the disorderly actions of a young man, who went to one of the town livery stables and started to abuse the proprietor.

The woods are now full of nutting parties, and they generally come back well laden with nuts, as the trees are loaded with them this fall. Old residents say that this denotes a hard winter. Perhaps it does.

Mr. John Line, of the large cigar manufacturing firm of Line, McDonald & Co., Montreal, is in town and made THE TIMES a pleasant call. This company manufacture excellent brands of cigars which have a large sale all over the Dominion.

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO.

Oak Hall

IS TENDERED

A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.

Oak Hall souvenirs for every lady and gentleman.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

ALL ABOUT THE CHOIR TROUBLES OF COOKE'S CHURCH.

There was No Choir Singing in the Church Yesterday—The Soloists Side of the Disagreement—The Choir Choked Off.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—There will be choir in Cooke's Church tomorrow and for a while at least the church will not resound to the echo of angel voices from the choir loft. The Session failed to get a capable choir together since the recent trouble, as only five or six signed the application for membership. In view of this failure it was decided to do without a choir and circulars were sent out to the members, telling them that they need not take their places in the choir and thanking them for their past services. The choir leader has been asked to lead the singing, which will be congregational until a new choir can be got together.

A writer to the press says that the lady waited expecting that her friends, the elders and trustees, would state the facts of the case and remove the blame which has fallen upon her shoulders. She has found out, however, that those who praise her singing, shake her hand and say all manner of nice things about her have made a scapegoat of her, and the writer of the letter relates the following in order that the lady's story may be known:

OBJECTED TO HER ABSENCE.

The choir practices on Friday for Sunday services and several members objected to Miss McCutcheon's absence from these practices, even when she had engagements to fill. They passed a resolution that anyone not present on Friday should not sit in the choir on Sunday. On the following Friday Miss McCutcheon had an engagement which prevented her presence at practice and, in accordance with the resolution, sat in the family pew on Sunday morning. Her absence was noticed by the pastor who enquired as to the reason. In the afternoon two of the Session called at her residence and told her not to mind the resolution as it had not the sanction of the Session, but to take her place. They further told her that they knew that her engagements would keep her from practice but that was not to prevent her from taking her seat on Sunday in the choir.

AT THE REQUEST OF OFFICIALS.

The choir is under the control of the session, and it was at the request of the controlling body that Miss McCutcheon acted in opposition to the resolution. As the officials have not deemed it necessary to come forward and exonerate her from the blame, Miss McCutcheon has determined that she will not give them another opportunity of placing her in an invidious position. She has filled the position of soloist in Cook's church, without any remuneration for three or four years, and now she is asked to visit a certain competent teacher to see if she is capable of filling that position. She has refused to comply with this request, which means that the young lady will not sing in Cook's church choir any more.

CARS TOO BIG.

There has been a stoppage of work on the street car loop line at the Union Station owing to a difficulty which was not taken into account when the new building was erected. The idea in the first place was to obviate the necessity of passengers walking from the tracks in the old station through the entire building to Front street and vice versa. The cars would run along Station street, which is virtually in the centre of the station, and with this end in view an archway was built of sufficient height, it was thought, to admit of the passage of the street cars.

Assistant City Engineer Rust was at the station yesterday, when he noticed that the archway did not seem to be quite high enough. Measurement proved that Mr. Rust was right. It was about three inches short. The new cars now being used by the Street Railway Company could not get through and accordingly Mr. Rust ordered work on the road to stop.

The G. T. R. does not show any disposition to lower the road so as to avoid the difficulty. They claim that if they did they would greatly incommode themselves, as all baggage will have to be transferred from the southern to the northern part of the building across this passage. Local Superintendent Wragge is looking after the Grand Trunk's interest and Mr. Rust will notify President Mackenzie, of the Street Railway Company, to watch out for his. The city is not interested at all.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.

Awful Death of George Forbes, Aged 80 at an Ingersoll Crossing.

Special to the Times

INGERSOLL, Ont., Oct. 5.—As George Forbes, an old gentleman of 80 years, was crossing the C.P.R. track this morning about 8.15 driving his cow to pasture the cow stopped on the track and the old gentleman went forward to urge her on, when the approaching train struck and instantly killed both man and cow.

Lost His Hand.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Mr. Albert Hudson, C.P.R. engineer, while oiling a locomotive at Buckingham, Que., today had his right hand mashed to a jelly by one of the driving wheels and it was amputated. Hudson recently came into notoriety by accepting the nomination for the House of Commons of the Labor party in this city.

Cretans Rebel.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A despatch to the Central News from Athens says that anarchy prevails throughout the island of Crete and murders are frequent. The Governor of the island has forwarded his resignation to Constantinople.

There Will Be No Fight in Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 5.—It is quite probable that Hon. William Harty will be elected by acclamation. The deputation appointed by the Conservative Association waited on Dr. Smythe, the choice of the meeting, but after hearing the addresses he declined the nomination.

Disastrous Fire.

WARREN, R.I., Oct. 5.—One of the largest fires that has ever occurred in the southeastern New England broke out in one of the three mills of the Warren Manufacturing Company, situated about one eighth of a mile from the center of this town, just after 7 o'clock tonight. Before it was got under control it had swept through three large cotton mills, two warehouses, small sheds, freight cars and other property. There is a loss, which is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Coonhunters Built a Fire Over the Spot Where Nitro-Glycerine Was Buried.

Special to The Times.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Oct. 5.—Andrew Cain and William Grosse, coon hunters, lost their lives in a peculiar manner near here early this morning. The men had built a fire over some nitro glycerine that had been buried in the ground.

An explosion followed, which blew both men to atoms. Large trees near by were torn out by the roots, and pieces of flesh and clothing were hanging from their limbs. It is not known how the cans came to be buried.

There is no nitro glycerine magazine near the scene of the accident.

J. A. SMITH ARRESTED.

The Son of Hon. Frank Smith is a Cell at Winnipeg.

Special to The Times.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5.—J. A. Smith, son of Sir Frank Smith, of Toronto, was placed under arrest by the police late last night, and is now at the city police station.

Smith is charged with raising money by false pretences, in issuing checks on the Bank of Montreal, where he had no funds.

The checks were presented, it is stated at the Hingston, Smith Arms Company, Ryan's and other establishments.

The accused has been in the city for some days, a guest at the Manitoba, and was just returning home after a jaunt in the west.

NOT YET DONE WITH CHINA

VICE-ADMIRAL BULLER TO ENFORCE FURTHER DEMANDS.

Britain Determined to Expand Her Trade in the East—Sir Julian Pauncefote may Succeed Lord Dufferin—The Split in the Liberal Party.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Though the Foreign Office professes to be satisfied with the full and prompt acceptance by the Pekin Government of the ultimatum forwarded to it by the British Government demanding the degradation of Liu Ping Chang, Viceroy of Szechun, for his connection with the Szechuen riots, the trouble growing out of the overture hostilities of the Chinese to British subjects is not over. The movements of the British squadron in the Yang Tse Kiang show that the tension of the relations between Great Britain and China has hardly been lessened by the punishment of Liu Ping Chang. Vice Admiral Buller, instead of ceasing to demonstrate the pressure that is being brought to bear on the Pekin Government, keeps under orders the British warships at every point where they were stationed before the Tsung Li Yamen apparently conceded the British demands.

The warship Aeolus has gone to Wu Chang, where Vice-Admiral Buller is charged to present to Chang Cheh Tung, the Viceroy, the demands relative to the inquiry into Ku Cheng massacre. Chang Cheh Tung is a notorious hater of foreigners.

Wu Chang is the centre of the production of the pamphlets and placards inciting the populace to the murder of Europeans. No overture of hostility that would justify Great Britain in demanding his dismissal from office can be traced to him, despite his known antipathy for foreigners. The exact nature of the demands that will be presented to him has not transpired. A strong feature of Vice-Admiral Buller's mission is that he is directed to deliver the British dispatches directly to Chang Cheh Tung instead of negotiating through Pekin. It is expected by the Foreign Office that the Viceroy will concede the demands.

Prime Minister Salisbury has directed Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British Minister to China, to expedite his return to London. Sir Nicholas will go to St. Petersburg as ambassador in room of Sir. F. C. Lascelles. He will be in London in November, when a new Minister to China will be appointed.

TO EXTEND BRITISH TRADE IN CHINA.

It is evident that Great Britain is determined to conserve and expand her trade and other interests in China. In order to effect this end, important changes will be made in the duties of the members of the Legation at Pekin. Besides the Secretary of Legation, a special commercial attache will be obliged to make an annual tour of the treaty ports. The secretary will visit the chief consulates, and the commercial attache will receive the British residents, learning their grievances and watching the course of trade. As Sir Nicholas O'Connor suggested these changes, nothing will be done in the matter until Lord Salisbury personally confers with Sir Nicholas.

PAUNCEFORTE IN PARIS.

It is rumored in diplomatic circles that Sir Julian Paunceforte, British Ambassador in the United States, will succeed Lord Dufferin as Ambassador to France. Sir Julian's preference for Washington over some of the better paid posts is not concealed, but if he should be offered the blue ribbon of the British diplomatic service, he would, it is said be certain to accept it.

LIBERAL REORGANIZATION.

A clique of old time Liberals, mostly members of the Reform Club are resenting the proposed transference of the control of the party to more democratic hands. The National Liberals, backed by the interested wirepullers, are trying to squash the projected conference on party reorganization. The political committee of the Liberal club is desirous of avoiding internal squabbles and is inclined to abandon the conference, but in face of the demands of every Liberal and Radical association in the country it will be obliged to proceed. The conference, will be held at the end of October. It will concern itself solely with plans for party reorganization.

SIR OLIVER LANDS.

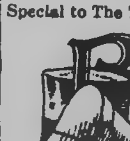
QUEBEC, Oct. 5.—Sir Oliver Mowat, accompanied by Miss Mowat and Master Oliver Mowat Biggar, arrived here on the Vancouver from England this morning. Sir Oliver says that his health is excellent and his voyage to Europe has been very favorable. He denies the rumor that he was to resign on account of ill health. He left the Vancouver for Montreal this afternoon and will proceed to Toronto on Monday.

SHORTIS MURDER TRIAL.

CLOSE OF THE CROWN'S CASE IN THE VALLEYFIELD MURDER TRIAL.

The Report of the Commission Sent to Ireland to Inquire Into Shortis' Insanity Read in Court—The Case Nearing an End.

Special to The Times.



BEAUHANOIS, Que., Oct. 5.—The court room is again crowded with men and women, and the interest in the Shortis murder trial continues to grow. Dr. Lussier was recalled, and he simply supplemented his evidence of yesterday in relation to the examination of the bodies.

William E. Burgess, of the Montreal Herald, was next called. Mr. Burgess had the first interview with the accused after the murder. Shortis had declined on that occasion to discuss the tragedy, as he thought it better to see a lawyer first; he, however, chatted on many subjects and got witness to write a letter to a young lady. In cross examination by Mr. Greenshields the witness referred to the interviews at a later date when the accused had talked on other matters rather than the murders.

EASY TO ROB THE MILLS.

Ernest McVicar told how upon one occasion he was driving past the mill with Shortis when the latter remarked that it would be an easy thing to rob the mill. Witness did not attach much importance to the statement. George Burnham was present at the arrest; at that time Shortis dictated a letter to a man named Cook.

Walter Cook testified that he had written the letter; it was addressed: "Dear M." and was intended for Miss Anderson.

THE CROWN'S CASE CLOSED.

At 11.05 Mr. Macmaster announced that the case for the Crown was closed. Mr. Greenshield's request that a commission be appointed to examine Robt. McGuiness who was confined to his bed with typhoid pneumonia was granted.

The celebrated Waterford, Ireland, commission was then opened and amid much excitement the first part of it was read by Translator Cote.

Dr. Sutherland, recalled, said he had received a letter and had sent it by a boy to Miss Anderson. Frank Lampert, Dr. Sullivan's boy testified that he delivered the note to Miss Anderson between 8 and 9 on the morning of the murder.

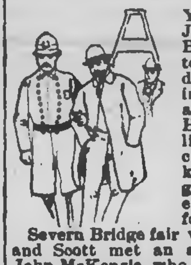
John Lowe gave a lengthy story of the situation of the mill and the condition of the office and contents after the tragedy.

FATAL FIGHT AT A FAIR.

JOHN SCOTT OF SEVERN BRIDGE RECEIVES HIS DEATH WOUND.

John McKenzie Alleged to Have Stabbed Scott in the Groin in a Barroom Row—The Injured Man Brought to Toronto—He Cannot Live—McKenzie Under Arrest.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, Oct. 5.

A YOUNG man named John Scott of Severn Bridge was brought to the city on Saturday night and taken in the police ambulance to the General Hospital, where he lies in a most critical condition, owing to a knife wound in the groin. But the faintest hope is entertained for his recovery.

Severn Bridge fair was held on Friday and Scott met an acquaintance named John McKenzie, who lives in the locality, in a hotel. The two men had had a bitter quarrel recently but appeared on friendly terms.

It is alleged that they got into a gambling game, when Scott and McKenzie had a dispute, during which the old quarrel was referred to and McKenzie drew a knife and buried it in Scott's groin.

Dr. Shaw of Orillia attended the wounded man but his injuries were of so serious a nature that a doctor ordered his removal to the Toronto Hospital.

Constable Bondof, Severn Bridge, has McKenzie under arrest.

Scott, who is 28 years of age, is a married man with one child, and has a saw mill at Severn Bridge. He has friends residing on Markham street in this city.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the government on private business, has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company of that city for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the now celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

The Ledger Keeper Suspended.

HAMILTON, Oct. 5.—The ledger keeper of the Hamilton branch of the Bank of Commerce has been suspended as a result of the discovery of Palmer's defalcation. There is no suspicion of connivance on his part, but the authorities consider that he was lax in not discovering or preventing the embezzlement of money by the teller. It is stated on the best authority that Palmer's defalcations will be less than $15,000.

Shot His Wife.

CHICAGO, Oct 5.—Edward Moe, a prosperous tradesman, shot and fatally injured his wife today, at a North Market street hotel, to which she had gone with Peter Nelson, a suppose friend of her husband. Moe had been informed of the intended meeting of the couple and followed the couple to the hotel. Breaking down the door of their room, he immediately began firing, emptying his revolver at his wife. Nelson meanwhile made his escape.

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 5 1895.

SIMPLE BUT USEFUL.

Prof. Bell, of Bell Telephone fame, has invented a machine which will be of great use to mariners and more especially to the fishermen of Newfoundland. The fishermen are frequently cut off from their vessels by fog, and lose their lives as frequently by lack of drinking water as by exposure. The invention consists of a glass cylinder, or bottle, through the neck of which is a rubber tube containing a smaller rubber tube. The glass is submerged, and a brass cylinder, acting as a bellows through the rise and fall of the waves, pumps the atmosphere into the submerged bottle. There it becomes condensed, and a supply of fresh drinking water is always to be obtained.

Two hundred French cities will erect statues in honor of the late President Carnot.

Last September was the hottest in 150 years in Paris. It was not enough in New Haven.

An interesting experiment is being made in the Punjab in India. In cholera years the water for the prisoners in jail is boiled. To find out whether it would not be as well to boil it always, the lieutenant governor has ordered half the prisoners to be kept on plain water and half on boiled, and to have the results recorded for a year.

The price of bread jumped up in sympathy with the raise in wheat a few months ago, but it has forgotten to jump down in sympathy with the decline in prices of the grain. It takes a long time for the hint to reach headquarters. Coal, which has been cheap all through the warm season, is getting ready to put on expensive airs just about the time people get interested in its existence. It's a queer world.

The Texans were so disgusted at the proposal of Corbett and Fitzsimmons to fight with their fists that they passed a special act which will prevent the pugilistic champions of two continents using anything but the time-honored weapons of the Lone Star State, commonly known as the bowie knife and six-shooter.

What rum will do when persistently used is well illustrated in the case of a famous Chippewa chief, who was drowned the other day at Cumberland, Wisconsin. He is supposed to have been about 108 years old, but was still in robust health. He was out with his squaw in a canoe when it capsized. His squaw swam to shore, but he was too drunk to swim.

William Scully, the Irish landlord who owns about 100,000 acres of land in Illinois, a whole county in Kansas and land in Nebraska, has decided to transfer his abiding-place from London to New-York, and the reason given is the opposition of Western legislatures to the alien ownership of such large tracts of land. His is a phase of emigration not very common.

Commander Philo McGiffin, who served under the Chinese in the war with Japan, says the Japanese have at heart a deep hatred of Americans. He further states that had not Russia intervened, Japan would practically have annexed all China, to the extent, at least, of officering her army, and that the possible 10,000,000 soldiers which would then have been at the disposal of the Japanese generals and statesmen would have constituted a menace to the civilized world. McGiffin, however, has too much sympathy for China to be a fair judge of the Japanese.

ADVANCED WOMEN.

THEY ARE ABLY DEFENDED FROM A SENSELESS ATTACK.

Healthier Than Their Indolent Sisters and Possessors of the Beauty of Intellectuality—Shining Examples of Persons and Performances.

There are many people of otherwise excellent intelligence who take an insane or maudlin delight in attacking women. They turn up about once a year, as the hares do in March, and with a cacophonous howl pour out the few minims of their vial of wrath upon her devoted head. Then, with a melodramatic chuckle, they vanish into the obscurity of their alleged thought and hibernate for an indefinite period.

This time the offender is a woman, and the offense appears in the columns of The Sun in the form of what purports to be an argument that advanced women advance and agitating women agitate merely because they are not beautiful.

The cleverness and charming diction of the lady's screed render it enjoyable for the moment and sweeten the sting which it contains. It well illustrates the old saw "of serving the devil in heaven's livery." It is bad enough for men, especially those who have never been married and who are brought up by a stepmother, to decry the sex, but it is much worse when an able woman indulges in a tirade embodying the platitudes of old fogies, the opinions of dullards in whose brute brain no new idea ever burst into being, and the poetic but somewhat florid tergiversation of her own intellect. Still, however, there is a certain force to the lady's letter. Just as the temperance orator likes to have a drunkard in his audience to point out as a terrible example and to illustrate the exceeding sinfulness of gin, so the fact of the attack shows that there are women of some mentality who cannot be and will not be advanced, and to whom such things as a thorough education, a broad culture and a high moral purpose are either meaningless terms or something, like the measles, to be avoided.

There are advanced women and advanced women. Dr. Mary Walker and Miss Mary Johnson represent one tpyo in their own esteem, and the correspondent of The Sun represents another, very different from the first, but equally objectionable and discordant. The true advanced woman is one who develops her intellectual nature as far as she can and wants society to do the same with all womankind by the same means as they employ in converting the boy from the farm and the forest into the university graduate, the scientist and the statesman. The advanced woman believes that life is not a mere course of enjoyment, had or pursued, but an existence which should contain some lofty moral or spiritual purpose. She believes in the efficiency of intellectual and moral effort, no matter where it is applied, whether in establishing a ragged school or a club for political study; in making a mineralogical collection or pleading the cause of temperance; in starting a Chautauqua circle or in instructing poor young women in embroidery, drawing or technical design; in founding kindergartens where little folks may be rationally developed, or in conducting trade schools where men can be made into skilled workmen. It is not a new type. There have been hundreds and thousands of such women the world over. The only thing is that these St. Johns were isolated individuals, while today their name is legion, and they are endeavoring to so improve the social world as to make their type universal. It is against this type that The Sun's correspondent kicks, with the usual accompaniment of much noise and a leveling of long ears.

There is a small amount of argument in her article, but it is buried beneath a wilderness of pleonasm, mixed metaphor and altisonant sentences. Her opening premise that all advanced women are ugly to hideousness is as false as it is foolish and could have been made only by one who recklessly fits facts to a theory, or who has never been admitted across the threshold of literary and intellectual society.

The truth is that advanced women are as a class handsomer and healthier than any other, no matter whether it be the Four Hundred or the mad army of authors of erotic literature.

Beyond mere physical comeliness they possess the beauty of intellectuality and of a finely developed moral character. These indefinable charms have always been regarded as the greatest attractions of the individual possessing them. They appeal to the world, whether it be from the face of a Goethe, a Webster and a Hawthorne or Mme. Recamier, Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Harriet Beecher Stowe. It must be admitted, however, that there are men and a few women to whom these things are unintelligible, who vote intellectuality a bore, treat culture and pedantry as one and prefer the voluptuous graces of a courtesan to the spiritual loveliness of a saint or a Madonna.

That the advancement of woman does not involve any physical deterioration, but, on the contrary, tends to develop the body, may be seen by anybody who will visit Vassar, Oberlin or the other institutions of learning whose doors are open to her sex. The scholars, and especially those in the senior year and among the alumnæ, are usually splendid specimens of vigorous young womanhood. The "sweet girl graduates" of Tennyson's poem are turned out by thousands every year in our land. They are larger, stronger and more symmetrical than are the girls who have staid at home, "come out" at 16 and been through three seasons.

They are also healthier as well. Dr. Sargent, who is the best authority on the subject and has taken the measurements and other statistics of thousands of women, asserts that college bred women are physically superior to all others of the same social class and stand far better the strain of either married or professional life.—Margherita Arlina Hamm in New York Sun.

Veils.

It is quite as important to wear clean veils as fresh under linen. But can veils be washed? some one asks. Most veils can, but when you own a mesh that will not bear cleansing discard it when it shows the least signs of soil. In certain parts of Switzerland they use the following methods of washing lace veils: If the veil is white, it should carefully be washed in lukewarm water, loosely wrung out and rinsed in cold water. It should then be half dried by being clapped between the hands and finally hung out to dry completely. If the veil is black, mix a little ox gall in warm water and pour this over the veil, afterward rinsing in cold water. For stiffening purposes a weak solution of gum called "gum water" is used in place of starch, and the drying processes are the same as for the white veil.

MURDERING PRISONERS.

FIVE ARMENIANS KNOWN HO HAVE BEEN KILLED BY TURKS

While Within the Prison Walls—Great Excitement will Prevail at Constantinople—Does the U. S. President Desire Trouble on Account of the Monroe Doctrine?

Special to The Times.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—The reports that the Armenians who were arrested for taking part in Monday's and Tuesday's rioting were killed after being taken into custody, have been confirmed. It is known to a certainty that five of the prisoners were so killed, and it would excite no surprise to hear that others met their death in the same manner. Eye-witnesses of the rioting say that the Armenians did not discharge their firearms until Major Severet Bey ordered the police to fire upon them.

Turkish officials view the troubles as being the direct outcome of the agitation in Europe, especially in Great Britain, in favor of the Armenians as against the Turk.

Over 500 Armenians are in prison.

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Standard will tomorrow publish a despatch from Constantinople saying that on Wednesday a large number of shops were entirely closed and the streets were patrolled by the police. The whole city is virtually in a state of siege. The despatch adds that a witness of the occurrence states that a respectable looking American was arrested by two guardians on Tuesday, while walking in the Galata quarter. When he protested against being arrested the gendarmes immediately ripped his body open with their swords. No such terror has prevailed since the Greek Revolution.

A YANKEE FAD.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Westminster Gazette, in an article under the caption, "Turn About is Fair Play, says: "The other day Lord Salisbury sent an ultimatum to China and now, according to despatches received from Washington, Ambassador Bayard has been instructed to notify Great Britain that unless the Venezuelan question is submitted to arbitration within 90 days, the United States will enforce the Monroe doctrine. It is to be hoped that if settlement of the question can be hurried up Lord Salisbury will do it, but surely President Cleveland cannot wish to rush us out of just claims."

The St. James Gazette say: "Isn't it awful; but it might be still more awful if we only know exactly what the blessed Monroe doctrine was, or what on earth the United States Government has got to do with a quarrel between Great Britain and another independent state."

CORBETT AND FITZ.

The Place of the Fight May be Announced Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Special to The Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—President Dan Stuart, of the Florida Athletic Club, has wired the Associated Press from Dallas as follows: "Everything looks favorable for arrangements being completed within twenty-four hours. At present no one knows which way my face is turned, but when I give the location out I am certain I have it clinched."

NOT WANTED IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

ATOKA, I. T., Oct 4.—The Choctaws here are sanguine that the Council, which meets at Tuskahoma next Monday, will pass a bill similar to the one passed by the Texas Legislature. Governor Gardner is a full-blooded Choctaw Indian, and his opposition to the fight, it is said, will rival even that of Governor Culberson. Unless the bill is passed, there is nothing here to prevent the mill being pulled off. A representative of Dan Stuart has been here, and the general impression is that an attempt will be made to secure a place two miles below here.

Lord Rosebery's Visit

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Lord Rosebery's rumored visit to Canada is now explained. The present Governor General of the Dominion, the Earl of Aberdeen, is not only an old friend and Ministerial colleague, but also the brother in law of Lord Tweedmouth, the late Liberal whip. Lord Aberdeen wrote to Lord Rosebery a most tempting and kindly invitation to come over and see how Canada had gone ahead since he was last there. Lord Rosebery replied: "I wish with all my heart that I could go, but my doing so is very problematical."

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaprilla.

WAITING ORDERS IN THE NAVY.

When the ordinary citizen meets a naval officer in New York, the former usually has some curiosity as to what ship the man-of-war's man belongs to and is often a little astonished to learn that he belongs to none. The idea that a sailor is always at sea, or just ashore, or about going to sea, is strongly rooted in the public mind, and the landsman is even more astonished to learn that a naval officer may be neither at sea nor on shore duty, but unemployed. There are all sorts of reasons why men should be unemployed, and the record of every commissioned officer shows that a considerable percentage of his time was thus occupied. The naval orders from week to week report this or that officer on leave, with permission to leave the United States, which means nine times out of ten that the officer in question is about to take a vacation in Europe.

Much of every naval officer's time of idleness, however, is involuntary, or at least not directly sought on his part. After every cruise or tour of shore duty an officer usually has a period of waiting orders. This may be with a view to giving him a chance to catch his breath, as the phrase is in the navy, it being supposed that a man's respiration on duty is a bit hurried through the exigencies of the service. Such a time of idleness may endure for ten days or for six weeks or more, but the waiting officer must never be out of reach of orders, and must be ready if need be to start for his new post in 24 hours. He always keeps open his lines of communication with Washington, for a failure to respond promptly to orders may mean a court martial, and will certainly do him harm at the navy department. Few naval officers court a long term on waiting orders, for it means reduced pay and always the haunting sense of responsibility resulting from the necessity of being ready to go at once when the summons comes. No positive engagement can be made 24 hours ahead, and the officer must always keep pretty close to the skirts of civilization and a telegraph office. The department must know of his movements if they carry him far from his recorded address.

Waiting orders are not so frequent or so long enduring as they once were, now that the navy has begun to catch up with the size of the officers' list. But it is not always easy even now to assign a man to new duty. There are occasions, however, when an officer just relieved from a post is seized and packed off to foreign parts in 48 hours. If the need be really pressing, the new assignment is accepted without grumbling, but if it seems to be something short of essential there is likely to follow a cautious protest and a strong effort to escape from it. The trouble at the New York navy yard to find a captain for the ship that was to take Frederick Douglass to Haiti is historic. Mr. Douglass, by the way, was extremely popular in the wardroom of that ship.

There are in the navy, as in the army, men who are able constantly to secure pleasant posts ashore in or about Washington or New York. There is some bitterness on this score in the navy, though the thing hardly amounts to a scandal.—New York Sun.

A Curious Feat.

A curious feat was one performed by an electrician. He was coming home from South America after assisting in cable laying. The ship called at Lisbon, anchoring at the mouth of the Tagus. On weighing anchor up came a damaged cable on the flukes. The captain was about to cut the cable and run, but the electrician begged for five minutes' delay. It was granted. He took a bearing of the spot, improvised a battery and contrived to speak to the Lisbon office. Aware of the fault, the office was on the alert, and he received its thanks upon his tongue by the taste of the wire whenever the current passed. This ingenious feat probably saved the company several thousand pounds. Repairing expeditions are very costly, sometimes amounting to £35,000 and even £40,000. The tiny teredo will bore holes in a cable that costs £15,000 and £20,000 to repair.—London Standard.

High Aerial Navigation.

Beyond 29,000 feet above sea level, the height reached by Glaisher in 1862, man has never been able to navigate the air. Various problems concerning the regions farther away (higher up)—such as temperature, pressure, moisture and composition of the air—have been leading subjects of discussion among the physicists for years. In 1893 M. Hermite adopted the plan of sending up balloons fitted out with self registering instruments. These balloons have been brought up to what is considered perfection. They are very light, the average capacity being only 150 cubic feet of gas. With these a systematic exploration of the upper regions of the air is being made, and it is said that some of them have attained a height of 36,000 feet.—St. Louis Republic.

GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGEST SIZES

THE WALLED HERD.

STRANGE STORY OF AN INACCESSIBLE BAND OF CATTLE

A Pyramid of Bones Marks the Spot Where Their Ancestors Fell Over a Precipice Twenty Years Ago—Dwell In Safety Where Man Has Never Trod.

In the wildest portion of the west, 71 miles northwest of Meeker, where, in 1879, the Utes massacred the Meeker family and every one at the agency, is the most wonderful cattle ranch in the world. Within a space of five miles in length and three miles in width roams a herd upon whose sides the branding iron has never been placed and around whose horns the lariat has never tightened. But a score or even fewer of them have ever seen a man or horse or other animal of their kind, and, in fact, their kin except at a distance of nearly 600 feet high above them. Ute Indians call them "p'check up," or red buffalo. And yet if an Indian who has seen them should be asked about it he would laugh and shake his head, and all the information obtainable would be, "P'check-up; 'em red; no ketch 'em." There are more than 1,000 of this herd, and yet no man owns them, nor is there a man, white or black or copper colored, who has ever been able to possess a single hoof of these fat and tempting beeves.

The cattle are in a prison. Out of it there is one method of escape, but to travel that road means death to the adventurous one. There is no way to get in except it be by use of a rope 1,000 feet in length. As the Indians say: "Heap see 'em; no ketch 'em; no come away." On the two long sides of the oblong space in which these cattle roam rise precipitous and even concave rocks for 500 or 600 feet—yawning, black and insurmountable. At either end seethes and rushes the Yampa or Bear river. For miles above and miles below it plunges and stumbles on in its headlong haste to reach the arms of its parent, the scarcely less tumultuous but deeper Green river. Like the wonderful flat top mountain of Colorado, this home of the imprisoned herd has no likeness in the world. It recalls in its inaccessibility the marvelous stories of the valley of verdure, into which Mayne Reid's adventurers only found their way by the assistance of the balloon.

The story of the way in which these cattle came there is as strange as their existence is curious. Over 20 years ago, when the government troops were pursuing the Mormon murderers of the innocent victims of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the Danites, or Avenging Angels of the Mormons, fled for their lives into what was then literally the wilderness. A few of those who had been the blindest followers of Lee, the Mormon fiend incarnate, whose hands were red with the blood of women and children, found in their wanderings a pretty valley or stream, which flows from the Wasatch range into the Green river. They stuck their stakes, built their campfires and during the night their sagacious leader had a vision, which told him there to stay. They could hardly have chosen in all Utah a more fertile or more isolated spot. They called it Ashley, and about them have since gathered more of their sect until where the refugees posted their pickets on the lonely nights of the first summer has grown a thriving village. It is 140 miles from the Union Pacific railroad south and 145 miles north of the Rio Grande Western. Until within a few years past it has been isolated entirely, but now it is but 80 miles from the Ute reservation, and furnishing supplies for the agency forms quite a business for the community.

It is a tenet of the Danites that robbing or theft from a gentile is no crime. So it was thought to be only a cunning trick when John Wyckliffe, one of the Mormon settlers of the new town, and his three sons made a night sortie on Henry's ford in Wyoming and carried away 800 head of cattle ranging there. This was in 1874. The owners of the cattle discovered their loss a few days after they were gone and started in pursuit.

The thieves and the stolen herd had reached a mess of inviting grass at sundown one day and halted to camp for the night. A terrific storm arose. The lightning flashed incessantly, and the thunder pealed and cracked with intermitting fury. The four men desperately held the terror stricken cattle by riding around them constantly and chanting some weird tune. But the wild fearlessness of the furious storm excited the brutes beyond measure. They surged and ground, every moment growing less subject to control. All at once, as if by one mad impulse, they stampeded.

John Wyckliffe and his sons met their fate amid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar. They endeavored to head off the stampeding herd. Instead they and their horses were swept on and driven in the terror to escape the charge of the maddened animals over the brink of the awful precipice which frowns up from the waters of the Bear. After them plunged the whole fright crazed herd, and down to the bottom of the fearful fall went horses, riders and horned creatures. Out of this strange plunge of life to what was seemingly certain death to all a few of the herd were not killed. Those which had gone ahead formed a cushion of death. Maimed, stunned, but still invested with a spark of life, when the dread storm was over the living cattle crawled out from the mass beneath them and formed a nucleus for the herd which now roams at will within its rocky confines. On the bank of the river, stretching back a few hundred yards, grow succulent grasses, and upon this the cattle have propagated and thrived. In looking over the edge of the precipice one can see that they are small and as wild and agile as deer. They have been shot at to see the effect and have learned to regard the appearance of a man, whether Indian or white, as a menace from which they flee, clambering over rocks and through underbrush in the chase to a point of concealment.

The place where the thieves and their horses and the herd fell is plainly marked by a pyramid of bones, which rises to the height of 30 feet. The ghastly reminder and relics of the human and animal victims of the terrible leap shine forth white and glistening when the sun is high and reaches that spot with its full glare. The progeny of the surviving animals from the fall are fat and sleek, though, and have their sunny beds, deerlike, where they lie for warmth in the winter, and to them the monument of skeletons is no source of disquietude. There is no fierce mountain lion or more dangerous bear, nor, in fact, any other animate thing within this cow garden of Eden. As yet, too, no man has been able to reach or disturb them.—San Francisco Examiner.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D, the great reformer, writes October 24. 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 5 1895.

THE 57TH AT WORSHIP.

AN ELOQUENT SERMON BY REV. A. McWILLIAMS.

Courage Begotten by the Righteousness of the Cause, Confidence in Commanders and Confidence That God is Fighting With You, the Essentials to Victory in Battle With Men and Sin.

The 57th Battalion attended divine worship at St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon, when Rev. Mr. MacWilliams preached an impressive and eloquent sermon. The reverend gentleman spoke from the following text:

Exodus 17:9. "Moses said unto Joshua, choose us out men and go out fight with Amalek, tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the rod of God in mine hand."

To Arms! To Arms! Without even the necessary introduction we plunge into our subject at once as today our words must be few. Our text suggests a few important thoughts for our consideration.

First, Israel's Enemy. Israel's enemy was Amalek. Of this enemy we know little. Amalek was a son of Eliphaz (Gen. 36: 12) and also grandson of Esau. His method of warfare we also learn from Numbers 24:20 and Deu. 25:17-19. From these passages we see that the Amalekites did not at first openly engage in battle with Israel, but rather lay in ambush and made unexpected attacks. "He laid in wait for him by the way." Then again the Amalekites assailed Israel's rear, the weak and feeble ones that were unable to keep pace with the stronger. "He smote the hindermost of them, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou wert faint and weary, etc." This method of attack, from ambush and this cruel destruction of weak, defenceless ones reveals something of the cowardice of the Amalekites. Only a base coward would strike down the weak, defenceless ones. For such heartless murder God is enraged against Amalek and so instructs Israel that when they find rest in Canaan that they must return and blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven," Dan 25: 18-19. By and by Israel finds rest, so God instructs Saul to execute his will regarding Amalek. Therefore Saul gathers together an army of 200,000 men, proceeds against Amalek and so wipes them from the face of the earth.

Such was Isrial's enemy, such their method of warfare and such their doom. Today gentlemen, no foreign enemy invades our shores, nor does any domestic foe disturb our tranquility. Peace reigns from shore to shore. For this give God thanks. But how long this blessing may continue no man can say. Forming as we do, an intregral part of the greatest of earthly empires whose territory and interests are in every continent, it may soon be broken. How often, indeed, within the last few years has the sword seemed to be suspended by a very slender thread. A single rash act might have brought the clash of arms and the roar of cannon. Ay, gentlemen, is it not thus suspended at this present moment? Are there not things transpiring in both Europe and Asia at present that may set nation against nation? Britain is forced to make powerful demonstrations in the east at this moment. The issue will be watched with intense interest by every thoughtful citizen of the British Empire. Two powerful nations, France and Russia, are thus united in their efforts to destroy British interests and British influence in the Celestial Kingdom. What shall the issue be? It may mean war. Let us pray that peace may reign.

Brethren, there is no use concealing the fact that Great Britain is the most noted of all nations, not because of any sin, but because of her success. Because she rules the waves, because of her success, because she has been preeminently successful in colonization, etc. Thus the hatred is concieved and brought forth jealousy. But hated she is, and being hated every possible effort will be made to embroil her with some powerful combination that she may be crippled. That this is the design of some is evident from words lately spoken and deeds lately done. Therefore, gentlemen, while peace reigns today it may not tomorrow. Before the year 1895 passes into history the bugle may sound to the farthest nook and corner of the Empire. To arms! To arms! the enemy has arisen in his strength and is at the door. The time, while dawning has not yet fully come when all international disputes may be settled by arbitration, when swords may be beaten into plowshares, spears into pruning hooks—when nation shall not lift up sword against nation nor learn war any more. Would God this time had come, according to prophecy, through the benign influence of the gospel of peace. But until it does comes, it behooves us to be ready for every emergency, that should the cry, "To arms! To arms!" sound through the empire we may be found ready to battle for country, home and God. This leads me to my second thought.

Israel's victory. Next morning after Moses' instructions to Joshua the battle appears to have begun. It was certainly a long, uncertain, stubborn, bloody battle. Begun in the morning it lasted until evening. It was uncertain for at times when Moses' hands went down the Amalekites prevailed, and being a hand to hand conflict with swords it must have been bloody indeed. But when evening dawned Israel prevailed. The Amalekites reeled, turned and fled, leaving Israel in possession of the battlefield. "Joshua discomfitted Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword" (Os 13). Then, no doubt, Israel's banner was exalted while their huzzahs rent the air, and echoed and re echoed along the mountain sides, victory! victory! victory for Israel. Israel's victory over the Amalekites was due first to their courage. Courage is to the soldier what the mainspring is to the watch; it impels to deeds of daring and terrible battle, hence God's repeated injunction to Israel after reaching the promised land. "Be strong and of a good courage." Israel's courage while battling with the Amalekites was produced by their confidence in their arms and in their skill to employ them in successful battle. It was also produced by the rightousness of their cause. They had given no occasion of offence to the enemy, therefore they were battling merely in self defence. This sense of a righteous cause gave courage, they knew that a righteous God would be on their side. Again, Israel's courage was produced by absolute confidence in the wisdom of their Commander. They knew that Joshua received his instruction from God through Moses, therefore, every command would be wisdom itself and consequently their obedience was perfect. Then again their courage was begotten by the strong courage of their leader. Joshua's courage was perfect and his courage was contagious and spread through the whole army, all were infected. That courage in the commander begets courage in the soldier is clearly seen from the history of such leaders as Napoleon, Wellington, etc. Their courage and daring were transmitted to their armies. But once again Israel's courage was produced by the consciousness that while they stood with the enemy Moses was over yonder on the hill top entreating God to give victory to Israel. They knew that Moses was God's chosen leader, that he possessed the wonder working rod, that he communed with God and prevailed with God—that God answered his prayers. This God had done in Egypt, at the Red Sea, Meribah, &c. Therefore they believed that God would again hear his prayers and give them the victory over the enemy. This belief begat in their souls strong courage. Israel's courage that impelled them to do strong battle was thus produced by confidence in their arms and in their skill to use them successfully against the enemy. By the righteousness of their cause—by their strong confidence in their commander—by the perfect courage of their leader—yes, by the knowledge that Moses was on the hill top pleading with his God for victory. These facts produced an irresistible courage, a courage that impelled them to daring deeds and desperate to battle that no foe could withstand. The charge was irresistible, the enemy was routed and Israels was the victory. So is it today. Gentlemen, courage—not reckless daring, is one of the great secrets of victory, courage produced by confidence in your arms and skill to employ successfully. Courage begotten by the rightousness of your cause, by confidence in your leaders, by the bravery of your commanders, but especially by the consciousnes that while you engage the enemy, God's children that prevail with Him, are yonder in the mountain top beseeching God to give you victory. Courage, gentlemen, thus begotten is irresistible. It dares and battles until the victory is won and the banner is planted high on the parapet amid the huzzahs of the conquering army.

Interposition Divine was another secret of Israel's victory. The invisible Jahoyah was as truly present on that battlefield as was Joshua or Amalek. He was not a disinterested spectator, but a soldier fighting for Israel against Amalek as truly as he fought for Israel at the Red Sea against Pharoh. Present in that battle he gave Joshua wisdom to command and inspire. He gave Israel cunning and skill in the use of the sword. He it was that filled every heart with valor and courage. He it was that frustrated the designs of Amalek and made their weapons ineffectual in battle. Yes he it was that smote the Amalekites with fear, put them to flight and gave Israel the victory.

This victory he gave in answer to the prayers of Moses. This great fact Moses well knew. Hence, when the battle was over the victory won, Moses erected on that battlefield an altar to the Lord and called it "Jehovah-nissi," Jehovah my banner. (Exodus 15). God is the same God still. He is on the battlefield yet, and the army with which He fights shall ever be victorious. He still gives wisdom, courage, skill and valor to the victor, while he blinds, fills with fear, deprives of cunning, renders ineffectual the warfare of the vanquished just as he did with Amalek, Pharoah, the Meribahs, Canaanites, Philistines, &c. It is false, it is a slander to say "that God always fights with the heavy artillery." Past history—religious and secular shows that often God was with the weak and gave the victory to the few. Then gentlemen, if ever it be yours to march into the battlefield to defend our beloved Canada and the great Empire of which we are an integral part against any enemy that would try to rob us of any part of our great heritage, I appeal to you, take the God of Israel with you. Let Him fight for you. If you do not, as surely as there is a God in Heaven, you shall suffer defeat, but if you do, you shall be the victor. Then you shall raise high your banner amid the huzzahs of a conquering army. Yes, gentlemen, like Moses, conscious that your victory is of the Lord you too shall erect an altar on the battlefield to God and shall inscribe thereon, "Jehovah nissi." The Lord is my banner. Victory! victory! victory through Jahovah Jesus the captain of the hosts of Israel. But, gentlemen, I may not conclude these few words without reminding you that there are other enemies to contend against, other battles to fight and victories to win or defeats to sustain the consequences of which reach down through all eternity. There is the world, the flesh, the devil. Against this trinity of evil we must contend. The enemy is therefore strong, entrenched, defiant, aggressive. It is therefore the battle of truth and purity and temperance, holiness and God against falsehood, lust, intemperance, unrightousness, the devil and sin in every form. The enemy is now in the field. Long has the battle raged. Every soldier is necessary. The bugle sounds, "To arms! to arms!" How, oh ye soldiers, have ye responded to this call? Have ye dashed into the carnage or have ye refused to obey? To God, answer which? That ours shall be the victory.

Courage is necessary, courage begotten by implicit confidence in our weapons—the sword of the Spirit, and in our skill to employ them successfully against the enemy. Courage begotten by the righteousness of your cause—by absolute confidence in our Great Commander—the Lord Jesus Christ—yes, by the assurance that while we fight the church of the Living God, is on the top of the mount, struggling with God in prayer for our victory. Courage based upon such facts impels the Christian soldier into the fray, makes him irresistible and even secures the victory. Therefore be strong and of good courage. But again, that the victory may be ours, there must also be Divine Assistance. "Apart from Me ye can do nothing," says Christ. The Holy Spirit—the Invisible God must be present in the battlefield fighting for us else ours shall be defeat. He must make the sword of the Spirit effectual to convince of sin and of righteousness, to regenerate and sanctify the soul, moulding it into the image of God, so that without spot or blemish it may appear before the Father in glory land. He must be present to frustrate the designs of the wicked one, so that the weapons formed may not prosper. Then, brother, with this courage and this Divine assistance victory is sure. The Christian soldier dashes into the fray, impelled by a power that is Divine. He mounts the fortifications, spears the gunner, spikes the guns, and amid the huzzahs of heaven, plants the banner of Christ high upon the citadel. Yes, and realising, O brother, as did Moses that the victory was of the Lord, we will erect on the battlefield an altar to the Lord and will inscribe thereon "Jehova-Nissi," the Lord my banner. Truth, purity, temperance, holiness, God has triumphed. Victory! victory! victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. Then I appeal to you, O soldier, while fighting the battles of our beloved country, forget not to fight the greater battles of our Lord and his Christ, so that when your last battle has been fought and your last victory on earth has been won you shall go home to your reward. Jehovah, Jesus, your captain shall say, "Come up higher," and amid the rejoicings of heaven he shall say, "Well done, well done," and shall place in your hand the victor's palm and on your head the victor's crown which you shall have and wear in the Golden City, through all eternity. May it be so! Amen.

DISMANTLED AND ABLAZE.

The Barge Yuba, From Sidney for Montreal, Was Abandoned.

Quebec, Oct. 4.—A signal service message reports the barque Yuba, coal laden, from Sidney for Montreal, was dismasted off Long point and was on fire before the crew left her. A boat with seven men of the crew was landed, and another boat with the captain, his wife, child and the rest of the crew has not yet reached land.

The news came from Pentecost, in the Lower St. Lawrence, where the crew has reached. The ship was abandoned seven miles off Longue Pointe.

Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. Flavor in Bread

Says Dr. Goodfellow in an English Exchange: depends largely on the fermentation, the more malt used the sweeter the bread and the more easily digested. There can be no doubt that it pays a baker to give his careful attention to the production of bread, giving a pleasant and acceptable flavor. If you want this kind of bread ask for Bates and take no other, it is the only bread in Peterborough containing malt or malt extract, for sale at all reliable grocers.

They Beat the Old Man.

A young woman and a young man from the neighborhood of Rice Lake decided to get married last week, and as the young lady's father was "dead sot agin" the nuptials, they decided to elope. In a buggy behind a team of horses they sailed away bright and early one morning and headed for Peterborough. The old man got wind of the affair about 10 minutes after the couple left, and he jumped into a buggy and sailed after them. The young couple kept a mile ahead of their pursuer until they were within five miles from town when the old man's rig broke down and he was delayed half an hour getting it repaired. This gave the eloping pair time to board a train for Toronto, and they were married there on Friday afternoon.

A Coming Attraction.

On Thursday evening Master Michael Young, the gifted boy soprano, will appear in the Opera House supported by the following talent: Miss Pauline Scheak, contralto; Mr. Allan Fairweather, tenor; Mr. Lincoln Carlisle, comic. The concert will be of a high and refined nature. Master Young is a phenomenal singer, and has won encomiums wherever he has appeared. Speaking of his singing, the Toronto Globe says, "He was throughout the evening decidedly the star, and judging from the way in which his various numbers were received by the people, his efforts to please met with a very gratifying success. He possesses a sweet, sympathetic treble voice, of much richness and quality of tone, and, which is a great point in singing, enunciates his words distinctly. We prophecy great things for him in the future."

And They get it too

As inducements for the Peterborough Lock Works to settle in Port Hope that town promises exemption from taxation, free power and free factory. Nothing so far as we are aware, has been said regarding free labor. That may be added to the free list ere long as an additional bait, says the Cobourg World. Let Port Hope's council give an extra bonus of a few millions annually. Let the town merchants guarantee any free shaving soap, free fine tooth combs and free toothpicks. Let the benevolent society promise free washing and free tallow candles and it is just possible that the Peterboro Lock Works will be tempted thither, satisfied that they have at last found the Goschen of their search. Sir Adolphe, as a special inducement, might be urged to grant a rebate of about three cents on every stamp used by the concern after it settled there. Providence will probably give the usual abundance of free sunshine and free rain. Cobourg will perhaps supplement the list by a free ticket to the Central Exhibition next fall and thus aid in the commendable enterprise. At any cost, get the manufactory to establish itself in our sister town. It will please Foster immensely to tally one to that long list of industries at Smith's Creek. The circumstance only serves to prove that there are corporations in this fair Providence of ours whose grasping, clutching, covetous propensities stop at nothing short of the universe enclosed by a golden fence, free from taxation and guarded by a free gate-keeper. One of these insatiable industrial infants seems to be getting nearly everything it cries for in our neighboring town. Port Hope promises to be an indulgent nurse.

SHE WAS VERY LOVING

BUT IT WAS NOT HER HUSBAND SHE ADORED.

Sent Love Letters to a Well known Young Man and They Reach Her Husband's Hands —The Two Men Meet and Exchange Blows—Now the Wife Has Gone—Ditto the Young Man.

The wife of a painter in Peterborough disappeared one day last week, and up to date her whereabouts are not known by her husband, who, however, is not concerning himself very much about the absence of his better half, nor is he anticipating her return with any joyful eagerness.

The reason for this is, that at the time of his wife's departure, a well known young man in town departed for parts unknown, too, and while it is not stated that they left together, it is believed that they met at a prearranged place, and have gone away together to enjoy unmolestedly their illicit love for each other. The young man in question is a well known ball player, of athletic build and splendid physique.

It doesn't take a suspicious husband long to "tumble" to anything of this nature, especially if he has had unmistakeable evidence of the existence of his wife's preference for some one else. Not so very long ago, the young man left his boarding house for a few week, and while he was away this woman wrote him a score of letters. The landlord was suspicious when he saw so many letters accumulate, and one day opened one of them. The woman had been indiscreet enough to sign her name, and the landlord parcelled up the letters and took them to the husband.

It is said the letters were full of sentimental sentences interspersed with endearing terms, and covered with little round dots at the corners, which a postscript at the bottom said were kisses "for my darling George." By the time the husband had read a dozen of these letters, he was pretty thoroughly mad, and mentally observed:

"I'll kiss George, d—n him, if I ever get a chance at him."

And, as later events transpired it was seen that the outraged husband didn't mean a kiss of a yum-yum-when-the-moon-is-under-a-cloud kind, but what in pugilistic parlance is known as an uppercut. He met George in the Arcade not long after and smote him real hard with a fist hardened with putty, raw oil and turps.

That was an end of the matter for the time being, but now the wife has flown, and the young man is also away, and it is rumored that they have hied themselves away to some sylvan abode, where, undisturbed by irate husbands or prying landlords, they can coo the autumn days away.

GUILTY COUNTERFEITERS.

The Murphys Receive Sentences Aggregating Forty-Two Years.

At noon today the members of the Murphy families were arraigned for sentence, says the Lindsay Post. As soon as they were brought in William, the eldest of the lot, began to explain that a great wrong had been done him, and that he was not guilty. His lordship asked him if he had anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be passed upon him, and still he kept up his noise and the constable could hardly keep him quiet. He was sentenced to Kingston penitentiary for seven years with hard labor on the first charge, and three years on the other, sentences to run concurrently.

Allan Murphy was then called for sentence, and his lordship, in talking to him, said that his brother William was the more to blame, he being the oldest of the family, and the owner of the farm. Allan was sentenced for the first offence to five years at hard labor in the Kingston penitentiary; for the second offence to three years; and the third to five years; the sentences to run concurrently.

Wellington Murphy was the next one to stand up and "take his medicine," and he was sentenced on the first charge to five years and on the second to three years, the sentences to run concurrently also.

Richard Murphy came next, and he was sent down to Kingston for five years at hard labor.

Fred Murphy, the youngest boy, was then ordered to stand up and receive the sentence of the court. His lordship said that he would not send the boy to Kingston along with the others, but would send him where he could learn a trade. He then sentenced the boy to three years in the reformatory at Penetanguishene.

As they received their sentences they were led away by constables. As William was going out of the door he turned and shook his fist at his lordship, and remarked "You're a d——d old scoundrel."

James Winchester, who came to Brooklyn, last winter from Toronto, and has since worked with Mr. Chas. Simpson, suddenly disappeared from these parts on Tuesday. Mr. Simpson went to Lindsay that day and left Winchester to deliver some pigs at the station and draw the pay for them. Both these commissions were attended to, but the money was not handed over to Mr. Simpson, as was expected. Instead of doing this Winchester went home, turned all the live stock out into the fields, locked the house carefully, leaving the key in the front door and then took his departure for parts unknown. —Whitby Chronicle.

From present indications it looks as if there would be three classes of racing cyclists next season—professional, class B and class A. Early this year fears were entertained that the class B men would either have to take to professionalism or go into the Simon Pure class, for the life of that particular class appeared to be short. As the season progressed professionalism seemed to gain a hold upon the race promoters of the United States. Prominent wheelmen through the States are of the opinion now that there will be three classes of racing men, and it is not likely that a professional class will be established unless the B class is done away with.

LEMONS WILL BE PLENTY.

So Lemonade May Not be Any More Costly Than Usual.

The Toronto Telegram says: Local fruit dealers who are loaded up with lemons are not gleeful. They have received word of the arrival of about 70,000 boxes in New York for the current month, and reports from their European agents announce that the crops there can furnish much more than was expected.

"Unless something happens to a lot of those lemons it will make a drop that will cause a loss to a lot of us," said one fruit man today.

"Where do the best lemons come from?"

"They are from Sicily. Messina and Palermo are the headquarters for the best shipments."

"And the Spanish lemons?"

"They are from Malaga, and they are not as high a grade as the others by any means. People have got used to a cheap lemon, and a lemon is a lemon for most of them. As long as it's yellow they don't seem to consider the thickness of its skin or the quality of the flesh."

"Will the reduction in price be permanent?"

"Well, from our private reports regarding the Spanish output, I presume it may. People will not kick at the quality of the Malagas, and there seems to be a plentiful supply of them."

WITH THE SPORTS.

Possibility of the Big Fight Coming Off in Mexico.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 5.—Charles Campbell, of this city, who holds the concession from the State of Tamaulipas, Mex., for the holding of prize fights and other kinds of athletic sports at Neuvo Laredo, is convinced that there will be no interference by Federal authority in that country. Gov. Elanjandro Preita of the State of Tamaulipas has telegraphed President Diaz an inquiry as to whether the Federal Government would approve the concession that has been granted by the State Government. President Diaz, it is understood, will not interfere with the decision of any Governor who will grant a concession. Corbett will arrive here Sunday morning.

MAY GO TO THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 5.—There is considerable speculation as to where the Corbett Fitzsimmons fight will be pulled off. That it will go to the Indian territory is generally conceeded, as Mexico is almost too far away, although the Florida Club is in receipt of many telegrams from El Paso and Laredo, urging that the fight be brought there. J. J. Taylor, of the former place, is on his way here and is supposed to be the bearer of a liberal proposition to Mr. Stuart.

DICKERING WITH THE RED MEN.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 5.—Dan Stuart, of Dallas, the agent of the Florida Athletic Club, has been negotiating with the civilised tribes of the Indian territory for a location at which to pull off the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. Last night, with B. F. Yoakum, General Manager of the Santa Fee line in Texas, and other interested railway and club officials, he went to Tishmingo, the capital of the Chickasaw nation, to arrange for the big fight at Ardmore. Their hopes of success are of the most flattering nature and it is highly probable that that point will be selected.

A Business Failure.

Last Friday, Mr. A. D. Longmore, publisher of the Cobourg Advertiser, made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors That journal has appeared weekly in Cobourg for nearly two years; it was the latest effort in the newspaper line in town and has proved to be first of the quarto to go to the wall. The circumstance has proved that all must feel the strain and the weaker one fall, when an industry becomes so overcrowded as the printing business undoubtedly has been for the past few years in Cobourg. Anyone who imagines that the running of a newspaper business is the easiest job in the world, can have his mind disabused of that notion by spending a day as business manager in either of the old established printing offices in Cobourg. Our whilom brer informs us that for the use of his valuable columns for advertising purposes, he was frequently offered remuneration in such commodities as pepper, calico, poultry, pumpkins and corn. Such may be all right as a medium of barter in lands where a monetary system is unknown, but in modern Cobourg, he says the banks refuse such currency.

Oak Hall
IS TENDERED
A PUBLIC OVATION

THANKS!

MOST ASSUREDLY

We have nothing but gratitude to offer the citizens of Pererborough and the surrounding country for the very hearty reception accorded to Oak Hall on its Opening Day.

It was the right kind of a welcome—open-armed, cordial enthusiastic.

It was a phenomenal success from start to finish.

Type can scarcely give expression to the heartiness of our thanks to the hundreds of citizens, from town and county-side, for miles around, who participated in the ovation to Oak Hall.

We had modestly looked forward to receiving some extra attention and recognition on account of the good clothes we had to show, our handsome store, and our novel attractions on the street—but never contemplated anything like the sensation that was produced on Saturday last.

Even our neighbors—the othe clothing dealers—caught the contagion of the excitement, and turned out to do us honor, or to imitate our example.

THANKS again, kind friends. We now dedicate OAK HALL to the services of the Men, Young Men and Boys of the Town and County of Peterborough.

PROSPERITY

Is not only already in the air, but it is percolating, permeating, honey-combing everything associated with Oak Hall's opening, and as "Much of success depends on a good start" we can look forward encouragingly—for we have had a good start.

Much has yet to be added to make our store complete in stock fittings, furnishings, etc., in order to bring it up to the standard of Oak Hall's ideal. These have all been arranged for, and will be added in as rapidly as they come forward.

RECEPTION DAYS

Will be continued all this week, and the best opportunities for handshaking and inspection are yet to come.
